IN A BAD POSITION

Japanese Uncomfortably Near the Russian Flank.

KUROPATKIN IS RETREATING

Russians Driven Back After Six Hours' Hard Fighting—Japs Lost Only 100 Killed and Wounded—Big Fight Expected—Japs Have Now Passed Dalin Hill and Are 20 Miles South of Russian Position.

St. Petersburg, June 29.—The Associated Press is informed on good authority that General Kuropatkin has decided to withdraw northward. This move gives the Russians the advantage of being nearer their base of supplies and placing the Japanese at the disadvantage of having longer lines of communication.

It is pointed out that Kuropatkin no longer prevents a junction of the enemy's forces by remaining at Tachikawa as he might thereby imperil the safety of his own troops, as the desperate character of the fighting at Ta Pass and Fenshui Pass, June 27, shows the Japanese are in strong force uncomfortably near the Russian flank.

A report that Rear-Admiral Withoff (in command of naval forces at Port Arthur) sailed off after giving battle to the Japanese, receives credence. Withoff is known to have full authority to leave Port Arthur if he deems it advisable, and he possibly preferred not to risk a return to the harbor which again might be blocked, preventing his egress at a critical moment. Consequently Withoff may now be steaming to join the Vladivostok cruisers.

Tokio, June 29.—After a hot fight, which lasted for six hours Monday morning, June 27, the Takushian division of the Japanese army completely defeated five battalions of Russian infantry, which was supported by two regiments of cavalry and sixteen guns, and occupied Fenshui, twenty miles northwest of Siyuen. The Russians finally fell back in the direction of Shimucheng. The Japanese casualties aggregated about 100 killed and wounded. Major Ota was killed during the battle. The Russians fled in disorder.

Russ Battleship Stranded.

London, June 29.—A despatch to the Central News from Tokio says it is reported that another Russian battleship has been discovered stranded off Tiger Rock. It is presumed she was wrecked while returning to Port Arthur after the recent naval engagements.

Fight Expected To-Morrow.

Haicheng, June 29.—A heavy engagement is expected to-morrow near the village of Shimucheng, fifteen miles south-southwest of Haicheng, and an equal distance due east of the railway. The Japanese have now passed Dalin Hill and are twenty miles south of the Russian position. The total losses in the Dalin Hill fight are not yet known. Eighty wounded have arrived here and on Sunday last a hospital train with 200 passed, going to Liaoyang. The fighting lasted the whole of June 26 and 27.

One Shot, One Dies of Fever.

Newchwang, June 29.—H. J. Midon, Associated Press correspondent with the Russian headquarters near Liaoyang in Manchuria, died Sunday from enteric dysentery.

Tien-Tsin, June 29.—It is reported that Edward F. Knight, the correspondent of the London Morning Post with the Japanese army, was killed at Wafang-Tien.

Mining Co. Restrained.

London, June 29.—(C. A. P.)—Justice Farewell yesterday granted an injunction restraining the directors of the Gold Run Klondike Co. from paying dividends until the lapse of 14 days after the general meeting and also ordering payment to the company of $225,000 paid to the credit of the Canadian Co. out of the Klondike assets. The defendants to pay the costs of the action.

Counterfeiters Remanded.

Toronto, June 29.—There were no new developments in the counterfeiting case. Both men were arraigned in the police court yesterday morning. Decker, who claimed to be an American citizen, was remanded until this morning, to give him an opportunity to consult with the American Consulate. Higgins was given a week in which to consult his friends.

Kingston to Get Its Own.

Kingston, June 29.—By an agreement concluded last night, the city of Kingston will, on the 1st August, take over the plant of the Kingston Light, Heat and Power Company. The total cost, including interest, is $211,857.

Money Given Back.

Victoria, B. C., June 29.—T. B. Hall, provincial assessor, convicted of embezzling nearly $5,000 of the funds of his department, was released on suspended sentence yesterday by order of the chief justice. Hall was bound over in bonds to the extent of $4,000, himself in $2,000 and two sureties at $1,000 each. The money was paid immediately and Hall went free. The amount of Hall's stealings from the department has been paid up by his relatives and friends.

Highwaymen Near Brockville.

Brockville, June 29.—E. J. Peters of this town, when a short distance from Mallorytown, gave a stranger a ride, and when they met another stranger, the first seized Mr. Peters. When the two strangers had "overpowered" him they robbed him, securing about $37. They made their escape.

AN ARTIST DROWNED

Neil McKechnie of Toronto Engulfed by New Ontario Rapids.

BODY IS NOT YET RECOVERED

Fatal Canoe Accident Near Port Metagama—Victim Was Acting As Forest Ranger and Was Obtaining Incidentally Material, Artistic and Literary, For Future Use—Member of Graphic Arts Club.

Toronto, June 29.—A week ago last Thursday Neil McKechnie left this city for a trip in New Ontario, having applied for a position as fire ranger, and before he could be notified of his appointment, which Hon. Mr. Davis had decided upon a few days later, he met his death in a canoe accident in a small rapid five miles from Mattawamque Post.

Mr. McKechnie was accompanied by T. W. McLean, who had been his companion last year on a similar expedition, and who had been out with Hubert Southworth, a son of Thomas Southworth, of the Forestry Department, who is chief of the fire rangers in the Port Metagama district.

On Friday morning, the 24th, they had been out with a canoe party. McLean, with an Indian named Lalonde, in a small canoe passed safely through the rapid mentioned, and the large canoe, with Southworth in the stern, Robillard in the middle and McKechnie in the bow, followed. At the foot of the rapids the canoe struck a rock and capsized. Southworth shouted to hang on to the canoe, but McKechnie, who could not swim, became excited and jumped towards the shore. He sank immediately and never rose, and the body had not been recovered when the last despatch was sent by A. L. Davidson and K. G. Ross.

Mr. McKechnie had fine artistic and literary tastes, and it was in search of local color for his literary work and illustrations for comic stories and sketches which he had completed that he went north. His intention was to proceed to Boston next season.

He was a member of the Graphic Arts Club, the Mahlistick Club and the Art League. He won a medal at the Ontario School of Art, and was much thought of in artistic circles. For a number of years he was engaged in the photo-engraving business, and was a member of W. W. Alexander, and had been eight years with the Canadian Photo-Engraving Bureau. For four or five years past he had been with the Toronto Engraving Company.

His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Hugh McKechnie, 461 Givens street, are overcome with the shock. He leaves two brothers and three sisters, all younger, he being 27 years of age.

Dead Days Before Found.

Bracebridge, June 29.—On Wednesday last week, James Gott, aged about 70 years, and a bachelor, who lived in Watt township, went out to catch one of his horses. The rope became caught around one of his legs, and the unfortunate man was dragged at a gallop for a considerable distance around his fields and over numerous logs. His arms and legs were broken, all his clothing torn off, except his trousers, in which were $85 in bills. Gott was not found until Sunday afternoon, at a place near Three Mile Lake, where the horse became entangled in a bunch of small trees and the leather shank broke. The horse was found dead some two hundred yards from the body, death resulting from drinking cold water after its mad race. Coroner Harry Wales on Monday considered an inquest was unnecessary. The relatives of the deceased live near Orangeville.

Killed By a Street Car.

Ottawa, June 29.—The crossing of two street cars on Bank street, near Mulcurn, was responsible for a fatality yesterday afternoon, shortly after 4 o'clock. The victim was John Cunningham, the 12-year-old son of Michael Cunningham, laborer.

Hit By An Engine.

Quebec, June 29.—Last night about 6.15, a young Englishman named Weston, while returning from work, was caught by the C.P.R. engine near the depot, and had one leg taken off and the other so badly mangled that an amputation was necessary if he survives, which is very doubtful.

Killed While Working.

Brussels, June 29.—Yesterday John Lamont was accidentally killed while working in the bush. Mr. Lamont, in company with his father and three others, were busy working in the bush, and a large spring pole gave way and fell full weight on the back of his neck, causing instant death. Mr. Lamont was thirty years of age, unmarried.

Explosion Killed 15.

San Francisco, June 29.—The steamer Mariposa, which came from Tahiti, brought a story of a boiler explosion on the French cruiser Durand, resulting in the death of 15 men.

Barchard's Factory Burned.

THE SLOCUM DISASTER.

Coroner's Jury Blames Officers and Directors—Captain Held Criminally Responsible—Warrants Issued.

New York, June 29.—The coroner's jury in the Slocum inquest has returned a verdict finding:

That the immense loss of life on the General Slocum was due to the misconduct of the directors of the Knickerbocker Steamboat Company.

That Captain Van Schaick is criminally responsible.

That Captain Pease of the Grand Republic, as captain of the steamboat company's fleet, is criminally responsible in that he failed to properly equip the Slocum with fire apparatus.

That Mate Flanagan acted in a "cowardly manner."

That the action of the United States Inspector Lundberg should be brought to the attention of the Federal officials.

Coroner Perry has issued warrants for the arrest of the directors and officials of the Knickerbocker Steamboat Company.

Inspector Lundberg and Mate Flanagan have been held in $1,000 bail each.

Capl. McNaughton Dead.

Brockville, June 28.—The death occurred here Sunday night of Capl. McNaughton, in his 72nd year. He was born at Cote St. Paul, near Montreal. He took a prominent and active part in the business life of the Province of Quebec, being for many years president of the Sincennes & McNaughton Co., forwarders. About forty years ago he removed to Ottawa, and during his residence of thirty years there became connected with many of the financial institutions, being for many years the managing director of the Ottawa Street Railway system. He lived a retired life in Brockville since 1894. Mrs. McNaughton and six children survive.

To Sell to C.N.R.

Fort William, June 28.—Reports are current that the C.P.R. will sell their clearing elevator at this place to the C.N.R., and that they will build a large new clearing elevator at Port William. The C.P.R. also contemplate erecting one of the largest handling elevators in the world. At the elevator in town, as much of the western crop as possible must be handled in three months, and the railroad company has decided to build a modern building. The company also contemplate increasing the capacity of the coal-handling plant.

Immorality Among Indians.

Ottawa, June 28.—Complaints have lately been made of an extensive traffic in liquor with Indians along the shores of Lake Winnipeg, which has resulted in great immorality. It has therefore been determined to establish a lockup at Norway House, at the northern end of Lake Winnipeg, and also to locate posts at Black River, Bering River, Poplar River and Warren's Landing. A detachment of police will also accompany the Indian agents on their official visits to the reservations.

Apology Not Sufficient.

Berlin, June 28.—The Government has decided to send a warship to Port au Prince, Hayti, after having agreed with the French Government that a simple apology was not sufficient reparation on the part of the Government of Hayti for the shooting of the French and German ministers by the palace guards at the Haytian capital.

Claims Freight Rates in Canada Are Higher Than in U.S.

Toronto, June 29.—Before the Railway Commission yesterday, C. B. Watts appeared for the Canadian Millers' Association, and claimed that the rates within Canada were too high, being greater than the charges on goods shipped from points in the United States. John W. Loud, freight traffic manager of the G.T.R., said that the railways sought to obtain a portion of the export trade from the United States, and on this account were compelled to lower their rates.

D. R. Ross of Embro, a pea miller, had shipped to Great Britain in 1901 a million and a quarter pounds of peas, but since then had done almost nothing. He ascribed the falling off to the rates on peas. The English miller could get Canadian whole peas at a cheaper rate than the Canadian millers themselves.

Mr. Watts said that the rate on grain for export from the Canadian points was 13½c. per 100 pounds, while from Detroit it was 9½c., and this was not an exceptional case. He also objected to the demurrage charge of $1 for every car detained over 48 hours, and submitted that the roads should be subject to similar penalty when cars were not promptly furnished or forwarded. Mr. Watts admitted that there was not much grain exported last year, but he spoke for the principle. He dwelt, however, on the necessity for granting the privilege of grading in transit to Ontario millers, as it would be of much advantage to the farmers.

The Commission rose at 4.30 p.m., and will to-day inspect some crossings at Whitby and to-morrow sit at Ottawa.

LEVER BROTHERS LIMITED, TORONTO.

JOHN TOPP, PIRATE.

By WEATHERBY CHESNEY and ALICK MUNRO.

(Copyright, 1900, by Weatherby Chesney and Alick Munro.)

"I choose that you shall not."
"Am I to be a pirate, then?"
"Certainly. Have you any objection?"

"I hate the work!" I said sullenly.
"Oh, that's unfortunate, but I'm afraid I can't alter my decision. Now go and remember I forbid you to speak to Don Miguel's daughter."

"But, father!"
"This discussion is at an end."
Thus it happened that two days after the conversation with my father I was on my way to Cambridge, condemned to fit myself by hard study for the calling of a parson.

My father was inexorable. The life, he said, had proved a congenial one to my ten brothers and must, therefore, be the best for me too. I combated me there vigorously, but without producing any effect on his mind, so I had to submit and go.

My father bought me a rough little galley and having escorted me to the town boundaries and seen me fairly started on the road to York gave me a paternal blessing and a not too heavy purse and then turned back home.

It was the last time I saw him, for when years afterward I returned to Whitley he was dead. He was a good father to me, though in those days I used not to think so. But he lived by rule himself, and so he would have had the rest of us do the same, and from that effort on his part arose whatever there was of trouble among us. From what I have seen in the case of other families I should imagine that we were not in this respect unique.

CAME NEAR DYING

From an Awful Skin Humour.
Scorched Till Blood Ran.
Wasted to Skeleton.

CURED BY CUTICURA

One Application Soothed Him to Sleep. Cure Speedy and Permanent.

"When my little boy was about three months old his head broke out with a rash, which was very itchy and ran considerable watery fluid. We tried everything we could, but he got worse all the time till it spread to his arms, legs, and then to his entire body, and he got so bad that he came near dying. The rash would itch so that he would scratch till the blood ran, and a thin yellowish stuff would be all over his pillow in the morning. I had to put mittens on his hands to keep him from tearing his skin around his wrists. He got so weak and run down that he took fainting spells like we would think him dying. He was almost a skeleton and his little hands were thin like claws."

"He was bad about eight months when we tried Cuticura Remedies. I had not laid him down in his cradle in the daytime for a long time. He had got so that he just slept in our arms all the time. I washed him with Cuticura Soap and put on one application of Cuticura Ointment and he was so soothed that I put him in the cradle. You don't know how glad I felt when he felt better. It took one box of Cuticura Ointment, pretty near one cake of Cuticura Soap, and about half a bottle of Cuticura Resolvent, to cure. I think our little boy would have died only for the Cuticura Remedies, and I shall always remain a firm friend of them."

Mrs. M. C. MAITLAND, JASPER, ONTARIO.

No return in 14 years. Mrs. Maitland writes, under date of Feb. 24, 1903, that the cure is permanent.

"It affords me much pleasure to inform you that it is fourteen years since my boy was cured of the terrible skin disease from which he suffered."

"He has been permanently cured and is hearty and strong."

Cuticura Resolvent, Ointment and the form of Chocolate Castor Oil, Cuticura Ointment and Cuticura Soap are sold throughout the world. me to Cambridge?"

"Why go to Cambridge at all? I don't mean to."

"What?" I cried. "I thought you said you were coming with me."

"So I am, but not to Cambridge."

"Where, then?"

"London."

"To London! What for? I don't understand you, Alec."

"London is a port."

"Well?"

"Ports contain ships. Ships go to sea. We go to sea. It's simple enough."

Why, Jack, you don't mean to say you are willing to give up our plan of a sea-faring life without a struggle?"

"No," I said, "but I hadn't thought of running away to sea."

"Why not? You'll never go in any other way if your father is set on putting you into the church. Now is the time to take our fortunes into our own hands."

"But, Alec!"

"Will you do it?"

I thought for a moment before I answered. A vision of the dull round of books and lectures that was waiting for me at Cambridge rose before my eyes. I had just succeeded in throwing off the bondage of one schoolmaster, and it seemed to me that I was on my way to put myself into the power of seven others worse than the first.

That thought decided me. "Yes," I said, "I will go with you."

Now, during this discussion Willie Treballon had been darting questioning glances at us out of his solitary eye and rubbing his fur cap reflectively backward and forward on his bald pate with his hook, a habit he had when anything exercised his mind. Now he spoke.

"Masters," he said, shaking his head vigorously, "it won't do. 'Tis ten thousand shames that a lad like you, Master Topp, should be made a parson as never wear iron except to cut his meat with, but don't go ag'in your father, lad. No good ever came o' doing that. You'll be a gould hunter some day, sure enough, an Master Ireland here a Spaniard killer, but wait till the proper time comes. Making a scholar o' yourself'll do you no harm, though they do say, 'Better go to sea on a Friday than sail under a captain as has book learning.' Seems to me, though, that it's the man as is to blame an not the learning, an nobody can deny that scraps o' Latin scattered through a bold speech'll do a lot to hearten men up when they're down. So Willie Treballon's advice to you is to obey your father's orders just now, an if you keep up a stout heart an wait for your chance to come to you you'll slip the cassock an live to rob the Spaniard yet."

This speech of Willie's was a damper on our enthusiasm. We knew that he was thoroughly loyal to both of us, and his advice was on that account worth consideration. We argued the matter out, and in the end it was decided that I should continue on my road to Cambridge, while the other two went back to Whitley. I promised to wait a day or two at York, and Alec would meanwhile try to get his guardian's consent to accompany me to Cambridge. If he succeeded, well and good; if not, he would still join me at York, and we would carry out our original plan of going to sea.

Willie demurred to this, but in the end he agreed to the compromise. And then we parted. He gave me to wear round my neck a charm which he had brought from the Barbary coast, a certain preventive, he assured me, against witchery of all kinds. Then we stood in the road, joined hands and sang three times the verse of Willie's sea song:

Ball away,
Plunder! (Stamp with foot.)
Gather all the valuables you can, etc.

And thus we parted.

On the third day after this Alec joined me at York and announced that his uncle, who was his guardian, had given him leave to accompany me. So to Cambridge we went, and the paternal authority was not defied.

In the end, however, it made little difference, because, though Alec made good use of his opportunities for acquiring knowledge, I did nothing but amuse myself in the town, with the result that by a prolonged course of rioting and idleness made Clare Hall too hot to hold me.

I had not been in Cambridge two months when the inconvenient attention of the university proctors made it necessary for me to leave hurriedly, and as I had to go Alec said he would not stay either, so one night we fled, with the proctors' men after us. We eluded them, however, by swimming across the river and without setting me to Cambridge?"

"Why go to Cambridge at all? I don't mean to."

"What?" I cried. "I thought you said you were coming with me."

"So I am, but not to Cambridge."

"Where, then?"

"London."

"To London! What for? I don't understand you, Alec."

"London is a port."

"Well?"

"Ports contain ships. Ships go to sea. We go to sea. It's simple enough."

Why, Jack, you don't mean to say you are willing to give up our plan of a sea-faring life without a struggle?"

"No," I said, "but I hadn't thought of running away to sea."

"But, Alec!"

"Will you do it?"

I thought for a moment before I answered. A vision of the dull round of books and lectures that was waiting for me at Cambridge rose before my eyes. I had just succeeded in throwing off the bondage of one schoolmaster, and it seemed to me that I was on my way to put myself into the power of seven others worse than the first.

That thought decided me. "Yes," I said, "I will go with you."

Now, during this discussion Willie Treballon had been darting questioning glances at us out of his solitary eye and rubbing his fur cap reflectively backward and forward on his bald pate with his hook, a habit he had when anything exercised his mind. Now he spoke.

"Masters," he said, shaking his head vigorously, "it won't do. 'Tis ten thousand shames that a lad like you, Master Topp, should be made a parson as never wear iron except to cut his meat with, but don't go ag'in your father, lad. No good ever came o' doing that. You'll be a gould hunter some day, sure enough, an Master Ireland here a Spaniard killer, but wait till the proper time comes. Making a scholar o' yourself'll do you no harm, though they do say, 'Better go to sea on a Friday than sail under a captain as has book learning.' Seems to me, though, that it's the man as is to blame an not the learning, an nobody can deny that scraps o' Latin scattered through a bold speech'll do a lot to hearten men up when they're down. So Willie Treballon's advice to you is to obey your father's orders just now, an if you keep up a stout heart an wait for your chance to come to you you'll slip the cassock an live to rob the Spaniard yet."

This speech of Willie's was a damper on our enthusiasm. We knew that he was thoroughly loyal to both of us, and his advice was on that account worth consideration. We argued the matter out, and in the end it was decided that I should continue on my road to Cambridge, while the other two went back to Whitley. I promised to wait a day or two at York, and Alec would meanwhile try to get his guardian's consent to accompany me to Cambridge. If he succeeded, well and good; if not, he would still join me at York, and we would carry out our original plan of going to sea.

Willie demurred to this, but in the end he agreed to the compromise. And then we parted. He gave me to wear round my neck a charm which he had brought from the Barbary coast, a certain preventive, he assured me, against witchery of all kinds. Then we stood in the road, joined hands and sang three times the verse of Willie's sea song:

Ball away,
Plunder! (Stamp with foot.)
Gather all the valuables you can, etc.

And thus we parted.

into more than an average number of scrapes on the road made our way to London. Three days in this city sufficed to exhaust our small stock of money, and there was only one course left open to us. Fortunately, it was the one we both most wished to follow.

In a low roofed tavern parlor in Wapping we entered into conversation with a gauged old shipmaster, whom we found drinking strong ale with a toast in it and crunching raw onions as though they were aromatic sweetmeats. To him we confided our wish.

"Want to go to sea, eh?" he growled.

"Well, it's a dog's life at first and not much better after; rancid salt pork to eat, and not a savory morsel like this here onion to be had for love or money; hard work, hard knocks and scurvy; that's what you'll get. If you're extra strong, you may stand it; if not, better steal a sheep and get comfortably hanged ashore."

And so he went mauling on. But finally, as he was short handed, he agreed to take us as ordinary seamen, promising promotion when we deserved it.

On that very night we were entered on the books of the brig Surrey Hills, and our life of adventure was begun.

CHAPTER V.

The brig Surrey Hills was engaged in the Venetian trade and did the double voyage twice a year. Her owner was Master Simmonds of the Cheap, and a good servant she had been to him, having fought her way backward and forward between London and Venice against the united forces of wind, waves and plearoons for nearly five and forty years, as the evidence of many a scar on the timbers of her hull and on the faces of her crew could prove.

Our first voyage out was a thoroughly prosperous one. Even the dreaded bay of Biscay was for once as quiet as the most timorous landsman could have wished. Arrived at Venice, we bartered our homely English goods for a cargo of fine glass and iron work from the workshops of the Water City and for curious stuffs and perfumes which its traders had brought from the far lands of Ind, Araby and Cathay.

During the voyage home, too, our luck stuck to us. We had a fair wind the whole way, and the words "Trim sails, the watch!" hardly once fell on our ears. Wonderful good fortune, this, but it cost our captain the greater part of his crew, who declared that the ship was bewitched—and I was more than half inclined to agree with them.

This was the reason for their fears: When we were lying at Venice, our captain went to a Finn who dealt in charms and for the sum of 19 ducats bought from him that which would raise a favoring gale. It was wrapped in a skin case marked all over with cabalistic designs whose meaning none of us understood. What it contained I cannot say, for no man on the brig dared to risk his eyesight by gazing at the wizard's charm after its maker had warned him to keep aloof. But this I know, that while that bag was nailed to the masthead we never wanted for a fair wind to waft us home.

Yet there were signs that the Eye above saw with anger the magical device that ensnared us of the just labors of sea working. Almost every night while we were in the more southern latitudes pale blue lights would fly down to us out of the darkness and perch on yardarm or masthead. They were Corpus Santos—holy bodies—and we knew that they had come to threaten and not to protect, for when we greeted them with a psalm they held their places as though they did not hear a word of our singing.

We younger ones gazed at the omens with wonder and little more, but the older seamen were strangely disquieted, and as soon as we dropped anchor in the Thames and the wages had been paid more than 50 of them left the ship for good. I would have followed them, for I trusted to their older experience in such things, but Alec, as usual, ridiculed my superstition and said he meant to stay, so I had to stifle my qualms and stay too.

We were rewarded for our boldness, for the captain not only appointed us to officerships and housed us in the after house, but undertook to teach us all the mysteries of navigation and seamanship, so that at the end of the voyage we were either of us competent to take the command of a vessel ourselves. And thus in the event it proved that our captain's deal with the devil was the beginning of our rapid rise in the cutting we had chosen.

We stuck to the Surrey Hills for several voyages after this, until at last we suffered so much in a brush with a couple of piratical rascals from Saltee that, though we beat them off after a tough battle, the ship was so much knocked about that on our return home she was pronounced unfit for another voyage. And so we were out of a berth. Alec would have shipped from the Thames again for foreign parts at once, but I suggested that we should have a little fun on shore first. We staid a few days, therefore, in London, and then, finding that our money was melting much too fast, we started to walk around the south coast of England.

After a few unimportant adventures we arrived in time at Bristol, and there the emptiness of our purses compelled us to take ship once more. We got berths on board the Severn at Bristol, but our vessel had not got clear of the red waves of the Bristol channel when—opposite Bideford if my memory does not fall me—an accident happened to her which gave us another step up the ladder of fortune. Our captain died of a stroke, and Alec, who had been a deep sea pilot, stepped into his shoes, and I became the second in command. So far, at least, we could not grumble at the way fate had treated us.

Our cargo was a mixed one for Vigo Bay, and after a good voyage out we landed it there and took in Spanish wines in return. While the lading was going on we had plenty of time to spend on shore, and in one of our excursions we had an adventure.

A sailor is always fond of a ride on horseback, and as Alec and I were no exceptions to the rule we had hired a couple of very fair mounts and went for a ride into the country. We had left the town about half a league behind us, when we met a carriage containing two men and a girl. One of the men had his arm round the girl and was holding her fast, as though to prevent her from jumping out, and as we passed she gave a cry and waved her hand to us, whereupon the man who was holding her swore at her and called to the other to whip up his horse.

"Something wrong here, Alec," I exclaimed, but Alec had already turned and was riding hard after him. I followed, and after a chase of about a mile we came up with them. We whipped out our pistols and shouted to them to stop or we would fire.

"Now," said Alec when they had pulled up, "out you get, both of you."

Yielding to the eloquence of the two cocked pistols, they obeyed.

SEEN FROM A DISTANCE.

Speaking of Lord Dundonald's case the Western British American takes the view that it but goes to show "the fact, which experience has thoroughly established, that the finest soldier in the field may be totally deficient when placed in a position where administrative ability is required—the most skilful tactician may be utterly devoid of tact." It says, "Lord Dundonald himself a Tory, seems thoroughly imbued with that mistaken idea, so fatal to all usefulness, that the British born is a being superior to the colonial, and that the only tolerable colonial is the colonial Tory." And it continues.

As the facts appeared in the Parliamentary debate, this corps was formed on the recommendation of Hon. Mr. Fisher himself. Lord Dundonald's recommendation for the officer of this corps strongly reminds one of the old Tory Family Compact times. Senator Baker is the leading Conservative of the district. Five of the officers nominated for the squadron are relatives of Senator Baker. Dr. Pickell, who was nominated to command the squadron is a family connection of Senator Baker. Mr. G. H. Baker, is a son of Senator Baker. Mr. Thomas R. Pickell is a son-in-law of Senator Baker, and finally, Mr. Thomas F. Cotten is a son-in-law of Mr. John M. Gibson and grand-nephew of Senator Baker. Dr. Pickell had no military experience, nor had he ever evinced any interest in the militia. Yet he was to be made squadron commander and headquarters changed from Adamsville to Sweetburg to suit his convenience. Hon. Mr. Fisher recommended, instead, Mr. Gibson, a Conservative, but a graduate of the Military College. He also desired to give promotion to a son of Senator Baker, who had had experience, and to Lieut. Holland, who had won the Victoria Cross in the South African war. When the General wished to discuss the matter with the acting Minister, who was his superior officer, instead of waiting upon him, as courtesy and duty alike demanded, he telephoned the Minister to call at his office, as if he had been an orderly on duty. When he made his defence in Parliament, instead of presenting it through the Minister, he selected a member of the Tory Opposition as his mouthpiece. Truly, Hon. Mr. Fisher's alleged "discourtesy" to the General reminds us of the policeman in the comic paper who yells "Leggo that dog!" to the unfortunate tramp whose calf is securely and painfully entangled in the jaws of the canine.

POLITICS IN THE MILITIA.

Toronto Saturday Night is not in accord with the attempt being made by the Tory press to work up public sentiment over the Dundonald incident by asserting that politics was at the bottom of the trouble. It says: "It is the rottenest sort of cant to say that politics have been introduced into the militia to a greater extent by the present Government than by their predecessors. The militia has gradually been improved, and Canada is proud of it, and the chief offence to the Opposition has been that the militia is no longer a Tory preserve. It may be regrettable that politics have soaked their way into everything in this country. The prohibitionists are partisans first; religionists forget the bible where politics are concerned, and politicians may forget patriotism in refusing to permit battalions to be formed with headquarters intended for little but a committee-room for the propagation of dislike and distrust of the administration. But as self-preservation is the first law of nature, Canadians need not be prodded to save their lives and incidentally to save a few dollars.

"We are not living, as Lord Dundonald has hinted, on the forbearance of our neighbors; individually and nationally we are living, and living in a simple way, because we see fit to do so. We may be wrong, but the funeral is ours. It seems to me that Lord Dundonald's method of procedure tends to teach insubordination and will do the militia force more harm than good. An aristocrat by birth and instinct, though personally amiable, is naturally an autocrat; trained as a soldier, petted as a hero, he becomes ten times more so; and while Canada as a whole regrets the unhappy incident which his friends at first tried to conceal and which he has now tried to explain, at heart the whole country feels, with the Premier, a distinct hatred of being "dragged," General Hutton is about to give the "hunch" out of Australia; Sir Percy Girouard, a Canadian, has been told to quit South Africa, and it would appear that the day is past for those whose sympathies are not born of the soil endeavoring to teach natives how to wear corsets."

EDITORIAL NOTES

Brockville Recorder: Gen. Hutton will be tickled all over to read that Sir Frederick Borden, who stood up for Sam Hughes, is getting a taste of that gentleman's ingratitude, too.

It seems that Cochrane is only an assumed name, and that by rights Dundonald is a Blair. That makes two Blairs over whom the Conservatives have gone into raptures—for a spell.

Montreal Herald: The Toronto News sees a prospect of Germany raiding the St. Lawrence. Toronto needn't worry in that event. It will be all off with the German when he meets Jean Baptiste.

One of Lord Dundonald's schemes, which Hon. Mr. Borden cruelly killed, was to spend about $40,000,000 in armories and armaments. And we were to build great forts all along our border, garrison them and mount guns to defend us against attacks by the Yankees. He didn't suppose that we should be idle or have any spare change for chocolates.

Globe: For the sake of securing a position in South Africa Co. Sam Hughes wrote a dishonest apology. Remembering this fact, he should have taken a back seat in the militia debate.

Col. Sam Hughes says Lord Dundonald counted dismissal by his after-dinner attack on the Government. His Lordship practically says so himself. Why then the Tory outcry about the "outrage" of dismissing him.

General Dundonald, in his last statement, explains: "how difficult it was to get qualified officers for the militia," especially in the Townships. And yet he invited dismissal by insisting on the appointment of Dr. Pickell, who had no military qualification, while men who had it could not get even a hearing.

Lord Dundonald's expression of contempt for our Government of "farmers" was in poor taste, but not more so than the Tory cartoon holding up to ridicule the farmer as a soldier. These farmers pay the contemptuous lord's salary, and when the country needs defenders the farmer will not pack his grip and skip out.

Col. Sam Hughes has been boasting down at Montreal that he has French blood in his veins. Wonder he didn't spring that yarn he told the Galway Catholics—that once upon a time he kissed the great toe of the Pope. When he goes up north among the Orangemen he probably tells them that whenever he has to pass St. Mary's R.C. church on his way home in Lindsay he experiences a feeling of moral nausea that is not banished until he has spent five minutes in "rapt contemplation of the picture of King Billy crossing the Boyne."

The Dundonald debate at Ottawa: Continuing to read the manifesto, Sir Frederick Borden said the phrase "Myself and the people of Canada," explained the whole thing. A more concentrated exhibition of egotism could not be found in the English language. Who is this man who puts himself first and the Dominion of Canada afterwards? (Laughter.) He had one lesson to learn before he can expect to be the dictator of this country; he must learn to govern himself. (Applause.) He (Sir Frederick Borden) had had the greatest difficulty in keeping Lord Dundonald anywhere in bounds in regard to expenditure.

Weekly Sun: One change brought against Sir Wilfrid Laurier in connection with this Dundonald affair may be easily dismissed. When he called Lord Dundonald a "foreigner" he clearly meant "not Canadian." Sir Wilfrid is at all events not likely to sin against the amenities. There is no word which aptly expresses the domiciliary relation of an English Commander of the Militia to this country. "Stranger" and "alien" are both of them more disagreeable than "foreigner," and "non-Canadian" is awkward. "British" might be taken to imply that Canadians were not British. Sir Wilfrid, at all events, meant no harm.

Western British American: One of Lord Dundonald's not very remote official acts was the issuance of a militia regulation in regard to appointments which provided that no person should be appointed as an officer unless he had the qualifications prescribed for the position, and that "no officer shall be promoted to higher rank than the one next above that which he holds." Yet to oblige his Tory friends he attempted to violate his own regulation and quarreled with the government because they would not permit him to make a major of cavalry out of a medical man who had never ridden anything more untamed than the family sawhorse, and whose sole connection with the militia of this district had been confined to putting up pills and potions for ailing members of the force. Lord Dundonald would seem to be condemned out of his own mouth.

Safeguard the Children.

Notwithstanding all that is done by boards of health and charitable inclined persons, the death rate among small children is very high during the hot weather of the summer months in large cities. There is not probably one case of bowel complaint in a hundred, however, that could not be cured by the timely use of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. Mr. Frank Biggs, of Frankville, N.Y., in speaking of this remedy said: "I have found it expedient to have a supply of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy on hand. It has been a family safeguard and while especially beneficial to children, it is equally good in adult cases. I recommend it cheerfully and without reservation." For sale by all druggists.

LINDSAY TO WINDERMERE.

NOTES OF A FLYING TRIP TO DELIGHTFUL MUSKOKA,

Jotted Down for The Evening Post by Mr. N. Hockin.

A modest bit of paper rummed on the window of Geo. Wilder's office, caught the eye of the writer on Wednesday evening of last week. It read "Muskoka and return, $145." Stepping inside, he learned from Bro. Wilder that $145 would purchase a return ticket, good for two days, from Lindsay to Windermere, one of Lake Rosseau's most popular summer resorts. Knowing this to be one of Canada's most charming summer trips, covering some eighty miles by rail and a sail of another thirty miles through some of Muskoka's best scenery among the green islands of Lakes Muskoka and Rosseau, it did not take us long to decide to secure a ticket that looked so much like a bargain day temptation.

Thursday morning, June 23rd, found us at the G. T. R. depot bright and early. Sharp 7 our special excursion train of eight passenger coaches pulled out. Mr. William Doby, one of the G. T. R.'s most careful drivers, was at the throttle, and Conductor Hodgson looked after the passengers with his well-known courtesy. Through the good management of these officials our train was on time at every station, and reached its destination a few minutes ahead of schedule.

It was quite evident that this "Bargain Day Excursion" had not been properly advertised, in Lindsay, for there were only about a score of us on board when we left the station.

As we understand the excursion is an annual affair, we would advise the committee to be a little more generous with Printer's Ink.

Another year. The excursion is run by Little Britain people under the auspices of their fraternal societies, the A.O.U.W., O.C.H.C. and I.O.O.F., the committee of management being Dr. G. W. Hall, J. J. Rich and Isaac McKee. Every station between Lindsay and Atherley Junction added its complement of our well-dressed, jolly country cousins, until the eight coaches were well filled. All appeared—both young and old—to be out for a good time, most of us feeling like a lot of school children let out at recess. The township of Mariposa can't turn out as merry a lot of men and as fine a bunch of pretty girls as any township in the prosperous County of Victoria, and the muster on this occasion was no exception to the rule. The following are some of the prominent gentlemen who were present with their wives and families or sweethearts: Messrs. G. W. Hall, M.D., E. Z. Yerex, Isaac McKee, Joseph Gregg, W. H. Wickham, R. Smith, William Greenaway, Richard Avery, W. J. Lowndsworth, A. O. Hogg, John Medland, Robert Henderson, W. H. Baralough, Thos. H. Yerex, William Downer, Wm. Stacey, Wm. Yeo, James Swain, Wm. Mitchell, and the Rev. W. T. Wickett, of Victoria Road.

Atherley Junction our train took on the air of a fly-boat and no more stops were made until Muskoka Wharf was reached 10:30. Our party was soon transformed on the decks of the fine steamer Medora, the largest vessel of the fleet, Capt. Bailey on the bridge, and soon we were quickly steaming our through the bay, passing the two sanitariums beautifully situated on the mainland, out through the gap into the broad and clear.

Waters of Lake Muskoka. The day was an ideal one, even for the leafy month of June, so delightfully refreshing in the air, through a happy bride. The sky was cloudless, the gentle breeze, full of the health-giving ozone of these high latitudes, kissed the cheeks of little pretty maidens crowding the main forward deck, many of them gazing for the first time upon the charming scene of these famous lakes, the verdure of islands and wooded shores being made more beautiful by recent showers. This "feast of reason and flow of soul" for a brief space at least, had to give place to the good cheer of another sort, and soon up the rocky shore we were greeted by merry little parties busy with the contents of well-filled baskets. For those not so provided, dinner was prepared in the handsome dining saloon of the steamer, for which the committee had arranged at the reasonable charge of twenty-five cents. About one o'clock the steamer entered the Indian River, and slowly passing the many bays that mark the winding course of this romantic channel, the whistle signals for the locks and we are at Port Carling. The Government has greatly improved the lake service, and now it requires but a few minutes for the largest steamers to pass from the waters of Lake Muskoka to those of lovely Lake Rosseau. Our course is again up through the Indian River, the banks of which are now thickly wooded with.

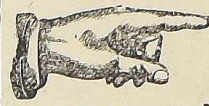

Handsome Summer Cottages. One of the first to present itself being that of the Rev. Thos. Manning, the late popular pastor of the Cambridge-st. Methodist church. As we pass out into Lake Rosseau, with its scores of pretty islands, many handsome residences of noted people are to be seen, only a few of them, however, being yet opened. Finely situated upon quite a bluff, some two miles distant stands the Windermere House one of the largest hotels in Muskoka, which, by the way, is at present being greatly enlarged. The Medora soon reached the wharf and the charming trip ends here. A couple of hours are spent in boating, roaming the shady bays, climbing the rocky cliffs, taking in the charming views therefrom, or resting on the spacious verandahs of the hotel.

Four o'clock—the steamer's whistle calls us on board again and we are homeward bound. Most of the party returned the same evening; a few, however, remained over until the following day. Two of Lindsay's well-known citizens, Alex. Ross and William Barnes, are at present located here, doing good work for the Government in extending the docks of this important centre. Friday morning the Fine Steamer Islander landed us at Beaufort; from thence we crossed the lake to Glen Echo, Island F, and then on down the lake to Gravenhurst per the fast little steamer Ahmie, reaching the wharf in time to catch the flyer for Orillia. The afternoon was spent in "doing this enterprising and prosperous little city." The busy streets, handsome residences, beautiful kept lawns and boulevards, its charming little park on the lake front, in excellent order—at which we are informed their band gives a concert once a week, comfortable seats being provided for the citizens—are some of the pleasing evidences of prosperity and the good civic management, for which our sister town is noted.

Lindsay was reached at 3:05 p.m., and thus concluded a two days' pleasant outing, including many miles of travel by land and water at the trifling cost of "one forty-five."

A Neat Booklet.

"Souvenir of Fenelon Falls: Kawartha Lakes," is the title of an extremely neat booklet of 22 pages recently issued by Mr. R. J. Moore, publisher of The Fenelon Falls Star. The letterpress deals with the history of the village since its first settlement in 1841 by Capt. Wallis and a Mr. Jamieson down to the present. Full justice is done to the manifold charms and beauties of the Kawartha chain of waters, in connection with which Fenelon Falls occupies a favorable position. The booklet is handsomely and profusely illustrated, and in every way the souvenir is a credit to the business men of the village and the energetic publisher.

Cured of Chronic Diarrhoea After Ten Years of Suffering.

"I wish to say a few words in praise of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy," says Mrs. Mattie Burge, of Martinsville, Va. "I suffered from chronic diarrhoea for ten years and during that time tried various medicines without obtaining any permanent relief. Last summer one of my children was taken with cholera morbus, and I procured a bottle of this remedy. Only two doses were required to give her entire relief. I then decided to try the medicine myself, and did not use all of one bottle before I was well and I have never since been troubled with that complaint. One cannot say too much in favor of that wonderful medicine." This remedy is for sale by all druggists.

OPS TOWNSHIP LEGISLATORS

NOXIOUS WEEDS ARE BECOMING A MENACE TO FARMERS.

No Action Taken in Connection With Riverside Cemetery Walk.

The members of Ops Council met on June 27th, at 10 a.m. The minutes of last meeting were read and confirmed.

Communications.

A letter received by Senator McHugh from the Secretary of the Board of Railway Commissioners at Ottawa, stating that the memorial of Ops Council and the petition of the ratepayers praying that the public road at Pottery Corner would not be diverted, as proposed by the L. B. & P. Railway Company, had been favorably considered by the Board and the railway plan altered accordingly.

A letter from A. P. Devlin, County Crown Attorney, at the instance of His Hon. Judge Dean, with an extract from the presentment of the Grand Jury at the recent Court of General Sessions, referring to the necessity of systematic efforts being made by the municipalities of the county to keep the public roads open in winter by building more wire fences.

A letter from Thos. J. Maher, requesting Council to have Queen and Ernest-sts. in the sub-division of the west part of lot 21, con. 7, opened to the full width of 66 feet, as set forth in the plan of said sub-division; that seven land owners there are trespassers—himself included—and that they should be compelled to move their fences off said streets after harvest.

A letter from Mr. McNeill, County Clerk, stating that a committee of the County Council had been appointed to meet the members of Ops Council at the Court House at 11 a.m. on Wednesday, June 29th, to consider the condition under which the County Council would assume the completion and maintenance of the E. C. C. bridge.

A letter from Mr. E. Knowlson, Town Clerk, with a resolution of Council that Ops be asked to contribute to the maintenance of the Riverside cemetery sidewalk.

Roads and Ditches.

Messrs. Kennedy, McGehee and White, of Emily township, addressed the Council, urging that a grant be given to mark the north half mile of the boundary passable at all times, and save the ratepayers of both townships in that vicinity the trouble of driving around five miles because of said half mile of muck road. Emily Council would go half or more if Ops would assist.

Mr. Reeve said that the road in question was scarcely ever used by Ops, but if Commissioner Best could assist he might do so.

Mr. Best replied he had apportioned his money, but thought that if those directly interested in that road would put some stone on in the early winter, Ops might assist them next year.

Mr. Geo. Murphy complained that Mr. Coulter had not made an effort to open the water course east of his land, as promised.

Mr. Coulter replied, "I took Thos. O'Neill to see the place and told him to do the work as soon as it was fit to be done."

Railway Crossings.

Mr. B. White called the attention of Council to the railway crossing east of John Jackson's, where fall underbrush overhangs the wagon road on both sides and entirely shuts off the view of approaching trains.

Commissioner Best said he would see Messrs. Jackson and Anzures and get them to have the obstructions removed.

Mr. Best said several are complaining of the railway crossings both north and south of the town. The Company have not had time to grade the approaches to them yet and some of them are dangerous.

Mr. Bowkins then moved, seconded by Mr. Best, that the L. B. & P. Railway Company be notified and requested to grade and complete their railway crossings as soon as possible, as they are dangerous to public travel in their present condition.

Resolved.

In response to the resolution of Lindsay Council in reference to Riverside cemetery walk, the Reeve said he understood that Ops Council had permitted the building of said walk only on conditions that Ops would not be liable for cost of building or maintenance, or for any accident that might occur because of defects in said walk. No further action was taken in the matter.

Growth of Noxious Weeds.

Mr. John Calvert said his business to the Council was that they ought to take some action to rid the county of noxious weeds, especially what is known as the sow thistle, which is becoming a nuisance and threatens to take possession of several farms. The act for preventing the spread of noxious weeds was referred to. The Council explained that it was the duty of pathmasters to prevent the growth of such weeds on the roads, and that land owners should endeavor to remove them from their farms. The Council might deem it advisable to appoint one or more inspectors for the purpose, but it was too late to appoint any for this year.

On motion the Reeve then signed orders in payment of the following: John Gann, travelling on beat 4, $11.00; John McSwain on account, $50.00; W. F. O'Boyle, postage account, $2.00.

By-laws were then passed to confirm the appropriations of 1904 and to borrow money to pay current expenses, after which the Council adjourned till August 8th, at the usual hour.

W. F. O'BOYLE, Clerk.

Newspapers and Magazines

The complete tale in the July Lippincott's Magazine is by Lafatette Melvins, a young Southern gentleman who has made a good deal of reputation with former novels, and who is a protégé of Mrs. Jefferson Davis.

The story in Lippincott's is well called "The Love Affair of a Princess." It carries us back to France at the gallant day when Henriette Maries was young and the Prince of Wales and Buckingham were wooing in disguise. There is an exciting plot and love is won at the point of the rapier.

WEEKLY POST LETTER BOX

SENATOR McHUGH'S GOOD SERVICE.

(To the Editor of The Post.)

Sir,—Your issue of last week had an editorial article headed, "A Watch-tu' Guardian." In it was the following: "Senator McHugh's bit of good service was in connection with the Lindsay, Bobaygon & Pontypool Railway right of way south of town," etc., and, lower down in the article, "Way did not Doctor Vrooman, our member make this important discovery in advance of the Senator?" So it seems, Mr. Editor, that the "bit of good service" was the result of a discovery, and, therefore, it might be a sufficient answer to the assignation of The Post as to why "our member" did not make this "important discovery" in advance of the Senator, to say it was because the Senator made the discovery in advance of "our member." Permit me to say that when I talked this very matter over with Senator McHugh, here in Ottawa, it did not for a moment occur to my simple mind that the above "bit of good service" would come within the scope of the too-long columns of The Post.

It cannot be other than repugnant to a healthy minded man to have trifling services, that come within the scope of his everyday duties, displayed out in fulsome laudation before the public gaze. Four residents of the town of Lindsay are representatives at Ottawa. Two of these have a monopoly of the puffery columns of the town papers, and it looks as though the law of natural compensation was in force in this instance, for one is of the Senate, and one of the Commons. I am within the mark when I say that nearly every issue of the Watchman-Warder has its pages blurred all over with sycophantic paragraphs of Col. Hughes. I compliment the editor of that paper on his keen sense of discrimination in ministering to the taste of its readers. When the people send representatives in Ottawa, duties are entailed, and when these are performed, why boast? Nay more, if there be neglect in the performance it is the people's prerogative and duty to punish by dismissal.

I have had occasion to wonder why it is that The Post keeps tooting the Senator, seeing that he occupies a position above the will of the people. Can it be that The Post and the Liberal party of Victoria and Haliburton have the same view of life? In the Senate, and contest the riding in the interests of the Reform party at the approaching general election, for the House of Commons?—I am, sir, yours, etc.,

Note.—Our friend the Doctor has allowed his indignation at the course of the Sun Hughes organ to prompt him to an act of injustice against The Post. We do not "toot" in praise of Senator McHugh as often as his services deserve, and if we have failed to report the Doctor's good work on any occasion it was due to the fact that possibly we were skeptical as the service recorded in the columns of his vaing when we failed to see the point of the party newspaper, The Watchman-Warder.—Ed. CUTTING AFFRAY LAST WEEK

DISAGREEMENT BETWEEN TWO BROTHERS-IN-LAW ENDS BADLY.

Victim Received a Knife Wound in the Hip, but Will Recover.

A serious stabbing affray took place June 23, opposite the G. T. R. station about 9.30. Mr. M. J. Wells, who runs the grocery business in McWilliams' terrace, was the victim. It seems that Mr. J. P. Wells, painter, who is a brother-in-law of Myles, had owed the latter a sum of money for some time past, and had received the bill. He appeared at Mr. Myles' store, the worse of liquor, and denied that he owed any money. Wells loitered about the store, using bad language, and finally Myles gave him a shove, following which Wells struck at Myles with the open blade of a large jack-knife, the point of which was very sharp. The knife entered the right leg below the hip, and made a deep and long gash as it was withdrawn.

Dr. Herriman was called and dressed the wound. He pronounced it to be not dangerous unless blood poisoning set in. Wells was arrested about 10.30 by Constables Reeves and Crawford, and was brought before P. M. Jackson next morning. He was remanded until June 30th.

VICTORIA CO. CHEESE BOARD.

BUYER WHITTON AGAIN THREATENED WITH BANISHMENT

Because he Refused some Bobcaygeon and North Ops Cheese.

Following is a synopsis of the discussion at Tuesday's Cheese Board meeting:

The salesman from Bobcaygeon, rose to his feet and said he thought it was wrong to allow Mr. Whitton to buy cheese on the Board. He referred to Mr. Whitton's purchase of Bobcaygeon cheese at last sale and said he came around and inspected but would not take it at the price he quoted at the previous board meeting.

Mr. Whitton—"When I went to the factory in question I found a number of the cheese open and the flavor bad. I told the cheesemaker to take and cut the boxes down a quarter of an inch and by the time they got to Belleville they would probably close up. If the Bobcaygeon cheese was good I would have had no object in throwing it up. We are allowed to go into the car and see our goods. In regard to the North Ops complaint, there were some ten or twelve cheese the flavour of which was not very good, and as there was only a small quantity of cheese I thought they could get rid of them. When you find some of the cheese with the flavor bad it is altogether likely that you will find that the rest will be the same."

Mr. Flavell—"This is a fitting sequel to that which happened on this board a few weeks ago. If we had bought this cheese we would have been compelled to pay for the cheese. Some security should be demanded by the board." Mr. Flavell then moved that Mr. Whitton be suspended from this Board for the period of one month, and asked, "Is there any second?"

Mr. Whitton—"I wish you would do it for the whole term—it would suit me better."

President Robertson—"I know that Mr. Whitton is well able to give instruction along the line of cheese-making and knows good cheese, but I want you to be careful about voting anybody off this Board—I would rather that the buyers would pay for the cheese in Lindsay, as there would then be no more such trouble."

Mr. Whitton—"I know that Bobcaygeon is a good factory, but the best of cheese factories will sometimes get astray once in awhile, and I defy any person to say that the cheese which I did not take were satisfactory. I asked the cheesemaker if the boxes were a fair sample of what the rest of the boxes contained, and he said they were."

Mr. Parkins—"I was not here at the last meeting of the Board and I guess I missed a lot of fun. (Laughter.) If I remember aright, did not this Board appoint arbitrators who were to settle all disputes between the buyer and seller. Why don't they do it?"

Mr. Whitton—"I would like anybody to say the cheese which I rejected were good. I will call on Mr. Publow to inspect them, and if he says they are good I will take them."

Mr. Brown—"You are a director over Mr. Publow, and —"

Mr. Whitton—"No, I have nothing to do with Mr. Publow."

Mr. Brown—"You are a director." Mr. Whitton—"I am a director in the Association, but have nothing to do with Mr. Publow."

Mr. Flavell—"What I object to is this—At the last meeting of this Board, Mr. Whitton compelled me to pay more than I wanted to; he compels us to take cheese that he would not take himself."

Mr. Whitton—"I had my orders to pay $1.4."

Mr. Flavell—"If the buyers would put up a security we would then have peace on the Board."

Mr. Whitton—"I was talking to Mr. Hill on Saturday, and he said the cheese in question were a good lot excepting the ten or twelve."

Mr. Brown—"I have taken cheese which Mr. Whitton said I should have left. I think Mr. Whitton knows something about cheese."

Mr. Flavell—"Were the North Ops cheese really the worse for bad flavor?"

Mr. Whitton—"Yes, it looked to me as if the milk was too fresh from the cows."

Mr. Currin—"I move we get our cheese paid for in Lindsay."

Mr. Staples—"I am not in this row but if we force these buyers to bring $100 here as a security, it will stop some other good men from coming to this board. I would suggest that if we put any punishment on buyers I think we should put in on the one man at fault, and not on the rest. I move that when a man does wrong, we punish that man individually."

Mr. Cook—"I am not going to spend the time of coming to Lindsay twice a week. I'll quit."

Mr. Staples—"I think the cheese should be paid for before it is taken; the buyers are not responsible for our cheese after shipping them in good order."

Mr. Whitton—"We don't hear a word of this in other factories; from Kingston, east every cheese is bought and guaranteed. There's no cheese inspected for quality that has got to be guaranteed in Montreal. The more you tie up the buyer's hands in the west, the more you have got to get away from the prices. We never hear of cash on delivery at other factories."

Mr. Robertson—"Mr. Wrighton, of Peterboro, will not come here on account of the prices."

Mr. Cook—"You can count me out as far as the $100 is concerned."

Mr. Whitton—"All too." Mr. Robertson—"I will send our cheese out of Lindsay to be inspected let us send it to the Old Country."

Mr. Arnold—"I feel as perfectly safe in sending to Montreal as I do selling to any town buyers."

Mr. Whitton—"Whether you believe me or not, I have explained this matter squarely—we wanted fair stuff."

Mr. Staples tried to explain matters, but was interrupted by Mr. Whitton with the remark, "You are jumping at conclusions that have never happened."

Mr. Staples—"If I were Bobcaygeon I would sue the buyer for the value if I had proper grounds."

Mr. Flavell then followed. Mr. Flavell's motion to expel Mr. Whitton, being dropped, Cameron and Cambray refused to sell to Mr. Cook

TORONTO BALL PLAYERS WON

LINDSAYS NOT GOOD ENOUGH FOR THE CENTRAL Y. M. C. A. MEN.

A Few Errors and the Tall Grass Responsible—Score 6-10.

The last Central Y.M.C.A. boys of Toronto, who never lost a game last year, succeeded in a hard and stiff fight in wrenching a victory from the Lindseys as a result of some very large and juicy errors and poor hitting by the Lindseys men. The game all through was a good one, but in the first and second innings the Toronto boys had a bunch of lucky hits which gave them a lead of six runs. The wind was high and the grass in the outfield over a foot long in many places, the result being that the hits were not gathered in very fast.

The Y. M. C. A. boys are star players, and their hitting and fast base-running were features. Phelan, their pitcher, is the same artist who won the game for Varsity here, and he was in good form. "Curly" Mack was touched up pretty good in the 1st, 2nd, and 3rd innings. Taylor, at short, is an all-round ball player, and his catch over second base and also a stop of a hot liner, were very pretty and won for him the hearty applause of the spectators. He is also a pitcher, and pitched for Peterboro in their last league game. W. Cadman received behind the bat and his throwing was good. Hooper, for Lindsay, retired two of the Centrals by catching two nice flies in centre field.

Finneman played a good hard game but at times lacks all control of his tongue and fists. If out boys want to retain the support of our citizens they will have to sit down hard on the field. Players can be replaced, no matter how clever, but a bad name sticks. The nasty encounter, which took place yesterday, following that with Varsity, will certainly go far in alienating the citizens' support, and will injure the reputation of the team. If a player can't keep cool and abide by the umpire's decision, fair or unfair, he should get out of the game.

Workman held second base down in his usual effective way. In the first innings, Taylor, Sharpe, Hurvey and Owens scored, and in the second Walsh and Phelan. Lindsay scored one in the third, Moynes bringing Hooper in on a sacrifice hit. Lindsay again scored in the eighth. McGill, Workman, Miller, Hooper and Moynes crossing the plate. In the ninth, C. Cadman, Taylor, Sharpe, and Owens scored. The teams tied in the 8th innings, but in the ninth Toronto seemed to get the bases all full. A low, easy, infield fly was popped to Miller, who in a very graceful way, failed to request it, and a runner scored. Miller then fumbled another grounder and Toronto's score advanced another notch, and when they got through the innings the Y. M. C. A. boys had 4 chalked up. The Lindsay batters missed to trios of shots and hit easy grounders, and the side was out. Score 10-6. The line-up was as follows:

Y. M. C. A. Lindsay
Walker, 1st base.....Moynes
W. Cadman, 2nd base.....Cinnamon
Taylor, 3rd base.....Miller
Phelan, 4th base.....Mack Hooper, 5th base.....Workman Owens, 6th base.....Moynes
C. Cadman, 7th base.....McGill
Phelan, 8th base.....McLaughlin
Notes of the Game.

McGill made a nice fly.

About 300 spectators witnessed the game yesterday.

Marks, at left field, chased a hot fly, but the wind fooled him.

A. Cadman, at Toronto centre, is a good man in the right place.

The local Y.M.C.A. secretary entertained the visitors in a first-class manner.

Any flies batted by the Lindsay boys were easily handled by the Centrals.

A high fly got out beyond Moynes' reach in the 2nd innings, but was well tried for.

Moynes gathered in two or three hot liners and figured in a double but did while trying to steal 3rd in the fifth.

"Teddy" Miller's pretty drive over second, which brought in two runners, called forth the applause of the grand stand crowd.

Umpire Tim Burke's decisions disputed one or two times. His ball calls were a little out, but the whole was umpired a very good game and what he thought was fair he carried out.

First on balls of "Curly" 1; off Phelan, 11. Struck out—Curly 12; Hooper, 5. Double plays—Moynes to Workman; to McGill; Taylor to Hurvey; to Mack. Errors—Miller 3, Taylor 2, W. Cadman 2. Sacrifice hits, Moynes 1.

Away With the Automobile!
Farmers in the vicinity of Newcastle are quite wrathful over the automobiles. They are becoming such a curse to the country that we will not stand it; we can compare them to nothing but a lawless gang of hoodlums, and stop them must, for they are a vein of the old blood beginning to boil in Durham, as we find these people have no regard for us or our horses, and when the latter are frightened, they laugh like a quartette of idiots. But the laugh may turn. Come on, boys! with your shotguns and barbed-wire and use them as demons and not as human beings. Glowing Prospects in the West.

Winnipeg Free Press. Mayor Turbott, of St. Boniface, reached home after a week of hard travel over about as bad roads as was ever seen in Southern Manitoba. The crops, Mr. Terence says, are the finest he has ever seen, and the work will have an eye-opener this year as to what this country can do in raising wheat. It promises to be the greatest crop ever recorded. The wheat is a foot high already, and the farmers are simply intoxicated by the prospects before them. Everything that will grow, he says, will be raised. Other stock are all doing splendidly and for mixed farming as well as for straight grain raising, the country has never had a finer season than this one promises to be.

ESCAPED DEATH BY MIRACLE

LINDSAY BOY'S HANDS MANGLED BY C. T. R. TRAIN LAST WEEK.

It is supposed that Victim Fell Asleep Alongside the Track.

(From Evening Post, June 23.)
Fred Carlin, a young man about 22 years of age, son of Mr. M. Carlin, east ward, was mangled for life last night, and had an exceedingly narrow escape from death, as a result of excessive indulgence in liquor.

The unfortunate young fellow, who is known and liked by almost everyone owing to his happy disposition and skill as a step-dancer, has been employed in the cookery of the L. B. & P. Ry construction train, now stationed at Ward's farm, near Ops swing bridge, for the past two weeks, and came into town last night to see his friends. It was almost twelve o'clock when he left to return to the camp by way of the G. T. R. bridge.

About 12:30 a Grand Trunk double-header train in charge of Conductor Hadden and Drivers Tinton and Lytle pulled out of Lindsay yard for Belleville, and some time after it had passed Carlin made his appearance at the C. P. R. camp in a pitiable condition, and aroused the men by his calls for aid. Both of his hands were horribly mangled; his head was gashed in several places, and blood was pouring from him in streams. Luckily steam had not gone down in the locomotive, and Conductor Jas. Bott and the engine men brought Carlin to the King-st. crossing and from that point assisted him to Dr. Sher's office, where morphine was administered to ease his pain. A hack was then secured and Carlin was conveyed to Ross Hospital where Drs. Sher and Gillespie amputated several of the fingers of both hands and sewed up gashes in his head. The hands may be saved, but the medical men are not overly sanguine.

It is supposed that the unfortunate fellow stumbled on his way to camp and, overcome by the vapor he had taken, fell asleep with his hands on the rail. His punishment is severe, yet he has cause to be thankful that that he was not ground to pieces under the heavy train.

VICTORIA COUNTY COUNCIL

THE REGULAR JUNE SESSION OPENED TUESDAY OF LAST WEEK

Not Much Business to be Dealt With by the Members.

On motion of Mr. Scully, seconded by Mr. Bryans, the report of the standing committee on printing was received, read and adopted.

Report of Equalization Committee.
On motion of Messrs. McGee and Bailey, the report of the Equalization committee was read and adopted. A by-law in connection therewith was also passed as follows:

Gentlemen,—Your committee beg to recommend that the equalized values of all the municipalities in the County be the same as in the year of 1903.

Your committee beg further to recommend that the annexed schedule containing the municipal statistics of the local municipalities for the year 1903, and the equalized values for the purposes of the year 1904, be made a part of this report.

Your committee beg leave to introduce a by-law to give effect to the recommendation as to the equalized values.

On motion of Mr. Bryans, seconded by Mr. Graham, Council adjourned until 10 o'clock to-morrow.

FRIDAY'S SESSION.

Council resumed business this morning, with all members present except Mr. McQuade, the Warden in the chair. The minutes of Thursday's proceedings were read and approved.

The following documents were submitted:

Report of the County Playman's Association, and request for grant.

From the Treasurer of Somerville, respecting that of Hall for County Ponce Magistrate's court.

On motion the documents were referred to appropriate committees.

Report of Education Committee.

On motion of Mr. Staback, seconded by Mr. Fairbairn, the report of the Education committee was received and adopted as follows:

Gentlemen,—Your committee have considered the report of the High School Settlement Committee, and beg to express approval of the same and to recommend that the report be re-introduced to the Council.

Your committee have read and considered the reports of the Inspectors of Schools for East and West Victoria and beg to recommend that the reports be printed in the minutes.

Your committee have considered the resolution of Council which proposes that a grant be made to assist in rebuilding the High and Public School at Omemee. The building about to be erected will be used for both High and Public School purposes. As the statutory authority enables County Councils to give additional aid to High Schools or Collegiate Institutes only the Public School must be dissociated. A deputation from the Board of Education appeared, and supported the proposal on the ground of the great loss sustained by the High School district by reason of the burning of the school building. Your committee beg to recommend that the sum of five hundred dollars be granted to the Board of Education to be expended in providing equipment and facilities for High School purposes, the amount to be paid on the order of the members for the Third County Council Division.

Your committee have examined accounts as follows, and beg to recommend that the same be passed, viz: Wilson & Wilson, printing for Inspectors..... $14.00 Hart & Riddell, stationery for Inspectors..... 15.40

Your committee have examined the financial reports of the Lindsay Collegiate Institute and the Omemee High School for the year 1903, and submit summaries of same.

On motion of Messrs. Austin and Shaver, Mr. W. H. Stevens, Inspector of Schools for West Victoria, addressed the Council respecting the needs of the Ragged Rapids school section, in the Township of Dalton, and the bad ventilation in many of the schools.

Moved by Messrs. Graham and Bryans, that the Education committee report on the advisability of making a special grant to S. S. No. 5, in the Township of Dalton.—Carried.

Second Education Report.

On motion of Messrs. Staback and McGee, the report of the committee appointed at the January session with power and authority to settle with the boards of Education of the Town of Lindsay and the Village of Omemee, respectively, the amount to be paid for the maintenance of County pupils, was again received and was adopted as follows:

Gentlemen,—A meeting was held at the Court House on May 18th, 1904. There were present the members of your Committee, viz: James Graham, Frederick Shaver, John W. Wood, M. D., and Adam N. Staback, esquires, and the Warden, William Channon, esquire, and on behalf of the Board of Education of the Town of Lindsay; Joseph Stapley, esquire, chairman of the Finance Committee; John Carew and F. Blanchard, M. D., esquires; and J. C. Hartstons, esquire, Principal of the Collegiate Institute.

The Board of Education of the Village of Omemee was not represented. A. E. Staback, esq., was appointed chairman.

It was agreed that the method adopted in 1903 to make a settlement for one year only should be followed, the course evidently contemplated by the High Schools Act.

The average attendance of County pupils to the total attendance for the years 1901, 1902 and 1903, was 33.2 per cent.

The percentage of County rates paid by the Town of Lindsay is 13.11. It was agreed, on behalf of the Board of Education, as was done at former conferences, that while there is no provision to the effect in the High Schools Act, the Board of Education should in addition a food because it stands so emphatically for perfect nutrition. And yet in the matter of restoring appetite, of giving new strength to the tissues, especially to the nerves, its action is that of a medicine.

to the cost of the maintenance of County pupils for which the County is responsible on the basis of the percentage of attendance, be allowed the proportion of the net cost which in the loving of the County rate is contributed by the Town of Lindsay. Your Committee, while not unanimous in accepting the view of the representatives of the Board in this regard, agreed by a majority vote that the contention was reasonable and should be allowed to prevail.

It should be stated that owing to the destruction of the Omemee school building and the contents in the past winter, some records were not available for the purposes of the percentage in the foregoing statement.

Your Committee are of opinion, however, that the equivalent of the Legislative grant paid by the County is clearly in excess of the cost of maintenance of County pupils.

Roads and Bridges.

On motion of Messrs. Austin and Fairbairn, the report of the committee on Roads and Bridges, was read and adopted as follows:

Gentlemen,—Your committee have considered the paragraph of the Warden's address respecting the question of taking advantage of the provisions of the Act for the improvement of public highways. Your committee recommend that the Township Councils be invited to meet the County Council at the next session for the discussion of ways and means by which advantage may be taken of the appropriation made by the Government, and that the Councils be asked to give prior consideration to the subject and be prepared to name the roads in their respective municipalities which it may be deemed desirable to have assumed and made part of a County roads system.

Your committee have considered the resolutions of Council, on the subjects of which they have been instructed to report, and beg to recommend as follows:

1. That Adam E. Staback, esq., and the Warden be requested to inspect the bridge over Irish's Creek, on the boundary between the Townships of Mariposa and Eldon, in the Corporation of Woodville, and that they be authorized to have the same replaced by a cement bridge.
2. That no grant be made to assist in the construction of the approaches to the Wellington-st. bridge, in the Town of Lindsay.
3. That John Bailey, esq., be authorized to make necessary repairs on the south approach to Montgomery's bridge, on the boundary between the Townships of Dalton and Digby, and on the approaches to the bridge over Deer Creek, on the boundary between the Townships of Laxton and Bexley.
4. That no steps be taken towards building a bridge on the boundary between the Townships of Mariposa and Fenelon, opposite lot number four in the Township of Fenelon, as the necessity for this bridge appears to have arisen in connection with the construction of drainage works.
5. That the Warden, the chairman of this committee and Alexander McGee, esq., be appointed a committee with full authority to undertake the improvements on the Fenelon Falls bridge, which has become necessary by reason of the decayed and worn-out condition of the plank of the structure.

Your committee have considered the communications referred to them and beg to recommend as follows:

1. That any further action on relative to the closing of the Big Eddy bridge, situated between the Townships of Rama, Morrison and Dalton, be deferred. The Councils of the Counties of Ontario and Victoria and the Township of Mara have expressed themselves as in accord, but the Council of the Township of Dalton has given no formal expression of opinion as to the desirability or otherwise of the maintenance of the bridge being continued.
2. That the sum of fifty dollars be granted to the Township of Bexley to assist the municipality in repairing the Mill Pond bridge, in the Village of Cobocook.
3. That the communication from John S. Fielding, esq., consulting Engineer, be filed.
4. That the request of the Council of the Township of Eldon that the attention of the Minister of Railways and Canals be called to the unsafe condition of the bridges on the Victoria Road between the Townships of Eldon, Bexley and Fenelon, be accepted.
5. That a petition to the Dominion Government for the establishment of a Goods Roads Enquiry Branch of the Department of Agriculture, be introduced to the Council.

Your committee have given further consideration to the proposed assumption by the County of the East Cross Creek bridge, in the Township of Ops, deferred from the January session. The committee then appointed have reported that they have examined the structure and found the bridge proper to be about 290 feet in length, with about 1,000 feet of approaches. Of the latter there is probably six hundred feet not yet formed into permanent roadway, the water passing under in many places. The Committee are of opinion that the bridge comes within the provisions of Section 617a of the Consolidated Municipal Act, 1903, as amended at the last session of the Legislative Assembly. Your Committee beg to recommend that a special committee be appointed composed of Frederick Shaver, Adam E. Staback, James Graham and Dennis Scully, esq., and the chairman of this committee, to negotiate an agreement with the Council of the Township of Ops as to the proportions to be contributed by the County and Township, respectively, the special committee to report at the next session of the Council.

A special committee have given further consideration to the proposed grant for the repair of Mud Lake Narrows bridge, in the Township of Carden, deferred from the January session. The question has since taken a wider aspect in view of the contention by the Reeve of the municipality that the bridge is within the provisions of Section 617a of the Consolidated Municipal Act, 1903. Your committee recommend, therefore, that a special committee be appointed, composed of John W. Wood, M. D., and John Bailey, esq., and the Warden, to inspect the bridge and enquire into surrounding conditions, and report at the next session of the Council.

Your Committee have examined the minutes of a joint meeting held at the Pigeon Creek floating bridge on May 12th last, at which Charles Fairbairn and T. H. McQuade, esq., were present on behalf of the County of Victoria. Your Committee beg to express approval of the proposed repairs, and to recommend that Mr. Fairbairn be authorized to act for the County in connection with the completion of the work, and to give directions to the treasurer for the payment of the share of expenditure for which accounts have not yet been rendered.

Your Committee recommend that claims and allowances be passed, as follows:

County of Peterboro, share of repairs Pigeon Creek floating bridge, 1902-'03.....	$284.58
County of Peterboro, share of pay list, present repairs to June 3rd.....	71.70
J. J. Power, repairs Fenelon Falls bridge.....	4.50
McDougall, Brandon & Austin, plank, Fenelon Falls bridge.....	15.00

NERVOUS TROUBLES

Promptly and Permanently Cured by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

There is no torture more acute and intolerable than nervousness. A nervous person is in a state of constant irritation by day and sleeplessness by night. The sufferer starts at every noise, is shaky, depressed, and although in a constantly exhausted state, is unable to sit or lie still. If you are nervous or worried or suffer from a combination of languor and irritation you need a nerve tonic, and Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are absolutely the best thing in the world for you. You can only get rid of nervousness through feeding your nerves with rich, red blood, and Dr. Williams' Pink Pills actually make new blood. There is no doubt about this—thousands can testify to the blood-making, nerve-restoring qualities of these pills. St. Vitus dance is one of the most severe forms of nervousness, and Mrs. H. Hevenor, of Gravenhurst, Ont., tells how these pills cured her little boy. She says: "At the age of eight my little boy was attacked with St. Vitus dance, from which he suffered in a severe form. His nerves twitched to such an extent that he was almost helpless, and had to be constantly watched. He was under several doctors at different times, but they did not help him, so I decided to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and these have completely cured him, and now not a sign of the trouble remains."

When you buy these pills always look at the box and see that the full name, Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People, is printed on the wrapper, and refuse to take anything else. You can get these pills from all medicine dealers or they will be sent by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 by writing The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Birthday Celebration.

A very pleasant time was spent at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Maunder, Wellington-st., on Thursday evening, 23rd, it being the celebration of their youngest boys birthday. The family were all at home with the exception of Mr. W. Leigh, who is editor of the Becton paper. The Rev. Mr. Strike, who has been their pastor for four years and who was present at three weddings in the family, was in attendance, also Mrs. Strike was there to enjoy this unique celebration. Mr. Geo. Crawford who married Miss L. Maunder some few years ago, had their baby boy baptized, the name given him being Osborne George McIntyre Crawford. Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Maunder had their baby boy baptized, calling him Harold Walton Randolph Maunder. The water used for this service was held in a pitcher—a most beautiful one, given formerly by Mrs. Wm. Maunder's great great grandmother, and is supposed to be 150 years old. Willie Maunder gave a few choice vocal selections during the evening. Mr. and Mrs. Maunder, with the happy family gathered on the occasion, were very happy, and all felt it was an evening well spent.

THE CANADA LIFE ASSURANCE CO.

A BUSINESS PROPOSITION.

We offer you a better investment than Government Bonds

Better for three reasons.

1st.—Canada Life 5 per cent. Gold Bonds yield a much higher rate of interest than Government Bonds.

2nd.—They are paid for by instalments—thus placed within the reach of men without capital.

3rd.—They are insured. That is, should the investor die after paying only one instalment on his bonds, all his future payments to the Company would be immediately cancelled and the benefits of his investment would at once become available.

Add to all these advantages the very material one that the investor or shares in the surplus earnings of this leading Company, and you have an opportunity for safe and profitable investment rarely equalled. A handsome booklet, giving a full explanation, will be sent on request.

By-law and Petition.
On motion of Mr. Staback, seconded by Dr. Wood, a by-law, confirming an agreement with the Board of Education, of the Town of Lindsay, was passed, signed and sealed.

On motion of Messrs. Austin and Fairbairn, a petition to the Minister of Agriculture of Canada, re the establishment of a Good Roads Engineering Branch of the Department of Agriculture was passed through the usual routine.

Council adjourned at 10 p.m.

SATURDAY'S SESSION.

Council met at 10 o'clock, the Warden in the chair.

Second Education Report.
On motion of Messrs. Staback and Dr. Wood, the second report of the committee on Education was read, and adopted as follows:

Gentlemen—Your committee have considered the further resolutions on the subjects of which they have been instructed to report and beg to recommend as follows:

1. That a grant of fifty dollars be made to school section No. 5, Township of Dalton, to assist in equipping and carrying on the work of the school, the amount to be paid on the order of the Inspector of Schools for West Victoria.
2. That the Clerk and Treasurer be authorized to order such cuts for illustrative purposes in connection with school architecture and ventilation as may be required by the Inspector of Schools for West Victoria.

Finance and Assessment.
On motion of Messrs. Shaver and Bryan, the report of the committee on Finance and Assessment was read and adopted as follows:

Gentlemen—Your committee have considered the paragraph of the Warden's address relative to the by-law to provide for the issue of debentures for the sum of $100,000 for the purposes of the House of Refuge. The by-law as prepared by the County solicitor has also been considered. Your committee recommend that the course pursued by the Warden be approved.

Your committee recommend that a meeting of the Council to consider and pass the by-law be held on Tuesday, September 27th, next, at 11 o'clock in the forenoon, and that a copy of the by-law be published in accordance with the terms of the consolidated Municipal Act, 1903, Section 299 in The Weekly Post newspaper.

Your committee recommend that the Warden and Treasurer be authorized to make all necessary preparations for the issue of the debentures, and to take steps for securing offers for the debentures for submission to the Council at the meeting to be held on September 27th, in the event of its being found practicable to do so.

Your committee have considered the report of the auditors for the year 1903, and the accompanying statements of accounts, and beg to recommend that the same be adopted.

Your committee have examined the Treasurer's statement of moneys at the credit of the Corporation on May 31st, and beg to recommend that the same be filed.

Your committee have considered estimates for the year 1904. The amount required for the present year is materially increased, owing largely to the establishment of the House of Refuge. The amount is proposed to raise by assessment is $22,737. A rate of two and one-half mills on the sum of $11,656,215.79, the equalized value of the County, would realize $24,769.00; from which there is to be deducted the proportion of the net cost of the County Police Magistrate's salary and expenses to be allowed to the Town of Lindsay, $32,000—$24,737.00.

Your committee recommend that

On motion of Messrs. Shaver and Staback, By-law No. 1, to authorize and provide for the levying and collecting of certain rates and assessments for County purposes in the County of Victoria, 1904, was read, a third time, signed and sealed.

On motion of Messrs. Shaver and Graham, By-law No. 2, to provide for paying the members of the Council for their attendance in Council or on committee, was read and passed by a two-thirds vote.

Moved by Mr. Fairbairn, seconded by Mr. Staback, that an expression of sympathy be extended to T. H. McQuade, esq., on account of the illness, from which he is suffering, and that he receive the assurance of the hopes of his colleagues in office that he may be soon restored to his usual health.

ST. JOSEPH'S ACADEMY.

ANNUAL COMMENCEMENT EXERCISES HELD FRIDAY EVENING.

An Exceptionally Pleasing Program Rendered by the Pupils.

The 14th annual Commencement exercises of St. Joseph's Academy, Lindsay, were held last Friday evening in the large music room of the Convent, about 100 parents and friends of the young lady pupils being present. The following program was rendered:

Part I.
1. March, Op. 39, No. 1, (Hohmann), Piano, Miss M. Fleury; Violin, Misses T. O'Brien and A. Scollard.

2. Chorus, Hymn, (Selected), St. Cecilia's Choir.

3. Instrumental Solo, "Scaramouche," (Thom), Miss J. Meenan.

4. Vocal, "Snowflakes," (Cowen), Miss C. McGinnis.

5. Instrumental Duett, Overture, (Schlegel), Piano, Miss M. Fleury; Violin, Miss A. Scollard.

6. Vocal, "Face to Face," (Johnson), Miss E. Jordan.

7. Recitation, "The King's Joy-bells," Miss C. McGinnis.

Part II.
8. Vocal Quartette, "Justus ut Palma," (Lambilliotte), Sopranos, Misses E. Jordan and Loneragan; Altos, Misses G. Jordan and E. Scollard.

9. Instrumental Solo, "Cachoucha Caprice," (Raff), Miss E. Gorman.

10. Vocal, "Nearer My God to Thee," (Holden), Miss Galvin.

11. Instrumental Solo, "Invitation to the Waltz," (Weber), Miss M. Fleury.

12. Reading, "The Reprieve," Miss E. Gorman.

13. Vocal, "Three Green Bonnets," (Hardtop), "White Moon," (Matter), Miss M. Loneragan.

14. Chorus, "Magnificent," (Weber), St. Cecilia's Choir.

Accompanists, the Misses E. Gorman, M. Fleury and M. Loneragan.

A Few Notes.

The charming march was the signal for the entrance of the choir, who delivered the opening hymn in excellent style. The instrumental solo and song were each very good. Especially worthy of note was the overture by Misses Fleury and Scollard, which was played with great expression and in perfect time.

The song by Miss E. Jordan was given in a very clear voice and won merited applause. The vocal quartette was well rendered, and greatly appreciated, as also was Miss E. Gorman's Caprice, Miss Galvin's solo, "Nearer My God to Thee," was a pleasing number, as her voice is very attractive. Miss Fleury plays the piano with so much expression that everyone was pleased to hear her again in the "Invitation to the Waltz." The vocal by Miss Loneragan was charmingly given, her sweet clear tones appealing to all present.

Ven. Archdeacon Casey delivered a short address, congratulating the Sisters of St. Joseph, for the able manner in which they had taught the pupils, and the young ladies for the excellent manner in which they performed the difficult parts assigned to them.

Father O'Sullivan endorsed all that Archdeacon Casey had said, and voiced the feelings of the audience in the words of praise he so nicely expressed. He then called upon Inspector J. B. Knight to say a few words.

Mr. Knight said he had listened to a great many concerts in his time and was pleased with the entertainment given on this occasion—very much pleased, and he wished particularly to give praise to both the Sisters and pupils for the excellent work and study displayed in the rendering of the recitations, which were given in such clear tones and with such true expression that it was simply a delight to listen to them.

THE PROPERTY OF

G. W. CURTIS, LINDSAY.

If you can't come Friday, come as soon as possible.

Big Stock Reduction Sale

Think what a carnival of economy it will be to the wise ones who come early.

Starts Dominion Day, Store Open Till 12 a.m.

Probably by the time this news reaches you, we will have launched into this great sale. We told you of the bargains we're offering in last week's advertisement, and just let us remind you to look them up if you've overlooked that particular announcement. Prices quoted there hold good while the items last.

Our sole aim in this sale is to clear all surplus stocks at once. This means a sacrifice in money for us perhaps, but a most unusual money-saving opportunity for our customers.

If plainly stated reasons and facts will convince you that we mean what we say and will do what we say, then here are four of them:

First—The backward season has caused many a wholesale man's plans to "gang aglee" and forced them to accept losses on some lines of seasonal merchandise.

Second—Our Syndicate stores picked up several large lots of these lines at half prices or approaching it.

Third—The retail season has been affected in much the same way, and we're throwing our surplus stocks out with a quarter to half clipped off our former low prices.

Fourth—We must sell these goods at once. We've neither space, time nor money to waste with surplus stocks. Therefore we've determined that this sale will beat all former sales, in bigger volume, better bargains and a greater number of satisfied customers.

The following prices back up these statements, and the goods are here to back up the prices.

here on Tuesday morning for Guelph was well patronized. This is generally looked upon as being one of the most popular outings of the season.

Mr. D. Grant and Miss Kate, are visiting Mrs. J. R. Giddes at Sarnia.
They purpose visiting the exposition at St. Louis before returning home.
Mr. L. I. Stewart visited Beaverton friends on Sunday. He reports a most enjoyable time.

The nobbiest and most stylish trap we have seen in a wheeled rig for some time is a rubber-tired buggy, driven by Mr. Jack McDuff, and purchased from Mr. J. A. Vanstone, of this place. He has set the pace for all the young men of this district.

Misses D. J. McTee and Tom Grant spent Monday afternoon at Balsam Lake and were successful in landing some fair specimens of the finny tribe. Whilst being thoroughly British in their views and sticking to the old maxim of "what we have, we hold," yet these gentlemen were forced to consign again to the water some of the smaller fry, which proved to be below the regulation size.

ROHALLION.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)
The early closing had struck our burg, and as far as can be learned, the farming community are not taking too kindly to the new idea.
We think that in a country village like ours it is a mistake, as a large number of the farmers find it more convenient to come in when the evening is cool and their days work done on the farm. It may benefit some half-dozen employees or so, but as a convenience to the public we think it is a failure.

Our little river donned a busy and amateur appearance during the past two weeks. Drives have been the order of the day. Rathbun's passed through about two weeks ago and last Saturday Craig and Austin's arrived, comprising some 90,000 pieces, which will be converted into lumber at their mills here. This is by far the largest cut this Co.'s have handled since they started operations here.

The sad news reached the village on Monday last of the death of Mrs.
Austin Ford at White Lake, after a four days' illness. The funeral took place here on Tuesday and was largely attended. Mr. Ford, who is well known in this district, has the sympathy of the entire community in this, his hour of trouble.

Mr. Jas. Mansfield's ice cream parlour are the chief rendezvous for the young people during the pleasant summer evenings we are having. The delicacies served are said to equal anything served in the larger towns or cities.

Mr. M. Curtin, of Swamp Lake, was a visitor in the village this week,
and the hope of some of our fair ones is that his visits may be more frequent.

Mr. Thos. Jones, of Waterloo, is

VICTORIA ROAD.

Dentist.—At Chirgaw's, Thursday,
July 7th.—w1.
Telephone communications with the outside world is one of the possibilities of the near future with us
now. Arrangements are under way for having the Bell Telephone line extended from Kirkfield to Raven Lake via our burg. This will be glad news to our citizens.

Mr. Anderson's new store is about completed and our village may justly feel proud of having such a bright, modern, up-to-date structure in our midst. His growing trade demanded increased accommodations. The public will be glad to know that better service will be meted out to them in his new quarters even than in the past.

Mr. Gilbert McFadden has opened out the blacksmithing line. We bless him for him a fair share of public patronage, as we feel there should be work enough in the vicinity to keep two shops running.

GLENARM.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)
We are very much surprised to see that the Watchman-Warrior correspondent has not been called to account for his notorious work before this by those interested in keeping a clean paper. One question is—Who is the correspondent? The answer—he does not belong to our town. We suspect him to be of a low character, eagle eye, eagle beak, a sickly appearance. When in his best gaub you would take him to be a young lord. During work hours you will find him going around with a cigar between his teeth and holes in the north end of his pants.

KINMOUNT.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

An serious accident was narrowly averted on the evening of the picnic, a mix up between two girls being the cause. Mr. Harry Kelly, of South Verulam, was driving along the road leisurely, unconscious of the presence in close proximity of Mr. M. C. Cairns' swift racer, who turned out to pass, the result being a general scramble in which Mr. Cairns' rig got the worst of it. No serious casualties are reported.

A sad accident occurred to a little boy of Mr. Martin McGee's lately. It seems another child, a little girl got hold of a gun and in some manner it proved to be loaded and struck the child in the face, one shot entering the eye. It was thought advisable to have the little sufferer removed to the Sick Children's Hospital, Toronto. At last accounts it was thought possible to save one eye.

A social function was held Wednesday evening last at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Burns, Galway. All the youth and beauty of the neighborhood were there. Games, music, dancing, etc., was indulged in and a pleasant evening was spent.

The picnic which was held here on June 28th under the auspices of the C.M.B.A. society, was a most gratifying success. Henderson's grove was the grounds selected for the day's outing, and a more suitable could scarcely be found in the whole north country. A dance platform was erected and was well patronized by the young people all day. Booths were also on the grounds. Meals in their most tempting forms were prepared by the ladies. Games were on the programme of the day's sports and were keenly contested. The proceeds amounted to about one hundred dollars.

CANNINGTON.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

A very pretty wedding took place at the residence of Thomas Kennedy, Cannington, on Wednesday, June 23rd, when Miss Annie, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kennedy, was united in marriage to Mr. James Harrison, farmer, of the township of Scotts. At 1 o'clock the bride was conducted into the parlor by her father, Miss M. Anderson playing the wedding march. Miss Harrison, sister of the groom, and John A. Second, of Cannington, were the second best parties at the occasion. Rev. Mr. Martin, of Knox church, officiated.

The bride was handsomely gowned in a cream colored dress, with a very luxuriantly trimmed. The bride's maid was also nicely attired in a pink and white dress. The guests, which numbered between eighty and ninety, were from Mariposa, Scotts, Cannington, etc. The presents were numerous, being costly, handsome and sensible.

The feast from the groom being a very pretty diamond brooch. After a very sumptuous repast and congratulations, the bride couple took the evening train, amid a shower of rice, for Toronto, the Falls and other western points, all wishing them a happy future. Miss Kennedy, since becoming a resident of Cannington, has taken an active part in the choir of the Presbyterian church as well as an earnest worker in the Sabbath school, and will be very much missed, not only by the church, but also by the many friends whose name is legion, and we are certain they voice the sentiment of all when we wish her and Mr. Harrison a pleasant and prosperous future.

We are pleased to see John Shier, boot and shoe merchant, on the street again with his arm out of the sling. The first practice match in Cannington was played on Monday night—bachelors versus benedicts. After a good sharp game on wet grass and with every ball, the bachelors were victorious by a score of 3 to 1. Mr. Housh, who is acting as manager in the bank during his father's absence in the old country, officiated as umpire, to the satisfaction of all. Games from this out will take place on Monday, Wednesday and Friday nights. The boys, although late in starting, are open for challenges from any team in or out of the vicinity.

Miss Priscilla Copeling left for an extended visit to Ayr and other other points west on Monday.

A very hot game of football was played on July 1st between Beaver and Cannington, resulting 2-0 in favor of Cannington.

A goodly number from here took in the sports at Lindsay on the 1st. The Methodist, Baptist and Presbyterian Sunday schools have all been at it, as usual, and having had good weather all had a good time.

Bern Raising.—The event of the week in this section was the raising of Mr. Charles Junkin's fine new barn, which took place on Tuesday and Wednesday afternoons. On Tuesday there were present one hundred and twenty men who put the frame work together, and got everything in thorough readiness for the raising. The most interesting part of the event, however, took place on Wednesday, when over three hundred men were present, and notwithstanding the fact that Mr. Junkin's confirmed bachelor, one hundred and twenty-five ladies graced the occasion with their presence. The raising was in charge of the Messrs. Brodies, of Uxbridge, and the work was done by block and tackle, and was completed in the short space of three hours without a single hitch or the slightest accident of any kind. We have been informed that the frame is the finest ever erected in this section, and Mr. Werry, the contractor, was the recipient of many congratulations on the character of his work. There was not a single mistake in the entire frame. We have not time at this writing to give a full description of the barn, which, we understand, when completed, will be one of the finest in the country.

FRANK HILL.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

On Tuesday, June 28, Miss May McAuliffe and Mr. Alfred Costello were united in the holy bonds of matrimony by Rev. Father Fitzpatrick. The bride looked charming in a suit of white silk, and wore a wreath and veil. She was assisted by her cousin, Miss Katie Murray, who was attired in white organdie. Each carried a bouquet of white carnations. Mr. Joseph Costello, brother of the groom, acted as best man. After the ceremony was over the guests repaired to the dining hall, where the bride's father, where a sumptuous wedding breakfast was served. Many friends of both parties were present. In the afternoon the happy couple drove to Peterboro, where they intend to take up their future home.

The death of Miss Ella Lowes, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Christopher Lowes, occurred on Tuesday, June 28th about five o'clock. She leaves to mourn her loss a father, mother and two brothers. A large circle of friends sincerely sympathized with the parents of this young lady.

Another very sad event took place on Monday evening, when Mrs. Wm. Perdue passed away after an illness of about six months. She leaves a husband and four children.

Mr. Ambrose Sullivan, school teacher at Downeyville is home visiting his friends for his holidays.

The schools closed on June 30th and will again re-open on Aug. 15th.

A large number of this vicinity attended the circus on July 2nd, which was held in Peterboro.

DOWNEYVILLE.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

Word has just reached us of a most distressing accident which has befallen Mr. Patrick Flynn, a former resident of this place, at Rochester, N. Y. As far as can be learned, the sad accident occurred through Mr. Flynn being run down by a street car, the wheels passing over his leg. He was taken to one of the city hospitals, where, after being looked after by the medical staff, amputation was found necessary. Mr. Flynn and family will have the sympathy of a large number of friends in their affliction.

Mr. Chas. Lucas, Jr., had the misfortune to have one of his fingers badly jammed in the pulley of a hay fork one day last week, while working on a horse drawing up the load. The horse started suddenly, with the result that hand was caught in the machinery.

Mr. Thos. Carroll was the victim of another nasty little accident, whereby he lost the first joint of his forward finger on the left hand, while in some manner got his finger into a belt machine, which he was using. His little boy, who was with him, started the machinery working, and before Mr. Carroll could draw his hand out his finger was so badly mutilated that amputation was found necessary.

Tenders are out advertising for the removal and the enlarging of the house sheds at St. Luke's church, Downeyville. The intention is to run them in a northerly direction from the street and add another hundred feet to the present building. The increase in the number of families in the congregation demands the addition.

Mr. Patrick Callaghan, who, for a number of years conducted a carriage and general blacksmithing business, has arranged with his son, James, to take over the business. The latter will personally look after the management in future. Mr. Callaghan, Sr., will devote his time to his old-time occupation, which he has been doing since he was a boy. He received his patent papers from Ottawa this week, and local wagon men who have inspected the article, are agreed that any wagon not fitted with this latest contrivance is incomplete.

The several teachers who reside in this section of the country are home for their summer holidays. Mr. H. Matthews, principal of the Peterboro Separate School, Miss Piggott, who teaches at King's Wharf; Miss Lebane, from Victoria Road, and Miss Melaney, who taught at Enterprise. Many people of this vicinity have already started to cut their hay and grain, and it promises to be a very fair crop. The weather has been certainly doing justice to this part of the country.

Mr. Albert Ryan is leaving here in a few days to visit his brother in Chicago.

Mr. Henry Matthews, 'survived' in our late journey through life, may be reckoned as a teacher.

The work of constructing sheds at St. Luke's church is now in a fair way to success. The old sheds are being moved from their present position, and the new ones are being erected in a more appropriate position, facing east. The work is supervised by Mr. Wm. Callaghan, who is quite a capable man in such a position.

NESTLETON.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)
The anniversary services held here on Sunday and Monday last were most successfully carried out in every detail. On Sunday morning, services were conducted by the Rev. Mr. Clarke, of Little Britain. The church was crowded at both meetings. Mr. Clarke is an earnest and forcible speaker, and was listened to throughout with rapt attention. On Monday evening a tea was served on the church grounds by the good ladies of the locality, all the delicacies of the season being in evidence. The viands were served in a most appetizing manner and outsiders were most profuse in their praise of the attention bestowed on them by the ladies in waiting. It was one of the most successful entertainments yet given. The receipts amounted to something over $100.

A barn raising at the home of Mr. John Williams, Sr., last week was the chief attraction. It being one of the best of its kind in this section, it required an unusually large force of men to erect it. The captains were, Messrs. Geo. Marlowe and Harry Chapman, who selected their men with the best possible care. The race from start to finish was both keen and spirited. After a most exciting contest, Harry's side was declared the winner by only two rafters. Supper was served on the lawn of Mr. John Williams, Sr., by a number of the young ladies of the neighborhood, and everything passed off without a hitch. Mr. Frank Scully is the contractor, and he deserves much credit for his work as a mechanic. (Balance Next Week.)

DALRYMPLE.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

A very pretty wedding took place last Wednesday, at the residence of Mr. Henry Murray, on the town line. The bride was Miss Mary, who was on that day united in the holy bonds of matrimony with Mr. G. O. Hewitt, of Ardrea.

The ceremony was performed at 12 o'clock by Rev. R. A. Doyle, of Dalrymple, in the drawing-room of the home, which was tastefully decorated for the occasion. The bride was attired in pale crepe-de-chene, trimmed with cream-point lace, with beautiful lace collar. She carried a shower bouquet of pink and white carnations, and wore white carnations in her hair. The bridesmaid was Miss Martha Newby, dressed in cream voile, over pink taffeta, carrying a bouquet of pink roses. The bride was given away by her brother, Mr. James Newby, of Orillia. The groom was attended by his brother, Mr. Wm. D. Hewitt, who ably discharged his duties. After the happy ceremony was ended and congratulations received, the guests sat down to the wedding dinner, which was of the finest quality. Guests were present from Orillia, Ardrea and Waubesa. The presents were useful and valuable. At five o'clock the happy pair left for their home at Ardrea, where a huge reception, awaited them from North Orillia friends. The bride's going away costume was brown Venetian cloth, with hat to match. All their numerous friends join in extending their most heartfelt wishes that a very long and happy journey through life may be vouchsafed Mr. and Mrs. Hewitt.

The annual sermon to the Orangemen of Dalrymple, will be delivered next Sunday morning in the Methodist church, by Rev. R. A. Doyle.

(From Another Correspondent.)

The annual picnic of the Dalrymple and Sbright Methodist churches was held in the Parsonage Grove on Dominion Day. Though the weather was unfavorable, a tremendous crowd was present. An excellent programme was rendered. The football match between Victoria Road and Sbright teams was won by the former by 2-1. A good programme of sports was run off, many close contests ensuing. The proceeds amounted to $143.

covered under her glance like whipped cuds. Alec made them get in again and drive off at once, daring them to turn their heads as long as they were in pistol shot.

When they were gone, we turned to the lady for an explanation.

"How can I thank you, gentlemen?" she exclaimed.

"Speaks English!" I muttered. "And a pretty girl too! Wonder what those two scoundrels were up to!"

"Madam," said Alec, with a courtly bow, "we are only too glad to have the good fortune to serve you. Where may we have the pleasure of escorting you?"

"Madam!" she laughed. "You need not be so ceremonious, Captain Ireland."

Alec stared with astonishment, but I had recognized the voice.

"Inez!" I cried in delight.

"Ah, you haven't forgotten me, though Alec Ireland has," she said, and I saw that she was glad.

"Forgotten you?" I cried. "No. How could I? But I thought you were in Whitley."

"Apparently it has not been worth your while to inquire. I left Whitley more than a year ago."

"I never heard of it."

"Did you ask?"

I was thrown into confusion by her question and was at a loss for a reply, when Alec spoke for me. "We have been at sea ever since we last saw you," he said.

"Ah, then I forgive you!" she replied.

The agonizing itching and burning of the skin, as in eczema; the frightful scaling, as in psoriasis; the loss of hair and crusting of the scalp, as in scalded head; the facial disfigurement, as in pimples and ringworm; the awful suffering of infants and the anxiety of worn-out parents, as in milk crust, tetter and salt rheum, all demand a remedy of almost superhuman virtues to successfully cope with them. That Cuticura Soap, Ointment and Pills are such stands proven beyond all doubt. No statement is made regarding them that is not justified by the strongest evidence. The purity and sweetness, the power to afford immediate relief, the certainty of speedy and permanent cure, the absolute safety and great economy, have made them the standard skin cures and humors remedies of the civilized world.

The grandest testimonial that can be offered the Cuticura Remedies is their world-wide sale, due to the personal recommendations of those who have used them. From a small beginning in the simplest form, against prejudice and opposition, against monied hosts, countless rivals, and trade influence, Cuticura Remedies have become the greatest curatives of their time, and, in fact, of all time, for nowhere in the history of medicine is to be found another approaching them in popularity and sale. In every clime and with every people they have met with the same reception. The confines of the earth are the only limits to their growth. They have conquered the world.

Scarcely had we anchored when a negro page came off to the ship in a small boat, bringing me a note from Inez.

She was in sore trouble through her love for me, for Don Miguel had forbidden her to have anything more to do with me and had locked her in her room to make sure that his commands were obeyed. And there was even worse news than this in the letter. Orders, she told me, had been received from the court to seize all the English shipping in the bay, to confiscate the cargoes and to imprison the crews. As a captive in the town dungeon I should be farther from her than ever; but, still a free man, I might some day return and carry her off, and so by the love I bore her she entreated me to be gone at once.

Here was a pretty piece of news! We questioned the page, but as he either did not know or would know nothing we sent him off ashore in his boat. "What are we to do?" asked Alec. "I'm going ashore," I replied decidedly.

"What for?" "To rescue Inez." "Jack, it's useless. You would be arrested long before you reached her." "I mean to try all the same." "It'll be foolhardy, I tell you. Much better take the advice she gives you, escape now and come back again to carry her off."

"Alec, I can't go away and leave her in that scoundrel's power. I must go ashore."

Alec shrugged his shoulders. "Well, if you must, you must. I'll go with you, of course, and try to see you safe through, but I quite expect we shall both be locked up for our pains. We will spread the warning among the other English ships on our way."

We went on deck at once and began to lower the boat. We were lying a good two miles farther out than the other ships, so we had a stiff pull before us.

Night was just beginning to fall, and there was some hope that the darkness might cover our movements and enable us to rescue Inez and then slip out of the harbor before the Spaniards had made up their minds to strike. It was a desperate chance, though.

The boat was already on the bulwarks when Alec shouted, "Hold on, all!"

"Too late," he said. "There's a fleet of boats putting out from the shore now, each one crammed full of soldiers. We must leave the other ships to shift for themselves, I'm afraid, and make a bid for our own freedom. That big fellow there, coming up before the wind, seems to have been told off to look after us."

We were well armed, of course, as the most peaceful ship has to be when there are so many sea thieves unhandy, and though the Spanish galleon was five times our size we would have thought nothing of tackling her, five Spaniards to one Englishman being by no means crushing odds, but there were three other ships outside of us evidently waiting to pick up stragglers, so we were to all appearances hopelessly shut in.

The men looked at one another in consternation.

Alec, however, had made his plan. "Put back the powder," he cried, "and buckle on your side arms. Not a shot must be fired, mind, or we shall have the whole nest of wasps buzzing round our ears. Every man of you take a pike or ax and hide under the bulwarks. We must make that fellow think he has caught us napping."

Our preparations were quickly and quietly made, and long before the big Spaniard was near enough to see what we were doing every man of us was under cover, and the decks looked quite deserted. But when he sneered alongside and hove his grapples into our rigging Alec gave the word, and with a ringing cheer 50 lusty English lads rushed from their hiding places and were hacking and prodding away among his crew before the unsuspecting Spaniard knew that anything had happened. They were taken completely by surprise, but after the first minute or so they recovered and fought like wildcats. They were about three to our one, so counting one Englishman to five of them the odds in our favor were overwhelming. The Spaniards fought desperately enough until about half of them had been killed, then the rest threw down their arms, called for "quarter" and scrambled down the ladders in utter rout. We clapped the hatches on them, and the big galleon of Spain was ours.

Leaving me with 20 men to take care of our prize (whose sails were all set), Alec tumbled back with the others to our one, so counting one Englishman to five of them the odds in our favor were overwhelming. our own ship and set about making sail as quickly as he could.

"An ax here and cut the cable!" I heard him call. "No time to weigh! Let go those spritsail brails! Lay out the bolt sprit and cast the gaskets off! Flatten in the starboard sheet and cant her head round! Hand-somely, now! Topsails next! Work with a will, lads! Time's precious!"

I lost the next words through the distance, and not wishing to slip too far ahead I bagged my mizen, brailled my main course and so allowed Alec to creep up to me again.

He made sail with marvelous quickness and soon was within speaking distance.

"Are your guns all loaded, Jack?" "Aye, and double-shotted and the flat stocks lighted and lying in the tubs beside them."

"Then make straight for that big chap on your larboard bow as if you meant to speak him. Fool him if you can. Say I'm your prize. If he suspects you, give him a broadside for his sharpness. Only keep the wind of him, and you can do what you like. I'll slip across his bow and pepper that side of him. And if that isn't enough do what your mother wit suggests, but mind it must be quickly done whatever it is or we'll have the other two beating up to help him."

Now, had I acted on my opinion I should have steered straight for the open sea, dead before the fair wind, in which case I should inevitably have aroused the suspicions of all three ships and so have allowed them to concentrate on our course and cut us off. Alec's plan was obviously the best, for when they saw I was steering plump for the southernmost one the others held quietly to their places in the mouth of the bay.

When I got within a cable's length, an officer hailed me. I waited as long as I dared and then answered, but apparently there was something wrong with my Spanish, for he replied angrily that I was drunk and an insolent scoundrel for daring so to address him. At this juncture one of my men, a soft-hearted fellow, who knew enough of the tongue to make out that the don was using very free language to me, let fly at him with his gun and sent a three ounce ball straight into his breastplate.

That effectively put an end to our diplomacy, so I gave the order to fire as each gun bore. I had warned the gunners to aim high, and at the third shot the Spaniard's mainmast broke off short like a carrot. His mainyard, too, came down by the run, bringing the sail with it, but as he was still under command I put up past him, reloading the guns meanwhile and then hauling my wind once more gave him a second dose over either quarter.

Meanwhile Alec and his men had been working like furries and tossing their guns about like child's toys, raining such a shower of broken shot into his hull from their lesser elevation that his lower deck must have been almost untenable.

The Spaniard had been unprepared for our attack and took some time to beat his men to quarters, but they served their guns well and fast when they did get to them, and the shot soon came flying about our ears like hailstones. His running rigging, however, was pretty well cut to pieces, and as we had half a dozen good bowmen stationed ready who sent a clothyard shaft through the ribs of every man who set a foot on his rattles he lay pretty helplessly head to wind, with his remaining sails in the most thorough confusion. Had we been able to play the game out at long bowls we could either have sunk him or reduced the number of his crew sufficiently to allow us to carry him by boarding, but the other two Spanish ships were beating up to us, and on her next tack the nearest would be within gunshot.

Alec therefore gave the word to run away west by south, before the wind, through the southern entrance of the bay. The order did not come a minute too soon, though the majority of us were so worked up by the excitement of the fight that we would never have noticed that it was high time for us to quit.

We held on this course for about two hours, and then, as the sky had fortunately clouded over, we hauled our wind and stood due south to give our pursuers a chance of passing us in the darkness. They would never expect us to turn south, so when they missed us at daylight they would naturally look for us to the northward if they continued the chase. That was our theory. What they actually did I cannot say, for we never saw them again.

We held on this strategic course for a time, and on the second morning rose a brig coming toward us, and as every one at sea is presumed a rogue until he is proved an honest man we cleared the decks for action and beat to quarters. As the stranger neared us one of Alec's men recognized her as the brig Catechall, belonging to Captain Fleming, the well known freebooter. So as he was not likely to let such a vessel as our gaudy pass without an overhaul we quite expected another fight. However, he drew within long hail and, bringing his ship to, signed that he wished to speak us.

"What ship's that?" "The brig Severn of Bristol, Alexander Ireland, master. What ship's that?"

"Brig Catechall, Captain Fleming. What's the galleon?"

"The Lope de Vega of Vigo, a prize to the Severn."

"How the thunder did you get hold of her?"

"Fought for her."

"Then is there war with Spain?" "I think so."

"You think so?" Then followed some talk with his own people which we could not hear. "Will you lie to and let me bring my boat alongside? I'm honest as the whole bench of bishops today."

"Aye, aye!" Alec called on me to come on board the Severn, and presently a weather-beaten, thickest man of middle age was rowed across to us. We went below and pledged one another in a jack of ale (as the Severn's hold was still filled with wheat instead of the cargo of Spanish wine we had expected to bring back), and then Captain Fleming was told of the seizure and fight in Vigo bay. He listened attentively, nodding his grizzled head at every sentence, but making no remark until he had heard the whole story.

"It was a lucky, plucky escape, captain," he said, looking approvingly at Alec, "and one that does credit to the stuff of your headpiece. But make no error about its being an affair of unauthorized individuals. It is the beginning of war, I tell you, and a bloody war it will be. I've seen it coming for this year or more. Ships are being gathered into all the ports, and great nobles are chartering vessels for other purposes than honest trade or a little free cruising. King Philip of Spain will make a big move before long. Mark my words, sir."

"England will be ready for him when he does," replied Alec proudly.

"Aye, lad, I warrant she will, but it's time she was stirring, or the Spaniards—curse the whole nation of them—will be cruising about the English channel and up to London town before any of us are many months older. Now, Captain Ireland," he continued, standing up and beating his fist on the table in time with his sentences, "I'm a freebooter and an outlaw; but, though there's many an Englishman (To be Continued.)

How Health Is Gained.

The story of a great deal of the unhappiness of women is a story of lost health. Women wonder how it is that little by little the form loses plumpness, the cheeks grow hollow and fallow, and they feel tired and worn-out all the time, in a large proportion of cases when women are weak, run-down and falling off in flesh and looks, the root of the trouble can be traced to womanly diseases which undermine the general health. The proof of this is that women who have been cured of painful womanly diseases by the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription have recovered their general health, gained in flesh and in appearance.

$500 Reward for Women Who Cannot be Cured.
The proprietors and makers of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription now feel fully warranted in offering to pay $500 in legal money of the United States for any case of Leucorrhoea, Female Weakness, Protrusion, or Falling of Womb, which they cannot cure. All they ask is a fair and reasonable trial of their means of cure.

"I suffered for three years with ovarian trouble," writes Mrs. Ann Quinn (Treasurer Woman's Athletic Club, of 605 Sycamore St., Milwaukee, Wis.). "The treatment I took did not do me a particle of good, until a good neighbor who had been using Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription advised me to give it a trial. The next day took my first dose, and it was my first step toward recovery. In nine weeks I was a different woman; my flesh which had been flabby became firm, complexion clear and my eyes bright. It was simply an indication of the great change within from pain and suffering to health and happiness."

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets invigorate stomach, liver and bowels.

WAR LORDS AND THEIR IDEAS.

(Winnipeg Free Press.)

No doubt Lord Dunsford is honest in the gloomy anxiety with which he regards the fact that Canada is not an armed camp with a line of forts frowning along the international boundary. That the elected responsible Government of the Canadian people failed to show obedient submission to him as a heaven-sent War Lord and provide him with the millions of dollars that would be required for his grandiose military schemes, he considers a tragic calamity. His resentment, which finds expression in the valedictory he has penned, is quite on a par with that of his esteemed contemporary, the German War Lord, Emperor William, when he found his place for doubling the strength of the German navy actually obstructed in the Reichstag. What right have mere Ministers and parliamentarians, whether at Berlin or at Ottawa, to do more than vote the millions required by a War Lord? What right have mere civilians to question his great and far-reaching designs? Such is your War Lord's attitude. General Dunsford's complaint against the Dominion Government is that he was not allowed to be a War Lord; and he makes an extraordinary exhibition of wounded amour propre, in voicing his complaint.

What, not forts, is what the people of this country are intent on raising. Our thoughts are not warlike enough to suit Lord Dunsford; he tells us we are "living in a fool's paradise," because the Dominion Government did not look with favor upon his plans, which called for an outlay of some twelve or fifteen millions capital and greatly increased annual expenditures. A Government which would come before parliament with military proposals (that would entail any such pouring out of the public money would be judged—and rightly judged—by the people of Canada to have taken leave of its senses. In like manner if any British Government were to attempt to carry out the urgent recommendation made a few weeks ago in the report of the Royal Commission of military experts in favor of the introduction in Great Britain of the Continental system of conscription, the British people would regard such a Government as having lost its senses. Yet the Royal Commission was composed of earnest military "experts" to use Lord Dunsford's description of himself; men whose attainments and standings are to be judged from the fact that the British Government selected them for the task of reporting upon the best means of making the militia service to the highest point of efficiency. In recommending conscription, they have done so in the most seriously urgent language. It is plain that they believe that the British people are "living in a fool's paradise." But the British people laugh at their proposal; and in answer to a question in the House of Commons the other day, Mr. Brodie, the Secretary for War, announced—what everybody knew—that the Government had not the remotest intention of acting on the report of the Royal Commission of military "experts." The noble lord whose amour propre has been so deeply wounded at Ottawa is thus not the only "expert" who has had to be turned down.

The people of Canada may be fools, as Lord Dunsford so politely tells us, for not desiring to see this country afflicted with militarism; if so then this Dunsford incident has strengthened them greatly in their folly—which they esteem as wisdom.

FIGURES ABOUT CANADA.

The Chicago British American says: The Toronto News blackletter the facts below, which go to show not only a solid and satisfactory growth of the Dominion, but a homogeneity of population which will be a source of incalculable strength to the future growth and development of the Canadian people. While our large communities include all the undesirable and heterogeneous progeny of the sons of Shem and Ham, Canada boasts of 87 per cent. of a native population, and 8 per cent. of British born people. It is upon a foundation like this that a great nation can be reared—not an unhealthy mushroom growth, but one unfolding outwards and upwards by the natural process of evolution, just as the motherland attained the greatness of her position to-day among the nations of the earth;

Canada's population in 1905 was 3,351. Population to-day nearly 6,000,000. At present rate of increase population will be 17,000,000 at the end of the century. Canada has 87 per cent. of native born people—1,671,815. Canada has 8 per cent. of British born people—405,883. Canada's wheat crop is 100,000,000 bushels. Canada's mineral production in 1903 was $63,000,000. Canada's forest products totalled $80,000,000 in 1903. Canada's fishing industry produced in 1903 $22,000,000. Canada's total trade reached $467,064,085 in 1903. There are 200 branch banks in the Northwest as against 1 at Confederation.

EDITORIAL NOTES

Speaking of the arguments of the blatant militarists who are ever crying for greater expenditure on armies and navies, Bishop Cyrus D. Foss says: "I once heard this custom epigrammatically condemned by an Irish priest. There was under discussion a bill to appropriate $36,000,000 for battleships and 182,000,000 for schools. The priest spoke against the bill, and his speech ended in this way: 'Friends, consider this proposal. Its absurdity is evident. For education, $12,000,000, for warfare, $36,000,000. That is to say $12,000,000 for putting brains in and $36,000,000 for blowing them out.' The idea was neatly put."

DOMINION DAY SPORTS A SUCCESS.

The Coming of the Circus Diminished the Attendance from Country Points, but the People of the Vicinity Turned Out Well—The Aquatic Sports in the Morning Proved a Great Attraction and About 2500 Spectators Witnessed the Opening of the New Half-Mile Track at the Agricultural Park in the Afternoon.

The celebration witnessed by our citizens and visitors last Friday, Dominion Day, was the fifth of the series under the auspices of Lindsay Lodge, No. 100, L.O.O.F., and whilst it cannot be classed as the most successful of them all, those in charge have reason to be well satisfied with the results of their labors for the common good. The committee in charge comprised W. Scott, chairman; R. M. Roe, secretary; J. S. Carroll, treasurer; and E. Williamson, W. Miller, W. Dunnison, and C. D. Dyke.

The day opened fine and the town presented a gala appearance owing to the decorations everywhere displayed. Kent-st. never looked better, the thoroughfare had been sprinkled early, and a majority of our business men had their store fronts made gay with flags, banners and bunting.

At 10 o'clock, the hour set for the starting of the water sports, it was realized by the committee in charge that the coming of Forepaugh & Sells Bros.' big circus on July 15th had interfered sadly with the attendance from distant points. The trains from Haliburton and Cobocook were not crowded, and the steamers could have accommodated double the number on board. But the citizens and country people turned out as never before.

THE AQUATIC SPORTS.

The water sports took place over the course above the locks, and long before 10 o'clock the river banks and the roofs of buildings commanding a view of the course were lined with spectators numbering probably over 2,000. Great interest was taken in the events, which lasted until 12.30. The Judges were Messrs. Fremont (Crandell) and John Carraw, who were the right men in the right place. The events and winners are given below:

Single Canoe Race—1st, Adam McCabe; 2nd, Percy Nicholls; 3rd, Geo. Hudson.

Tub Race—1st, Elsworth; 2nd, Hand.

Upset Race—Purse divided among contestants—Robt. Spratt, Elias Perrin, Arthur Rathmell and Fred Sadler.

Swimming Race, 100 yards—1st, C. Seaton; 2nd, Geo. Walker. Double Canoe Race—1st, Nicholls & Hudson; 2nd, Reeves & McCabe. Gasoline Yacht Race (handicap)—1st, Thomas; 2nd, R. Morgan; 3rd, Jas. Reid. Greasy Pole—1st, A. Rathmell; 2nd, R. Spratt; 3rd, E. Perrin, Burke.

AT THE GROUNDS.

Quite a large crowd assembled at the Agricultural park at 1.03 to witness the commencement of the lacrosse match between the All Saints (Toronto) and Lindsay teams and the crash continued until 2 o'clock, the hour fixed for the opening horse race. At that time the crowd numbered in the neighborhood of 2,500 and the grand stand was crowded uncomfortably, the ticket seller coming in for a great deal of criticism because many persons were given tickets after work had been sent down that every seat was gone. The result was to send and in that position interfered with the view of those having seats.

The races were tame, and in the opinion of many the money paid out to the horsemen was thrown away. An effort must be made to rescue these speeding events from hippodrome influence or in the near future it will be impossible to attract a crowd no matter how good the horses or how large the purse. Some of the heats were rather exciting, but everything seemed to be cut and dried. The new track is a bit heavy, but before Central Fair time it will be levelled down and receive a good top dressing of cinders.

The judges of the horse racing were Messrs. J. W. White, H. A. Middleton and D. Sinclair.

The Lacrosse Match.

The game of lacrosse proved to be a good drawing card and was enjoyed by all, although at times it was a little rough. The All Saints came down with a strong team, but our boys held them down to a tie 3-3. Both teams played a good game, but were hindered in the latter part of the game, by the spectators crowding on to the grounds and hindering the playing considerably. The game was well contested throughout, there being neat work done by both teams, and added much to the pleasure of the spectators.

ABOUT THE TOWN.

The proprietors of the many booths erected down street report a poor day's business and considerable unsold stock to dispose of. The Sylvester band rendered good music during the afternoon, and added much to the pleasure of the spectators.

Mr. G. G. Brown's miniature railway was located on the borders of the west park. He had 100 feet of track and seven coaches in commission, and his full trains would excite the envy of Conductor Dan. Mc-Millan, in charge of the G.T.R. Peterboro-Toronto flyer.

Merchants report a poor morning's business, and the clerks say, "I told you so."

Our hotel men were fairly well satisfied with the day's receipts. Some of them had made preparations to face a multitude, and the receipts from the dining room fell far behind last year, but the bar trade was good.

"KATHLEEN MAVOURNEEN"

The Enjoyable Attraction at the Academy on the Evening of July 1st.

A very good house attended the performance of "Kathleen Mavourneen" at the Academy of Music on the evening of July 1st. Everybody is familiar with the story of this ever popular Irish drama, and the presentation received at the hands of the Lindsay Stock Co. will certainly not detract from its popularity.

Mr. Thos. Irwin gave a very manly and artistic portrayal of Terence O'More and certainly pleased everyone, while Miss Annie Ashley, as Kathleen Mavourneen, won the sympathy and friendship of the audience by her clever and painstaking acting. Mr. Edwin L. Benson, in the role of Bernard Kavanaugh, showed himself to be an actor of more than passing ability, while Mr. F. Richard Allen, in the different characters he assumed, displayed uncommon versatility. Particularly in the small part of Father O'Connell did he impress one as being an actor of intelligence and force. Miss Alice Walker made a very winsome Betty O'Lafferty, while the "Lady Dorothy" of Miss Marion Willett contained the requisite touch of dignity demanded by the part. Mr. Morris Monroe, who is none other than Mr. Jack Walker, of local amateur fame, did good credit to himself in the part of Captain Clearfield, and was very heartily received on his first professional appearance. Considerable comedy was extracted from the part of Red Barney by Mr. Frank Justis, while all the other characters were acceptably taken.

It is to be hoped that in the near future the Lindsay Stock Co. will favor the people of Lindsay with a performance of another play.

SOME VALUABLE POINTERS.

How Winter Road Work is Done in Carleton County.

The following item, taken from one of the bulletins issued by the Department of Agriculture, should interest some of our township municipal authorities:

The township of Osgoode, or at least the greater part of it, has now for two years committed statute labor, which we pay in our taxes. The road work is superintended by commissioners appointed by the Council. We find that we get more work, and better work, done than under statute labor. The work is done at the right time and the roads are kept open in winter. Men are appointed in each district to pick out the roads after every storm, and travellers going through the township are never delayed. Common plows attached to the side of the bob-sleigh clean out the track. The cost of this work is 25 cents an hour for men and team, and it takes four hours for man and team to plow out a five-mile route. Very little shovelling is necessary, as the road is never allowed to block up.

The Question of Baldness.

This is a vital question with hundreds of men who are bald or partially bald. How to overcome the disfigurement lent by baldness is a simple matter, when you consider the perfection of modern art in the making of Wigs and Toupees. The visit of Prof. Dorenwend, of Toronto, to Lindsay on Saturday, July 16th, when he will be at the Benson house, renders it possible for any who wish to consult him to see at his private apartments retained at the Benson house for this purpose. Demonstrations given to show the perfect naturalness of his Wigs and Toupees. Do not miss this opportunity. Remember the days and dates.—dw.

Safeguard the Children.

Notwithstanding all that is done by boards of health and charitably inclined persons, the death rate among small children is very high during the hot weather of the summer months in large cities. There is not probably a case of bowel complaint in a hundred, however, that could not be cured by the timely use of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. Mr. Frank Riggs, of Franklinville, N. Y., in speaking of this remedy said: "I have found it expedient to have a supply of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy on hand. It has been a family safeguard and while especially beneficial to children, it is equally good in adult cases. I recommend it cheerfully and without reservation." For sale by all druggists.

Peterboro County Accounts.

Examiner: The Warden and members of the County Council know, and the people should know, that the books of accounts and the accounts of the county are in a deplorable condition of confusion. The Examiner has no desire or wish to take an alarmist attitude, but it seems to be our duty to point out that it is the duty of the County Council to see that the accounts are kept in proper order.

Mr. Charles Perry's round was located on the lot opposite the Public Library and was kept fairly busy during the afternoon, but the proprietor cast many yearning glances at the smooth Market Park lawn, where he had attempted to locate it. Mr. G. G. Brown's miniature railway was located on the borders of the west park. He had 100 feet of track and seven coaches in commission, and his full trains would excite the envy of Conductor Dan. LINDSAY, FRIDAY, JULY 8.
DUNDONALD'S BREAK FORETOLD.

Events, of Ottawa, is discussing the difficulty between the Minister of Militia and Lord Dundonald, and the latter's dismissal by the Government, following his ill-advised choice of Col. Sam Hughes as confidant and champion in parliament, recalls the fact that it gave the General this timely and wholesome warning at the time of his appointment in 1902.

"The office Lord Dundonald has accepted is a Canadian office created by the Canadian Parliament, and the salary attached to it is paid by the Canadian taxpayers. Lord Dundonald is appointed by the Canadian Government, and he can be dismissed by the Canadian Government. The Canadian people are quite competent to manage their own militia affairs just the same as they manage their own railway, their public works or their own postoffice. If Lord Dundonald gets this idea properly into his head he will no doubt make an excellent chief of the headquarters staff, but if he never forgets it he will fall into the errors of his predecessors. He gives promise of avoiding these errors, but it would do no harm if he were to write them out and paste them in his hat so that he would be constantly reminded of them. It could not possibly matter how high a regard the Canadian people or the Canadian Government hold for the particular officer temporarily in charge of the headquarters staff of the militia should he forget that the man in charge of the militia force and the man solely responsible for it to Parliament and the people is the Minister of Militia. The result would be the same.

A DESERVED TRIBUTE.

The Toronto News, while holding fast to its contention that Lord Dundonald was unfairly treated by Hon. Mr. Fisher, administers the following rebuke to the Tory journals that are trying to excite a racial feeling against the Premier in connection with the General's dismissal. The News says:

The country can have nothing but contempt for the effort to excite Scotch and English-Canadians against Sir Wilfrid Laurier. Mr. Borden's frank acceptance of the Premier's use of the word "foreigner" was to his credit, and makes for the dignity of our politics. Whatever charges may lie against Sir Wilfrid Laurier it cannot be maintained that he has been a trader in prejudices of race or creed, or has labored to create racial factions and divisions in Canada. The fact is that his admiration for the Scottish element of our population finds frequent and fervent expression, and there is no doubt that he spoke the simple truth when he said in jesting humor some years ago that if he were not French, he would choose to be Scotch. So no one was more highly the noble contributions of Englishmen to the world over to the progress and elevation of mankind or appraises more rightly the splendid work for moral progress and civil freedom of the class to which Lord Dundonald belongs. He said once: "I know 'of no spectacle that reflects greater honor on humanity than the spectacle of these 'peers of England, these rich and powerful nobles, stubbornly fighting to eradicate a host of venerable abuses, and sacrificing their 'privileges with calm enthusiasm to 'make life easier and happier for a 'larger number of their fellow 'beings.' That sentence reveals the true Sir Wilfrid Laurier, and it is grotesque to make his accidental misuse of a word a serious political issue, and by calculated iteration endeavor to prejudice his standing with Englishmen and Scotchmen. The true issue arising out of Lord Dundonald's dismissal is more momentous and fraught with far graver consequences to the country.

EDITORIAL NOTES

Hamilton Times: It will be a great mistake if Lord Dundonald allies himself with the Tory party in his trouble with the Dominion Government, and that is what he is apparently doing. If he could not conform to the conditions of the office he held in Canada, a dignified withdrawal would have been more becoming to the great soldier than a wordy warfare, with Sam Hughes giving it political power.

Globe: The carnival of corruption laid bare in St. Louis is an object lesson in support of the municipalization of monopolistic franchises. On a smaller scale we had a like object lesson when the present Street Railway Company obtained its franchise in Toronto, and at the last municipal election, when street railway people took an active interest in the election of certain members of the city Council.

Eob. Independent: In the absence of the Governor-General from Ottawa, Mr. Justice Sedgwick will act as Governor for the next fifteen days. Just keep your eye open, and notice how the country acts. If you find it goes on about the same, then think it over whether it would not run just as well for fifteen years as fifteen days under a justice as Governor, or for that matter any J. P. There are several thousand J's in the country who would willingly do the job at $5 a week.

Another Russian Defeat in Which Kurapatkin Admits Loss of 200, and Infers that Liaoyang Is Seriously Threatened—Japanese Report Triple Repulse of Russians—Stakelberg's Narrow Escape.

Constantinople, July 6.—The Russian volunteer fleet steamers St. Petersburg and Sebastopol passed through the Bosphorus from the Black Sea yesterday morning. The Sebastopol was flying the red cross flag and her hull was painted white. The vessels took on board a quantity of stores and remained in the harbor until last evening.

Japs Occupy Motien Pass.

Tokio, June 6.—Gen. Kuraki has occupied Motien Pass without resistance. The Russians have abandoned Tsinshangwan, burning the supplies. A detachment of General Kuraki's army has occupied North Fenshua Pass without meeting with resistance. The main army advanced westward and occupied a line extending from Motien Pass to the Shaonotian and Sinkai Passes. Russians Admit 200 Lost.

St. Petersburg, July 6.—Thirteen companies of Russian troops sent out by Lieut.-General Count Keller in a reconnaissance in force to ascertain the strength of the Japanese column's advance force moving on Liaoyang came into collision with the Japanese between Motien and Fenshua Passes yesterday. Sharp fighting ensued, and the Russians retired, leaving overwhelming numbers of the Japanese forces. The Russian losses are officially stated to be two hundred. In case the information obtained by Gen. Keller leads General Kurapatkin to consider that Liaoyang is seriously threatened it is probable that some of the troops will return north from Tatchekiao. Then the Japanese are likely to repeat their attempt to recapture Newchwang.

Kurapatkin Reports Losses.

St. Petersburg, July 6.—The general staff has received a despatch from Lieut.-Gen. Sakharoff, the chief of staff of Gen. Kurapatkin, dated July 4, in which occurs the following:

In the engagement yesterday, our casualties were: Col. Lashchov, killed; Lieut.-Col. Trakomovsky, Capt. Soloff, Lieut. Maroff, Latkine, Bubroff, and Kozoff, Second Captain Paly and several other officers wounded and 200 soldiers killed or wounded. All the wounded were removed.

Russians Three Times Repulsed.

Tokio, July 5.—General Kuraki reports that two battalions of Russians attacked the Japanese outposts at Motien Pass at dawn on July 4, under cover of a dense fog. The Russians were repulsed, but they returned and charged three times before they were finally driven off. The Japanese pursued them for three miles to the westward of Motien Pass. The Russians left thirty dead and fifty wounded on the field. The Japanese lost 15 killed and 30 wounded.

TOWN SHORT TERM BONDS SOLD AT 97

This Means a Loss of $1300 to be Provided for out of the General Funds—Several Aldermen Protested and Suggested that the County be Asked to Guarantee the Bonds—Cas Co. Agreement Advanced a Stage—Light, Heat & Power Co. Ordered to Place all Lamps in Centre of Street, as per Contract—Other Matters.

Our town fathers held a long session last Monday, it being about 11 o'clock when they adjourned. The business dealt with was important and justified the time devoted to its consideration. Mayor Sootheran and all members were present. The minutes of last three regular and special meetings were read and confirmed.

Local Improvement Bonds.
In a letter Mr. G. H. Wood, manager Dominion Sureties Association, Toronto, offered to purchase Town of Lindsay short term Local Improvement debentures (nine and ten years), aggregating about $21,000, at 97 and accrued interest, subject to their solicitor's report as to the validity of the issue, and enquiring if Council would consider an offer of 96 1/2 for the long term bonds (19 and 20 years), aggregating about $25,000.

Mayor Sootheran—"Municipal bonds are very slow sellers at present. Windsor bonds sold at 95 1/2 per cent. and St. Thomas 95 1/2."

Ald. O'Reilly—"I'd never be willing to sell at 97."
Clerk Knowlson—"97 is equal to 1-8 per cent, and compares well with other towns."
Ald. O'Reilly—"Money is tight just now but the market is so low, I would prefer to carry them in the bank a while longer rather than sell at 97 for more reasons than one—if we sell at 97 now it will go on record and bind us in the future."

Mayor Sootheran—"We can't afford to hold the bonds any longer, as we have to pay 5 per cent. in the bank. Besides we have no money to carry on our work; our best plan is to sell if we want to do anything more this year."

Ald. Robinson—"I would rather shut down everything than sell at 97."
Clerk Knowlson—"Our bonds bear 4 per cent. interest, and if we sell at 97 it means a 1-8 per cent. loss. The short term bonds should be sold anyway, as the offer for them is a good one. The town of Berlin, a big manufacturing centre, sold at 1-2 per cent. the other day."

Mayor Sootheran—"We ought to make our interest higher and use the premium to pay the town's share of the improvements."
Ald. Cinnamon—"I understand that we have to sell, as the Bank is not willing to carry us any longer."

Mayor Sootheran—"Yes, they can use the money to better advantage."
Ald. O'Reilly—"Change off to another bank—that's the way a lot of people do—when they run a high bill in one store they change to another. I don't see why we should sell at 1-8 when the County is putting bonds on the market at 4 per cent."

Clerk Knowlson—"The security is different."
Mayor Sootheran—"We'll see what they can do at 4 per cent."

Ald. O'Reilly—"Let us get the County to guarantee our bonds."
Mayor Sootheran—"Don't you think that would be infra dig?"

Ald. O'Reilly—"Ald. Cinnamon said at the nomination meeting that he would be willing to do that."
Ald. Cinnamon—"If we can save money by it, why not?"

Mayor Sootheran—"Well, it's too late to do so with this batch of debentures, but I'm willing to discuss the matter in committee with a view to future sales."

Clerk Knowlson—"The Guarantee Co. look on the sale of the short term bonds as practically completed, having secured a purchaser for them."
Mayor Sootheran—"Yes, we should rush the sale through at once."

Ald. O'Reilly—"Well, I'm not prepared to vote to-night—in this the first we've heard about it."

Mayor Sootheran—"That's hardly right, as every member of Council knows that we have been trying to dispose of the bonds for months."

Clerk Knowlson—"I've written about 100 letters to various firms, and in addition we advertised the bonds for sale twice."

Ald. Maundrell—"You've been trying about nine months."

Ald. O'Reilly—"If we sell at 97 there will be a loss of about $1300. Where is that going to be made up?"

Mayor Sootheran—"Well, we have to provide for it in some way."

Ald. O'Reilly—"I'll move that the matter be referred to the Finance Committee."

Mayor Sootheran—"Well, if the sale is blocked I'll not sign any more notes to borrow money, and I won't have to stop. We have done our best to make a good sale, and if others want to try, all right."

Ald. O'Reilly—"I think that an unfair remark. The other night, Mr. Mayor, you wanted a month to consider a telephone matter, now you want to rush through a loss of $1300 in a few minutes."

Ald. Cinnamon—"I would like to see the County guarantee proposition enquired into, but on the other hand, if we can sell our bonds at 1-8 I don't think there is anything serious the matter."

On motion the matter was tabled while other business was being dealt with.

Communications.

From E. Dingle, relative to income assessment, and threatening an appeal to the County Judge.—Filed.

From Robt. Swain, with reference to transfer of roadway from east to west side of his dwelling.—Board of Works.

From E. D. Morris, Toronto, respecting his gas franchise proposition, stating that he would wait on Council after arrival of Toronto train.—Filed.

From G. F. Brown, requesting permission to operate his miniature railway on the west park grounds, but would like the rent reduced.—Mayor Sootheran—"The crowd on the 1st injured the grass.—On motion of Aldermen O'Reilly and Robinson permission was granted, rent to be $10 for the day.

From R. E. H. Buckle, Toronto, re one man street sweeper.—Board of Works.

From B. F. Reesor, manager Light Heat & Power Co., asking that a man

Mr. Mayor and the Clerk, is that the very best price that can be got for the bonds? If you say it is, I'm prepared to vote for the resolution."
Mayor Sootheran—"It is the best offer. I'm guided by the letters received by the Clerk, who has written everywhere. I applied to a couple of insurance firms who might need bonds to deposit with the government, but they were supplied."
Ald. McCrea—"What about the commission?"

Mayor Sootheran—"Yes we shall have to pay a commission of 1-2 per cent."

Ald. McCrea—"Then we really get only 96 1/2 for our bonds."

The letter from the Sureties Co. was again read, when it was decided that the company did not ask a commission on the short term bonds.

The resolution was then adopted, Aldermen Robinson, McCrea and O'Reilly voting nay.

The Western Boundary

On motion of Aldermen O'Reilly and McCrea, a grant of $15 was made to Commissioner Roush, of Ops to money to be paid on certificate of Town Commissioner O'Neill.

Streets to be Levelled.

Reference was made to the bad condition of several streets on which excavations had been made, and a motion was passed that the contractors interested, and the Water Commissioners be instructed to place said streets in good repair at once.

Street Sprinkling.

The second watering cart being now in commission, Council devoted a few minutes to the selection of the new streets to be watered four times daily, comprising the leading thoroughfares North and South of Kent-st. and part of King-st., East Ward. It was thought that a charge of 50 per foot frontage would be ample and the price might figure out less.

It was decided to engage a man and team for the balance of the season to be expended on the boundary road, so much per day, the outfit to be employed hauling gravel on wet days. Ald. McCrea moved that it be noted that the water until people petition. Mayor Sootheran—"We've been asked to do this time and again. The people will petition, no doubt about it."

IN COMMITTEE.

Satisfactory Agreement Relative to the Gas Contract.

Council adjourned and sat again as the Police and lighting committee to confer with Mr. E. D. Morris, of Toronto, who wishes to install a water gas plant in Lindsay.

On Motion Mr. Morris was heard.

After thanking Council for having forwarded the draft contract to him, he said that although the agreement was very binding in the town's interest he would ask only a few alterations therein. One was that the exemption term be increased to cover the franchise term, 25 years, as agreed to by Council at a former conference. Clauses 11 and 12 gave the town the right of purchase at any time without any allowance for franchise, which was manifestly unfair; it meant that if the town saw the company were making money out of their heavy investment after a few years of losses they could step in and buy at a valuation price. No body of men would invest under such terms, and the clause should be changed to give the town the right to step in only at the end of the franchise term. He also asked that notice be served on the Burgess Co. of cancellation of their contract; his solicitor advised him that under the terms thereof the town could take possession of the plant, but he believed they would not wish to do that. Another clause prohibited the company from charging more rental and he wanted the right to make a charge of 25c. per month in the case of persons who close up their house for three months and use no gas, but no charge would be made where even the smallest quantity had been used.

Mayor Sootheran—"That's reasonable, and so are the other changes."

Moved by Mayor Sootheran, seconded by Ald. Robinson, that the contract be amended by our Solicitor as noted, and a new copy of same be forwarded to Mr. Morris at once, also that present gas company be notified of the cancellation of their contract with the town, if solicitor considers same necessary.—Carried.

The Aldermen then adjourned.

WORKS BOTH WAYS.

A Rare Bit of Delicate Wit by a Dutchman.

A citizen of Holland recently had the temerity to call a constable a monkey. He was arrested, and, on being brought before the judge, charged with "insulting the police," he was sentenced to forty-five days imprisonment. Before being removed he turned to address the court.

"Then I mustn't call a constable a monkey," he said.

"Certainly not; you must not insult the police."

The culprit reflected, "May I call a monkey a constable?" he asked, with a flash of genius.

The judge shrugged his shoulders and, holding no brief for the animal, he replied, "If it gives you any satisfaction."

With a smile of gratification the prisoner turned on his heel in the dock and bowed to his prosecutor.

"Good day, constable," he said.

PALATIAL CRUISING YACHT.

Arrival of Mr. Wm. Mackenzie's Handsome New Boat from Toronto.

The fine new yacht owned by Mr. Wm. Mackenzie, President of the Toronto Street Railway Co., arrived in town Sunday evening, it having come in over the Nipissing line. The Toronto Star inspected the yacht before it left the Police Works at Toronto, and says:

Mr. Wm. Mackenzie's new steam yacht will be shipped by the builders, the Poison Iron Works, to Lindsay in a few days and will be launched during the week and sent up to Mr. Mackenzie's summer residence on the Kawartha Lakes. The new yacht is receiving her finishing touches in the open, where she was photographed by The Star. She is a pretty boat, and is generally referred to by the workmen as "that knuckle." She is fitted with triple expansion engines, 51-2, 81-2 and 14 by 8, and Yarrow boilers. Her indicated horse power is 100, and she will develop 12 miles an hour. The yacht is fitted with Pullman berths, in Pullman car style, and accommodations which will enable Mr. Mackenzie and his family to make long trips in her. She is 81 feet long, 12 feet 6 inches beam, and draws but 3 feet 9 inches of water. She is almost twice as large as Mr. Mackenzie's former boat, the Rambler, which was just an afternoon launch, and not designed for overnight trips.

VICTORIA REGT. IN CAMP.

THERE WERE CAY DOINGS ON DOMINION DAY.

March out in Morning, Games in Afternoon and big Campfire at Night—Visitors from Lindsay—Col. Sylvester Satisfied with his Men.

Special to the Post.

Barriefield Camp.

Kingston, July 2nd, 1904.

Dominion Day of the current year will long be remembered as one of the red letter days in the history of the Limestone City. The troops in camp, some 3,000 in all, had a march out in the city in the morning. In the afternoon there were military sports on the grounds, and by a blazing camp fire in the evening, with other attractions. It was a gala day sure, and much enjoyed by everyone.

At 8 o'clock the various regiments marched out from their respective quarters, headed by their bands, to gather with field batteries and troops of cavalry. The various corps looked their prettiest, being as spry and smart as it was possible for military soldiers to be, and there were no untidy ones in sight. The troops in line of march were viewed by thousands of spectators, who commented freely in complimentary terms on their magnificent appearance, splendid marching, etc. "Well done, 46th, well done, 46th," was the remark of the Brigadier the day previous as our regiment marched past him, and Colonel Sylvester could not resist expressing the pleasure he felt at the way the Victorians acquitted themselves on the day of the march. The regiment was in splendid form and fully entitled to the compliments which were showered on them by the spectators. The Staff officers looked well in saddle, Lord Aylmer viewed the parade from a prominent point of vantage. The troops reached their camping grounds again about one o'clock, having had a two hours' steady march.

The Afternoon Sports, were witnessed by hundreds of people, while many of the soldiers in camp changed places with them, visiting points of attractions or friends, and so everybody was happy with what was transpiring. The various corps contributed ten dollars each to the prize fund, and the Y.M.C.A. generously did likewise. There were many prize-winners in the 45th. All day long the air was filled with the choicest musical selections by the bands.

There was heaps of fun around the camp fire in the evening, and everything went as merry as a marriage bell. It was late in the night before the camp finally settled down to rest, everybody seeming to be in a playful mood, and wishing to get a joke off on some other fellow. When the rain began to fall a member of the 45th, with a miniature searchlight produced his lightning with good effect, and had lots of fun, particularly with sleepers. By placing the toy searchlight under a blanket, and lifting the same, he made real good flashes. In one case a dozy sleeper awakened and said, "I guess we are going to have another bad storm." "It is like it," remarked one of the jokers who had not yet gone to rest. "You often see lightning without thunder." A minute later the sleeper was roused by someone trying to put something in his bed, and starting up, caught sight of the light and thought they were trying to set off fireworks. He started out in a hurry. "Great Caesar, you're not going to set off fireworks in the tent, are you?" exclaimed the frightened fellow, as he was pushed out into the open and waited for the explosion. It came, but it was an explosion of laughter, and the joke dawned upon him.

It Rained All Last Night.

but to-day it is bright, beautiful and breezy. It rained three nights previously, but the days were clear. Mrs. Dr. Gillespie and family, of Lindsay, close relatives of the surgeon, are visiting in Kingston, and the camp.

The name of Adjutant Hopkins was accidentally omitted from the list of staff-officers last week; he is imbedded with the military spirit and will doubtless make a good officer.

Captain Hinely is a model officer and naturally has a model company.

Straw hats have been served out to the men, and are duly appreciated.

The water supply is not overly abundant. Six patients went into the field hospital on Thursday. The only serious case was that of a Peterboro trooper who lay on duty again on Monday. Tom Fleming spent a day in hospital. There is no sickness whatever in camp. Surgeon Gillespie inspected the men of the 45th medically on Thursday afternoon; they are all sound and solid.

A member of a rural company celebrated Dominion Day a little too strong; he looked for trouble and found more than he wanted. He came in contact with a Rice Lake Indian and got his nose split and ear badly chewed. He wanted a package of cigarettes when arrested and waived his smoke when he found he could not demand under arrest. He will be punished for his offence—an Indian in the King's uniform is as good as any other man; in this case the red man was the better man.

Captain Holtorf always wears a pleasant smile, a pretty moustache, and has a joke to give. Here is his latest, "What vegetable does a red coat resemble when he runs before the enemy? You give it up? Well, a scarlet runner."

The 45th band reached camp from Lindsay at 3:30 this a.m., and immediately went to duty.

Postie Justice.

Mary heard a little lie

That did another wrong.

And everywhere that Mary went

The lie went right along.

It followed her all through the town,

And as it went it grew;

Of course they all vowed secrecy,

That Mary told it.

The girl the story was about

Got married, as girls will,

But Mary is an old maid and,

The village gossip still.

What is Happening in Town and the Country About Us.

Monkey Brand Soap removes all stains, rust, dirt or tarnish—but won't wash clothes.

—The people of Nestleton and Blackstock are now installing a telephone line connecting with Janetville.

—The members of the Canadian Orders of Oddfellows attended divine service at the Baptist church Sunday morning.

—Mr. Wm. Mackenzie's new yacht, Kawartha Queen, was launched this week by Mr. Wm. Hungeford, at the lower wharf.

—Kingston is talking of adopting an anti-spitting by-law. Wonder will it pan out any better than the by-law now in force in Lindsay?

—The L. B. & P. ballasting trains were kept going all day Sunday between Argue's gravel pit and the section of line north-east of the town.

—The receipts at the picnic held at Kilmount on June 24th, under the auspices of the C. M. B. A. Society, amounted to about one hundred dollars.

—Chomong Park Cottagers' Association are arranging for a grand regatta at their park on Saturday, Aug. 6th. Programme will be issued at an early date.

—It's a brave sight to see the L.B. & P. Ry. Co. work train coming in at night with a couple of hundred carriages on board, all eager to reach the grub camp.

—Owen Sound citizens are wrestling with the question, "Shall we, or shall we not, accept $17,500 of Andrew Carnegie's money for a public library building?"

—Brookville Recorder: Annaprior has followed the example of Carleton Place by disposing of the Bell Telephone Co's appeal by adding another $1,000 to their assessment.

—The foolish and brainless individual who drew a red paint or some such mark across a number of our Kent-st merchant's windows will likely be sent to Orillia if found out.

—July 9th, is the date of the opening of the great lift-lock at Peterboro. The G.T.R. will issue return tickets at single fare, good going on the afternoon trains Friday and all trains Saturday, returning on the 11th.

—The Firemen of Uxbridge will run their excursion on July 10th. Why is it that Lindsay cannot attract some of these excursions to our town? The main reason is that we have no park properly fitted for the accommodation of visitors.

—Many Lindsay people and residents in Ops and Emily will be interested in the news that Rev. Fr. Fielan, formerly of this parish, but now of Young's Point, will hold his annual picnic at South Beach, near that place, on Thursday, Aug. 18th.

—Mariposa township has repealed its by-law giving a bonus of 30c. a rod for the construction of wire fences in the township. In place of the bonus, the municipality has bought a quantity of the wire which it will sell cheaply to the ratepayers.

—Tuesday, July 5, was the 43rd anniversary of Lindsay's great fire, when almost the entire town was swept bare. Some days after the conflagration fragments of burnt wood and charred cotton cloth were found north of Bobaygon—carried there by the high wind.

—Mr. W. J. Kelley's sawmill at Bridgenorth was destroyed by fire one day last week, and about 50 men will be thrown out of employment. The loss will be heavy, as there was only a small insurance, while $2,000 worth of new machinery was installed in the spring.

—Mr. A. Robertson reports business in wood and coal, since taking charge of that line of work, as being fully up to his expectations. Orders for coal for present delivery are coming in quite freely. The outlook with house-holders seems to be that the coming winter will not catch them napping.

—It may interest our citizens to know that fully one hundred lumbermen are now at work in the north country cutting timber for next season's requirements. This is mainly in order that the hardwood, much of which is being cut, may have a good market and not sufficiently to float next spring.

—Mr. Bobbie was notified Monday afternoon that a pipe had sprung a leak opposite Mr. Wm. Skelton's terrace on William-st. On arriving on the ground he found two bad leaks and the water coming out in a six-inch stream. The pumps had to be stopped while the gate controlling that portion of the system was being closed. The broken pipe was replaced today.

U. S. Opinion on the Budget.

As regards this matter of "dumping the surplus," it is a poor rule that cannot work both ways. If the United States dumps its surplus on Great Britain and Germany, there is no reason why Great Britain and Germany could not dump their surplus on the United States. A country that cannot retaliate in this way has another method of preventing a cheap foreign dumping her surplus upon her people. This method has been invented by Canada. It consists in practically raising the duty upon all articles imported at a less price than the ruling in the producing country so as to bring it to the level of the true value.

Thus steel rails, made in Pittsburgh could not be sold in Montreal as a less price than the ruling in New York, for the Canadian government would promptly fine the importer the full amount of the difference.

This is the best argument "for peace," said Gen. Grant, pointing to a great Krupp gun in Germany.

In like manner, the different measures of protection or retaliation adopted by the various countries to keep out the products of the other countries are the best arguments for freedom of commerce, and in the end they will bring it about.

MERRY WEDDING BELLS.

Traynor—O'Shea.

St. Mary's church was the scene of a very pretty wedding Tuesday morning, the occasion being the marriage of Mr. Joseph Traynor, of South Ops, to Miss Mary O'Shea, of West Ops. Nuptial mass was celebrated by the pastor, Ven. Archbishop Casey, in the presence of a number of intimate friends. The bride, who was given away by her brother, Mr. Joseph O'Shea, was attired in blue silk crepe, with trimming of Paris lace, and hat of white chiffon, and carried a white prayer book and white rosary. The bridesmaid, Miss Katie O'Shea, sister of the bride, also wore blue, with black chiffon hat, and carried pearl rosary. The groom was attended by his brother, Mr. Owen Traynor.

After the mass the happy couple, accompanied by their immediate relatives, drove to the home of the bride's father, where a sumptuous repast awaited them. Newspapers and Magazines

There are thousands of people who should appreciate Canadian stories because they are Canadian, yet are quite unfamiliar with the names of Canadian story-writers. The July Canadian Magazine contains at least three stories by leaders in this class of literature. There is a racing story by W. A. Fraser, who is the author of several books, and a resident of Georgetown, a small town just west of Toronto. There is a humorous tale by A. R. Cairman, a staff writer on the Montreal Star, the author of two novels, and a descriptive writer of considerable experience. The western story "Star-Blanket," by Danan Campbell Scott, an officer in the Department of Indian Affairs at Ottawa, and the author of some volumes of verse of more than ordinary merit. This number contains also some articles of exceptional interest, by Lally Bernard, F. C. Sears, T. A. Gregg, and Frank Yeigh.

SAVE BABY'S LIFE.

You cannot watch your little ones too carefully during the hot weather. At this time sickness comes swiftly and the sands of the little life are apt to glide away almost before you know it. Dysentery, diarrhoea, cholera infantum, and stomach troubles are alarmingly frequent during the hot weather. At the first sign of any of these troubles Baby's Own Tablets should be given—better still an occasional dose will prevent these troubles coming, and the Tablets should therefore be kept in every home. Promptness may save your child's life. Mrs. J. R. Standen, Weyburn, N.W.T., says: "Baby's Own Tablets are valuable in cases of diarrhoea, constipation, hives, and when teething. I have never used a medicine that gives such good satisfaction." This is the experience of all mothers who have used the Tablets. If you do not find the Tablets at your druggist's send 25 cents to The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont., and an X will be sent you by mail post paid.

LINDSAY COLLEGIATE CLOSING

LECTURE ON "MEMORIES OF OXFORD," BY E. J. KYLIE, B. A.

An Interesting Program—Presentation of Cricket Bats.

The Assembly Hall of the Collegiate Institute was filled to overflowing on Thursday evening, last, the occasion being the closing exercises of the School. A first-class programme was provided, the main item being an address delivered by Mr. Ed. J. Kylie, B.A., on "Memories of Oxford."

Mr. Thos. Stewart, chairman of the Board of Education, in his opening remarks expressed himself as well satisfied with the large attendance. This is the 60th year of the School, which was first known as the Old Grammar School, then the Lindsay High School, and at the present time the Lindsay Collegiate Institute; and in all these 60 years the School has been doing good work. The gathering to-night would doubtless recall old memories to many. He had been authorized to say that at Christmas there will be a fitting celebration of the 60th anniversary of the School.

In introducing Mr. Kylie, Mr. Stewart mentioned his brilliant successes at Lindsay, Toronto and Oxford, and said he was sure he voiced the opinion of all when he said that those present would rather hear Mr. Kylie than perhaps any other man (Applause). He is not the only one who has been sent out by this School, but he, of course, has been wonderfully successful, and has brought credit to our School, to Lindsay, and the county at large.

Mr. Kylie's address was very interesting, and the audience were delighted with it. His vivid descriptions of life at Oxford, and Oxford memories, were greatly appreciated. The lecture will be published Monday.

Miss Teresa Benson's instrumental was well rendered, and she responded to an encore.

Mr. J. Gordon O'Leary, an ex-L.C.I. student, expressed himself as having much pleasure, as an Old Boy, in moving a vote of thanks to Mr. Kylie. He was one of the distinguished pupils of the old hall. Mr. Jack Lunney, on behalf of the School, seconded the motion in a neat speech.

Mr. J. D. Flavell presented to the members of the Cricket Club the prizes won by them this season. Mr. Ross Hartstone won the bat for being the best cricketer. Leon Koyle, was a close runner-up and secured the bat given by Mr. Jas. C. Grace to the best batting average. Ben Fort, the clever young bowler, secured the ball, he having made the phenomenal record of putting 53 men out for 153 runs. (Bert Byres won honor as the best infielder.)

The chorus rendered by the club, with Mr. Jack Lunney, as star actor, was amusing and well received. Miss H. G. Coad, read the Valdeci story address in good style. The recitation by Miss Gertrude Junkin, was encored.

The singing of the national anthem, led by Inspector Knight, brought the proceedings to a close about 10:30.

AUTOMOBILE SCARES HORSES.

Mr. Primeau's Delivery Animal Broke Away Monday Morning.

A very exciting runaway occurred on Kent-st. Monday about 9:45. Mr. Grant's automobile from Toronto, being the cause. The auto was stopped at Cinnamon's hardware store to fill up with gasoline, and when the tank was loaded the two Grant boys, who were running the machine, started up Kent-st. on the return trip to Toronto, which they expected to make in about four hours and a half. When near Adams grocery store Mr. Primeau's delivery horse took fright and fell on the sidewalk, and before anybody could catch the reins the horse had started south on Cambridge-st. at a very fast speed, dragging the heavy tie which it was pulling. The horse reached its stable on Glenview-st. very badly scared, and probably of no more use as a delivery horse.

Some of the citizens who witnessed the scene say that the automobile was travelling too fast inside the corporation. Mr. Grantman in his address with Mr. Primeau and again started for home, and was soon out of sight. The speed limit is about eight miles an hour inside corporations.

DR. GIUSEPPE LAPPONI

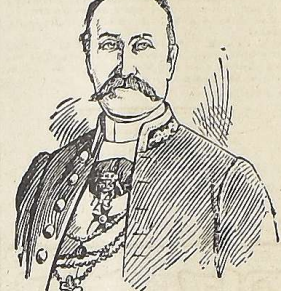

PHYSICIAN TO THE POPE PRAISES DR. WILLIAMS' PINK PILLS.

In Four Cases of Anæmia Their Effects Were so Satisfactory That He Will Go on Using Them.

Dr. Lapponi, whose skill preserved the life of the late Pope Leo XIII to the great age of 92, and to whose care the health of the present Pope, His Holiness Pius X., is confided, has written the remarkable letter of which the following is a translation:

"I certify that I have tried Dr. Williams' Pink Pills in four cases of the simple Anæmia of development. After a few weeks of treatment, the result came fully up to my expectations. For that reason I shall not fail in the future to extend the use of this laudible preparation, not only in the treatment of other morbid forms of the category of Anæmia or Chlorosis, but also in cases of Neurasthenia and the like."

DR. GIUSEPPE LAPPONI.

Dr. Giuseppe Lapponi, Physician to the Pope, who has written a letter in praise of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People.

It would be impossible to exaggerate the importance of this opinion. Dr. Lapponi's high official position places his professional competence above question, and it is certain that he did not write as above without weighing his words or without a full sense of the effect his opinion would have.

The "simple anæmia of development" referred to by Dr. Lapponi is of course that tired, languid condition of young girls whose development to womanhood is tardy, and whose health, at the period of that development is often imperilled. A girl, bright and merry enough in childhood, will in her teens grow by degrees pale and languid. Frequent headaches and a sense of uneasiness which she cannot understand, make her miserable. Just when it is time for her to leave off being a girl and become a woman—a change which comes to different individuals at different ages—her development lingers—why? Because she has too little blood. That is what Dr. Lapponi means when he speaks, in the scientific language natural to him, of "the anæmia of development."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People have the power of making new blood. They cure anæmia just as food cures hunger. That is how they help growing girls, who for want of this new blood, often drift into chronic ill-health, or "go into a decline"—which means consumption—and die. Dr. Williams' Pills could save them.

The value of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills as a nerve tonic, referred to by Dr. Lapponi, makes them valuable to men as well as women. They act on the nerves through the blood, and thus cure diseases like St. Vitus dance, neuralgia, paralysis and loco motor ataxia. When buying these pills it is important to see that the full name, Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People, is printed on the wrapper around each box. Never take a substitute, as it is worse than a waste of money—it is a menace to health. If you cannot get the genuine pills from your dealer write the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont., and the pills will be sent you post paid at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50.

The Myles Stabbing Affray.

John Wells, who was accused of stabbing Malcolm Myles, who up to the present time has kept the restaurant on William-st. near the Grand Trunk station, came up for his preliminary trial on Monday. The evidence went to show that Myles and Wells are brothers-in-law; that one night recently Wells went over to Myles' store when the two got into an altercation, the outcome of which was that Myles told Wells to get out of his shop, and upon the latter going out the restaurant keeper kicked him off the steps. During the course of the foregoing Wells stabbed Myles with a jack-knife. Under cross-examination Myles would not say positively whether it was after he had kicked Wells or not that he received the stab. The accused pleaded not guilty and elected to be tried by a jury. At the conclusion of the evidence Magistrate Jackson committed the accused for trial. J. P. Devlin for the Crown and L. E. Weldon for the defence.

The only way to get rid of pimples and other eruptions is to cleanse the blood, improve the digestion, stimulate the kidneys, liver and skin. The medicine to take is Hood's Sarsaparilla Which has cured thousands.

OPENING OF OUR NEW PUBLIC LIBRARY

Lindsay's Newest Educational Institution Opened its Doors to the Public on Tuesday—A Handsome and Convenient Building for Which Our Citizens Stand Indebted to the Generosity of Mr. Andrew Carnegie—The Addresses in the Evening—Description of the Library and other Interesting Details.

Lindsay's New Public Library building, about which so much has been heard in Council, in the press, and on the street corners, for many months, was formally thrown open to the general public Tuesday last without fanfare of trumpet, first works or special ceremony of note.

The only visitor from a distance at the function was Dr. James Bain, Librarian of Toronto Public Library, who arrived on the morning train. Shortly after 2 p.m. the Dr. escorted by His Honor Judge Harding, chairman of the Public Library Board, a number of members of that Board and the Board of Education, and a fair sprinkling of representative citizens, set out to inspect the new building, the portals of which were thrown open on their approach. Soon they were joined by many more, including a number of ladies, and it is safe to say that between 2.30 and 5 o'clock four or five hundred of our citizens visited the Library and subjected it to a critical examination, both inside and outside. That the style of architecture, quality of the fittings and general appearance of the building was accepted as satisfactory by the great majority was attested by the admiring comments heard on all sides, and these expressions of satisfaction were but the echo of the praises voiced by Dr. Bain, whom no more competent authority on the qualifications of a Library could be selected in Canada.

THE BUILDING AND SITE.

The Library represents an expenditure of $13,500, the gift of Mr. Carnegie on the customary condition that the annual expenditure for maintenance shall equal 10 per cent. of the grant, or $1,350, which is a little less than the present revenue of the Library Board from the half-mill rate and other sources. The site on the Market Park was apparently the one desired by the bulk of the citizens, it was town property, a proposal to borrow money to provide a site elsewhere was twice voted down, and it is doubtful if a better one could have been chosen, keeping the future in mind. It is in the centre of a neat expanse of green sward, and the town park to the west is a guarantee that the west and north views will not be interfered with.

The building is of modern Greek architecture and the main part is 27x55 feet. The stack room is 27x55 feet, has a capacity of 20,000 volumes, and will be operated on the open access plan—the public to be allowed free access to the books. The basement has a 10 foot ceiling. The main portion of the building on the ground floor is 14 ft. 3 in. high, and the stack room ceiling is 14 ft. 6 in. The rubble stone for the masonry was obtained at Cobocook, the coarse ashlar above grade line was obtained at Hartnell & Co's quarries at Burnt River, and cannot be excelled in appearance and quality. The brickwork is of red and black brick laid with American bond in brown mortar. The window sills, heads, architraves, and quoins and columns are of artificial stone, which add greatly to the appearance of the building. The fireplaces are built of No. 1 red pressed brick.

The whole of the carpenter work throughout is of clear pine lumber supplied by the Rathbun Co. The under floors are of pine and top floors are maple. The whole of the pine trim such as doors, windows, screen partitions, dado and base, and the main stairs was supplied by Mr. Geo. Inglis; the front and vestibule doors and inside trim on the ground floor, i.e., the panel dado, screen partitions, base, and counter, light frame were supplied by Mr. John Gilchrist, of Toronto.

The heating plant is the low pressure steam gravity system, and was supplied and installed by Messrs. Keays & Morrison; the plumbing was also done by them. The roofing is of slate and the work was done by W. D. Hutson & Son, of Toronto. The plastering was done by Messrs. Reeves and Way, and is first-class; the painting and glazing by Geo. McEwen; the electric wiring by the Light, Heat & Power Co.

The basement contains the following rooms: Lecture room, Historical Society room, receiving room, gentlemen's lavatory and hall; the rooms on the ground floor are the general reading room on the west side; the children's reading room and library on the east side; stack room on the north side, and the main hall. The plans were drawn by Messrs. C. M. Miller & Co., of Toronto, and the contractors were Messrs. Miller & Chalmers, of this town, the latter supervising the work and being entitled to much credit for the thorough and workmanlike finish visible everywhere. It is only fair to Mr. Chalmers to state that in several instances he voluntarily exceeded the specifications in order to improve the appearance of the building and this at a considerable sacrifice of profits.

THE EVENING MEETING.

We incline to the belief that a full-grown yoke of oxen and a stout logging chain could not hold our staid citizens away from their homes to attend a public meeting in the good old summer time. Tuesday night was pleasantly cool, yet only thirty persons gathered in the Council chamber to hear the addresses to be delivered by Dr. Bain and local speakers in connection with the opening of the Library.

Judge Harding, the chairman, opened the proceedings about 8.30 by calling on Mr. E. A. Hardy, secretary of the Library Board, to read a number of letters and messages from Hon. Geo. W. Ross and other eminent and well known gentlemen expressing regret because of their inability to be present. His Honor then proceeded to say that the Town of Lindsay now possesses a Library of which the citizens had every reason to be proud. There had been criticism, but that was to be expected. If mistakes had been made they were those of a first-class architect, and he might add that it was unreasonable to expect the members of the Board to be able to advise and correct in such a case. One suggestion had been made by a citizen that he did not think need be carried out in order to improve the appearance of the building—the placing of the band stand on the top of it. (Laughter). All who had climbed the tortuous stairs to the old rooms would appreciate the new Library, which was the equal of any Library in Canada of its size. There had been some difference of opinion as to the most desirable site, but the people were opposed to spending money, and after all, possibly the site given, even would be found as good as any. He hoped the citizens would look upon the new Library as their own and patronize it freely—education is increased by readings. Great care should be taken in selecting the books in order to avoid the choice of volumes of a controversial or improper nature.

Mr. J. R. McNeill, County Clerk and Treasurer, referred to the interest taken by the members of the County Council in libraries, as evidenced by the fact that they made yearly grants to some other institutions. Personally he might say, in connection with the remarks he had heard directed against the Library Board, that he had no reason to find fault with the management of the Library, with the building itself. He sympathized with the Board in the criticism to which they had been unfairly subjected before the building had been completed—it was a wrong thing to pass judgment beforehand.

Inspector Knight spoke on behalf of the Board of Education. He took a great interest in the Library and thought the new building would prove a great boon to the town. Those having to do with the selection of books would find it difficult to decide what was history and what fiction. For years he had been most anxious to keep history prominently before the students of the Entrance examinations, because he was convinced that if children became lovers of history during their school years they would be likely to select good books when they grew older—education consists as much in reading as in what is taught in school. Mr. Knight in closing uttered a few words of caution to the Library Board to see to it that the very best books are placed within reach of patrons of the Library.

Mr. A. O'Loughlin, a member of the Separate School Board, made a few congratulatory remarks.

Ven. Archdeacon Casey said he had visited the new Library during the day, and had been surprised to find so little justification of the fault-finding that had been indulged in so freely. It should be a great source of satisfaction to all to have such a fine and well-equipped Library building in our midst. He would endorse all that Inspector Knight had said with regard to the importance of care in the selection of new books—fiction had its place, but it should be of sound quality. In England during the last year five novels had been issued every day—how many of these were suitable for Library shelves? New books should be vouched for by some responsible person. Mr. Knight had referred to the importance of including in children's love for history, but it was also most essential that they study reliable histories. When Macaulay's history of England came out it was lauded as being the best extant, but we know now that many of the so-called facts therein are pure fiction. If you buy a history, get the best—cheap issues are full of misconceptions and misstatements. The reading of Scott's and Tackeray's novels, and the poets, should be encouraged. The Separate School Board has a library containing a large number of books, many of them valuable. They had expended this year about $450 on carefully selected volumes. He wished the new Public Library every success and hoped the citizens would patronize it in great numbers.

Rev. J. W. Wallace, of St. Andrew's church, said he wished to say a few words on his own behalf and for those whose duty it is to teach men the great truths, not only of the gospel, but the things men must learn in order to succeed in life. Great educational work can be done through a good Library. It seemed to-day that if a man wished to do anything or become a leader of his fellow men in any line he must have access to good books. We are acquainted ourselves with what has gone before us if we wish to advance. Reference had been made by several speakers to the importance of a carefully selected of books—he felt that the people are to be allowed the privilege of selecting books from the shelves of the new library, then the books placed there should be the best. He agreed with the Archdeacon that many of the books published to-day are trashy. Carlyle found history dry as dust, and he taught others how to write it so it would be read with pleasure and profit. must have fiction, but too great care cannot be taken in its selection. He was glad to see the Library completed and in running order. Mr. Carnegie might be amenable to criticism in connection with the mode of making his wealth, but it surely was more creditable for him to spend his money in erecting libraries all over the land than to waste it at the gaming table or the race track, as so many of our rich men do.

Dr. Bain, who was received with applause, said he came to Lindsay charged with congratulations from the Library Board on the completion of a new and well equipped building. On looking through it that afternoon he was struck by some things one of which was the opportunity to raise the standard of the Library. That should be kept constantly in view by the Board. We have become so familiar with books that we lose the sense of their importance. The indiscriminate reading of novels is lowering the fibre of the people of the day, and it cannot be denied that some of the choicest of intellectual gems is to be found in fiction. Stress was laid by some upon the value of the standard books of reference, but his idea was that all books that convey knowledge of value are entitled to be classed as books of reference. Many libraries contain quantities of dusty, formidable looking volumes, which are seldom opened, but his desire was to make every book available and to collect a series dealing with every subject of importance, so that the seeker after knowledge might command perhaps a dozen volumes covering every phase of the matter upon which information was sought. These books should be the very best published on the subject. There are books which open up vistas of boundless knowledge, and many of these are seldom heard of. A series of monthly meetings to discuss and elucidate the value and charm of some of these would have a good effect in promoting at once for them.

Any public Library was fitted to become a storehouse of useful knowledge. He was in sympathy with the remarks made ament the study of history, but we have a local, a County and a Provincial history to consider also. There are those among us who have spoken to one or more of the original settlers of Ontario. Every town has a local history, in some respects different to other towns, and so it is with counties. It is very desirable that we should preserve this local history—if we do not, we cannot hope to have the respect of those who come after us. He understood that Lindsay had a Historical Society—most towns possess a body of that kind. In most cases we find that the only means we have of acquiring knowledge of long past events in local history is glancing through an old file of the Globe newspaper. The officers of the local Historical Society should make it a point to preserve files of the County newspapers in their vault for reference purposes. He was glad indeed to notice that the secretary of the Library Board had been devoting a lot of attention to the Government blue books, and Sessional papers—they gave the yearly record of the Government in every department and in a few years would be very valuable. The Canadian Almanac was also an invaluable publication for preservation and he was pleased to see that Lindsay Library had a set covering 40 years back.

In closing the Dr. congratulated the members of the Library Board on the excellent appointments of the Library, adding that it was fitted in every way to perform a great work in the town. (Applause).

Mr. Wm. Flavell, a member of the Building Committee, on being asked to speak said, "I have nothing to say—the building stands for our work."

Mr. E. A. Hardy, Secretary of the Board, thought the opening of the Library marked an epoch in the history of the County. Twenty-five years ago a body of citizens got together and reorganized the Mechanics' Institute in Lindsay, and some of these men were Mr. W. Flavell, Col. J. R. McNicoll, Mr. Geo. Inglis, Col. Dacon, and Alex. Jackson. As he looked back over the minutes he saw other names—Mr. F. D. Moore, Senator Dobson, Mr. Kennedy and others, who deserved credit for having made possible our present Library.

He had been criticized as a dreamer. He admitted the charge—he had always dreamed, and he would tell some of his visions. One of his dreams was to have a complete set of Sessional papers since 1867. He had dreamed of a book selection committee and some kind of a report on the volumes chosen. The choosing of new books was a very difficult and important task. While he did not think every work in the Library was beyond criticism, he could say that if fault existed it was unintentional, and anyone who would point out any objectionable book would confer a favor. He would like to see the Library developed along certain lines, mechanical and agricultural, and hoped that some day the Township of Ops would see fit to make an annual grant for the purchase of books on agriculture.

He felt assured that when the Library had been open a short time they would receive many donations of valuable books. Open access to the books was an innovation only enjoyed in one other town in Canada—Sarnia, and he hoped and believed it would prove a success here. The Library was free to everyone in the County on payment of a 5c. fee for a registration card. He was proud of the building in every way—inside as well as outside—because it was a model of libraries on which millions had been expended. He was especially glad to have with them this evening the Nestor of Canadian Public Libraries—Dr. Bain—and to know that the Library had received his hearty endorsement in every detail.

Mr. F. D. Moore—the oldest member of Lindsay's Public Library Board—made a neat speech, and was followed by Crown Attorney Devlin, Mr. E. J. Fox, M.P.P., Ald. J. McGee and Mr. R. M. Beal. His honor Judge Harding then closed the meeting with a few appropriate remarks.

FIRE IN NORTH OPS.

Farm House Destroyed While Owner Was in Town.

Mr. Robt. H. Byrnell, of lot 27, con. 9, Ops, drove into town Saturday afternoon and in his absence his dwelling house caught fire from the kitchen pipes, a spark lodging on the front part of the house. Mrs. Byrnell and a couple of children were unable to do anything to prevent the spread of the flames, and it happened unfortunately that the nearby neighbors were also absent, the house was destroyed with its contents. The loss will be heavy, there being only $400 insurance. The stables and out-buildings escaped owing to the wind blowing in another direction.

VICTORIA REGT. IN CAMP.

HAS ANYONE SEEN MAJOR JIM STAPLES' TRUNK?

Special Train Reached Kingston 6.30 Tuesday Evening Without Mishap.

Barrowfield Camp, Kingston, June 28th, ev'g.

Dear Sir—The train bearing the gallant 45th Victoria Regiment, Col. R. Sylvester in command, arrived at Belleville at 2.40 p.m. Tuesday. Conductor Geo. Bowdley and Driver Jackson, made a safe and pleasant run. The officers of the Regiment are Major Jim Staples, Captains Hollof, Henley, Williamson, (Lindsay); McCrea (Onenice); Lieutenants Suddaby, (Burnt River); Lancaster, (Bobby-geon); Smith, (Little Britain); Patterson, (Woodville). Several of the companies have only about eight men, but the Regiment will average about 25 men to a company.

We arrived at Kingston Jet, about 5 p.m., and with the 38th Regiment from Fort Hope, made the run to Kingston in good time, arriving at the Camp 6.30 p.m. Major Jim Staples "Sunny Jim," discovered that his trunk was left at Lindsay, and Capt. Jack Williamson wired for it, as the contents are valuable, and needed every hour.

The men are well located, and all necessary wants provided. Asst. Quartermaster Foster understands his duties; he is a valuable man and looks after the wants of the men in fine shape.

Wednesday, 29th, 8.30 a.m. There was rain about 2 a.m. The first call is 5.30 and the men turn out at 6 a.m., then breakfast at 7 a.m., inspection 8 o'clock, garrison mount 10 a.m. On regular days drill will be from 9 to 11.30 a.m., 2 to 4.30 p.m. It is said that this will be the last season the Camp will be located here, as the water supply is poor.

The men greatly appreciate the Y. M. C. A. tent here. They have a good reading room, a place to write letters, ice water, paper, envelopes, pens, ink, etc., are all furnished free. The post office is also located in the tent. A temperance canteen—soft drinks, and lunches furnished at cost. Last evening the men enjoyed a phonograph concert. Gospel meeting with good music, will be held each evening.—In haste,

Cured of Chronic Diarrhoea After Ten Years of Suffering.

"I wish to say a few words in praise of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy," says Mrs. Mattie Burge, of Martinsville, Va. "I suffered from chronic diarrhoea for ten years and during that time tried various medicines without obtaining any permanent relief. Last summer one of my children was taken with cholera morbus, and I procured a bottle of this remedy. Only two doses were required to give her entire relief. I then decided to try the medicine myself, and did not use all of one bottle before I was well and I have never since been troubled with that complaint. One cannot say too much in favor of that wonderful medicine." This remedy is for sale by all druggists.

PRINCE OF THE APOSTLES.

INTERESTING SERMON AT ST. MARY'S ON SUNDAY LAST.

St. Peter, the Prince of the Apostles, First Pope and Bishop of Rome.

At St. Mary's church on Sunday was solemnized the feast of the apostles Sts. Peter and Paul. Ven. Archdeacon Casey officiated at the high mass, at which Father O'Sullivan spoke on the gospel of the feast, taking as his text "Blessed are thou, Simon Bar-Jona, for flesh and blood hath not revealed this to thee, but my Father, who is in heaven,—Matt. xvii. 17. He said in substance; We honor conjointly these two great apostles, as they suffered martyrdom on the same day, and as tradition says, at the same hour, St. Peter being crucified in the City of Rome, and St. Paul beheaded outside the walls at the command of the Emperor Nero. This morning we will concern ourselves only with St. Peter, the prince of the apostles, first Pope and Bishop of Rome. The selection of St. Peter for the primary was a decided honor, for he distinguished himself by two virtues—a lively faith and an ardent love for and attachment to the person of our Saviour, virtues which should be the property of him who was to represent Christ upon earth, to rule the faithful united together by love and a common faith.

Represent to yourselves our Saviour at the age of thirty years, leaving his dear retreat at Nazareth, where he had spent his childhood, youth and early manhood, in the company of Mary and Joseph. He, the reputed son of the carpenter, whom the world does not yet know, goes up to the Jordan to be baptized by St. John, and as the waters are poured upon his head the Holy Ghost descends upon him in the form of a dove, and the voice of the Father is heard saying, "This is my well-beloved Son—hear you him." Here he received publicly his mission from his Eternal Father to enlighten, to redeem the world. After forty days of fast and prayer in the desert, he began his public ministry. He was walked by the sea of Galilee, and seeing Simon, who is called Peter, and Andrew, his brother, casting their nets into the sea, he said to them, "Come ye after me and I will make you to be fishers of men," and immediately they left their nets and followed him. Admire the wonderful power and influence of Jesus over the hearts and the minds of men. At his word these fishermen leave all that they possess, abandon their calling, which was to them a source of profit, and no doubt of great pleasure, and follow him. James and John, his brothers, leave their nets, bid farewell to their father Zebedee, St. Matthew his counting room, and attach themselves to the person of our Saviour.

Thus He collected His apostles about him, and when he was come in to the quarters of Caesarea Philippi He asked his disciples, "Whom do you say that the Son of Man is?" What is their opinion of me? After receiving various answers he turned to the twelve and said, "Whom do you say that I am?" And Simon Peter answered, "Thou art Christ, the Son of the living God." Here for the first time issued from the lips of mortal man a profession in the divinity of Christ, that the reputed son of the carpenter was truly God. As a reward for that profession of faith Christ made St. Peter the foundation stone of his church, the chief pastor, ruler and governor of his flock. On another occasion, after he had multiplied the five loaves to feed the hungry multitude, he spoke to his apostles, his disciples and the Jews, who came to hear him, of the Blessed Eucharist. "I am the bread of life," Your fathers did eat manna in the desert and are dead. I am the living bread which came down from heaven and if any man eat of this bread he shall live forever, and the bread that I will give is my flesh for the life of the world."—St. John vi. 48. The Jews strove among themselves, saying, "How can this man give us his flesh to eat?" and his disciples, hearing him, said, "This is a hard saying and who can hear it?" And many of them walked no longer with him. Then, turning to the twelve, He said, "Will you also go?" And Simon Peter answered, "To whom, Lord, shall we go? Thou hast the words of eternal life and we have known and believed that Thou art the Christ, the Son of God." St. Peter belongs the honor of having been the first to profess his belief in these two foundational doctrines of our faith, the divinity of Christ, and the real presence. Was it not fitting, therefore, that Christ should have chosen him for the office of his vice, guarantor upon earth, with its inherent prerogatives of supremacy and infallibility, and have prayed for him especially that he, being confirmed, should confirm his brethren.

Not by faith alone, but by his ardent attachment to the person of our Saviour, did he merit this predilection. He desired always to be near Him. He was with him on Mount Theabor, with him in Gethsemane, he walked upon the waters to meet Him. Thrice he made this profession of love, "Lord, thou knowest that I love thee," and he proved his sincerity by his zeal for the honor of Jesus, by labouring to spread the gospel from Jerusalem to Rome, by suffering imprisonment, and lastly by being crucified on an inverted cross on the Janiculum hill.

BIG FEATURES FROM ABROAD.

La Famille Lecusson, Hungarian Magyars, the Martineks, Mons. Hubert, the Eddys.

The advertisements of the Great Adam Perepangh and Sells Brothers United Shows, whose holiday here is fixed for Friday, July 15th, enumerate the following altogether new and original attractions among the scores of acts presented in their touring circus programme: the Seven Lecussions, in their wonderful mélange of equestrian and acrobatic acts, entitled "On the Way to the Grand Prix Race, Paris," introducing a four-horse park brake, both animals and vehicle being utilized in the phenomenal performances given. The Szarvasi French Troupe of Hungarian Magyars, whose almost prehistoric acrobatic dancing and musical performances have never before been seen outside of their native land. The four most popular and versatile of all French clowns, the Martineks, whose freaks and frolics are added to those of nearly half a hundred clowns from everywhere. Mons. Hubert, the most original and amazing of all barrel-jugglers, accompanied by his champion equestrian dog, and among whose phenomenal feats is included jumping from the ground to the back of his horse while holding up a sulkie by its shafts, and balancing a park cart on his chin, after presenting a remarkable juggling program therein. The Eddy Family, recognized as stars of the first magnitude in every great arena, and who now for the first time introduce their new and original aerial stage acrobatic act—a feature never heretofore attempted.—dwj.

Went Home to England to Die.

Tuesday Mrs. G. W. Mills, east ward, received from England a letter the perusal of which caused her great grief. It was from Mr. and Mrs. John Hore, now visiting relatives at Lostwithiel, in Cornwall, informing her, under date of June 23rd, of the death of Miss Smith, of this town, who sailed with them on May 24th to visit relatives in England. Mr. Hore stated that Miss Smith had been ill during the latter part of the voyage, and they remained with her ten days in Liverpool, at the end of which time she had recovered sufficiently to proceed to Bristol, whither they accompanied her and then left for Lostwithiel. The day prior to writing they received a letter from Miss Smith's friends telling of her death on June 1st, at 10 a.m., of congestion of the lungs. Miss Smith's many Lindsay friends will receive the sad news with sorrowful feelings. Mrs. Mills mourns Miss Smith as a dear and close friend, she having made her home with her for several years of the fifteen years she had been a resident of Lindsay in the employ of Mr. Hore, agent for the Singer Co. It seems sad that her life should come to a close just as she reached the loved home she had left 26 years previous, and which she had often yearned to visit. Inscrutable are the ways of God.

The bride, who was dressed in a skirt of blue ladies' cloth and white silk waist suitably trimmed, and carrying a bouquet of orange blossoms and white roses, was attended by her sister Linnie, who was similarly attired, while Mr. Wilbert Nicholls attended the groom. About fifteen couples, the nearest relatives of the contracting parties, witnessed the ceremony, which was performed by Rev. Jas. Wallace, M. A., B. D.

After the customary congratulations, a sumptuous repast was served. In the evening about fifty couples gathered and a very enjoyable time was spent. The bride was the recipient of a large number of beautiful and costly presents. The happy couple spent a few days in town previous to taking up their residence in Toronto.

Hutchinson—Brady

A very fashionable wedding was celebrated at the home of Mr. James Brady, Ops, on Tuesday, June 28th, at 3 p.m. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. A. J. H. Strike, in the presence of about forty guests.

The bride was given away by her brother. She wore a charming gown of cream cologne trimmed with all-over lace, to match, and carried a bouquet of white roses. Miss Bessie Ford performed the duties as bridesmaid and was dressed very becomingly in a gown of white organdie, and carried pink roses. Miss Ella Naylor, niece of the bride, acted as flower girl and looked very sweet in an attractive dress of nun's veiling; she also carried a bouquet of red roses. The groom was ably supported by Mr. Wm. Brady, brother of the bride. The bridal party stood under an elaborate arch of flowers.

After the ceremony and congratulations the guests sat down to an excellent wedding supper. The gifts to the bride were costly and useful. The groom's gifts were a costly gold watch and chain to the bride, a gold brooch to the bridesmaid, and a gold bracelet to the sweet little flower girl. The bride wore a travelling costume of French blue broadcloth and a black picture hat.

The happy couple left on the 6:23 train for Toronto and other places west. On their return trip they will reside in Ops, where Mr. Hutchinson, who is a very prosperous farmer, has a fine home.

Glossop—Nixon

Huntsville Forester: On Tuesday, June 21, All Saints' church, Huntsville, was the scene of one of the prettiest weddings of the season, when Miss Mollie May Nixon, youngest daughter of the late A. A. Nixon, of Bobaygeon, was married to Mr. John Mangen Glossop, eldest son of Mr. L. D. Glossop, and one of the most highly respected young men of town.

At 8:30 of the brightest of June mornings, as the Lohengrin wedding march was played by Mr. C. Lloyd, the groom, attended by his brother, Mr. George Elmer Glossop, came up the aisle to the chancel, which was beautifully decorated with ferns, marguerites and snowballs, and stood waiting for the bride, who entered leaning on the arm of her guardian Mr. J. N. Reid, and preceded by her sisters, Miss Maude, of New York, and Miss Mabel, of Port Hope, who were playing popular airs. The party grouped at the chancel made a very pretty picture, the flowers and gowns harmonizing. Rev. Mr. Balfour, of All Saints, performed the ceremony, which was very impressive and the singing of the responses and the hymn, "The voice that breathed over Eden," by the choir, added to the beauty of it.

The beautiful gowns of the ladies were worth description. The bride, who looked very pretty and graceful, was given in a stylish suit of navy blue canvas cloth with military trimmings and hat to match, and carried a shower bouquet of white roses. Miss Maude looked very sweet in a dainty pale blue crepe de chine, and Miss Mabel was very handsome in a beautiful pearl gray voile over taffeta with cluny lace. Both wore large black picture hats. The flowers were pink roses.

The groom's gift to the bride was a gold fly-of-the-valley pin handsomely set with pearls, and to each bridesmaid a pretty pearl pin. Although no invitations were issued, the bride was the recipient of numerous handsome and valuable gifts, which shows the high place she holds in the esteem of her friends, and many are the expressions of regret that the town is losing a favorite daughter.

The happy couple left, amid showers of rice, on the 10 a.m. train for Toronto, Guelph and other points south, before proceeding home to Orchard Grove, Orillia, where their many friends wish them a long life of happiness and prosperity.

Deadly Paris Green..

Potato bugs lay three sets of eggs a season—about a thousand eggs each time. Your best defense against the ravages of such a hungry horde is to get after them at once with a good grade of Paris Green before they can lay the last two crops of eggs.

We want to sell you the Paris Green. We have a grade that will do the business every time. It is fresh, pure and of unusual efficiency. Costs 25 cents a pound and would be cheap at double that because it kills the bugs.

FINGERBOARD.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)
All nature seemed to exert itself to give goodly cheer to the happy company assembled at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robt. Frise, on the afternoon of June 29th, to witness the marriage of their only daughter Miss Edith, to Mr. Herbert S. Bear, of Rochester, N.Y., to the strains of Lohengrin's march played by Miss Myrtle Culbert. The groom, Mr. H. S. Bear, and groomsmen, Mr. R. H. Frise, of Toronto, took their places on the lawn behind an altar of evergreens followed by two little flower girls, Miss Myrtle Frise, niece of the bride, and Miss Pearl Snyder bearing the ring in a beautiful flower basket. They were followed by Miss A. Methcull, of St. Ennals, the handsome bridesmaid, gowned in white silk, and carrying a bouquet of pink roses and smilax. Last came the sweet looking little bride, leaning on her father's arm, gowned in white Japanese silk over white tulle, and carrying a bouquet of white roses and smilax. The bride and groom then proceeded to the parlor, where congratulations and best wishes were extended to the newly wedded couple, after which the guests, numbering one hundred and forty, wandered their way to the spacious dining hall, where a sumptuous wedding repast was served in five courses by Mr. and Mrs. Culbert, of Zion, and Mr. and Mrs. J. Birchard, of Lindsay. The table was decorated with carnations and smilax. Toasts were proposed to the bride by Dr. Hall and were ably responded to by the groom. The toast to the bridesmaid was responded to by the groomsmen. The bride was showing the high esteem in which she was held by her many friends. The groom's gift to the bride was a handsome gold watch, to the bridesmaid a silk girdle and to each flower girl a silver bracelet. Mrs. Bear's travelling suit was a handsome costume of blue venetian cloth, trimmed with white broadcloth and gold braid, and a blouse of ivory white satin with hat to match. Mr. and Mrs. Bear take with them to their new home in Rochester the heartiest wishes of all.

FOREST HILL.
From Our Own Correspondent.
Last Thursday afternoon several of the ladies of Forest Hill congregated at Melinda's schoolhouse to bid farewell to their teacher, Miss Anderson, of Oakwood. The afternoon was spent rather pleasantly as the children had previously prepared several recitations and songs. At the close of the program the pupils presented the teacher with a handsome lady's companion of real ebony while Miss Lena McNabb read the following address: Miss Lavina Anderson, Dear Teacher, A number of your pupils and friends, desiring to show their appreciation of your many good qualities as a teacher have combined to procure as a memento of their affection and esteem this gift and testimonial. Although you came as a stranger into our midst we are glad to assure you that our highest wishes for your success have been realized and that you have the satisfaction of knowing that your management of the school has been highly successful and the progress of your pupils all that could be desired or expected. We indulge the hope that the many friendships you have formed in this section will be strong and enduring and that your memories of "Forest Hill" will form some of the pleasant reminiscences of your later life. We hope and believe that your future career in the noble profession you have chosen will be brilliant and progressive and that the high esteem in which you are held by all who know you will be a source of pride and honor to you. Again expressing our high esteem we wish you a long and pleasant life and a death triumphant in the Christian faith you have long adorned. Signed in behalf of school, Lena Mc-

Nabb, Gladys Cransberry, Christie Clark, Anson McMillan, Miss Anderson was taken entirely by surprise but made a very suitable reply in which she thanked her pupils and friends for the beautiful present they had presented her with remarking that it would always be to her a sweet souvenir of two years and a half spent very pleasantly among the people of Forest Hill. In closing she thanked the ladies for the many kindnesses shown her during her sojourn among them.

BROWN'S SCHOOL HOUSE.
From Our Own Correspondent.
Most of the farmers in this vicinity are busy haying. A good crop is reported. Some even refused to accept Dominion Day as a holiday while others wandered far and near in search of pleasure.

Among the many young ladies who are home for their holidays we notice Miss Mary McCorvie who has been teaching in Muskoka for some time, also her sister, Miss Laura, who attends the Collegiate in Lindsay. Miss Bertha Knight and Miss Lavina Anderson are also home, for the holidays. We miss Miss Thurston's ready smile, as she too is spending her vacation at her home in Lindsay.

Many of our lads and lassies attended the wedding of Miss Annie Kennedy, of Canington, on Wednesday last, and report a very enjoyable time and plenty of rice. One would be almost surprised at the latter after so many weddings in that village. This is truly leap year.

Miss Addie and Miss Lavina Anderson went to the city last Monday to spend a week or two visiting friends and relatives.

OAKWOOD.
From Our Own Correspondent.
Miss Eleanor L. Murray, graduate nurse of St. Luke's Hospital, Chicago, spent a week with her cousin, Mrs. E. Prouse, recently.

Mr. Fred Perrin spent the 1st of July in Lindsay.

Miss Beatrice Wood spent Sunday with relatives in Lindsay.

The hay crop is looking good. (Special to The Post.)

On Friday evening, June 24th, the Methodist congregation turned out and filled the church, to say farewell to their pastor, Rev. G. R. Clare, who is removing to Millbrook. After the musical programme, a duet by Mr. and Mrs. Clare was well rendered, and the ladies of the W.F.M.S. presented Mrs. Clare with an address, speaking highly of her sterling christian character and her sympathy in their work, and accompanied the address with two beautiful pieces of silver and china as a token of their esteem. The following address was then presented to the Rev. Mr. Clare, with a purse of $75: Dear pastor, Another turn of the itinerant wheel brings the inevitable change and break the bond of union between pastor and people, so that we are again obliged to say goodbye to our pastor, but on the eve of your departure a number of your friends thought some expression should be given of the people's high appreciation of your faithful and devoted services during the four years pastorate here. Both Oakwood and Graham's congregations wish to express to you their recognition of your very faithful pulpit ministrations, which have ever been an inspiration to us to lead a better life, and by your wise and sympathetic counsels as pastor many souls have been led to a knowledge of the truth as it is in Christ Jesus, while others longer on the way have been strengthened and kept steadfast. The sick have always had your close attention as a pastor, and wherever your services could help souls to a better life they have been given ungrudgingly. The well attended church services, and the splendid condition in which every department of the church work and finances of the circuit have been maintained also speak highly of your faithful service. Wishing you and your partner success in the highest sense of the word, in your new field of labor, we ask you to kindly accept this purse as a slight token of the esteem in which you are held by the friends of Oakwood and Graham's congregations, as well as a number who are not members of either of the congregations: Henry Sloggett, L. N. Small, Graham's, Malon Welch, J. D. Weldon, Oakwood. A feeling reply was made by Mr. Clare, thanking the friends for their many kindnesses during the four years' pastorate.

On Thursday evening, June 30th, the congregation again turned out to welcome their new pastor, the Rev. Thomas Brown, and his family. Rev. Thomas was in the basement and after adjourning upstairs, in the absence of Rev. W. G. Clarke chairman of the district, the singing, Mr. Stephen Washington was elected chairman. The choir rendered some fine selections, when short congratulatory speeches were given by Rev. A. F. Webster, Presbyterian minister; Rev. G. H. Shepherd, a former pastor, and the Rev. Frank W. Hardy, one of our own boys; also a welcome to the congregations on behalf of Oakwood by A. O. Hogg, and Graham's appointment by W. B. Graham. Mr. Brown made a very suitable reply and after a pleasant social evening the benediction was pronounced at 11 p.m.

KING'S WHARF.
(From Our Own Correspondent.)
One of those pleasing little events which go far toward breaking the monotony of life in the rural districts, took place on Wednesday, when Mr. and Mrs. Jas. G. Scott were "at home" to a bunch of their young friends. The party was given in honor of Miss Charlotte Dorgan, of Pokygeon, who has been visiting friends for some days in the neighborhood. A most enjoyable evening was spent in music, games, etc.

Mr. Harry Kelly, one of South Verulam's rising young farmers, attended the picnic held at Kingwood last week and was a little unfortunate. In driving a young lady home in the evening his mare laid down in the shafts and rendered them useless for the time being. A friend who drove along offered his rig to help him out, which was accepted. Better luck next time, Harry.

(Balance next week)

OMEEME.
From Our Own Correspondent.
The hay harvest has begun. Those who went to Lindsay, enjoyed themselves on 1st July.

W. A. Sharrow, president of the Victoria Old Boys' Association, spent Sabbath in the village and reports a big gathering and time for 10th Aug. The full uniformed Klippers' band has been engaged at big expense for the noted coming event at Lindsay.

A driving party from here visited the Downeyville church and beautiful gardens and lawns last week, which are most attractive for the size of the place. Rev. Esther Bretherton extended a most cordial reception.

Large quantities of all kinds of stock were shipped from here to-day. There will be a large crowd stay at home or the 12th, in order to attend the fair, in order to attend the fair, and will be warned against pickpockets, by those getting relieved of their purses at Peterboro during the procession on the 2nd.

A large chorus of trained voices from the different choirs will furnish excellent music at 3 o'clock for the L. L. M. at Presbyterian church, next Sabbath at 3 o'clock p.m. conducted by the Rev. Mr. Whitlaw.

REABORO.
(From Our Own Correspondent.)
The excursion held jointly by the C. O. F. Society and the Union Sunday School children to Port Perry last week was well attended, and a most enjoyable day was spent.

An enquirer would like to know if a pathmaster on a township beat, can use the proceeds of the sale of labour and apply it towards building sidewalks in a village not incorporated.

Our sick people are in most cases making steady progress towards convalescence. Mrs. Thos. Hawkins is now considered to be out of danger. Miss Florence Reid is so far recovered as to be able to drive out. Miss Carrie Moore is making steady progress.

Mrs. J. W. Reid is visiting at the home of her father-in-law, Mr. D. Reid.

Little Miss Fanny Nugent, who accompanied her father, the Rev. A. Nugent and wife to India some two years ago, has returned, and is staying with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. D. Reid.

Mr. A. Holmes has moved to our village and is getting comfortably located.

Mr. Thos. McMann has returned from Cold Springs, where he had been for the past few months, and may stay at home for the summer.

THE MILITIA BILL PARADES—SPEECHES

Compensation for Injuries at Rifle Ranges.

MATTER IS TO BE CONSIDERED

The Calling Out of the Militia to Suppress Riots—Permanent Corps to Have First Call For This Work—Sir Frederick Borden Exposes the Fallacies of Arguments of Messrs. Gourley and Maclean.

Ottawa, July 13.—The House practically completed its deliberations on the militia bill yesterday, only a couple of clauses standing for further consideration. This being the 12th of July, there were a number of vacancies in the active forces on the Opposition side, and the discussion was practically confined to members having military experience or connection.

A Compensation Clause.
The clause which caused most discussion yesterday was an amendment by Mr. Durrance, providing for compensation by the Government for accidental bullet wounds arising from practice on rifle ranges. Just what ranges this should apply to formed the stumbling-block which led to the point being left over. An important discussion took place on the calling out of the militia to suppress riots. An amendment was inserted providing that permanent forces shall have precedence in this work, and that the pay of the men on active duty of this kind shall be $1 a day.

Service Outside the Dominion.
Mr. Gourley objected to clause 77, which provides that any part of the militia may be placed "in active service anywhere in Canada and also beyond Canada for the defence thereof at any time when it appears advisable so to do by reason of emergency." He contended that there was a serious change in policy involved in the clause which differed from the old act, in which the restriction "for the defence thereof" was not found. He contended that the interests of the Empire might demand that the Canadian militia be sent to the defence of the Empire in distant parts, and demanded that the old clause be retained.

Mr. W. F. Maclean contended that we could not reasonably expect the Imperial army to come to the defence of Canada if our contribution to the defence of the Empire was to be limited to volunteers.

Fallacies of Gourley and Maclean.
Sir Frederick Borden pointed out the fallacy of the arguments of Messrs. Gourley and Maclean. The very essence of the militia system was that the men comprising it were for the defence of the country, and even in Great Britain the militia could not be compelled to serve beyond the British Isles. There had been no change in policy at all. If the former militia acts and the record of the discussion when these measures were passed were consulted it would be found that the Canadian militia was enrolled only for home service and in some of the old acts the fact that they were organized for the defence of Canada only was much more clearly laid down than in the bill before the House, and also the principle that they could not be compelled to serve beyond the confines of the Dominion.

Mr. Gourley emphasized his contention that such a clause should not be allowed in any statute of the Dominion.

Not a Precedent.
Sir Frederick Borden laid on the table of the House the papers relating to the retirement of Lieut.-Colonel Gregory of St. Catharines. In doing so he said he did not wish it to be considered as a precedent, as the list contained some papers of a confidential nature.

Grand Trunk Arbitration.
Hon. Mr. Fitzpatrick introduced a bill respecting an arbitration between His Majesty and the Grand Trunk Railway Company of Canada. The bill, he explained, was designed to widen the powers of the arbitrators to give them power to examine witnesses under oath and to order the production of papers in settling the dispute between the company in connection with traffic arrangements over the Intercolonial between Riviere du Loup and Point Levis.

35 Years the Limit.
Wilkes-Barre, Pa., July 12.—No man over 35 years applying for work on the Delaware and Hudson Railroad will be accepted in the future. The officials say that such a man is too old to learn railroad work, and not active and vigorous enough for the hard work required.

Worried He Took His Own Life.
Berlin, July 13.—Michael Jehle, aged 75, committed suicide shortly after 5 p.m. yesterday by slashing himself in the body with a butcher knife at his late residence. He was removed to the Berlin and Waterloo Hospital, where he died at 6 p.m. Deceased recently sold his property and worried until he became so worked up that he took his life.

Missing Since Sunday.
Tecumseh, July 13.—James Mero, one of the oldest and most highly respected residents of this town, disappeared Sunday from his farm and has not been heard of since. He is 70 years of age. For some time he has shown signs of mental depression. Mr. Mero is quite wealthy.

Lives to Be 100.

Enthusiastic Orange Celebration Everywhere.

12TH OF JULY IN ONTARIO

8,500 in Line at Toronto—8,000 People Heard the Speeches at Exhibition Park—3,000 Witness the Laying of the Corner Stone of a New Orange Hall at Battersae—Rain Everywhere.

Toronto, July 13.—The "Glorious Twelfth" was ushered in by a violent thunderstorm early yesterday morning, during which rain fell in torrents and not till 11.30 did the rain cease and the weather begin to look cheerful. The Observatory official said at noon that 1.03 inches of rain fell during the downpour, which was considered unusually heavy. He added that thunderstorms were general throughout Western Ontario, and accompanied a low area which moved across the lower lakes from the south.

Celebrated the 12th.
But the County Orange Lodge of Toronto and Orangemen from Buffalo, Hamilton, Humber Bay and Mimico celebrated the glorious victory of William III., the Prince of Orange, in 1690, at the battle of the Boyne, all the same. The rain had just about ceased when the procession moved off just about 12 o'clock. The parade was undoubtedly the finest ever held on the Twelfth in Toronto. Everywhere the Orangemen were greeted with cheers. It is estimated that about 3,500 were in line. The march culminated at the Exhibition grounds, where there were 8,000 people assembled to hear the speeches. County Master Fred Dane presided, and speeches were made by Mayor Urquhart, Grand County Master Harper of Hamilton, R. W. Master John McMillan, Rev. E. C. Laker, chaplain of Toronto East District, and Grand Treasurer E. F. Clarke, M.P. After the speeches a program of sports was successfully run through.

Addresses were delivered by Mayor William Munro, various clergymen of the town, and William Williams.

Rain Spoiled It.
Ayr, July 13.—A heavy downpour of rain, continued at intervals all day, disorganized to a great extent the celebration of the glorious Twelfth, held here yesterday. Orangemen from Ottawa, Billings' Bridge and New Edinburgh, assembled here. A program of speeches and sports had been arranged in the McLachlin Grove. But for the rain a pleasant day would have been spent. At Braeside, a village some three miles from here, a district celebration was held. The lumber mills there and here being closed to allow the employees to participate.

Celebration at Tara.
Tara, July 13.—The Twelfth of July celebration held here yesterday was not up to previous years in point of numbers, on account of unsatisfactory railway arrangements. Tells a Wonderful Story of the Loss of 30,000 Japanese.

BRITISH STEAMERS STOPPED

Action of Russian Volunteer Vessel in the Red Sea—Two Great Armies on the Heights Ready to Fly at One Another's Throat—Long Before Kurapatkin Will Be Able to Take Offensive.

St. Petersburg, July 13.—A despatch from a Russian correspondent at Mukden, dated July 12, says: "According to intelligence received here, the Japanese last night attacked positions near Port Arthur and were repulsed with enormous losses, not less than thirty thousand, it is said, being killed and wounded by our mines."

London, July 13.—The Morning Post's Shanghai correspondent says that the Japanese casualties by land at Port Arthur Sunday night are reported to have been 28,000, but none of the other special war correspondents mention a disaster at Port Arthur.

British Steamer Stopped.
Perim, Straits of Babelmandeb, July 13.—The British steamer Mopla, from the Clyde for Shanghai, which arrived here last night, reports that she and the British steamer Crewe Hall, from the Clyde for Kurrachee, were stopped on June 11 in the Red Sea, south of Jeddah, by the Russian volunteer fleet steamer St. Petersburg, which carried eight guns and a large crew.

Two Armies Facing Each Other.
Headquarters of General Count Keller, Niutaiy, eleven miles west of Liandiansian, July 13.—The opposing armies are grimly facing each other on the heights across the Liank River, ready to engage in a death grapple. The Liank crosses the main Liayang-Pengwangcheng road, twenty-eight miles east of Liayang, flows north into the Taitse River, which passes through Liayang and empties into the Lian River.

The correspondent of the Associated Press, who arrived here after a thirty-five mile ride from Sialindui, saw long lines of infantry and transport trains winding through the mountain. At Liandiansian, a lookout stationed in a treepoint pointed the way to Gen. Keller's headquarters, near Niutaiy. There the Russian eastern army was found, hidden in the hills.

The whole army is anxious to fight. Gen. Kuroki, whose headquarters are at Vandiapuze, and whose men are entrenched on the other side of the river. The burning question is who will be the first to cross the dread valley of the Liank River.

Fighting Its Way Northward.
Tokio, July 13.—The Japanese Takushan army is northwards from Siyen. It fought a series of small battles with the Russians on July 9 and 10. The army is divided into two columns, which advanced against the Russians.

Shrouded in Mystery.
St. Petersburg, July 13.—The Japanese advance to Tachekio is shrouded in mystery.

Kurapatkin in Bad Way.
St. Petersburg, July 13.—Colonel Nivitsky of the general staff, in an interview yesterday, said: "The result of the loss of Kaichow will probably be the evacuation of Newchwang. General Kurapatkin's position is more difficult than that which confronted Lord Roberts in South Africa. It is as if Lord Roberts received his supplies by rail via Constantinople, Cairo and Central Africa. It will be a long time before General Kurapatkin will have enough supplies and men to assume the offensive. In the meanwhile he will have to fight rear-guard actions, perhaps giving up important positions like Newchwang, which are of vastly more consequence than Kaichow."

Pleaded Guilty.
St. Catharines, July 13.—Henry Seaver pleaded guilty to stealing $90 from his brother-in-law, Jacob Honsberger of Jordan, and was sent to the Central for three months by Judge Carman. Sevenpiper worked as a farm hand for Honsberger and stole the money from a drawer in the house.

Premier Much Better.
Toronto, July 13.—The Hon. J. R. Stratton had a letter from the Premier yesterday, stating that he was feeling very well, and that he expected to return to Toronto in the first week of August.

Hutton Leaves in September.
London, July 13.—(C.A.P.)—Brigadier-General H. Finn, commanding the forces in New South Wales, has been appointed first Inspector-General on the retirement of General Hutton in September.

German Fleet on a Visit.
Plymouth, Eng., July 11.—The most powerful German fleet ever seen in a British port steamed into the naval base yesterday on a visit of courtesy. The eight battleships and seven cruisers were received with artillery salutes, and the British and German admirals exchanged visits.

Victim of Cuban War.
Madrid, July 11.—Gen. Toral, who commanded the Spanish garrison at Santiago when that place surrendered to the United States forces, died yesterday in an insane asylum near here. The general brooded over his capitulation until he became incurably demented.

The New York Tribune is greatly impressed by the crop reports of the Canadian Northwest, and in the following glowing words tells its readers what this great country will yield. It says:

"Canada's wheat crop this year promises to exceed that of 1903 by about 30,000,000 bushels. This is a big increase, and, with no abatement likely in succeeding years, it is easy to see what a formidable wheat-producing and exporting competitor the great Canadian Northwest has become and is becoming. It could now, if need were, feed the mother country all by itself, leaving the United States out of the question, though it is not likely to be drawn on to that exclusive extent. But the territory stands for one of the greatest grain-producing in the whole story of the world, old or new, its edges hardly scratched yet, and it will have its share in determining the course of the empire and development as the years and centuries go on, till its background of production is old as Egypt's and its horn of abundance continuing regularly."

A DANGER TO FREE INSTITUTIONS.

The confession of one of the St. Louis "boodlers" has revived public interest in one of the greatest schemes of systematic corruption ever disclosed, says The Toronto Globe. It has been made by a man already convicted on one charge and still to be tried on several others. He became a member of the House of Delegates in 1897, and at once became a member of a combine of that body, which was an organization composed of nineteen delegates, for the purpose of selling legislation. The first bill that came up after he had become a member was the Suburban Loop bill. The combine got $20,000 for their votes in that bill; on the Union Avenue bill they got $18,000, on the Central Traction bill they got $75,000; on the Third Street line bill $15,000; on the lighting bill $47,500, and on the suburban bill they were to get $75,000 which is now in the safe deposit box in the Lincoln Trust Company, having been placed there with the agreement that it should be turned over to the members when the bill had been passed. While there are some of the largest bribes secured, there were innumerable others ranging from $10,000 for switching bills to a few hundred dollars for some minor privilege. The bribe prices were fixed in meetings of the combine. In the confession he makes the positive statement that there is hardly a corporation in the City of St. Louis of $250,000 and over in capitalization that has not either been held up for bribe money or bought official action from the combine in the House of Delegates.

Such revelations as these betray an alarming condition in public affairs. That such things are common or even frequent is not at all probable, but under existing conditions they are at all times possible. The chief source of corruption seems to have been the granting of franchises, and that is certainly the greatest danger to municipal politics. We have not yet reached a condition of homogeneous political development and public spirit in which electors can be depended on to select men capable of discharging the great trust involved in the leasing of public franchises. The ability of the people to operate public services by elected representatives has been frequently questioned, and seriously questioned; but the ability of the people to lease public franchises is even more doubtful, although it has not been so frequently questioned. Leasing certainly involves far more temptations than municipal operation, and the elected representatives are best by much stronger temptations and much more crafty schemes. Under municipal operation there is certain to be a few unnecessary employees, maintained. This obvious waste, though insignificant, is apt to fill some people with alarm and dismay, while the infinitely greater losses involved in the leasing of franchises are ignored. Recent experiences in Toronto have shown that the existence of a franchise-holding corporation is a perpetual source of municipal corruption. St. Louis has witnessed the culmination of schemes which we were fortunately able to checkmate. The danger of such corporations can scarcely be over-estimated. That they can be installed by men elected for a year, and with no political or public responsibility, shows the existence of dangerous possibilities in our municipal system.

EDITORIAL NOTES

Bob. Independent: This Dunderdall affair is becoming nauseating. He imagined he was here to run this country, according to his Downing Street instructions, quite regardless of the opinions of the people. Canada intends running its affairs in its own way. That is just the difference. Naturally Dunderdall was dismissed. That settles and closes the affair. Now ring off. There is too much business of importance to attend to at present. Bait, for instance. The bass are biting freely, and worms must be got. Dunderdall and militarism be changed. The crying need of this country is a gasoline motor that will move a boat without danger of stricture.

Since January 1 there have been by-elections in ten constituencies in Great Britain, and the Liberals have carried nine of them. It's a bad outlook for Balfour.

Kourapatkin is said to have a plan matured for the invasion of British India. Just at present, however, he appears to have his hands full in Manchuria, where he also boasts a plan.

The Utica Press says fairness compels the admission that Canada is getting the most desirable of the immigrants, the men who settle on the land and add to the agricultural productivity of the country.

It is a curious fact that Lord Dunderdall's grandfather, while still Lord Cochrane, was dismissed from the British navy for a breach of discipline, being subsequently restored by his old friend, King William IV.

The paid admissions at the St. Louis Exposition in the seventh week were 325,000. The paid admissions for the corresponding week of the Chicago Columbian Exposition were 661,000. St. Louis must get a gait on or she will be distanced.

The crown estate of Russia consists of more than a million square miles of land, gold and silver mines, etc., the czar's revenue being estimated at $12,000,000. The imperial family is said to own in the aggregate 19,590,835 acres of the soil of Russia.

The Orange Sentinel, in an article referring to the Twelfth, says: "From no Orange platform will any word offensive to Roman Catholics be uttered. We respect their faith, and desire to preserve for them the right to worship God as they deem best." This world is growing wiser.

Gen. Hutton in his annual report recently published declares imperial officers are essential, the Australians being of local political pressure. The Australian press resent Gen. Hutton's report and approve of Sir Wilfrid Laurier's attitude in connection with the Dunderdall incident in Canada.

It is estimated that the U. S. war for the subjugation of the Philippines has cost $700,000,000, and with pensions will reach $1,000,000,000. The U. S. exports to the Philippines in 1902 amounted to $5,361,967, and in 1903, to $4,028,677. It consisted mainly of supplies for the soldiers. The transactions do not appear to be highly profitable.

Winnipeg Free Press: According to a cable dispatch, the writer of a letter published in the British Army and Navy Gazette, says: "Probably it would surprise many civilians to learn that a large majority of the British officers, would, if pressed, indignantly deny they were servants of the Government. 'We are soldiers of the King,' they would say, 'and to no one else.'"

Any British officers who may be thus lamentably lacking in knowledge of the King's position in the British system of government and of their own standing, should read the lesson which Lord Salisbury gave General Wolseley in regard to the absolute subjection of the military power to the civil. As regards the subjection of the military power in this country to the civil, there can be no misconception possible hereafter on either side of the Atlantic.

One of the best evidences of the prosperity of the country is the scarcity of houses all over the Dominion and the activity in the building trades. There is not a city or town in Ontario at least, that we know of, but is suffering from a house famine. Winnipeg, however, seems to lead in the matter of building operations. That that city is growing fast is seen by the value of building permits issued. The first six months of this year show a total of $6,072,450, as against a total of $2,782,300, for the first six months of last year, and $1,386,550 for the six months of the year before. This enormous increase makes it look as if another boom had struck the prairie city.

The Republican Convention platform declares that "Under the Dingley tariff labor has been fully employed, wages have risen, and all industries have revived and prospered." A United States exchange points out that there are now in that country of "adequate protection" hundreds of thousands of empty dinner pails, a large number of half-filled dinner pails, and a rapidly shrinking population of full dinner pails, and it continues:

Shrinkage in trade the past year has thrown out of employment more than 605,000 men. There are at the present time seeking work more than 120,000 railroad employees, 80,000 New England mill operatives, 75,000 packing house employees, 140,000 iron and steel workers, 60,000 coal miners and 180,000 workers in other trades and industries. This vast army of the unemployed may well greet with derision that sentence in a plank of the Republican platform.

Notwithstanding all that is done by boards of health and charitably inclined persons, the death rate among small children is very high during the hot weather of the summer months in large cities. There is not probably one case of bowel complaint in a hundred, however, that could not be cured by the timely use of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. Mr. Frank Riggs, of Franklinville, N. Y., in speaking of this remedy said: "I have found it expedient to have a supply of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy on hand. It has been a family safeguard and while especially beneficial to children, it is equally good in adult cases. I recommend it cheerfully and without reservation." For sale by all druggists.

LINDSAY, FRIDAY, JULY 15.

TWO EMINENT TORY LOYALISTS.

In the debate in the House of Commons on the Dundonald affair, says the Winnipeg Free Press, two gentlemen who distinguished themselves on the Conservative side were Lieut. Col. Hughes and Mr. Sproule; the latter by an offensive interruption while Sir Wilfrid Laurier was speaking, the former by a Lombardic speech in which he made loud professions of his loyalty, flouting it as a superior article of the kind. In view of the figure cut by these two gentlemen as staunch upholders of the King and loyally indignant resisters of what they and their friends represented as a slight upon a British officer, it is interesting to recall some former utterances of theirs.

On June 10 of last year when Dr. Sproule, as Grand Master, delivered his annual address at the meeting of the Orange Grand Lodge, which was held here in Winnipeg, he thought it fitting to animadvert upon the visit made shortly before upon Leo XIII. at Rome by King Edward, as follows: "While we, as Orangemen—loyal supporters of the Crown—should be very chary about criticizing the actions or conduct of our ruler, it seems to me, as head of this great Order in Canada, instituted for the support and maintenance of the Protestant religion, that I would be remiss in my duty did I not at this time and place express my regret at the recent visit of King Edward to the Pope. We were all delighted at his cordial reception by the rulers of the various countries which he visited, thus showing the friendly feeling that at present happily exists between Great Britain and other nations; still I cannot see why His Majesty should desire to visit His Holiness the Pope, who is head of the church, which believes in his infallibility and which has, since time immemorial, been the enemy of feeling that we, as Protestants, hold so dear. The protest against this visit was to the King by the Protestant Association of England has my commendation, because the history of the past has left behind it a lingering suspicion that such visits and secret conferences may be the forerunner of something not in the interest of the sacred rights we hold."

This censure of His Majesty, this expression of "suspicion" as to the possible notorious purport of His Majesty's secret conference with the Pope, shows that Dr. Sproule's loyalty is not of the kind that believes the King can do no wrong. And just as Dr. Sproule does not stick at criticizing the King, Lieut.-Col. Hughes has been known to criticize the King's officers. In the famous letter to Gen. Hutton, then the General Officer Commanding in Canada, in which Lieut.-Col. Hughes emptied the vials of his wrath upon Gen. Hutton's head, he wrote:

"I do not profess to be skillful in leading expeditions to the moon. History shows that Britain has had many experts at such, and not so many skilled or capable of leading men against fighting men."

In the same letter Lieut.-Col. Hughes—the same Lieut.-Col. Hughes whom Lord Dundonald made the amazing choice of as his champion in Parliament against the Government—had something to say about the British administration of military affairs. General Hutton had said something in a very short note to the bombastic Hughes about self-effacement and modesty being distinguished characteristics of great soldiers; and the wrathful Lieut.-Col. Hughes wrote in reply:

"What the Horse Guards and the War Office do not know about intrigues and influence and the absence of self-effacement in one's friends, if not directly in one's self, cannot be learned from the most noted body for such in the world, the Methodist conference committees, or any similar appointing bodies."

Why should church appointing bodies, and especially Methodist Conference committees, be thus held up to obloquy as being bodies by which intrigue and the absence of self-effacement are distinguishing characteristics? Continuing, Lieut.-Col. Hughes made the following remarks in that letter of his to Gen. Hutton:

"You say I would be incapable to serve alongside British regulars. Why? Could not a regiment of regulars quickly enough to the Boers? History shows that the Yankees, whom Canadians could always defeat, though with great odds against them, repeatedly dressed and combed down British troops by British officers; while the old plucks of poor farmers walloped the British, though the odds were often against them."

It would be interesting to have the King's opinion of the above utterances of Dr. Sproule and Lieut.-Col. Hughes; and also his opinion of these two gentlemen as instructors of Sir Wilfrid Laurier in loyalty to the British Crown and British institutions.

EDITORIAL NOTES

Toronto Telegram: Japan came through the recent naval action off Port Arthur with total casualties of one cabin boy, who sprained his jaw yawning during the crisis of the Russian attack.

Dr. Lucas Championniere, the distinguished Paris surgeon, believes that appendicitis is an after effect of grip. He advises sufferers from grip to adopt a vegetable diet and a system of intestinal sterilization with occasional purges as a prophylactic treatment.

The Montreal Recorder has fined a milk dealer $8 or fifteen days for driving without a license; $20 or one month for selling milk without a license; and $40 or two months for keeping milk in dirty cans. That sort of thing should educate to cleanliness and regard for the law.

Weekly Sun: The Sun desires to extend its most sincere congratulations to Sir William Mulock on his outspoken denunciation of militarism at the Fielding banquet Monday night. A few more such vigorous speeches as that would drown the noisy clamor of monomaniacs who are seeking to turn our people from the cultivation of the fields to the manning of a line of frontier fortresses.

Montreal Herald: It is not as a general rule, worth while taking Col. Sam Hughes seriously, but his repeated attacks on the Canadian Association Press are marked by so much ignorance of the facts that it might be a mistake to let them pass unchallenged. Col. Hughes is credited with intimating to the House that the Association is controlled in the interests of the Government. Nothing could be further from the truth. The Association is managed by a group of newspaper men representing all shades of political opinion, and their correspondents in England are under no instructions other than to send the news, no matter what its bearing on the fortunes of Canadian public men or parties. The Association could not exist a day under any other conditions. The cable dispatches of the past few weeks have anything but borne out Col. Hughes' theory that the Association is used to "toss for Laurier & Company." The references in English papers to the Dundonald incident, uncomplimentary to the Government, have been given quite as freely as those that have been favorable.

Power of Horses, Men and Elephants.

Interesting tests were made recently in the Madison Square Gardens, New York, to determine the respective pulling power of horses, men and elephants. Two horses, weighing one thousand, six hundred pounds each, together pulled three thousand seven hundred and fifty pounds, or five hundred pounds more than their combined weight. One elephant, weighing twelve thousand pounds, pulled eight thousand seven hundred and fifty pounds, or three thousand two hundred and fifty pounds less than his weight. Fifty men, aggregating about seven thousand five hundred pounds in weight, pulled eight thousand seven hundred and fifty pounds or just as much as the single elephant. But, like the horses, they pulled more than their own weight. One hundred men pulled twelve thousand pounds.

Only Farmer.

The Dundonald incident has given the conservative leaders a chance to sneer at Mr. Fisher as a mere farmer and ask how dare he pretend to an opinion in opposition to Lord Dundonald, an officer of the British army.

This is not the first time in history, however, that the plain farmer has "put the run" on the dashing cavalier. Farmers have clear heads and sturdy limbs; they have even been the men who have resisted the insolence of those who consider themselves, politically and socially, better than their neighbors. Nor is it safe to sneer at Mr. Fisher. He has a record of public service that any public man might be proud of. As the Montreal Witness remarks: "Meaning it should be remembered that if Lord Dundonald is an unusually brilliant soldier, and if he has served Canada as no one ever did in the administration of his late office, Mr. Fisher is, for his part, the best Minister of Agriculture we ever had, and has served Canada in what is by far her largest and most intimate interest. It will never be possible to measure the debt of gratitude the country owes Mr. Fisher for the vigor, ability and devotion which he has shown in increasing the production and wealth of his country."

COMMUNICATIONS

AN EXPLANATION. (To the Editor of the Post.)

Dear Sir,—Considerable indignation was created among the officers of the 45th Regiment by an article which appeared in last week's issue of The Post referring to Major Staples. No doubt the motive that prompted the reporter was not an evil one, but was of the far-fetched quality and has been the source of a good deal of worry to our Major, who is beloved by both officers and men.

The writer has had connection with Major Staples for many years, and can vouch that he is not guilty of any practices that might be inferred by evil minds from the report you received. This can be substantiated by every officer in the regiment. Major Staples is a hard working, efficient officer, and his chief aim is to bring the men up to a high standard in military manoeuvres, and especially keep order in camp both by authority and example.

The writer, both in justice to Major Staples and for the honor of the regiment, feels constrained to set any false impressions that may have arisen from the ill-judged article that was sent to you for publication.—Yours, etc.,

Then the Grocer Smiled.

A woman walked into an Ayrshire village shop lately in an Ayrshire village with her sleeves turned up and a queer look in her eyes. With a sniff she banged a piece of yellow substance on the counter, and said:

"This is the saps that dis the washin' o' itself; the saps that makes every washin' day a kin' o' glorified feast; the saps that gets at the firn' white as snow an' as sweet as a hazel nut, and lets the delighted housewife play wi' the weans; an' here I've been scrubbin' three mortal hours wi' that tump an' got me mair lather out o' it than I could get out o' a brick."

The grocer calmly remarked: "I beg your pardon, but that isn't soap. Your little boy was here yesterday for half a pound of both cheese and soap; that's the cheese!"

The cheese? exclaimed the woman; then that accounts for the other thing."

"What other thing?"

Newspapers and Magazines

In addition to entertaining fiction for leisure hours, the August Debutante contains something for each of the practical needs of woman. In dress, the latest styles are depicted, with the aid of handsome colored plates and drawing in black and white, and the movements in fashions described. The kitchen, the table, the garden, the nursery, besides the lighter interests of woman, such as her reading, her clubs and other amusements, are treated from various standpoints. The literary features of the number are of the highest order.

A timely article by Edward Emerson, Jr., on "The Attitude of the Japanese Women in the War" gives some very interesting information, and is illustrated with exclusive portraits of women who are prominent in the patriotic associations of Japan. Bodily symmetry is the subject of the "Beauty" paper. In addition there is a most entertaining collection of stories, and pastimes for children.

Japanese Women and the War.

So great is the enthusiasm of the Japanese in the war, says The Debutante for August, that the women of every class, from the Empress to the lowliest, are giving not only of their wealth and incomes but of their personal efforts to make easier the lot of the soldier in the field. Everyone is fired with the ambition to have a part in the success of Japanese arms, and as a result, many associations have sprung into existence with the purpose of providing for the soldiers and their families. One of the greatest of these is The Ladies' Nursing Association, a self-supporting auxiliary of the Red Cross Society. It numbers among its membership the best aristocracy of the Empire, and these women are to found daily at work in the bandage room or hospital. The Ladies' Patriotic League has for its aim especially the care of the soldiers and their families. It has a membership of 60,000, and includes women from all all ranks. The Ladies' Educational Society, also a mammoth organization, has extended its aims to cover the needs of the war, and does "ineal" good in all the girls' schools the pupils are helping in some way, knitting socks for the soldiers or making caps or other articles for the soldiers. The humblest are doing something. It is said that the servant girls are dispensing with the services of the hairdresser, a great deprivation to them, and others of the poor are doing without fish with their every other day. Millions of these people are miserably poor, but they find a way to give or to do something for the common cause.

THE ORANGE LILLIES

Great Gathering in Peterboro in Honor of the 12th.

RAILWAYS AND STEAMERS CARRIED NEARLY 10,000 PEOPLE.

Lindsay Brethren Turned out Well and Earned the Credit of Being One of the Finest Visiting Organizations.

Our sister town of Peterboro was invaded by a host of Orangemen on Tuesday, and they field undisputed and peaceable possession of the burg until evening. It was a great rally of the faithful, in honor of King William of glorious memory, and lodges marched, bands played, and the drummers and fifers engaged in a friendly yet earnest rivalry that knew no intermission except when the performers adjourned for refreshments.

Notwithstanding the heavy down-pour of rain in the morning the Lindsay brethren and friends were not dismayed or discouraged, but determined to go to Peterboro as planned. Their pluck met reward, as the weather cleared about 11 o'clock and the balance of the day was very pleasant.

Railway Notes.

The Grand Trunk have added to their principal trains a staff of train porters, who will be located in the first-class coaches to look after the welfare of passengers in these cars. This new system has been installed on the "International Limited" for the West, and the fast train between Toronto and Montreal. The system has also been established upon the fast trains between Toronto, London and Detroit, Niagara Falls and Port Huron, and Montreal and Chicago.

After Many Years.

Mr. John Twomey, who some forty years ago, left here to seek his fortune in the West, arrived in town last week, and will make an extended visit with his sister, Mrs. P. Murphy, of Melbourne, as well as a host of friends throughout the country. He has been living in Chicago during the past fourteen years, and is now going to take a prolonged holiday. He is very much impressed with the fine appearance of our town, and remarked that whilst he never expected to see it catch up to Chicago in numbers, yet he considered the strides made as being quite satisfactory.

Not a Protestant Horse.

A Twelfth of July runaway took place Tuesday morning. A band of Orangemen, with fife and drum, scared a horse driven by Mr. Thos. Hickey, of the Deering agency. The horse made a wild dash down Kent-st., and was caught after having fallen down two or three times on the sidewalk. Mr. Hickey was thrown out, but not severely hurt.

Same Everywhere.

A military officer went down town with his little daughter one morning. Before long the little lady found herself unable to keep up with her father's swinging stride, and she was obliged to call a halt.

"Please pa," she said, "I would like you not to walk so fast, for I can't keep up with you. Can't you walk nice and slow like a policeman?"

A Runaway.

A horse owned by Mr. Hickson, a farmer residing south of the town, made a quick start for freedom this morning. The horse was standing alongside the Creamery platform, and Mr. Hickson had his reins in one hand and a can of cream in the other, when the animal took fright, and ran down Babcock's lane, the driver being thrown against the fence. The horse ran straight out of the lane across William-st., over the sidewalk on to Dr. Burrow's lawn, coming in contact with trees and tin posts. The contents of the cream can, which was in the buggy at the time, was splattered over the road. The buggy escaped serious damage.

The Death Dealing Canoe.

Toronto Telegram: Abolish the canoe and Canada might have a war every five years and then lose fewer young men than the great number that must go down to death in ten years of summer holidays.

It is pitiful the mothers who weep the fith as who mourn and the homes that are darkened simply because young people will take chances that they have no business to take.

Death may part the young man from his canoe. Good advice cannot be given. "Ephraim is joined to his idols," and the victims of the canoe habit will neither keep out of canoes nor be careful while they are in canoes.

An Expert's Opinion.

An advertising periodical, which has no more interest in one form of ad-vertising than in another, makes these statements to its public: "Every dollar spent would buy a dollar's worth of advertising. More for the money spent may be obtained in the best daily newspapers than in any other way." "Those who rely on the lungs of the great daily news-papers to do the 'hollering' for their goods have nothing but commenda-tion for the service rendered."

Lessons Taught by Calamities.

(Louisville Courier Journal.)

Russia, which is the model high-tariff country in the world, has, as one of the effects of the war, declared all the ports of Eastern Siberia open to the commerce of all countries free of duty. This is similar to the policy of the protectionists of this country who whenever a city is swept with a fire suspends the tariff for the admission of articles necessary for its construction. It seems to require such cir-cumstances to bring nations to their senses.

Sturdy Orangemen All.

Sergt.-Major Martin, town, and his brother-in-law, Mr. Richard Warren, of South Verulam had each five sons in the Orange parade Tuesday. More loyal supporters of the princi-ples for which King William fought and conquered are not to be found in the Province, yet without, they would do a good turn for a Roman Catholic fellow citizen as readily as for a Pro-Testant. Can any other portion of this County turn out twelve good Orangemen members of one family—on July 12th? This family has the honor to be the family of the Pen-bor-thy Inspector Co., Windsor. The sen-tences to run concurrently.

OMEMEE.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

We regret to hear of the death of the youngest daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Rogers. Great sympathy is felt for the bereaved parents on the loss of their sweet little girl. The funeral was largely attended.

There has not been such a sweet 12th of July for 40 years.

There were about 250 citizens from here who attended the celebration at Peterboro. This is quite short of previous years' turnouts.

Thos. Stephenson sr., is confined to the house and his recovery is doubt-ful, owing to his advanced age of 83 years.

There was a large turnout on Sun-day last at the Presbyterian church. The excellent music rendered by the union choir was one of the pleasing features.

Those who went to witness the opening of the Peterboro lift took on Saturday last, were delightfully en-tertained and interested notwith-standing the downpour of the rain.

There will be a large turnout of people from this section to the cir-cus at Lindsay, July 15th, owing to the good satisfaction received at Peterboro, but the followers or hang-ars on after this show will be watch-ful—especially the safety of their purses.

Mr. Jardine, principal of our High School, is visiting at Lindsay combin-ing business with pleasure.

MANILLA.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

The strawberry festival held on Wednesday evening, July 6th, at the residence of Mr. Geo. Smith, under the auspices of the Methodist Sunday School, notwithstanding the heavy downpour of rain during the fore-noon, was a most unqualified success from every point of view. The pretty grounds were tastefully decorated and many Chinese lanterns lent charms to the scene. The tables, which were daintily spread with the most appetizing delicacies in fruit, ice cream, confectionery, etc., were well patronized. A short programme was given by the children and the Westville silver band rendered many choice selections during the evening, which were most gratifying and well received. All seemed pleased with the entertainment.

Mr. A. McLean, of Marshville, vis-ited his mother, Mrs. Mary McLean, this week.

Mr. Hugh Carmichael, of Port Perry, spent Monday in our village.

Miss Mary McIntyre, of Detroit, is visiting her many friends at present.

Mr. W. H. Parks was in Lindsay on Saturday of last week.

Miss Eva Pearce is home for her vacation.

Miss Gandy, of Port Perry, is the guest of Miss Florence Gibson for a few days.

Mrs. D. King, Mrs. A. McDonald and Miss Anna McDonald, spent a few days in Peterboro recently.

Mr. T. Short, Charlie McNair, R. Coburn and W. Barry spent the 12th of July in Peterboro.

VICTORIA CO. CHEESE BOARD.

BUYER FITZGERALD CLEARED THE BOARD MONDAY MORNING.

2,240 Boxes Offered By Fifteen Factories Sold at 7 5-8c

The members of Victoria County Cheese Board and salesmen assembled last Monday at 10 sharp. They completed their business in twenty minutes, and what's more, without a dispute. They all seemed in the best of humor. Before the meeting had got nicely started, Mr. Staples, of Red Rock, moved that the Board meet at 9:30 in future, for various reasons. The motion was carried.

The following factories boarded the number of cheese set opposite:

Star	140
Cameron	140
Dunsford	173
Mariposa	125
Cambridge	100
Onemone	100
North Verulam	150
North Ops.	100
Pine Grove	75
Redboro	161
Bobcaygeon	225
Maple Leaf	180
Palatine	152
Red Rock	265
North Harvey	84
Total	2,240

Mr. Whitton started the bidding at 7 1-2, but Mr. Fitzgerald went a trifle higher, and at 7 5-8 cleared the Board, with the exception of Onemone, which sold to Mr. Cook at the same figure.

The Board then adjourned to meet again at the end of two weeks' time.

The Glorious Twelfth.

The morning's heavy downpour of rain put a damper on the enthusiasm of the many members of the fair sex who had planned to go to Peterboro and elsewhere to witness the celebration of the Glorious Twelfth. The men faced the elements, however, and the ladies turned out strong, leaving for Peterboro by special train at 10:50. The Orangemen of Fenelon Falls and the north country celebrated the day at Kinnocant, while the Dunsford brethren and their friends went to Buckhorn per Str Kenosha.

"MEMORIES OF OXFORD."

LECTURE BY E. J. KYLIE, B. A., AT COLLEGIATE GLOSING.

"Strange Enchantments of the Past, And Memories of the Days of Old."

Below we present to our readers a synopsis of the interesting lecture delivered by Mr. E. J. KYLIE, B.A., late of Oxford, at the closing exercises of Lindsay Collegiate Institute on Thursday night of last week. Mr. KYLIE said:

I would have you come with me in imagination to a hill overlooking the valley of the river Thames where it winds under the Cummer hills, and watching thence the wash of mist over "the sweet city with its dreaming spires," recall something of the story of Oxford and its University. It was in no mean place, but in a town commanding the ford of the oxen over the Thames, hallowed by the shrine of the Saxon saint, Augustine, and fortified before and after the Conquest, that seven hundred years ago clerks and scholars attended school. Probably, however, it was not there the reign of Henry II., who began the continuous constitutional history of England, that a company of Paris scholars organized the University which was to enter most fully and most continuously into the life of the nation. Supported by the King and the Church, the University obtained exemption from the ordinary courts, the right of trial in its own, market rights and regulations as to threat and tenure of lodging houses. The University, indeed, was nothing more than a guild or trade-union of masters who possessed the privilege of ecclesiastical independence and autonomous rules for admission and graduation. The crowd of students, rich and poor, who mingled in this democracy of learning was stirred by every crisis in church and state. Henry III. provoked by their opposition, swore that he would have them all. The friars put forward in Oxford the ablest exponents of mediaeval thought.

The vigorous life of the University must have been a large part due to the early formation of colleges. In 1263 John of Balliol, a powerful northern baron, in attendance for an appointment to a neighbouring bishop, hired a house in the suburbs of Oxford, near the church of Saint Mary Magdalen, and made it a hostel for the reception of sixteen poor scholars, to each of whom he gave an allowance of eight pence a day. Thenceforth, his wife, gave thanks to her scholars in 1284. Walter de Merton had anticipated her by ten years in establishing a college with the right of governing itself, recruiting and using a common seal. Henceforth, the college, originally a hostel for scattered scholars, hitherto at the pursuit of some branch of learning, and was on its way to its final form of a society of students and professors, and having a common life and discipline. The freemission of all into the University was checked as a result of this development, and after 1432 no student could live in Oxford except under a principal who was at least a Master of Arts. Order was certainly improved, wealthy colleges were founded, and though Oxford was Master of Balliol and influential in Oxford, the church retained its control. The new learning aroused the enthusiasm of the University. Its scholars eagerly bought manuscripts from Italy, and the fame of Linciae, Grynian and Colet was sufficient to attract Erasmus to Oxford. Indeed, the conservative spirit of the famous scholar was in sympathy with that of the University that produced the last great mediaeval churchman, Walsley, and moved slowly toward change. Crammer, Latimer and Ridley were sacrificed to the old institution. The University went, as it always did, with the nation. Elizabeth listened a whole afternoon to doctors disputing in Latin in Saint Mary's church, and answered them in the same tongue. It had many prominent bishops, divines before Archbishop Laud restored its discipline and its loyalty, and prepared Oxford to receive its King.

Charles I. lived in Christ Church during most of the war, using its grand hall for his councils, while his wife held her court in Merion and damaged it greatly. The colleges suffered under the Puritan regime and again gave their allegiance to the restored government of the Stuarts. If the later seventeenth century brought poverty and ruin, the eighteenth found apathy and idleness dominant in the University. Not, indeed, that it was ever without some Methodism movement, and produced such men as Samuel Johnson, Adam Smith and Sir William Hamilton. Yet Shelley's friend, Hogg, could say of the University at the opening of the 19th century, "Oxford is a seat in which learning sits very comfortably, well 'brown luck,' as an easy chair, and sleeps so soundly that neither you, nor I, nor anyone else can wake her." But, learning awakened at the stir of the Oxford movement and the voice of the 19th century. Keeping in touch with the best of her traditions, the University followed the hand that beckoned to her out of the future. So that the city upon which we in imagination look down has attracted scholars from every land.

Mr. KYLIE then asked his audience to enter with him some of the leading colleges, such as Magdalen, Christ Church and New College. He spoke of some of their most beautiful buildings and mentioned many distinguished graduates. He excused the detailed account on the ground that he wished his audience to feel the spirit of place in Oxford, and to recognize the grandness of its traditions. No, where is the continuity between the past and better preserved. One should yield to the influences which were borne in from every hand, and be filled with reverence before entering Balliol College, which has kept most closely in touch with the life of the 19th century and best adapted to modern needs. The college buildings are for the most part modern, though the old hall and back quadrangles, carrying their five centuries nobly. Around the new hall hang the portraits of John of Balliol, Devorguilla, his wife, and Wyche; they are in the midst of a larger modern company—Lord Bessington, an honorary fellow, Cardinal Manning and Archbishops Tait and Temple, who represented phases of the religious thought of the last century; and such prominent public men as Speaker Peel and Sir Robert Morier; portraits of Lord Cuzon and Lord Milner, and other prominent statesmen will some day occupy the same wall. The success of the college in the modern world has been in great part due to him whose calm, scholarly face is distinguished in the group—the late Master Jowett.

Probably the greatest master's special merit lay in his full recognition of the essential features of Oxford life. He appreciated the value of the college as a centre for the loyalty and affection of Balliol men. Of course the constant intercourse enjoyed by the men, whether they live on the one staircase, or on the other, or in clubs or games, cannot but create a breadth of new and human sympathy just as the continual play of mind upon mind fosters originality and freshness of thought. The importance of this common life cannot be exaggerated; no man can fully value the actual and friendly relations formed on English playing fields during quiet, hard-fought games, or after the games by the blazing hearth fire over the cup that cheers.

The tutorial system, which William of Wykeham, the founder of New College, instituted over four hundred years ago by his own example, that the younger scholars should go to the elder, who were to be paid to look after them, had become the recognized means of instruction in Oxford, and remained so, only in a fuller sense. Jowett, as tutor, put himself completely at the service of his pupils. The college tutor recognizes this man individually, or in small groups for the purpose of hearing their essays. It should be remembered that almost all the work done by the under-graduates takes the form of essays. Thus their views are constantly submitted to the trained judgment of the experienced teacher. Moreover, the tutor becomes the friend of his scholars, he is eager to know them intimately and to offer his advice and counsel. If, indeed, education in its best sense implies the giving of inspiration, it can scarcely be imparted in any less direct way.

The colleges of Oxford have guarded their best traditions by retaining the classical literature of Greece and Rome as the main subject of study. It has been fully recognized in the University, that without a knowledge of the classics we cannot understand the development of the human race as manifested by its history, philosophy or literature; that, in a word, we cannot understand ourselves or the society in which we live. Moreover, the classics are valued as the best means for the cultivation of taste, judgment and literary skill. It would seem a dangerous step to replace the classics by any branch of study, however dignified or useful. The practice of the best literature of every age cannot be lightly set aside. Higher studies, if subordinated to material ends, can with difficulty again assert their supremacy, and rarely before the country which ignores them has suffered from the lack of citizens with thorough education, broad sympathies and pure ideals. Nor might it seem advisable to sacrifice the older studies to research. Research appears of little worth unless pursued by scholars whose minds have been well trained and prepared for independent work: its results must not be given undue value, but must be assigned their place in some general scheme of knowledge, and must be set forth with good judgment and literary form if they are to have effect.

These essential features of Oxford education, the college life, the tutorial system and the classics, combine to give its liberal character. By liberal is meant the opposite of education implies cultivation of the mind for its own sake. The knowledge upon which it is based is a habit of the mind and its own end. Such education aims at producing a mental state, not technical skill or commercial cleverness. It becomes part of the life of the man; it does not teach him to do this or that, but to think, and enables everything he does; it gives him that outlook whereby he can give facts their true value and their place in his system of thought. With his purer taste and better trained mind the man so educated will perform his professional duties with greater facility and in the broader functions of society, such as the work of government, will dislike his superiority. The maintenance of this ideal in English education does most to explain the high character and upright purpose of the statesmen, and the strong and outspoken public opinion of England. Oxford can never be forgotten by her sons, for she is to them "an Alma Mater (raising her children one by one, not a treadmill, or a mint or a foundry.)" Sadly they pass from the deep, quiet backwater of the University, the swirling current of life's main flood, remembering purchase the words which could not be spoken of any other place—

"Farewell we said, fair city of youth's dream, And in our boat we stepped and took the stream."

Saturday's Market

The market Saturday was only fairly well attended. The farmers are busy haying and can not get to the market in large numbers. Eggs are still 15c.; butter, 14c. to 15c.; cream, 20c. at; new hay, $6 a ton; hens' 10c. per lb. one which sold at 63c. The outside market was nil.

Cured of Chronic Diarrhoea After Ten Years of Suffering.

"I wish to say a few words in praise of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy," says Mrs. M. M. Burge, of Martinsville, Va. "I suffered from chronic diarrhoea for ten years and during that time tried various medicines without obtaining any permanent relief. Last summer one of my children was taken with cholera morbus, and I procured a bottle of this remedy. Only two doses were required to give her entire relief. I then decided to try the medicine myself, and did not use all of one bottle before I was well. I have never since been troubled with that complaint. One cannot say too much in favor of that wonderful medicine." This remedy is for sale by all druggists.

Boys Bowman Property.

Port Hope Guide: Mr. J. A. Culverwell, the redoubtable champion of the Trent Valley Canal, and of the Port Hope outlet, evidently has implicit faith in the ultimate success of the efforts of Port Hope outlet advocates, for he has this week purchased a property in Bowmanville for investment simply—a house and lot on Seugog-st. It is understood he picked up a bargain, and not only looks for a "good thing" through the now progressive trend of things in that burg, but in the near future a big boom when the Port Hope route is "announced." Evidently Mr. Culverwell wants us to feel that he is not a stranger within the gates of the county of Durham, having lately become a citizen of Port Hope, by taking up his residence here, his offices being in Toronto and Peterboro, in connection with his Water-power Company's business.

THE BOARD OF EDUCATION.

CHOICE OF TEACHERS WAS THE BUSINESS TUESDAY EVENING.

One vacancy in the Collegiate, Two on the Public School Staff.

Every desk in the Council chamber was occupied Tuesday 5th, and a casual visitor might have imagined that it was pay night for the gentlemen who look after the town's educational interests. It was not the citizens entrusted with those important duties who were to serve for mere money, and receive their reward in the gratitude of the fellow townsmen doled out usually in very small doses.

In order that our readers may not forget to whom they stand indebted—months have sped since election day, and memory is a fickle jade—we deem it well to print the names of those present. Here is the list: Mr. Thos. Stewart, chairman, Messrs. R. Kennedy, R. M. Beal, J. Carow, P. G. Pilki, Jos. Staples, Col. Deacon, J. G. Edwards, Wm. Davitt, R. Kyle, Dr. Blanchard, Dr. Jeffers, Principals Harstone and Broderick, of the Collegiate and Public Schools, were also in attendance.

The minutes of the last regular and special meetings were read by Secretary Spier, and on motion were duly confirmed.

Communications, etc., From Principal Harstone, reporting 179 students on the roll of the Collegiate; average attendance, 127, according to the statement of fees attached, $423.75 was collected for the last quarter.

From Miss Irving, of the Public School staff, tendering her resignation. Accepted, and Chairman authorized to grant the customary testimonial.

From Mayor Sootheran, relative to a truancy fine imposed on Geo. Thompson, stating that he had not the power to interfere where a fine was inflicted under statutory law. Mr. Staples—Law is not always justice, and I think he would have found that to be true in this case; he should have enquired into the facts as requested. Mr. Beal—Was the letter from the teacher sent to the Mayor? That was the understanding—how could he investigate the case without the proofs? Secretary Spier—I was not instructed to send anything with the resolution. Col. Deacon—The Mayor is right—only the Governor-General or the Attorney-General has the power to remit a fine so imposed. Chairman Stewart—The peculiar feature of the case is that the boy was refused admission to the school because he could not prove that he had not the whooping cough, and was then accused of truancy because he would not prove that he had the disease.

Mr. Staples, chairman, read the report of the Finance committee, which recommended a few small accounts chargeable to the Collegiate and Public Schools.—Adopted.

Coal and Wood Supply. Mr. Pilki said he had been authorized to call for tenders for the usual supply of wood and coal. No offer for wood had been sent in, but three for coal had been received. These were opened and proved to be from the Rathbun Co., Flavelles Limited and Jos. Maumder, and the prices were identical as follows: Best Scranton hard coal, $7 per ton; soft steam $4.65, three a quarter lump $4.75, selected lump 4.85.

Col. Deacon—"Divide the quantity needed among the three firms." Mr. Jeffers—"No, get it all from some one firm—we can guard the quality better."

Chairman Stewart—"We can manage that by having the dealers supply different schools."

It turned out that the Board had not yet decided to burn all coal, part wood and coal, or whether furnaces were to be fitted for coal only or to be superseded by coal stoves. A special meeting will be held at the call of the chairman of Finance to deal with the matter.

Want the People to Know. Moved by Mr. Beal, seconded by Mr. Staples, that hereafter the press be notified of all regular and special meetings of this Board.—Carried.

Vacancies on the Staffs. Principal Broderick reported that he had telegraphed to Misses Lewis and Walker, the new public school teachers chosen last Saturday. The former accepted; the latter declined; hence one vacancy on the staff remained to be filled.

On motion the Board went into committee of the whole to consider applications for the position of English and Modern Language Master. Dr. Blanchard, in the chair.

The applications were 40 in number, and they quoted salaries ranging from $1100 down to $575. On motion Principal Harstone was heard, and by request gave the names of certain teachers recommended by High School Inspectors Seath and Hodgson and Mr. Principal Thompson, of Hamilton Normal School, and Miss Hillock. After a brief discussion the number of eligibles was reduced to six, of whom Miss Wilson, of Wilmot, Miss Downey, of Collingwood, and Miss Storey, of Comber, seemed to be first choice.

It was urged in Miss Wilson's favor by Mr. Kyle, Dr. Jeffers, Mr. Beal and others that an extra course of one or two years in Paris, France, under a leading Professor, should count strongly in her favor.

Messrs. Pilki, Staples, and Kennedy favored a Miss Tapscott, while Chairman Stewart was greatly impressed with the qualifications of Miss Downey, of Collingwood Collegiate.

Mr. Kennedy created a riddle by saying that the Board would make no mistake in disregarding the recommendations of the Inspectors.

Dr. Jeffers—"In choosing a teacher of modern languages it seems to me that one who has studied abroad and acquired the idioms of a language and a perfect pronunciation should be worth more to us than one who has not acquired these essentials."

In reply to a remark by Mr. Staples that Miss Tapscott would be $200 a year cheaper Mr. Kyle said, "Oh, if cheapness is to be the main consideration, why not take the $550 teacher Mr. Will. someone says that a teacher who has supplemented her costly course abroad is not likely to be a better teacher than the one who has not done so?"

In reply Mr. R. Kennedy ventured the assertion that England is away behind and no one was the better for going over there for B.A. degrees, and those who returned spoke no better French or German. To which Mr. Stewart rejoined, "Each! pooh! you're joking, Mr. Kennedy."

Mr. Carow—"Miss Wilson wants the most salary, but there is a good deal in what Mr. Kyle said. If she had had the experience referred to she is just that much ahead of the others, and we want the very best for our children."

A vote was then taken on each name, the one receiving the lowest number being crossed off. This went on until finally Miss Wilson received a majority of votes, and a resolution that she be engaged was adopted, salary $900.

Chairman Stewart then left, having important business to attend to. Dr. Jeffers took the chair, and the Board sat some time longer in order to select another Public School teacher from a list of 13 applicants.

AFTER THE YULU.

It was a summer evening. Old One Lung's work was done. And he before his hotel's door. Was sitting in the sun. And by him sported on the sod His little grandchild, Hop Sing Tod.

She saw her brother Suey Chop. Roll something hard and round. Which he beside the Yulu stream. In playing there had found; He came to ask what he had found. That was so heavy, smooth and round.

Old One Lung took it from the boy. Who stood expectant by. And then the old man shook his head. And with a natural sigh, "A Russian breech block 'tis," said he;

"Was lost in their great victory."

"It was the Russians," One Lung cried.

"Who put the Japs to rout."

"But why they left their guns behind I could not well make out."

But Kuropatkin said, "quoth he, 'That 'twas a Russian victory."

"Great praise brave Kuropatkin won, His fame was spread abroad."

"Why, 'twas a very bad defeat!" Said little Hop Sing Tod.

"Nay, nay, my little girl," quoth he; "It was a Russian victory."

"And everybody praised the man Who left the Japs on top."

"But what did Russia gain by it?" Quoth little Suey Chop.

"Way, that I cannot tell," quoth he, "But 'twas a Russian victory."

RESEMBLES A MIRACLE.

THE WONDERFUL RECOVERY OF A NIPPISSING MAN.

Stricken With Partial Paralysis He Was Unable to Use Either Right Arm or Right Leg.

Mr. John Craig, a well known farmer living near Kells, Nipissing district, Ont., is another of the many paralytics, who owes his present good health and ability to go about—if not life itself—to the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Mr. Craig gives his experience as follows:—"But for the blessing of God and the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills I do not believe that I would be alive to-day. I was stricken with the terrible affliction, partial paralysis. I had absolutely no power in my right arm or leg. I was not able to sit up in bed. I tried to do so I would fall over. I had to be like a child, and my family and friends believed death was very near. The doctor told me that he could do nothing for me, and that I was liable at any moment to have a second stroke which would carry me off. I was in this deplorable condition when I was advised to use Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. I sent for three boxes and before they were all used I could move the fingers on my hand, which had hitherto been absolutely numb and powerless. You can scarcely imagine my joy at this convincing proof that the pills were helping me. From this on I kept getting stronger and the control of my paralyzed limbs gradually came back until I was again able to walk about and eventually to work. To my neighbors my cure seems like a miracle, as not one of them ever expected to see me out of bed again. I gladly give permission to publish the story of my cure with the wish that it may bring life and hope and activity to some other sufferer."

The cure of Mr. Craig gives additional evidence that Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are not an ordinary medicine, and that their power to cure in all troubles of the blood or nerves places them beyond all other medicines. You can get these pills from any medicine dealer or direct by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 by writing The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont. See that the full name "Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People" is printed on the wrapper around every box.

MERRY WEDDING BELLS

Ashley—Weese

On Wednesday July 6th, at 5 p.m., at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Weese, No. 8, Melbourne-st., there took place one of the prettiest home weddings of the season, when Mr. Ashley of Ashley or Rathbun Co's office staff, was united in marriage to Florence Marion, only daughter of Mr. Weese.

The bride was most becomingly gowned in a suit of champagne voile and looked charming. She was assisted by Miss Edythe Jones, who was dressed in a suit of white organdy. The groom's best man, performing similar duties, Rev. Rural Dean Marsh was the officiating clergyman. Only a few intimate friends were on the invited list. The presents were both useful and numerous. The happy couple left by the evening train for points east.

Walker—Minthorne

A very pretty July wedding took place at St. Mary's church, Wednesday July 6th, at 7 p.m. The contracting parties were Mr. Daniel Walker, of town, and Miss Lottie, daughter of Mr. A. L. Minthorne, of Mariposa. A venerable Archdeacon Cases officiated. Mr. George Walker, brother of the groom, performed the duties of groomsmen, whilst Miss Elen, sister of the bride, acted as bridesmaid.

After the ceremony the bridal party drove to the residence of the bride's parents, where a reception was held, some forty invited guests being present. After a most tempting repast, the evening was spent in games, music, etc. The number of presents was unusually large and well chosen. The young people will reside on Cambridge-st. south, town.

Hitchner—Gunningham

On the morning of June 29th, at St. Mary's church, Lindsay, was solemnized one of the prettiest weddings of the season, when Mr. Fred Hitchner, of Rochester, N. Y., led to the altar Anna, the eldest daughter of Mr. Arthur F. Cunningham, East Ops. The ceremony was performed by Ven. Archdeacon Casey, in the presence of a number of intimate friends of the contracting parties. The bride, who was most becomingly attired in a suit of silk with trimming, and hat to match, entered the church at 7.30 leaning on her father's arm. Lohengrin's wedding march was beautifully rendered as the bridal party marched up the aisle and took their places in front of the altar. The groom was attended by his brother, whilst Miss Margurite sister of the bride rendered a similar service to the bride and the little Misses Lana and Norrie, also sisters of the bride, dutifully dressed in white, performed the duties of flower girls.

After the ceremony the bridal party drove to the residence of the bride's parents, where a wedding breakfast was served, after which a reception was held. Owing to the recent death of a near relative the invited list was confined to a few of the most intimate friends of the family. The happy couple took the evening train for the city, and after a brief honeymoon trip they will reside in Rochester, N. Y. Their many friends in town and country wish the young couple many years of happiness.

THE 45th VICTORIA REGIMENT IN CAMP.

A Budget of Interesting Items from the Evening Post's Representative at Barriefield Commons, Kingston.

(From Evening Post, July 9th.)

The 45th Regiment finished their twelve days at the Kingston Camp of Military Instruction to-day, and returned to headquarters here at 3 p.m. by special train. The camp was a most successful one, being noticeable for its steady drill and orderly conduct. Although the work was somewhat hard, the weather was fine and the outing much enjoyed by all who participated. Much useful information was obtained by the men. A number of lectures were given by Dr. Young and others in regard to matters appertaining to the movements of the military.

The Camp represented the various branches of the service, such as artillery, cavalry, and infantry, and numbered nearly 3,000 in all. It would have been larger than this if the Camp had been held a couple of weeks earlier, so the officers say as it was difficult to recruit men in the face of harvest pay. Of course there is not much money in soldiering, for anybody, as citizens who don't His Majesty's uniform do so for in honor. "For the honor of the Empire and the glory of the Flag." Officers spend time and money in trying to keep in good shape the force, "Defense, not defiance," being their motto. They are self-sacrificing, that is certain. An instance of this cropped out in the late Camp.

GOOD FELLOWS

Last Saturday night became intensely chilly. The Captain of the Fenelon Falls Company found himself under half a blanket late at night, so he turned it over to his comrade and crawled into a box to keep warm until morning. The shortage in bedding was produced by six men arriving from the Falls late that evening to join their company.

In the morning the captain with the big brown eyes, crawled out early, take a sun bath along with the rest, being in a very satisfactory condition. The Camp throughout has been a very pleasant one. Both officers and men are fine samples of the native-born, and are bright, intelligent fellows. They crack jokes, tell stories and occasionally shoot off brilliant hits of repartee, which is the essence of wit. In this line Capt. Edson Smith, of the firm of McSweeney & Smith, excels, and has a fund of interesting stories. The officers of the 45th generally are an interesting lot of fellows. Many of the funny things got off by them are now and have never been published. John McDougal told that when he was in a store at Argyle a Scotch woman deposited on the counter one day a basket with the remark, "Batter and eggs—Donald will be along soon with the English." She couldn't talk much English, and her husband did the talking. Another told the story that in the year of the Fenian raid, taking Canada, when a Scotch Canadian remarked, "They may tak' Canada, but they canna tak' Zorra." "I lost a chunk of soap this morning," observed a junior officer. "How's that? someone steal it?" "Not exactly unless a cow could steal it; one came along and swallowed it." "Let's see, it should have been a Comfort to her."

Major James Staples is one of the happy men in the Camp. "He is always bright and cheery. He is never dull and weary." He is considered to be one of the best officers on the field. He served a year in South Africa, is well liked by the men and generally esteemed by all.

THIS IS NOT HOT AIR.

The officers and men of the regiment are fond of playing jokes on each other, but the fun was sometimes carried too far.

The 45th Regiment is the best in Camp and has been freshly complimented by many who have seen them drill.

Capt. A. Williamson made the highest score in the rifle competition at the butts, scoring 37 out of a possible 40. Sergt. O'Rock, of the Little Britain company, stood second, scoring 36. Our Tom Fleming was third, "the wild man" pretty strong the day of the shooting.

The band of the regiment is undoubtedly the best in sight for many years—since the time of the old Orange and Piano Co. band. Mr. Buchanan is an excellent instructor, and a general favorite. The band have been making a name for themselves since their arrival in Camp. They have been favorites at their open air concerts, and on Tuesday night Col. Buchanan had them play at the Cavalry "At Home," expressing the desire that he wanted the best band in camp to play. They have been very entertained. The following are the members of the band, and are all good musicians: Ed. Chambers, G. Haman, M. Bell, J. Bradshaw, M. Ingle, W. S. Bell, G. Carruth, J. Golding, J. Cole, N. Bruce, F. Taylor, S. Hossain, H. Harry, H. Cook, J. W. A. Bonmaster Roenick in charge, assisted by Serg. Davidson and Corporal Martin.

ABOUT PEOPLE.

The Y.M.C.A. has done admirable work, Secretary Allen, of Lindsay, assisted Mr. S. Wilkie, of Toronto, in the management of the institution during the Camp.

Brigadier John Hughes, of Northampton of Toronto, and Rev. Mr. Creighton, chaplain of the 16th were active in getting up the amusements.

Master Scott Williamson son of the paymaster, was in camp. He used to belong to the infants, and is now a bright boy of thirteen.

The officers mess of the 45th, was prepared by Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Brown, and was in every way satisfactory. Mr. and Mrs. W. Keyes, of Downmanville, were caterers for the 46th, the same as for many years past. James Mr. E. L. Fort, of the Ontario Bank at one time of Lindsay, was a visitor to the 45th.

Mr. John Richard, organizer for the Foresters, paid the Camp a visit Sunday.

The Yacht Club hall, attended by quite a lot of the officers on Wednesday evening, was a very swell affair. Lt. McSweeney and Capt. Hopkins were among those present.

The Battalion officers are all very efficient men—gentlemen and soldiers. Col. Sylvester, Major James Staples, Quartermaster E. Hopkins, Paymaster J. Williamson, were kept very busy during camp, and are popular with the men, as are also Captains of companies, Adjutant Fred Hopkins has received deserved promotion and now ranks as a Captain and acting Adjutant. The regiment is popular in the camp on account of civility and gentlemanly bearing.

There was very little sickness in the camp throughout the stay here. Adj. St. Hopkins intends to join the Imperial forces. Good boy! Rev. Mr. Creighton, chaplain of the 16th Regiment, conducted service on Sunday, the men mustering for parade at 8.30 a.m.

The Government allowance of provisions is ample, although there are some grumblers to be found in each camp. Much depends on the cooking. In some companies cooks were changed every other day, although the latter claimed they were all right. When a cook was asked how he was getting along with his assistant, he replied, "Not too bad, he is a willing fellow—quite willing to let me do all the work."

The horseshoe always brings good luck—when thrown from an officers' horse it brought half a gallon of the beady beverage to those who picked it up.

The inspection of the troops took place this week, and the sham fights yesterday.

Dr. Gillespie, out as the Surgeon of the Battalion for the first time, has won the hearts of the men-in-arms, by his affability and kindly bearing generally. They like the Doctor, but not his medicine.

By company officers are all right, good fellows and devoted to their military work. Lieut. McGee, of the Woodville Company, makes a good officer, as also does Capt. Lancaster, of the Robeyson Company.

WORTH READING.

Captain Edson Smith and Lieut. John McDougal will make a good company out of the Little Britain one or know the reason why. Just before going to Camp Lieut. Alister Gillespie added 28 men to the company, to which he is attached.

Two years ago Capt. McGee, of South Africa fame, expressed the opinion that the militia should be better paid, and now the members of the force are revelling in better pay, to which they are entitled.

Sergt. Stuart, of Woodville, is Sergt.-Major of the Battalion. He has done very well, although he had a very hard man to follow in Sergt. Broadway.

The Camp was well managed throughout. Everybody enjoyed themselves to the fullest extent and have returned home much pleased with the experience enjoyed. Every young man in the country should see a period in the militia.

The boy bugler in the 15th was injured and taken to the hospital on Thursday evening. They were engaged in tossing him up in a blanket when he fell.

Charles Wescott, Wesley and J. McEhee, have been made Corporals in the 45th.

The sham battle of yesterday was the event of the Camp; it was a most interesting affair and was witnessed by hundreds of people. The fort was attacked and defended. The 45th was in the attacking party.

SPECIAL SESSION OF COUNCIL

TORONTO'S OLD VICTORIA BOYS WILL BE HERE AUG. 1st.

Considerable Business Dealt With by the Committees.

A special meeting of the town fathers was held Friday night, and it was after 11 o'clock when the members adjourned, the standing committees having met after Council to consider a large accumulation of business.

The members present were Mayor Sootheran, Aldermen McCrae, Robison, Storer, Cinnamon and O'Reilly.

The Old Boys' Coming.

Clerk Knowlson read a letter from Mr. Geo. A. Wesce, of Toronto, relative to the visit of the Victoria Co. Old Boys' Association, Toronto, on Aug. 1st, and asking Council to secure the skating rink, Academy of Music or Court House in connection therewith. The program was outlined as follows: 1. Procession from R.R. station; 2. Address of welcome; 3. Reply by President of the Assn., Mr. Shawwood, and others; 4. Afternoon games and sports; 5. Promenade concert by Klitsch band in evening.

Mayor Sootheran, Mr. Wesce was here the other day. He wants us to do something towards entertaining the visitors from the band stand, but they want the town to secure a place for the band concert in the evening. They expect two or three train loads of people, who will remain two days.

The matter was tabled for further discussion.

Communications.

From J. J. Cava, Editor Beaverbrook Express, relative to location of a new industry in Lindsay—Referred to Manufacturers' Committee.

From J. R. McNicoll, County Clerk, relative to case of an indigent person—Fried.

From Jas. Storer, making complaint that the drain from his houses, on Durham-st., had been torn up in the spring by men in the employ of the L. H. & P. Co., Clerk notified to instruct Company to repair same at once.

From E. D. Morris, Toronto, with reference to gas franchise agreement, and asking that the amended copy of same be forwarded early in the week so that the matter might be closed.—Police and Lighting committee.

From G. H. M. Baker, Rathbun Co., agent, submitting specifications and guarantee re cement.—Ald. Cinnamon: "Has there been a difference noted in the quality?"—Mayor Sootheran: "Yes, Mr. McGough got some that was air-slaked and his men lost time, but a new carload arrived at once was all right. Of course we will secure a proper reduction in the price."

From Mr. H. McGough and others, relative to the removal of a street light to another location.—Police and Lighting committee.

A number of accounts were read and referred to the proper committees.

From P. G. Plink, enclosing a program estimate for amount due or certain sewers.—Mayor Sootheran: "The cost of levelling certain streets left in bad shape should be deducted from the amount.—Board of Works with power to act."

From Town Engineer Way, endorsing the petition of A. Cullen and others for a sanitary sewer on Curd St., 526 ft. long; cost, $625, property owners share $550, town $75.—Board of Works.

any danger in keeping her a few days longer."

Finally it was decided to remove the patient to her mother's home for a time, and in the meantime to endeavor to secure her admission into the Consumptives' hospital at Gravelhurst.

Ald. O'Reilly presented a petition from W. H. Walsh and others for the construction of a sanitary sewer on Albert-st. to Durham.—Board of Works, Mayor Sootheran promising to assist Ald. Storer in securing signatures for the extension of sewer up Durham-st.

Good Roads Getting End.

Moved by Ald. O'Reilly, seconded by Ald. McWaters, that Commissioner O'Neill be instructed to place a coating of gravel on the good road sections of Lindsay and Kings-sts.

Mayor Sootheran: "The work is very necessary, yet I would like to have it held over until we see if we can spare the money."

Ald. O'Reilly: "The roads cost a lot of money, and if you don't wish them utterly destroyed they should be re-gravelled."

Ald. McCrae: "Lake or pit gravel?" Ald. O'Reilly: "Pit gravel."

Mayor Sootheran: "It makes the best road, I think."

The matter was referred to the Board of Works.

Council then adjourned for committee work.

The grading of Bond-st. east from William-st. to the river was left over for future consideration.

It was decided that the band stand be removed to the west park at once.

Certain proposed repairs to the Council chamber were postponed owing to the lack of funds for the purpose.

Lighting Committee.

Ald. McCrae, chairman, read accounts from the light, heat & power Co. for May and June, amounting to $825 and $827 respectively, whereupon Mayor Sootheran remarked: "I'm willing that the account be paid on the understanding that we pay no more to the company until they have fulfilled their contract by placing the street lights in the centre of the roadway." The proposition was endorsed by all the members.

The Company's request that they be directed where to place the poles in order to locate the lamps as ordered was again discussed and again sat upon, Mayor Sootheran remarking: "The company were very keen to get the contract and refused to share it with the Gas Co. They agreed to place the lights in the centre of the four corners, and we have been very lenient in putting up with the present arrangement of the lights for so long a time. They must carry out the contract at once."

The Bell Telephone Co. franchise matter was held over.

On motion Mr. Thos. Robison's request for an abatement in taxes was filed.

He Got a Raise.

Market Clerk Callaghan's request that his salary be increased to $600 was the next item on the flye.

Mayor Sootheran: "What is Mr. Callaghan getting now?"

Clerk Knowlson: "$500, including the $50 raise granted last year."

Ald. Cinnamon: "He's a good man." Ald. Robison: "He is, but instead of increasing salaries we ought to be cutting them down. We haven't the money."

Ald. O'Reilly: "The weighing of stone for Local Improvement works has added greatly to Mr. Callaghan's duties."

Ald. Robison: "We can get men to perform the work for less money." Mayor Sootheran: "I'll move that he be paid $550."

ORILLIA WON, 18-4

Lindsay Lacrosse Team Sustained a Bad Defeat.

VISITORS OUTCLASSED THE LOCALS AND PLAYED RAG WITH THEM.

If Our Boys Remember the Lessons Given, the Defeat Will be Beneficial.

Well! Orillia trimmed the Lindsay Monday on Lindsay grounds. How did it happen? This way.

The score at the finish was 18-4, and it is a fair representation of the game as played. The Lindsay team were aware that they did not have much of a show with a bunch that defeated Brantford on their own grounds, beat Chatham, St. Thomas, Guelph, and trimmed the New York Crescents. The boys from Orillia were also aware of the fact. As a result a very shaggy and loose game was put up.

Our boys did not put forth their best efforts, but at times gingered up, making some pretty spurts. But what was the use? If they didn't drop the ball while it was in play, as they managed to do pretty often, some of the Orillia boys would naturally check and capture the ball, pass it to another, and then it would be down the field in short order.

A number of times one of the locals threw the ball to one of his opponents.

The Orillia boys are a very gentlemanly lot, and have got their "com" down to perfection. They did not work hard, but took things very easy. One of the players was heard to remark: "Why, it was just like a good, stiff workout, before going into a Senior game."

Lindsay, although at times they put up some neat work, lacked the lacrosse spirit, and were completely outclassed. Orillia are the fastest team in the league, and easily defeated Peterboro not long ago by 23 to 0, and they are, in the opinion of many, the coming champions of lacrosse in Canada.

It is likely that at the close of the season they will play the winners of the Senior C.L.A. They are all good players.

Gilgilly, who played between the flags for the locals, stopped some hot ones. McWilliams, a new player, was in the game, but none of the players showed up as well as they might have done, feeling that they were up against a much superior lot.

But our boys are good workers and can give a good account of themselves, when they meet a more equal team.

The game was never exciting, being all one-sided, and a lengthy report is hardly necessary. In the first stage of the game Lindsay rushed matters, but in a great many instances they did not follow up their checks.

Lindsay threw wild a number of times. Rickey, Brooks, Carruth and Gillespie are hard shooters, but did not get much of a chance yesterday.

Whitehead, for Orillia, scored a number of goals by very easy work. Carruth scored Lindsay's first goal on a pass from Gilles.

The second was also scored on a pretty pass. Gillespie scored the third; the 4th was tallied after a neat bit of "com" on a rush down the field by Cameron, who passed to Carruth, he to Gillespie, who scored.

The scoring was as follows: Orillia, 2-1-2 min; Orillia, 2 min; Orillia, 2 min; Orillia, 2 min; Orillia, 1 min; Orillia, 1-1-2 min; Orillia, 1 min; Orillia, 5 min; Orillia, 1-2 min; Orillia, 3 min; Orillia, 1-2 min; Orillia, 2 min; Orillia, 2 min; Orillia, 1-2 min; Orillia, 1-2 min; Orillia, 1-2 min; Orillia, 4 minutes.

Mr. Fred Martin acted in a very impartial way, there only being one man on the fence.

With a gain in membership of nearly 1,500 during the month of May, the Brotherhood of Railway Freight and Baggage Men of America is taking rank with the leading railroad brotherhoods of the country. Its growth has been very rapid recently in New York and the New England States.

At the sessions in Los Angeles, Cal., of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers reports show that during the operation of the insurance plan $12,500,000 has been paid out in benefits, averaging $100,000 monthly to beneficiaries and disabled members. The report showed a greater advance in the insurance branch of the Brotherhood's work during the past two years than at any other time.

The Grand Trunk is the first line in Canada to install this new idea, and the public will appreciate the company effect that the land in order to look after their needs, give information and do all he can for their welfare en route. This new feature will be especially recognized as a boon to the travelling public by ladies travelling alone and ladies with children.

News of which a whisper was heard some time ago is again being referred to in the press. It is to the effect that the Grand Trunk has bought up all the land around the shore of Midland harbor in order to out off entry to the port to the Canadian Pacific R.R., and that the latter company now contemplates a line to Waubesaushen, situated on an arm of the Georgian Bay south of Midland. This information will strengthen the impression that Lindsay's C.P.R. line is part of the future Midland link.

No one suffers sunstroke if the pores are acting properly. That is one of the chief functions of the pores to pour out perspiration, which cools the surface and thus reduces the bodily temperature.

To escape discomfort and danger from the heat frequent bathing is of course essential.

LIFORD.
(From Our Own Correspondent.)
Mr. H. Grady, of Peterboro, spent last week visiting friends here.
Mr. Jno. Mills, of Omemee, was visiting here last week.
Miss Sadie Dandas is visiting at Pontypool at present.
Mr. R. Mathelet, of Cavanville, spent Sunday with friends here.
A number of pupils of the Port Hope High School, are spending their holidays at their respective homes. Among others we notice Misses, Day, Sisson, Wilson and Mulligan, and Messrs. Wilson, Sisson, Wilson, McNeil and Fitch.
Two of our farmers are going ahead of the times by erecting very large and comfortable barns. Mr. Wethehens is 8x145 and Mr. Sisson's is 6x145. Mr. H. Tims has the contract for both.

KINGSW HARE.
(From Our Own Correspondent.)
A pretty June wedding took place at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Killaby last week, when his oldest daughter, Annie, was united in marriage to Mr. Leigh Hunter, one of South Verulam's most popular young men. A number of invited guests were present. The presents were both numerous and useful. They will reside on the old Gardner Hunter farm. We wish the young couple long life and happiness.
Messrs. Jas. and Ed. Kelly, of South Verulam, left for New York City last Friday on a pleasing mission. Mr. Jas. was united in marriage to a Miss Maguire, of New York, on Wednesday morning, his brother Ed. acting as best man. After spending his honeymoon in New York and vicinity, they will return to Canada and reside on Mr. M. Boyd's stock farm, outside of Robecaygon, where Mr. Kelly is manager.
(Crowded out last week.)

IRONDALE.
(From Our Own Correspondent.)
Some people wonder why Messrs. Will Curry and Wilfrid Hancock wear such a pleasant smile those days. Last Wednesday, while out looking up some timber, they came in contact with a bear and cub and were successful in killing both. The bear certainly was a good one, weighing 265 lbs., and measured 6 ft. 2 in.
We are pleased to see Mr. Wright and family around again after a long sojourn of diphtheria. Joe Graham is also able to be about once more.
Miss McInnis, of Kirkfield, left for her home last week. She will be greatly missed, for during her stay at Irondale, she has made many friends.
Mrs. Parr left for her home in Gooderham, after spending a couple of weeks with her sister, Mrs. Will Curry.
We are pleased to see Will Maxwell home again. We wish him success in the future.
Mrs. Robt. Buck was a visitor at Irondale last week.
A little boy came to stay at the home of Mr. Jas. Flood and Mr. Will Curry.
We think this little village can compete with any other, as far as weddings are concerned. Mr. Henry Woodhead and Miss Lottie Reynolds, of the Dutch line, were united in the holy bonds of matrimony lately. We wish the young couple many years of happiness.

MANILLA.
(From Our Own Correspondent.)
Miss Emma Thorne, of Creswell, a pupil of Miss Vina Coone, of Manilla, passed the primary piano examinations of the Toronto Conservatory of Music. We are not behind the times with such a successful teacher, as a number of her pupils have within the last few years, passed their examinations with honors. Miss Coone is to be congratulated upon the success of her pupils.

NESTLETON.
(From Our Own Correspondent.)
The summer tourists in quest of beautiful scenery would be amply repaid for the time spent by taking a drive through that portion of the township of Cartwright, bordering on the new line of railway, and westward toward the lake. Nowhere in Ontario can there be found anything to excel this section in most luxuriant crops, fine rolling farms, commodious residences with outbuildings of the most modern style and equipments, to match. The view of a bright summer morning in the vicinity of Bulls Landing, across the waters of Lake Scugog is a sight that will impress itself on the memory forever. Nestleton and its adjoining confines is bound to become a popular resort in summer time with the opening of traffic on the railway.

Mr. James Malou, one of the most solid men of the township, has set the pace to his fellow farmers by having a nearly printed sign board in rich large letters, hung on the wire fence in front of his residence with his name, lot and con. on it, as well as his address. This is a move in the right direction and should be taken up by the press of the country to encourage others to go and do likewise.

The Orangemen of this section mostly remained home this year and celebrated the glorious 12th at Blackstock. A respectable and representative crowd from the south enjoyed a hearty day's outing. All speak in the highest terms of praise of the genuine host of the Temperance house, Mr. T. Swain, who had made ample provision to meet the wants of the many visitors who patronized him.

A barn raising in which more than ordinary interest was taken, took place on the farm of Mr. Michael Chapman, on Wednesday, 6th inst., and it goes without saying that when finished it will excel anything of the kind hitherto attempted in the country. The main foundation walls cover an area of 45x110 ft. and 8 ft. high. Neither pains nor expense will be spared to make one of the most complete stock and grain barns in the country. Some one hundred and fifty men were in attendance to place the timbers in position. The same captains had charge of the erecting who acted at Mr. J. Williams' some two weeks ago.

We think this little village can compete with any other, as far as national Harvesting Co. of America, is now in receipt of his second shipment of harvesting machinery.

Mrs. Richard Sluggitt is at present very ill, and her condition is causing her friends much concern.
Miss Eunice Porteous, who was taken seriously ill whilst visiting in Peterboro, has returned home and is now almost totally recovered.

JANETVILLE.
(From Our Own Correspondent.)
The question that is agitating the public mind in and around our village at present, is where is our new station to be on the L. B. & P. Ry.? Opinion is divided as to whether it should be at Mr. Goss' crossing, west, or at McLean's north, but the first question to be settled is to whether we shall have one at all or not, and as we have little say in the matter we will await developments.

Mr. John Burns has completed one of the most successful seasons in the saw milling business, most of which was all custom work for the farmers of the district. In lumber he cut over 250,000 ft., shingles 200,000, and ties 2,000. Owing to the impossible state of the roads during the balance of the winter farmers were unable to get logs out or a much greater number could have been turned out.

A strawberry festival was held on Friday evening last, at Manvers on hall, the residence of Dr. Nasmith in aid of the Presbyterian church. The evening was all that could be desired and the attendance was most satisfactory. The beautiful and well-kept grounds looked entrancing in the light of several Chinese lanterns nestled amongst the rich foliage of maples. All enjoyed the evening's outing. Rev. Mr. Oswald, the worthy pastor of the church, is to be congratulated on the success of his entertainment. The Rev. Mr. Harrison presided and added materially to the good work. The receipts, we understand, were in the neighborhood of seventy-five dollars.

Mr. W. H. McGill, one of our general merchants, is on the road almost daily calling on the farmers for their eggs. It is a great convenience to the public and is much appreciated.

Mr. Jas. Hobbs, the genial proprietor of the Temperance house, has a Canadian Star three-year-old that will be heard from later. From present indications—a little sprinting done on some back concession lines, he is going to prove himself a worthy offspring of a noted sire. Jim has got his eye set on the purse that will be hung out for the green race at the coming Central Fair.

Mr. James Howe, our village butcher, caused a mild sensation here this week, when he appeared on our streets with a beautiful team of matched grey ponies, which he purchased from Mr. W. H. Simpson, the well known horseman of the Simpson house, Lindsay. Mr. Howe will use them for the present on his meat wagon, but intends later on to fit them up for the fair.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Nugent are happy over the arrival of a baby boy which came to them, we hope, to stay. Mr. and Mrs. Louis McGill have also had their home brightened by a sweet faced cherub. Louis is naturally wearing his broadest smile.

Mr. D. W. McGill, who some two years ago went West and purchased a hitherto section of land with a view to settling there, has returned here. His sons are going over to look after the business for the balance of the season.

Mr. Chris Argue, who for the past three and one-half years was teacher in Swan's school section, Mariposa, has resigned his position there and will make a tour of the Northwest during the holiday season.

Mr. Will Argue, principal in the Theological High School, is enjoying his vacation under the parental roof. He will spend a portion of his holidays with friends who will camp in the vicinity of Robecaygon.

his sister, Mrs. Howard Glenn, for some days last week.
Messrs. John Burns, Andrew McGill and Thomas Sayers, sr., were among the many who visited Peterboro on Saturday to witness the opening of the lift lock.
Miss Emma Johnson, who has been ailing for the past two weeks, is improving. Her many friends are hopeful of her recovery.

DOWNEYVILLE.
(From Our Own Correspondent.)
Never in the history of this section of the country has the prospect for a beautiful harvest been brighter. The soil being loam and porous, absorbed the almost continuous rain-falls of the past few weeks, and whilst some have suffered slightly with their early crops, yet on the whole farmers are hopeful of one of the most bountiful harvests they have had in years.

A large number of men gathered on Wednesday last, and with teams, plows and scrapers levelled up the grounds whereon the new church school will be placed. Tenders will be in by Saturday, and we hope to be able to furnish the frame of the contractor by next issue.

Mrs. James Maguire, who has spent the past few weeks in Rochester visiting friends, is home again.
Mrs. Owens and Mrs. McCarroll, of Rochester, are enjoying a pleasant visit at the home of their brother, Mr. Thos. Flynn.

Mr. P. Callaghan left for the city on Wednesday evening to meet some wagon men who are interested in his new wagon tongue patent.
County Councillor Scully, who suffered a severe shock to his system some few days ago by a fall from an apple tree which he was trimming, is able to be around again. He visited town on Wednesday and was congratulated by his many friends on his speedy recovery.

Mr. John Fox has men engaged putting in a foundation for a commodious new residence. He expects to have the house finished in the early fall and will occupy it the coming winter.

Mr. M. Dorgan is putting the finishing touches on his new store. Two new chimneys have been added the past week. He hopes to open out in the early fall.

CAMBRAY.
(From Our Own Correspondent.)
The beautiful home of Mr. and Mrs. S. Bagshaw was all in a flutter on Tuesday evening, when they invited a large number of young people to meet Dr. and Mrs. Smith, of Montreal. The evening was spent very pleasantly, various games were indulged in, also singing and music. A very tasty lunch was served and the jolly party broke up at midnight, singing praises of Mr. and Mrs. Bagshaw's kind hospitality.

Mr. J. Clark, of Buffalo, is visiting friends in the village this week.
Owing to the very wet weather on the 12th a number of our faithful Orangemen did not take in the walk at Peterboro, which was a sad disappointment.

The event of last week at Eden was the raising of Mr. Garnet Treleaven's fine new barn. Mr. Treleaven, of Bevelton, was in charge, and everything went off without a hitch. In the evening a dance was held and was greatly enjoyed by the young folks from many miles around.

A comedy company struck one night this week and played two nights in the Orange hall. The attendance was very small, which showed that such a light class of entertainment does not take in our midst.

One of the noblest and most highly respected farmers of the district passed away on Wednesday last, when Mr. James Moore joined the great majority. His death, although unexpected, has caused great grief. A good and true man has passed away after a long and useful life. The funeral took place from his late residence in Ops on Friday last to Lindsay cemetery.

The annual picnic under the auspices of the Presbyterian church, was held in Sinclair's grove on the 6th. It was a typical July afternoon, with blue skies and bright sunshine, and the grounds are an ideal spot for a picnic, a most enjoyable time was spent. A most sumptuous repast was provided by the ladies of the congregation and was thoroughly enjoyed by all. Cambray brass band was in attendance and rendered a number of choice selections. The most interesting feature of the day was a game of baseball between the young men and the married. The score was 19-11 in favor of the single men. The game was not played under very strict rules, but was very exciting and of great interest.

Mrs. Cule, of Toronto, is spending a pleasant holiday with her friend Miss Ida Tompkins.

Miss Hannah Rogers and Miss Lilian Irwin, who have been teaching schools near Gooderham, are spending their summer vacation with friends in this vicinity.

The members of the public library are holding a garden party in Mr. D. Sinclair's beautiful grove on the evening of the 27th. Cambray brass band will be in attendance, also noted clowns and first-class singers will take part in the evening's programme. Every body come and have a good time.

Mrs. White and the daughter Vera and Miss White, of Toronto, are visiting at Mr. W. B. Greenaway's, of Eden.

Miss Sinclair and Miss Webster took in the garden party at Oakwood last week and report a good time.

Miss Ethel, of Lindsay, the Party Sound district, is spending her summer vacation with her sister, Mrs. Wm. Sinclair.

A picnic got up by the Eden young people was held at the lake on Tuesday afternoon despite the inclemency of the weather.

Successful Music Pupils.
Miss Galbraith has been successful in passing the following pupils in the recent examinations by the College of Music: Miss Elsie Harden, (honors); Miss Flossie McArthur, (honors); May Theburn, (honors); Violet Topley, (honors).

Then it was Easy.
It was on the Yalu.
"Charge!" roared the Japanese general.
"The little brown men hesitated.
"Imagine you are St. Louis hotel-keepers," continued the officer.
Thus stimulated they charge wonderfully.

CLOVER AS A FARM CROP.

RESULTS OF EXPERIMENTS CONDUCTED AT GUELPH COLLEGE.

Enriches the Soil and Renders it Vastly More Productive.

Clover is one of Ontario's most valuable farm crops. It is generally recognized by Ontario farmers to be a heavy yielder of hay, which furnishes a large amount of valuable food constituents. Its beneficial effects upon the soil, however, do not seem to be so clearly understood. Scientists, who have made a careful study of the influence of clover on the soil, tell us that after large crops have been removed from the land, the soil is actually richer in nitrogen after growing clover than it was before, owing to the large amount of nitrogen which the clover roots have obtained from the air. As a rule, farmers grow clover and timothy together, and are therefore unable to ascertain the comparative influence of each of these crops on the soil.

We have conducted a series of experiments at the Agricultural College Guelph, on three different clover crops, in order to ascertain the comparative value of clover and grass for crop production. We first grew clover and grasses upon separate plots and removed the crops after which the land was plowed and other crops were sown. The results, therefore, show the influence of the roots remaining in the soil upon the productivity of crops following the clover and the grasses. In 1902, barley was sown after each of four varieties of clovers and three varieties of grasses in four different places in our experimental grounds. The average results of the four tests in pounds of barley per acre were as follows: Red Clover, 1716; Lucerne, 1450; Alsike Clover, 1427; Mammoth Red Clover, 1408; Meadow Fescue Grass, 1968; Orchard Grass, 1015; and Timothy, 312. It will therefore be seen that the Red Clover sod gave an increase over the Timothy sod of 570 pounds, or nearly 12 bushels per acre.

In another experiment which was completed in 1900, in which winter wheat was sown on both clover and grass soils, it was found that an average of 3194 pounds of wheat per acre was obtained from the clover sod and only 2300 pounds from the grass sod. In 1899, a mixture of oats and barley was sown on clover and grass soils. The results were very marked, as an average of 2256 pounds of mixed grains per acre was obtained from the clover sod, and only 1078 pounds of mixed grains per acre from the grass sod.

By averaging the results of these experiments, we find that the crop grown on the clover sod gave an increase over the crop grown on the grass sod by fully 50 per cent.

The results of these experiments help us to appreciate the beneficial influence on the soil from growing clover. It also indicates the suitability of a properly cultivated clover sod as a preparation for winter wheat or for spring grain.

Cement Walks in Onemee.

The village fathers of Onemee are adopting modern methods. Last week they awarded a contract for 15,000 feet of cement walks on the main street of the village to Mr. J. J. Miller, of this town, who is erecting the new High School there. Three tenders were sent in for the walks, as follows: Jas. Chalmers, Lindsay, 10 3-8c including window sills; J. J. Miller, Lindsay, 10 1-2c; and 10c per lineal foot for curbing around areas. The walks will be eight feet in width, and will greatly improve the appearance of the village.

Two Alarms of Fire.

Saturday about 10:30 a.m. the firemen responded to an alarm sent in from box 21, at Queen-st. church. On arrival they were informed by Mr. Fremont Crandell, who had been in the vicinity for some time, that there was no fire and that no person had been near the box sufficiently long to ring in an alarm. Shortly before 12 o'clock another alarm was rung in from box 15 and this time the services of the brigade were needed a frame dwelling owned by Mrs. McCrimmon on Russell-st. west, being apparently caught in the cave of the house, and but for the good work of Mr. Jas. Tevins, a neighbor, with his garden hose, the damage done would have been considerable. He kept the flames in subjection till the firemen arrived, and half a minute's work with the heavy stream put an end to the danger. We think it well to point out to the Council that the continued neglect of the fire alarm system is likely to lead to serious consequences one of these days. Spurious alarms are becoming too frequent, and the result will be a lessening of enthusiasm on the part of the firemen. One of these days or nights a fire will occur in one of our mills, or in some inflammable surroundings, and the minute lost by the firemen because they expected another false alarm will lead to a loss of thousands. False alarms are sent in because the keys are left in the boxes instead of being placed in the proper receptacle on the side of the box and protected with a sheet of glass. We are informed by one of the firemen that not one of the boxes is protected. Somebody is guilty of neglect of duty, and the Council should get after him with a sharp stick if they wish to escape censure.

AS ARMED PIRATES

Britains May Treat Russia's Red Sea Cruisers as Such.

BRITISH ADMIRAL'S VIEW

Cannot Permit Merchantmen to Be Molested By Vessels Which Cannot Be Admitted to Be Men-of-War—Prompt Action Expected—The Public Is Not in the Mood For Trifling Losses at Mottin.

London, July 20.—Once again the leading English newspaper editorials are in the gravest tones on the Russian seizure of British vessels. Even the conservative Standard declares that the nation looks to the Foreign Office to take more effective action than the ordinary conventions of diplomatic intercourse prescribe.

"The case is not one for fastidious treatment. If nothing is done officially to relieve the painful strain, the irritation of this country may grow into stubborn resentment. We cannot, even for the sake of peace, sit down under a series of undisputedly provocative measures."

A similar warlike tone pervades almost every other paper. The Morning Post says Great Britain cannot tolerate the seizure of the steamer Malacca except by the abandonment of her self-respect as a great power.

The paper declares that either the volunteer fleet steamer St. Petersburg is an armed pirate or Russia has violated the Treaty of Paris.

Admiral Fremantle's View.

Admiral Sir Edmund Robert Fremantle, in The Daily Chronicle, says "The crisis no doubt is grave, but I hold that our safest course would be at once to inform the Russian Government that our cruisers have orders to prevent our merchantmen being interfered with by vessels which we cannot admit to be men-of-war, and to request that their proceedings be disavowed, and that they be immediately recalled to Russian ports after their prizes have been released."

"Palmerston," says The Post, significantly, "would not have required half an hour to make up his mind what to do in such a case."

All details in connection with the seizures of ships by the Russian volunteer fleet of steamers are printed in the most prominent type. No such bitter feeling has been aroused in the English press since the German Emperor's telegram to the Boers.

Intense Apprehension.

Intense apprehension prevails at Cardiff and other British coal ports, and the chartering of vessels for the Far East is practically at a standstill.

From all sides come urgent demands that the Government take swift action to prevent a recurrence of seizures by the volunteer fleet. "Russian Piracy," as one paper heads it, takes precedence of all other news.

The Daily News declares that the Cabinet yesterday drew up a strongly worded protest which will be forwarded to St. Petersburg. The Cabinet, the paper says, had an interchange of views with the Admiralty and a program of action in the case of eventualities was decided upon. It was decided also to protest to Turkey.

Another Cruiser Goes.

London, July 20.—The Constantinople correspondent of The Daily Mail, in a despatch dated July 18, says: "A Russian cruiser has just passed through Odessa with several guns covered with canvas on her deck. She also carried torpedo tubes."

Russians Lost 2,000.

General Kuroki's Headquarters in the Field, via Fusan, July 20.—More Russian troops were engaged in Monday's battle at Maotien Pass were probably double the number of those which took part in the fight at the Yalu River, while opposed to them were only one brigade and one battalion of the Japanese forces. The Russian loss is estimated at 2,000. The burial of the dead continues. The Japanese casualties aggregated 300. The engagement has conspicuously demonstrated the wonderful efficiency of the Japanese infantry. They proved incomparably the better marksmen, with more initiative, and they outfought and outgeneraled the Russians on every point.

Japanese Losses Were 200.

Tokio, July 20.—The Japanese losses in the fighting at Mottien Pass and its vicinity Sunday were 293 killed or wounded. The Japanese lost four officers and thirty-nine men wounded. The casualties all occurred in the second division. Gen. Kuroki mentions, but he does not enumerate, the trophies captured. He estimated the Russian losses as exceeding his own.

When the Russians finally retreated, they were pursued by the entire Japanese line. Seven battalions of the enemy made a halt on the heights of Tawan and with four guns checked the Japanese pursuit.

Japs Fought on Without Officers.

The attack on Hsiangatang began at 8 o'clock in the morning. A battalion of Russian infantry and a squadron of cavalry assaulted the Japanese company on outpost there. The Russians received reinforcements until they were a regiment strong. The Japanese resisted doggedly. All their officers were either killed or wounded, but still the men fought on. The Japanese finally received reinforcements, and the Russians retired at 5 o'clock in the afternoon.

That Fake Again.

Che Foo, July 20.—A junk with eight Russians and fifty Chinese on board arrived here yesterday afternoon, five days from Port Arthur. The Russians refused to talk, but the Chinese say that on July 11 and 12 the Japanese captured and occupied with 4,000 men one of the eastern forts near Port Arthur. Before reinforcements arrived the Russians cut off the 4,000 troops in the fort and exploded mines which resulted in the killing of every Japanese soldier there.

Russian Cruiser Sunk.

St. Petersburg, July 20.—A story has been going the rounds that three cruisers rejected by Germany were transferred to the Russian service, and joined the Vladivostok squadron. One of the cruisers and a torpedo boat, it is added, struck mines and went down. The story is not confirmed. The Admiralty has no news of any vessel having been lost at Vladivostok.

After the Japanese.

Tokio, July 20.—The armored cruisers Rossia, Rurik and Gromobol of the Russian Vladivostok squadron, passed through the Tauriga Strait into the Pacific Ocean to-day.

REPORT OF LORD STRATHCONA.

Good Opening in Great Britain For Canned Eggs.

London, July 20.—The annual report of Lord Strathcona has been received, and will form the weekly report of the Department of Trade and Commerce for Aug. 8. The High Commissioner forwards extracts from the returns of the British Board of Trade which indicate a very gratifying development in Canadian trade.

Speaking of the butter trade, the High Commissioner says that it is generally conceded that the standard and quality of Canadian butter have been improved and the refrigerator service has likewise been found of a more satisfactory character. There is an increasing demand for apples.

The High Commissioner reports there is a good opening for canned eggs in gallon tins, for which the hatching and confectionery trade are capable of great development, has sprung up during the last year in bottled fruits. The report also speaks very highly of the samples of Canadian tobacco which have been sent over and examined by experts in London, who made a decidedly favorable report.

ESSEX WIND STRUCK.

Houses and Barns Unroofed and Barns Struck By Lightning.

Walkerville, July 20.—A cyclone swept over the county between Wolf's Hotel and Walkerville Monday afternoon. Trees were uprooted and broken and barns demolished. The barn of Joseph Ballenger, a Sandwich East farmer, was struck by lightning. The structure burned, entailing a loss of $400.

The farmer, was unroofed by a storm, but fortunately the inmates escaped harm. Four Windsor young men who were in the boathouse owned by Alexander St. Louis, on the river front, had a thrilling time. The storm ripped the boathouse to pieces. The party was blown into the river, where they remained throughout the hailstorm.

Statement Utrave.

Montreal, July 20.—Judge Winchester has arrived in Montreal to wind up the Grand Trunk Pacific alien labor commission, and take up the enquiry into the recent flood of Italian pauper immigrants which invaded Montreal. Sir William Mulock wired Judge Winchester in the following terms: "Have been asked in the House whether the statement of Mr. Griffith is correct that Grand Trunk or Grand Trunk Pacific was furnished daily with verbatim copies of evidence taken by you in connection with present enquiry. What are the facts?" To this Judge Winchester replied: "No evidence whatever has been furnished any one in connection with enquiry. I have myself only received certain portions of it on which to found my interim reports. Griffith's statement untrue."

Wife's Body in Fire Ruins.

Halifax, July 20.—William S. Robinson, charged with the murder of his wife, Theresa Robinson, on the night of May 25th, at Burlington, N.S., was brought before Judge Townsend, Kentville, yesterday. Robinson's house was burned to the ground and the remains of Mrs. Robinson found in the debris mutilated. Robinson, who was first at the scene of the fire, did not attempt to rescue his wife, but went to a neighbor's some distance away, and gave the alarm.

Deaths From Heat.

New York, July 20.—The hot wave which struck the city Monday, bringing death and prostration, increased yesterday to the highest temperature of the year and added more victims to the list. Five deaths from heat occurred in Brooklyn between Monday and noon yesterday.

They Are at Liberty.

Toronto, July 19.—At 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon Samuel Thompson, Thomas Kerr and Abraham Cahoon walked out of the Central Prison. They had been sentenced by Judge Winchester to two years for ballot-stuffing, conspiracy, etc., at the last municipal elections. None of them took any the worse for their confinement.

Fell Off a Bridge.

Brockville, July 19.—A man named James Beggs was brought to the General Hospital yesterday in a serious condition. He went to sleep on the bridge across the canal at Cardinal and fell off. He sustained a compound fracture of the thigh, hip and chin and numerous bruises. He is about 30 years of age.

In the "King's Prize" Competition Pte. Neil Smith, of the Essex Fusiliers, who has been doing things at Bisley, made a possible in the first stage at the 200 yards range.

"His Majesty the King's Prize" has never been won by a Canadian. It is the most coveted of all Bisley honors, consequently of all shooting honors in the world. To win it a man must excel at the 200, 500, 600, 800, 900 and 1,000 yards ranges.

The King's Prize was instituted in 1901, replacing the "Queen's Prize," which had been given since 1860. The "Queen's" was won only once by a Canadian, that was when Pte. Hayhurst, of the Hamilton 18th, brought it home in 1895.

The winner gets £250 given by the King; the N.R.A. gold medal, and the N.R.A. gold badge.

Canadians at 200 Yards.

Shooting at 200 yards, Pte. Neil Smith, of the Essex Fusiliers, and Staff-Sergeant T. S. Bayles, of the 10th Royal Grenadiers, each made a possible. Other scores were: Baynton 29, Blair 32, Capt. J. Crowe 33, Staff-Sergeant C. R. Crowe 31, Davidson 32, Dillon 32, Gardner 34, Goudie 32, McGregor 31, Mortimer 30, Perry 31, Scott 30, Youhill 32, Fowler 29, Gould 20, Tyers 29, Westman 32, Moore 34, Will 32.

Besides the Canadian scores, there were 25 possibles at the 200 yards range and 60 cards were returned with 34.

Sgt. Fowler, of the 12th York Rangers, made 29; Sgt. W. Gould, of Guelph, made 20; Pte. H. Tyers, of the 10th Royal Grenadiers, made 29; Pte. Westman made 32.

"You've got a good smack of the plate in you, Jack, I fear."

"Perhaps. And you of the knight errant. Well, fortunately we can each of us sail with our own particular ideal in front of us and still keep together and work together. I fight for gold, to win wealth for myself and my sweetheart; you fight for glory, to win your country's thanks. Perhaps in the event neither of us may get what he hopes."

"Perhaps not. Anyway, we can do no more than try. Where can we get a ship?"

"Peter Waltham's brig, the Bristol Merchant, is nearly ready for sea. He will be glad enough to let us have her for such a venture."

"Then let's go and see him now. We have had no sleep tonight; but, never mind, we can make up for it tomorrow."

And so it happened that Peter Waltham, who had given us our supper the night before, was called upon to furnish a breakfast also. Manoa, whose wealth had lured the father to his grave, was now summoning the son.

Heaven grant that our fortune be better than that of Captain Harry Ireland, who had gone before us.

CHAPTER VIII.

The stout ship Bristol Merchant, 118 tons burden, Alexander Ireland, master, has dropped down the channel in three tides, has taken her departure from Lundy island and is now well out of domestic navigation. Astern is a thin black wavy line rising above the waste of waters, the last we shall see of the iron bound coast of Devon for many a long day. Ahead, now blocked out of sight by the straining spinnaker beneath the bowsprit, now dazzling our eyes with its flashing glory, is the burning yellow sun, just diving over the edge of the world, luring us on, as it were, with visions of a land where everything is bright and golden as himself. What a beacon for a crew of eager gold hunters!

—wotay master, Peter Waltham, had gladly availed himself of our proposal. Fitting out began less than 12 hours after the pagan had told his tale, and in a fortnight we were ready for sea. Ninety-three men were lying about the decks, drunk as lords, when we first loosed our two topsails to drop down the river and three sober ones and five officers, 101 all told, and a crew of which we were proud.

We made a bad hunt to begin with, getting up past the Leeward Islands and into the great gulf which lies beyond them before the westward course was given up. Then, being convinced that we had overshot our mark and that the river of our search was behind us, Alec gave the word to 'bout ship, and we made our way slowly back again in the face of a teasing succession of easterly winds.

The heat at times was awful, and crowded as we were the atmosphere 'tween decks was anything but restoring to our unfortunately numerous sick men. Scarcely three days passed without some poor scurvy rotted corpse being thrown to the sharks, whose black fins never stirred from our wake.

Matters got worse and worse till the grumbling of the crew came to a head in open mutiny.

The sultry heat of the day was almost killing. Not a breath of air tarnished the brazen sea, but over the mangrove bushes which fringed the low shore to westward hung a sullen white steam which shut out the country from our eyes. One would have thought that the weather was too hot for any exertion that could possibly be avoided, but discord, like the devil, can live in any clime, and on this broiling day the sound ones of the crew made their way off in a body.

A little Irishman whom Alec had taken in pity from the streets of Bris-

"Boose for yourselves. Mutineers shall never command the Bristol Merchant," to, where he was starving, was their spokesman, and his election to that post was not undeserved, as he had by his vapors stirred up the whole mutiny.

The brown faced crowd surged against the break of the poop on which there were only five officers and the steersman standing beside his idly swaying tiller.

"Stop, men! Far enough!" cried Alec in authoritative tones. "What is it you want?"

"Many things, Master Captain," said the Irishman, with an insolent laugh; "everything a man can want—health, comfort and wealth. There's scurvy marks on Ivery man av us, an' go wondher, seeln that the only green food that has passed the lips av us since leavin Bristol river is the slime of the wather butts. A dacent pig would turn up his nose at our quarters. And as for treasure, yez might as well seek it in the great bog av Ballymore as here. So, savin yer honor's presence, all hands forrad means to take a jaunt ashore on the oland we drooped yestere'en an thin to cruise for what we can git higher up on the Spanish main. There's no call for trouble or head breakin," he added, turning to the rest of us, "though sure it would be a pleasant diversion, but whin a score av honest lads has died like sheep wid the rot it's toime for the rest to spake. An so my mates here has instructed me to say that av they doesn't git their way given, why, thin they'll jist take it."

All eyes turned on Alec, who had heard the fellow out with a patience which surprised me. He went a step or two farther aft, leaned on the rail of the little stairway which led to the cabin below and then answered them, speaking quietly and without allowing a tinge of annoyance to show itself in his voice.

"You make matters far worse than they are," he said. "A few men have died, and that I grieve for, but scurvy always boards a ship on a long voyage like this, and not a man of you but knew that when he pocketed his bounty on Bristol quay. Now hear what I have to say. We must be very near the mouth of the river we seek, and we shall find it. For six days the Bristol Merchant will sail southward. If by that time the pagan has not pointed out the river's mouth to you I shall steer north again and harry the Spanish towns. Now back with you to your own end of the ship!"

A sudden murmur rose among the crew, and several of the bolder spirits began to climb the poop ladders, headed by the spokesman. Without moving from the cabin stairs Alec held up his hand for silence. The fools thought he was going to give way and halted to listen.

"Hear me!" he cried in ringing tones. "You think to take possession of the ship by mere weight of numbers. Well, you may do it, and if you do you may hold her for perhaps 30 seconds—not more. Before a hand can reach me I shall be down this ladder and into the powder room, and one shot from this"—and he drew a wheel lock pistol from his pocket—"will blow us all into eternity together. Choose for yourselves. You know what my word is worth, and I swear to you that while Alexander Ireland lives mutineers shall never command the Bristol Merchant. Now come on if you will!"

The mob of men wavered a moment and then drew back slowly to the waist.

"Good!" said Alec. "You think better of it. But I am going to make an example of the arch mischief maker. Send that man aft."

Half by persuasion, half by blows, the Irishman was forced up the poop ladder.

"Boutswain, heave him overboard!"

"Aye, aye, sir!"

Willie Trehallion's knotted left hand grasped the little Irishman by the neck, and his iron hook slipped into the band of his breeches. A struggling body shot through the air, bumped on the bulwark and slid with a splash into the warm sea beneath. There was a scurrying of black triangular fins, a shriek of agony, a few ruddy bubbles rising to the oily surface, and the greatest enemy to the ship's peace was silenced forever.

A hush fell on the crew. Each man looked at his neighbor, and then they all stole quietly forward again and had the calm continued more mischief might have been hatched among their whispering groups. But Alec's keen eye detected a ruffling of the glassy waters to the northward, and that was our salvation.

"Trim sail, the watch!" he cried.

There was not a pause. The men sprang to their stations, braced round the yards to catch the first of the coming breeze, and in ten minutes we were bowling merrily along. The mutiny was a thing of the past.

The wind lifted the mists from the shore, and before we had way on the ship an hour the pagan, who was standing in the beak, began to dance and gesticulate in the most extraordinary manner, laughing and pointing with his finger to the land on our bow. Half a dozen of us climbed into the round tops and thence aloft till we perched on the yards, from which eminence we could see a long steelike ribbon of water stretching away through the dark forest till it was lost in the haze of the dim distance.

That shining thread was the river of our search. Up its windings lay the kingdom of El Dorado and Manoa, its capital, the city that was built of gold.

CHAPTER IX.

At the sight of that band of shining water a spontaneous cheer arose from every throat on board. Discord and dissension fled discomfited before the advance of the visions of wealth that our hopes saw mirrored in the glassy surface of the river.

We hauled our wind somewhat and sailed to the mouth. Job Trehallion (grinning till his scar jagged up like a saw) was sent with an eager boat's crew to sound, and before the first star of night had thrown its reflection in the water round us we were anchored, and the ripples that lapped against our wooden walls had not a grain of salt in them. We had left the trackless ocean to follow where the river should lead us.

Nets of mangrove roots formed an impenetrable thicket on either bank, though it was no easy task to tell where the slug flowing water ended and the liquid mud of the shore began.

Loathsome reptiles—which some of us took to be dragons, till the knowing ones told us they were only crocodiles—lay half in and half out of the evil smelling brown water, winking their lazy eyes at us and taking charge in a slow, cumbersome way of every scrap that was flung overboard. Tree toads barked, beasts of prey howled in the distant forests, foul night birds croaked from the thickets of the shores, and from the evil smelling stream there arose a putrid yellow mist thick and rank enough to choke one.

"It's a fever trap we've got into," growled Willie Trehallion, shifting his tangled black wig from the pocket where he had carried it during the heat of the day to his head, "an if we've no more'n half a score o' men down by morning's light we'll be uncommon lucky, say I!"

"Don't croak, you unsatisfied old raven," said Alec lightly, but he looked grave none the less.

"The pagan," put in Job, with his usual grin, apologetic in meaning this time, "says this is only one o' the mouths, an we'll open into a great, broad river soon, where you can't see both banks at once. An there baint any o' these yere mists on it, he says, but limmins on the trees an other fruits enough to feast an army, an all for the plucking of them."

"Go to the forencastle and tell them that, Job," cried Alec, "and serve out that."

a good, stiff dram to all hands and say that they can kill the stench by firing a few grains of powder now and then. Stay; I'll come with you and tell them that he who keeps a stout heart may laugh at fevers. They only attack cowards."

He went forward, and Willie Trehallion, the other two officers and I went down to the cabin for our meal, where we were shortly joined by Alec, who reported that the crew were all as merry as pipers at the prospect of making another step toward our golden goal.

When the meal was over, the devil came and whispered in my ear—at least on no other view can I explain my folly in taking up the dice, Satan's own bones, they say—and proposing a throw apiece to sample our luck, sinister or dexter.

Alec, saying with a laugh that he did not believe in such omens, nevertheless humored our folly. He rattled the box first and dung on the table deuce ace.

One of the officers threw a pair of deuces!

The other threw a pair of aces!

Willie Trehallion threw deuce ace! The heat had worn off, and the cabin was full of cold, clammy mist, but the perspiration streamed from my face as though the sun were high above our mastheads. My hand trembled like a palsied dotard's as I took up the fateful leather box, and for a full minute I rattled the box without daring to turn them down.

The others waited in breathless silence and watched intently. At last I took a deep breath, clapped the mouth of the box down on the table and then slowly withdrew it.

"Aces again!" cried Willie Trehallion. "The Lord have mercy on me, a sinful mariner!"

Willie's cry was followed by an interval of dead silence. We stood staring at one another as though spell-bound.

A shout of laughter from the fore-castle broke the charm, and in a burst of sudden frenzy Alec threw box and dice together through a porthole into the fog without and began to chaff us for our superstitious fears.

"Cheer up, Jack," he cried, clapping me hard on the shoulder. "The devil hasn't got us yet."

I shuddered and drew back without answering.

"Come, come," said Alec, with some show of anger. "Don't let us have any more of this nonsense. I was a fool to take any part in your child's game."

"The Roman admiral threw his omen giving chickens overboard," said I gloomily, "and two-thirds of his fleet was destroyed."

Alec turned to me sharply, and there was a taunting smile on his face.

"Turned pedant, Jack? I didn't know you were such a scholar. Perhaps you'll favor us with an account of the circumstances. The foolish birds refused their corn, if I remember rightly. Correct me if I am wrong."

"I'm no scholar," I answered angrily, for his taunt annoyed me. "Alec Ireland was the goody boy that did his lessons."

"While his friends amused themselves with tap wenchies and pastry cooks' lasses."

"Maybe," said I with a sneer. "But Jack Topp is gallant enough to prefer a pretty lass to a Greek root any day."

"Both good things in their way. But come, Jack, stand up, put your hands behind you and tell us all about this heathen fellow. Don't tremble so, man. There's no schoolmaster behind you with the birch. I'll correct all stupid errors you may make. Ha, ha, ha!"

How long this unseemly wrangle would have continued I do not know, probably till it came to blows. The two other officers had been listening with silent dismay, and honest Willie Trehallion had been looking from one to the other and pulling the skin cap about over his smooth head till his scarce fairly shone. What it was all about he knew no more than a powder tub, but he thought it about time to break into the quarrel, and maybe he was none too soon.

"Masters, masters!" he cried. "Ha! done with this unseemliness! The quarrel on deck there might be excuse for; the quarrel down here none. Here you're going at it tongs an hammer, hammer an tongs, fathom o' one, six foot o' t'other, till there baint a bean to choose between you. And this, too, when we ought all to be knit together by reason o' common enemies."

Alec turned away impatiently, but he did not interrupt the boatswain, who went on:

"Captain Ireland, many a good ship's been cast away through her captain quarrelling with his officers. Master Topp, an officer who can't keep a civil tongue for his superiors oftentimes gets hanged. Job, you graceless loon, what cause to come grinning down here for?"

"Glass run out, uncle. My watch over."

"Captain Ireland, then it's your next watch, an I hope you'll pardon an old mariner for plain speaking when it was needed."

Without a word Alec left the cabin and went on deck.

Through the whole of that watch I lay in my bunk brooding, brooding, brooding. To quarrel with my sworn shipmate, and about such a trifle too! Fool that I was! That we had had a serious wrangle and one whose consequences might easily bode ill for the success of our venture there was no doubt, but on looking back on what had passed I was almost as much fogged as Willie Trehallion to know what the cause of it all was. Fool, I called myself, and, again, fool!

Nep came to me and shoved his cold nose against my cheek, and I rubbed his coarse, scrubby coat and coaxed him to lie down. I was grateful to him, for I felt less wretched with a companion, though he were nothing but a cat. But then Nep was not as other cats.

After his watch was out Alec came below, and by the dim light of the horn lantern which hung to the beams I could see him pacing the other side of the cabin thwart ships. He could not see me, and I gave no sign of being awake. Presently he began to smile to himself, and then, turning his gait, made straight for my bunk.

"Jack, old boy, I was the bigger fool of the two."

"No, Alec; I was by far."

"No, I. It was my throwing the dice box through the port that started it."

"I proposed the dice."

"Come, come; we won't dispute again. I'll test you with jacks of ale."

We tied; I won, and from that moment the quarrel was never mentioned.

Next morning nine men were down with fevers, several others were undoubtedly sickening for them, and the rest were so scared that they were pretty sure to catch the ill on the first opportunity.

There was no wind to drive the fetid mists away, and so we had to get a boat and tow the Bristol Merchant up stream by our own exertions. Anything was better than letting the men stand trembling in idleness. But it was not till past midday that the steaming air was tempered with a breeze from the sea, which filled our sails and gave us headway against the sluggish current.

For five days did we tow, pole and sail through this awful canal. Nine men died. Almost all were sick, and but for the promise of the pagan and the dread of Alec's pistol in the magazine they would have turned the ship's beak to the sea again at any hazard.

On the afternoon of the sixth day we opened out into a broad, clear flow-

AUTOMOBILE NUISANCE ON COUNTRY ROADS.

Farm Journal.—The topic this month is again the automobile, or the "woman's terror." We are hearing a great deal about what a nuisance the thing is in rural districts, in all parts of the United States. From across the river comes a report of an accident to the Methodist minister of a small town, who was returning home one morning from church when two automobilists came around a curve and bore down upon him at a two-minute gait. He pulled his horse back on its haunches to the side of the road, but at the sound of the horn the horse broke a trace and started pell-mell through the town. Headed off by the village blacksmith, the horse, with the carriage attached, attempted to vault a rail fence. The animal broke a leg, the minister was severely bruised and cut, and the carriage wrecked. The horse was killed later to end its sufferings. The minister was rendered unconscious by the fall, and it was at first thought that he was seriously injured.

An Ohio subscriber writes:—"I wish you would keep on agitating this subject until our law-makers will take hold and compel auto owners to build roads to run the wicked things on, so we farmers can go out on our own roads without risking our lives. I am afraid to take my team out only when the road is too muddy for the auto. I have a fine mare, my wife and daughter could drive anywhere; she is afraid of nothing only the auto; now they cannot drive anywhere."

We can hardly express our indignation when we hear of the wrong done our people by the reckless drivers of these road machines. We know that farmers, their wives and daughters are being driven off the best public roads and forced into the byways, or obliged to stay home, or go on rainy days when the autos are not out, and the situation is getting worse all the time. Not one-half of the auto drivers, hold up for frightened teams, so one never knows when he is going to meet a crazy racer.

An Indiana subscriber writes:—"If a wild animal should escape from some circus and run at large on the public highways, the farmers would be apt to turn out with guns and drive it out of the country. If a tractor engine is run on a public road the engineer is compelled to stop at a certain distance from an approaching team, whether there is danger or not. He has to get out of the road and shut off all steam. The automobile is a cross between the ferocious beast and the traction engine which is governed by the laws which apply to both. However, the auto is not all to blame. Perhaps the goggle-eyed spectre who sits therein may have to answer for its depredations in a class somewhat warmer than ours."

Another Ohio subscriber writes:—"In this part of the country, it is not safe for a lady to drive out on the public roads for fear she will meet one. There are very few horses that will not get frightened at the sight, sound and smell of one. This comes from one of our New York folks; 'it seems to me that no racing speed should be allowed on public roads by any sort of vehicles, autos or wheelbarrows. I would suggest that the laws be changed to forbid the use of roads to any machine that can be driven faster than eight or ten miles an hour, and upon complaint proper authorities may give expert examination to any machine, and if it can be made to go faster it should be condemned. Let racers stay on race tracks. A correspondent of the Ohio Farmer writes:—"It makes a man think to be thrown from a wagon suddenly as one of these scare horses comes along. I think my horse noticed it at least a quarter of a mile away, and as near as I can calculate it came as fast as forty or fifty miles an hour. I have no doubt my horse could have been driven on the streets of Cleveland, but he could not stand that line monster in the quiet country. This bright sunny day has dried up the roads so that it would be nice to take a ride for pleasure; but that is not safe when the roads are dry and the weather fine, because the scare horse is very likely to be out. Four of us went twenty miles to Akron and back one day last year but it was a rainy day and the autos were not out. I don't enjoy having to stay at home when the weather is pleasant and do my riding about when it rains. But what can I do about it? The auto driver says I have just as good a right to the road as you, it is true if he does not have anything with him that is a nuisance, but the auto is a nuisance on our country roads. If I want to exercise my bull on the busy streets of Cleveland, would they not declare it a nuisance, and I would have to take him away? The bull is not adapted to city conditions nor the auto to those in the country."

And this leads us to say that the opposition to the automobiles on country roads—they always take the best—will never cease, but will grow better all the time, until laws are passed in every state requiring all drivers of such machines to keep their rate of speed within reasonable bounds, to fetch up at the side of the road and halt when they meet teams stop their engines and do whatever is within their power to avoid accidents, and to conserve the lives of those who drive horses. The auto racer who recklessly causes a runaway accident must be deemed an outlaw and not only fined, but be made to pay for all injury done, to the last penny, and the worst cases should be sent to jail into the bargain. Human life and limbs are too precious to be wantonly sacrificed to the auto craze.

THE DUNDONALD CASE.

When Lord Wolseley, as commander-in-chief of the British army, differed with Lord Landsdowne, Lord Landsdowne used language which applies directly to the present case, and particularly to Lord Dundonald's demand that his report be published against the Minister's wishes:

"In another part of the statement of the noble Viscount he told the House that he thought it was extremely necessary in the interests of public safety that when the commander-in-chief and the secretary of state for war were unable to agree, the public should be taken into our confidence, and that we should leave the public, as it were, to choose between the two. I am afraid that this is somewhat a counsel of perfection. The noble and gallant viscount thinks that the government of this country would be possible, that the administration of the War Office would be practicable, if, whenever the secretary of state and the commander-in-chief were not at one, their arguments were to be publicly paraded and to form the subject of controversies in the press or on the platform? I cannot conceive a more fatal arrangement than there should be disputes of this kind in the eye of the public."

And Lord Salisbury, whose counsel ought to have some influence with Canadian Conservatives who look for political guidance a shade better than that of Sam Hughes, put the case in even stronger terms:

"At the end we must have an army governed by Parliament, governed by a Minister who is responsible to Parliament, and in any difference of opinion, whatever it may be, the commander-in-chief must be a subordinate of the secretary of state. Military men may not like that, but there it is. It is one of the bed rock circumstances of the situation, something from which you cannot depart; and you must devote your minds to making it work, and it has worked in the main hitherto very well. And take care that it produces in the future, as it has produced in the past, results which it would have been impossible to produce in any foreign country. I feel that this debate will be lost upon us unless we take care to guide ourselves by that chief and predominant principle. In speech after speech from military men, men who know the language and spirit of the War Office, it is easy to detect a desire to solve by military men, but any attempt to take the opinion of the expert above the opinion of the politician must, in view of all the circumstances of our constitution, inevitably fail."

That is sound doctrine, and Lord Dundonald has put himself in precisely the situation so aptly described by Lord Salisbury, and so effectively ridiculed by Lord Landsdowne.

EDITORIAL NOTES

Russian war vessels have been stopping British vessels in the Red Sea. That sort of thing may provoke trouble.

Chicago Western American: One of the signs of the times—M. V. McInnes sent forward from Detroit on July 8, forty-two settlers and four cars of stock and effects from Michigan to western Canada.

With £50,000 men laid off work, and big reductions in the pay of tens of thousands of others, the Dingley tariff is also at present offering "a record, not a prospect." And the record differs from what the prospect promises.

Now it is disclosed by the documents laid on the table of the House that Lieut.-Col. Gregory, of whom the Tories have been making so much, was suspended for insubordination while in camp at Niagara, and ordered to return to his home. One of these days it will be recognized that a militiaman owes the duty of obedience and respect to superiors, whether he be private or officer.

The Statistical Year Book of Canada for 1903 has been issued, and will prove of great value to the busy man who seeks facts about the Dominion. Mr. Johnson has added to the work many tables containing much information about Great Britain, the colonies and foreign countries, which are exceedingly useful for purposes of comparison. It would be hard to compress more facts into so small a space.

The judgment in the case of the Bell Telephone Company vs. Owen Sound settles, as far as the court can settle it, the question of the right of the Bell Company under the powers granted by Federal legislation to put its wires under the highways of a municipality. The question is one of interest to all towns and cities, and if judgment stands it will put an end to uncertainty as to the powers of municipalities to refuse or grant such privileges.

Weekly Sun: The express companies are not acting wisely, even from their own standpoint, in objecting to the exercise of control through the Railway Commission over rates charged by these private carriers. They will demand that the post-office service be so extended as to render it possible to furnish through a public department a service now controlled by a private corporation. The question is between regulation of a monopoly and its abolition, and it will be the express companies' twin fault if the latter is determined upon.

Japanese chemists are the surprise of the scientific world. The London Lancet says they possess an undoubtedly strong faculty for original research, and they combine this faculty with a sharp-sightedness as to the possibilities of practical application of the fruits of research, and they discuss with a freedom which astonishes the western chemist all the modern abstract theories bearing upon the atomic theory of dissociation, and so forth. To Japanese chemists the medical

Like the waters of Lake Ontario, the waters of Lake Erie are much higher this year than formerly, and are still steadily rising. At Pelee Island, the (Windsor Record says about 500 acres of land may have to be abandoned to the lake. This year the lake is over nineteen inches higher, or than it has been for a number of years past.

Montreal Herald: A correspondent notes that while the London Times is very angry over the use of the word "foreigner," its own shipping reports classify Montreal and Quebec with "foreign" ports. It seems, moreover, that soldiers and sailors at Halifax and Esquimaux are officially classed as "foreign" service. Isn't it shocking?

Stratford Beacon: "I have more faith in the life-giving plowshare than in the death-dealing sword," said Sir William Mulock at the Fielding banquet in Toronto. And to have nine-tenths of the Canadian people. The public usefulness of a Fisher, the best Minister of Agriculture Canada has ever had, far outweighs that of a Dundonald, capable military man though he may be.

Mrs. Ballington Booth recently celebrated in Sing-Song prison the eighth anniversary of the founding of the Volunteer Prisoners' League. Mrs. Booth is known throughout the world as the head and founder of this league and her influence over the most hardened criminals of the land is most remarkable. It is estimated that there are twenty-four thousand convicts who are wearing or have worn the badge of this order, signifying their purpose to reform.

The grocers of Goderich have signed an agreement not to accept any orders on Saturday nights after 8.30 for delivery and the grocers of Seaforth refuse to deliver goods ordered after 8 p.m. on Saturdays. In Montreal, where an effort is being made in behalf of early closing the Witness said: "Many people would be surprised to learn how many assistants in this city are kept at work from six or seven o'clock in the morning until ten or twelve at night, so that their chances of becoming familiar with the children are confined to Sunday when they are not asleep on that day, or too listless to be interested; while their chances of recreation let alone mental or physical improvement are nil."

Hamilton Times: According to a report of the Paris Academy of Medicine, Dr. Albert de Springer has performed wonders in the growth of animals, fruits, and vegetables by the use of electricity. He is said to have produced strawberries as large as pumpkins, guinea pigs the size of prize porkers. Shetland ponies at the dimensions and strength of Normandy draught horses, and the like, and he claims that by his system he will yet be able to take an ordinary baby and stimulate its growth until at maturity it would be able to look into an eight-storey window while standing on the ground. Perhaps when his plan is generally adopted the fellow who packs the small apples, peaches and potatoes in the bottom of the boxes and baskets will be retired from business.

When James J. Hill, of the Great Northern Railway, became convinced, twenty years ago, that diversified industries were necessary if the valley of the Red River of the North was to continue prosperous, he imported $100,000 worth of polled Angus bulls and distributed them among the farmers of the valley. His foresight is to-day apparent in the herds that put the farmers above the fear of failure in the staple, wheat. There are thousands of acres of Western plains, especially the rolling stretches timber mottled and well watered, that touch the foothills of the Rockies, particularly well adapted to horse raising. Horse ranches exist both north and south of the Canadian boundary but an American journal admits that the breeders at Calgary, Moosejaw, Regina and Brandon have the better stock because they imported their stallions and paid more attention to breeding for bone, barrel and blood.

The Crown Lands Department reports the arrival of over 8,000 farm hand immigrants during the first half of the year, exclusive of those who did not report themselves. The Ontario Government is doing what it can to meet the wishes of the farmers in this respect. But it is doubtful if the farmers are doing what they can to solve the hired help problem. Mr. J. A. Aikin, who is one of the correspondents "on the wing" for the Toronto Globe, in an interesting letter to his paper from Oskana, draws attention to the housing problem. He says: "Most farmers in this district want only single men, for the reason that they have no separate house accommodation for married men. I was informed by Henry Robinson, ex-Reeve of Trafalgar that there is practically no provision being made in this country for the married hired men." This lack of accommodation for a man's family, and the fact that few farm-

The new Canadian Militia bill is directly in line with recent British legislation on military matters. Great Britain has abolished the office of Commander-in-Chief of the army and substituted therefor a military council. The Canadian bill abolishes the office of General Officer Commanding, and establishes an advisory council which will work directly with the responsible Minister much the same as under the British system. Under this new plan it is hoped to avoid the friction which has marked the relations of nearly every British G. O. C. with the responsible Minister in this country, no matter which party was in power. A system that is good for Great Britain ought not to be bad for Canada.

TENTING ON THE OLD CAMP GROUND

Or some new beauty spot along the shores of the Kawartha Lakes is now being enjoyed by many citizens who find the fresh air and unrestrained life to be had outdoors in this delightful weather, just what they need. The dull winter months and hard grind of everyday life call for relaxation of this kind.

But a tent, canoes, an ideal camping place and pleasant companions, will not alone satisfy—the food must be varied, generous in quantity, and of first-class quality. Here is where we enter into the plans of most camping parties. Already this season we have supplied fourteen cruising and camping expeditions—they came to us because we make a specialty of campers' needs in the provision line and pack the goods with great care, and because our prices invariably please and satisfy.

The Weekly Post.

"MARIPOSA NOT IN LINE."

Elsewhere in this issue we publish a letter that appeared in last week's Watchman-Warder under the above heading, and which at the time escaped our notice. The letter is signed by a well-known Mariposa Conservative, and in view of the fact that very many Conservatives throughout Victoria and Haliburton are readers of The Post, it is only fair to them that we should make them acquainted with the writer's views concerning a matter which they no doubt regard as of some importance at the present time. It is somewhat significant that our content was satisfied to merely give place to the letter, as requested, and made no attempt to explain away or lessen the effect of any of the damaging allusions to the self-appointed nominee of the packed convention.

If the many respectable and zealous workers in the Conservative ranks are content to be led by the Colonel's "scheming genius," and act as pawns in his game of self-aggrandizement, the Liberals should not complain.

COL. SAM'S MEASLY TACTICS.

(Toronto Saturday Night.)

In the latter part of last week Colonel Sam Hughes, in the House of Commons, reminded the Premier of the treachery of "the Twelfth of July," an anniversary honored by a great many people throughout Canada, and by many members of Parliament. He recommended the Government to give the House a holiday on that day, and on Sir Wilfrid stating that there was no precedent for granting the request, Col. Sam is reported as advising "the Premier to make his own precedent, but the question was dropped." It is not the persistence of prominent Orangemen in protesting against special privileges being given to special classes, which brings them into prominence, but it is cheap and useless demonstrations such as the one reported, put up purely for advertising purposes, which bring the professions of such men into contempt. Sam Hughes had no idea of having the House adjourn on account of the Twelfth of July, but he saw a measly chance of putting the Premier in an uncomfortable position, and at the same time advertising himself as a "too surrender" Protestant of the irreconcilable type. Such dinky things, however, seem to pass, while failures to fight for principle remain unnoticed, and to-day Colonel Sam's little mouthful of buncombe is better remembered than that the dogmatic defender of his faith was under the barn or skrimishing for Rome during the Manitoba Bill campaign.

LORD DUNDONALD'S CASE.

In the course of a lengthy editorial on the Dundonald reception, the general trend of which is inimical to the action taken by the Government. The News of Toronto, feels constrained to make the following emphatic admissions:

"We witness at this moment a noisy manifestation of sympathy for Lord Dundonald, but as yet the policy which he advocates has received no very earnest or very general support from the Opposition. The aim is to discredit the Government and to get party advantage out of the circumstances surrounding Lord Dundonald's dismissal. This is natural enough, and fair enough, within limits, but a more serious duty rests upon Mr. Borden and his associates. Their sympathy for Lord Dundonald must go to the length of practical support for the measures which he recommends, if they are to derive legitimate advantage from the situation which his dismissal has created. There is nothing for the country in calculated appeals to the Scottish element of the population, and in a cunning traffic in the sympathies of Canadian Imperialists. Either Lord Dundonald's policy must be accepted by the Opposition or the whole controversy is mischievous, demagogic, and nationally unprofitable.

We have said more than once that Lord Dundonald was badly advised when he made his speech at Montreal, and that as a result of that delirious his dismissal was inevitable. He would occupy a much stronger position if he had forwarded his resignation to the Minister of Militia for submission to Parliament, and had stated fully and explicitly in that constitutional manner the reasons for his action. It does not seem quite fitting for a soldier to play the politician, and that his speech at Massey Hall was that of a politician, can hardly be disputed. There is a deadly purpose in many of his sentences, and the whole address reveals a design, executed with positive genius, to make mischief for the Government.

MORAL EFFECT OF FAMILY REUNIONS

(Weekly Sun, Toronto.)

Two of the largest family connections in Ontario are the Trulls of Durham and the Reesors of York. In both cases the members run into the hundreds; in both cases family reunions have been more or less frequently held of late years, and at these reunions expressions of legitimate pride in the family name have been heard.

"None of the Trulls have ever brought disgrace on the family," said Jesse Trull in the course of an address to the hundreds of relatives gathered on his lawn in the Darlington homestead a few years ago. "I have not yet met a Reesor who failed in doing credit to his connection," was the equally pleasing statement which one of the speakers was able to make at the Reesor reunion held at Locust Hill last week.

To what are these gratifying conditions due? Partly to heredity, partly to home training, but largely also to the strength of the whole which a large family brings to the support of each individual member. Each one feels that he has not only his own character and standing to maintain, but that of a numerous connection as well. "Nobody cares what becomes of me" is too often the wail of those who go wrong. It is never heard save from those who feel themselves alone in the world. It can never come from one who is a member of even a fairly large family. With such there is always the consciousness that right living will bring joy to many, while wrong action will bring sorrow. This is one of the most powerful influences making for what we call good citizenship. That influence should be strengthened in every possible way, and in no way can this be better done than by reunions such as that held at Locust Hill last Wednesday. The more we have these family gatherings, whether the number be great or small, the better it will be for the community.

EDITORIAL NOTES

General Dundonald has been recalled by the Imperial Government, and will be disciplined for his injudicious utterances against the Dominion Government, his employers. Now, if the Minister of Militia could be induced to discipline the fawning military sycophant who kow-towed his way into the general's good graces and filled him full of political wind, he would thereby prevent further trouble of the kind in future.

Since 1896 nearly $97,000,000 worth of gold has been shipped out of the Yukon, according to the annual report of the Dominion Geological Department, which has just been issued. The production in 1903 was $12,250,000; in 1900 it was over $22,000,000. The decline is due to the exhaustion of the best deposits, from which practically all this gold has been secured. But although production is decreasing, mining activity is increasing. As in other gold mining districts, men with capital are introducing machinery, the cost of mining is being greatly reduced and low grade gravel which the placer miners with tin pans would not look at is being profitably worked.

Hamilton Times: The St. Louis Exposition is not giving promise of being a financial success. Up till this week the total paid admissions were only about one quarter those of the Chicago World's Fair; and a general revision of the salary list is to be made and every employee that can be dispensed with will be discharged. There is much speculation as to the why of the poor attendance, but perhaps the poor judgment shown in the publicity department is enough to account for it. Instead of using the press of the country the management is trying to get along by distributing a few circulars and deadweighting what local notices it can get. That sort of thing led to disaster at the Pan-American and it will do so at St. Louis.

DEAL AT HOME AND PAY CASH.

Good Advice by the President of Neopawa Board of Trade.

(Monetary Times.)

"There is no excuse for dealing away from home. Money should be spent in the locality in which it is made, otherwise the growth and success of the district is impaired. The conduct of those people who buy on credit in town and outside for cash cannot be too strongly condemned. The merchants know what they have to contend with in outside competition, and consequently mark things down to the lowest possible prices, so that if they cannot obtain cash or its equivalent in value, they suffer loss. Be loyal to your own district. Assist the merchants so far as lies in your power to take advantage of every trade discount by giving him the cash with which to do so and you will find that every effort put forth in this way will redound to your own interests. It is true that the large departmental stores may be able to buy cheaper in larger quantities, but this is offset by the cheaper rentals and cost of labour locally. You will also have the satisfaction of feeling that you are doing what you know is right.

"It is a well known fact in some instances people have reached their credit limit in every store in the place, and have then gone to neighboring towns, so that if there is any driving of business away, the credit system and not cash one will do it in the long run. It may not be possible to introduce a cash system at once, but I do not think we risk anything in giving the subject all publicity possible."

Officers and Men Fare Alike.

(London Truth.)

The Japanese officers in campaign have exactly the same fare as private soldiers. Marshall Yamagata himself, when commanding nine years ago in China, had no better.

Wanted, 50 smart steady young women, not under 17 years of age. Steady employment will be given all winter, for which we will pay $3 to $4 per week according to the proficiency of picker. Will be starting sorting peas in Picking Room about 20th August, and those wanting a place will please call at the Seed House office at once and leave their names and addresses. Board can be procured cheaply for out-of-town applicants who wish to come and secure steady, clean and healthful employment. JAS. M. SQUIER & SON, Lindsay, 18th July.

A MARIPOSA TORY SPEAKS.

HE HOLDS THAT THE TOWNSHIP IS NOT IN LINE FOR HUGHES, AND PRESENTS SOME COGENT REASONS IN SUPPORT OF HIS VIEWS.

The following letter appeared in the columns of the Watchman-Warder of July 14th, and will no doubt interest Post readers:

(Editor Watchman-Warder.)

Sir,—Within the past two or three months I have had many opportunities of discussing the political situation for the counties of Haliburton and Victoria with a very large number of our party, and from the consensus of opinion I have gathered, I am forced to the conclusion that, to enter the contest with Col. Sam Hughes as the candidate, means the election of the Liberal candidate, that is if one be put in the field. I think it would be unfortunate if the success of our party in this strong Conservative constituency were to be imperilled through disaffection in our own ranks.

Notwithstanding the statement "Mariposa in Line," we know that more than a sufficient number of our friends than is necessary to change the political complexion in our riding are strongly opposed to the candidature of Col. Hughes. Many respectable and zealous workers in the Conservative ranks are out-spoken in their denunciation of the methods he used to secure the nomination.

Others, again, oppose his candidature owing to his desertion of our party at a time when his leaders were fighting for the principles of Conservatism, which were in the interests of the country, but which lost his support because they happened to conflict with the interests of the corporation whose servants it is well known, he has always been.

His insubordination and disloyalty to his leaders during the time he held the honorable position of the people's representative in parliament must surely prohibit him from demanding from the individual elector greater loyalty than he himself has shown.

And who will gainsay that his domineering and pompous manner has not lost him many friends; but even this is more endurable to the average elector than the beslobbering and fulsome praise in which he so often indulges.

I am aware of the fact that in the heat of a political contest party loyalty will cause many to be dragged into supporting him simply because he is the nominee of the so-called convention; but even those will be reluctant supporters, and many will, for the reason above given, openly oppose his candidature and justify their action in pursuing this course on the high ground that no representation is preferable to misrepresentation.

The Watchman-Warder, whose editor believes Col. Hughes to be the only "Daniel to lead our party" published in its issue of 18th of February last an article under the heading "Mariposa in Line" which was no doubt, intended to be a cheap plaster for the wounded feelings of Dr. Vrooman's friends who were dissatisfied with the methods resorted to in order to fix the nomination of the candidate at the convention. Let me quote the closing sentence in the article referred to: "But the word comes that they are true to party."

"Mariposa in Line" is a line and they are not in line, and if I am not mistaken, it will require more than the Watchman-Warder's Daniel to lead them before they are in line.

To prove this assertion I will use the Watchman-Warder as a witness, and will only ask you to look up the 17th of March issue of that paper and read the article headed "Some Conservatives in Revolt," join the Liberals against Hughes." In this article, referring to a certain petition that had been circulated asking Dr. Vrooman to renounce and pledging him hearty support, we find the following admissions: "Prominent on it"—that is, on the petition, "are the names of Douglass Sinclair, J. H. Flavelle, Jas. B. Borden and J. H. Scott." "I would rather see the Liberals win the riding than support Col. Hughes," was Mr. Boxall's remark, and he may be regarded as voicing the sentiments of those with him." Granting, for the sake of argument, that Mr. Boxall is correctly reported by the Watchman-Warder, if the expression "those with him" only included the names given above, it might not be a very serious matter for our party, but if it meant all those who have signed that petition, (who number, I am told, many hundreds), and who to a greater or less degree share the Boxall, I can come to but one conclusion, that is, seek another candidate before it is too late for me, it appears that it will require more than

NEW INDUSTRY FOR LINDSAY

DISCUSSED BY OUR TOWN FATHERS LAST MONDAY EVENING.

The Rate of Taxation Fixed by Council at 30 Mills—Tenders for Street Watering, and Other Business.

A special meeting of Council was held last Monday evening, the members present being Mayor Sootheran and Aldermen O'Reilly, Storer, Cinnamon, McCrea, Maund and Robinson; absent Ald. McWaters.

The New Industry.

The following letter was read by Clerk Knowlson:

Port Perry, July 12th, 1904.

Dear Sir,—I have been considering the advisability of moving my plant to Lindsay, but before taking any decisive step in the matter I would like to know what your Council is prepared to do to encourage and aid the enterprise.

My coming to Lindsay would involve the erection of a modern machine shop and foundry employing fifty men, nearly all of whom would be skilled mechanics. If you will grant me a ten year exemption, with the understanding that it will be extended for another similar period if the enterprise proves successful at the end of the first ten years, I would be disposed to regard it as a satisfactory offer. Trusting that you will give the matter your best consideration at the earliest possible moment, I remain, Yours respectfully,

MADISON WILLIAMS.

Mayor Sootheran—"That is practically what I called Council together for. He wants us to submit the extension of the exemption term to a vote of the people."

Ald. Storer—"What are you giving Ald. McCrea?"

Clerk Knowlson—"Ald. McCrea has a fixed exemption."

Mayor Sootheran—"Mr. Williams goes in for heavy machinery—water wheels and saw mill fittings."

Ald. Storer—"Then you would of course bind him down to not make light castings—I, for one, will vote against the proposition if that is not done. Mr. McCrea now supplies all the light work the district needs."

Ald. Robinson—"It should be seen to that if Mr. Williams turns out the same class of work, Mr. McCrea will be placed on an equal footing by granting him full exemption also."

Mayor Sootheran—"Mr. McCrea never applied for exemption—he got what he asked, a fixed assessment."

Next year under the new assessment law all machinery will likely be exempt. Of course I would be in favor of placing both men on the same footing."

Ald. Cinnamon—"I think it is the best offer we have ever received."

Ald. McCrea—"It will be a direct opposition, that's all. I make saws, machinery, and so does Mr. Cullen. Of course, we don't make water wheels. However, I don't think I should take any part in the discussion."

Mayor Sootheran—"Mr. Williams tells me that he ships to all parts of Canada, and has a patent on several articles, and he pressed the opinion that his industry would interfere very little with Mr. McCrea."

Ald. McCrea—"The shop that already enjoys exemption interferes with us."

Mayor Sootheran—"Well, if the Sylvester firm interferes with you they should pay taxes on that department."

Ald. McCrea—"I don't say they solicit work, but farmers go there for jobs."

Ald. Storer—"There will be opposition by the Williams firm, but if you give Mr. McCrea exemption I'll be satisfied."

Ald. McCrea—"And Cullen also?"

On motion the matter was tabled for further discussion.

Communications.

E. D. Morris, of the Collingwood Gas Co., enclosing signed copies of draft contract to establish a plant in Lindsay, and asking that owing to the delay in concluding the negotiations, the time for the completion of the system be made October 1st.—Referred to Town Solicitor.

From Geo. Brown, requesting poor receipts from the operation of his miniature railway on July 15th, and promising that if allowed to operate it without additional charge on Aug. 1st, he would cut the grass and keep the west park in good shape until he pay July 15 license fee before Aug. 1st.

From Jos. Maund, asking permission to extend his railway siding 32 feet farther north.—Granted.

A number of accounts were read and referred to the proper committees.

From Wm. McKinnon and others, asking that location of electric light on St. Patrick-st. in front of Pat. Milley's, be not changed.—Police and Lighting committee.

From Street Overseer O'Neill, reporting relative to work in his department.—Board of Works, with power to act.

Local Improvement Work.

Ald. O'Reilly presented a petition for a sanitary sewer and cellar drain on Collins-st., from Queen-st. to a point 860 ft. north.—From Town Engineer Way, recommending the same. Total frontage 1850 ft.; laterals 18; flankage allowed, 120 ft.; estimated cost, $1800; property owners, $725.

Petition from W. M. Robson and others, asking that a sanitary sewer and cellar drain be constructed on Albert and Glenol-sts.—From Engineer, recommending same. Frontage, 1958 ft.; flankage allowed, 232 ft.; laterals 21; length of sewer, 984 ft.; estimated cost $2150, town's share $185.

Clerk Knowlson was instructed to advertise Court of Revision in connection with above works.

Williams By-law.

On motion of Ald. O'Reilly, seconded by Ald. Storer, By-law No., to exempt from taxation (except school-taxes) the foundry and machine shop to be erected by Mr. Williams, of Port Perry was given a first reading and Council went into committee of the whole thereon, Ald. McCrea in the chair.

After some discussion as to the agreement to be entered into by Mr. Williams prior to the submission of the by-law to the people, the by-law was referred to the Manufacturers' committee to meet Mr. Williams.

Will Not Accept.

The offer of the Dominion Sureties Co. was again considered. Clerk Knowlson explained that the offer was equal to 96 for the balance of the bonds unsold—about $25,000. It was decided that the bid was not good enough.

Minor Matters.

Mayor Sootheran referred to several cases of destitution, and was given authority to act.

The case of Godfrey Lacombe was mentioned. It was decided that he should not be permitted to be on the streets, he being in receipt of town aid. This weekly grant will be increased from $1.05 to $1.40.

On motion it was decided to grade George-st. east of Lindsay-st. Council then adjourned.

The Standing Committees.

The members then devoted some time to committee work, the Board of Works file being first taken up.

Chairman O'Reilly read tenders for street watering and hauling gravel as follows:

Geo. Hartwick, $2.70 per day.

Geo. Hartwick, $2.90 when sprinkling, $3 when drawing gravel.

R. O'Neill, $3 per day.

F. McQuade, $2.75 wet and dry, with privilege of feeding team in fire ball at noon.

On motion of Ald. Storer, seconded by Ald. McCrea, the offer of G. Hartwick was accepted.

Some finance committee accounts were then passed, after which a few minutes were devoted to a discussion of the estimates and the rate of taxation. It was pointed out that the increased County rate and the school demands necessitated the addition of two mills, and on motion the rate was struck at 30 mills.

The members then adjourned.

RESCUED FROM DROWNING

MESSRS. ROBT. KENNEDY AND A. D. KITCHENER SAVE A LIFE.

Men Named Ward Upset in Sturgeon Lake Monday Night.

Monday night near 12 o'clock when the cottagers at Graham's landing, Sturgeon Point, were wrapped in slumber, Mrs. Robt. Kennedy was awakened by cries of distress in the direction of the lake. She at once aroused her husband, and he in turn awakened Mr. A. D. Kitchener, occupying the adjoining cottage. Without waiting to dress, and clad only in pajamas, the two men hurried to the shore, launched a boat and headed in the direction of the cries, which were repeated at intervals.

When they had rowed about 30 rods out into the lake a dark object loomed up ahead, which proved to be an overturned canoe, with a man and a boy clinging to the sides. The rescuers first lent aid to the boy, who was greatly exhausted, and their boat being small, they decided to take the lad to shore and make a second trip, but the man left clinging to the canoe saved further trouble by swimming to land after them. When he endeavored to find his sea legs it became plain that his rolling gait was the result of his having a cargo of liquor aboard, and this no doubt accounted for the upset.

The man was James Ward, of Kelly's Point, on the north side of the lake, opposite McConnell's Island. He and his son had paddled up to Gordon Falls that afternoon, and were returning when the mishap occurred. They were taken care of at the cottage of Mr. Kennedy until morning, and have reason to bless the wakefulness of Mrs. Kennedy, and the prompt action of their rescuers.

Safeguard the Children.

Notwithstanding all that is done by boards of health and charitably inclined persons, the death rate among small children is very high during the hot weather of the summer months in large cities. There is not probably one case of bowel complaint in a hundred, however, that could not be cured by the timely use of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. Mr. Frank Riggs, of Franklinville, N. Y., in speaking of this remedy said: "I have found it expedient to have a supply of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy on hand. It has been a family safeguard and while especially beneficial to children, it is equally good in adult cases. I recommend it cheerfully and without reservation." For sale by all druggists.

IMPROVING CANADA'S CHEESE

SYSTEMATIC INSTRUCTION IN THE CHEESE FACTORIES.

Good Work Being Undertaken by the Ontario Department of Agriculture.

The Department of Agriculture, in conjunction with the Eastern and Western Dairymen's Associations, is this year continuing the systematic instruction which gave such satisfactory results last year.

There are 33 cheese instructors now on the road, and each instructor has assigned to him from 15 to 25 factories, which are directly under his charge, and for which he is held responsible. There are two chief instructors; one for Eastern Ontario, and the other for the Western section, who have general oversight of the work. The department has also employed three instructors to visit the different Creameries throughout the province. Each creamery will receive at least one visit, and if the management wish further visits they may arrange for them by paying a small fee.

The cheese factories are asked to assume about half the cost of instruction, and in nearly all cases where instruction was given last year the proprietors or makers have applied for the same this season. The duties of the instructors consist in directing the makers how best to overcome and avoid defects which may appear in cheese; to explain fully to makers the quality and texture of cheese most suited to the markets; to encourage makers and patrons to observe care and cleanliness; to induce the proprietors of factories to make the necessary repairs, in fact to see that all operations are carried on in a manner conducive to the production of the best quality of cheese.

At the beginning of the season a circular letter was sent to the factories throughout the province, asking them to make application at once if they wished assistance from the instructors during the summer. A great many applications were received, but a number of makers and proprietors did not make application. Some of these, however, have since had considerable trouble in manufacturing, and have lately made application for assistance. As most of the syndicates have been completed, it will be impossible to comply with all requests for assistance at this late date.

It is gratifying to know from the wholesale dealers in Montreal that the average quality of cheese being marketed at that point this year is above that of last year or the year before. There are, of course, a few inferior cheeses being marketed, but with so many instructions on the road there is no excuse for makers continuing to have cheese of an inferior quality week after week.

G. A. Putnam, Superintendent of Farmers' Institutes, and G. G. P. Low, Chief Dairy Instructor for Eastern Ontario, with some seventeen instructors, visited Montreal on Tuesday, June 28th, and examined the cheese in a number of the larger wholesale houses; the proprietors in each instance showing every willingness to have their cheese tested and explaining fully the defects found and the requirements of the trade.

In looking over the cheese it was noticeable that a number of the factories which formerly sent in poor cheese, are now furnishing a first-class article, while other factories which were looked upon as first-class, are now experiencing difficulty in keeping up their standard. What might we have expected from the poorer makers this year if no instruction had been given, when the best makers in many sections are experiencing difficulties? One of the factories in Perth district, which had in previous years been counted as first-class, changed makers this spring, and the cheese manufactured at the beginning of the season was rejected by the buyers. Application was at once made for a visit from the instructor, and after a few hours of consultation and instruction the maker was able to manufacture cheese which were classed as "first-class." The loss on the two shipments, (about two weeks' make), was about $100, and even then the buyers did not cut them as much as they would had the factory not had a good reputation. In another small factory a cut of $40 was made in one shipment. The instructor succeeded in overcoming the difficulty at once and the patrons are now receiving full price. The instructor in this case succeeded in bringing the quality of the cheese from inferior to first-class.

Some of the main defects noticed in the cheese in Montreal were as follows: First, weak in body, and too much acidity; second, objectionable flavour—a weedy flavour, due to carelessness on the part of some party either the patron or maker. Third, defective finish but much superior to the general appearance of cheese marketed in previous years. No excuse can be made for the unwelcome manner in which some of the cheese is put up. They are not uniform; carelessness is displayed in putting the cloths on the ends of the cheese; the boxes are not properly trimmed after the cheese are put in them; and in some cases the boxes are not high enough, allowing the weight of the top cheese to rest on the bottom cheese rather than upon the boxes. In some cases the boxes are too large in circumference, allowing the cheese to work from side to side, and wearing rough patches on the ends and sides. There is also evidence of negligence in the care of the shelves and ends of the cheese in a few instances being quite dirty while the sides were clean. One wholesale dealer stated that out of 40 boxes received he had his men rope 38 of them before they were fit for shipment on the steamer. Another shipper said that out of a lot of 150 only a few arrived at his warehouse in sound condition. A poor quality of box and carelessness on the part of the makers in boxing the cheese, will, if continued, injure the trade.

It will be remembered by many dairymen that the patrons and makers in the eastern portion of the province were opposed some years ago to instructors, and to the system of inspection, with the object of giving the makers assistance in manufacturing. At this time the cheese in the western portion of the province sold from one to two cents per pound more than that received by the eastern men. What has been the result? To-day we find that in the eastern part of the province, where instruction has been carried on most vigorously, they are receiving fully as high prices for their products as being paid for the best western make.

Organization is not yet what we hope to have it in another year, but we feel that much good has been and is being done. The instructors left Montreal on Tuesday night with definite ideas as to what the whole-sale men want, and each one is prepared to put forth his very best efforts to see that his section compares favorably with any other section.

Passing of Christian Endeavor.

From many quarters comes the expression that the Christian Endeavor movement is rapidly waning. There is no doubt about it. Multitudes of meetings and great conventions have had their day, as directed in the early days of the organization. This does not mean that the work or religious life of the younger people in the churches is passing away. Far from it. There has been an enthusiasm over a movement that seemed to some to mean a winning of the young people from the life and control of the church. It had its way. It did good in many ways. The young people are still with us to be trained. Most of the young people of ten, fifteen, and twenty years ago belong to the middle-aged classes of the church. The work will go on, in some form, and under some name, under the direct control of the churches, just as the Sabbath school does. It is a branch of work for each local church and denomination, rather than for outside organization and direction.

BRITAIN AND JAPAN

First Dealings Between the Two Island Empires.

TRADE AGREEMENT SIGNED THREE CENTURIES AGO.

Will Adams, ex-Pilot and Pioneer Diplomat.

Among the many millions of British people who are now directing sympathetic glances toward Japan in her gallant stand against Russian aggression, there are probably few who are aware that it is nearly 300 years since the first agreement between Britain and the Island Kingdom of the East was signed.

In those latter days it is British sailors who have practically made the Japanese fleet, which had been built almost entirely in this country, and so long as the early years of the seventeenth century an English sailor was building ships for the Emperor of the time.

This was William Adams, the pilot of a fleet of five Dutch East India men, which sailed round Cape Horn on a voyage to the Indies. But those were troublesome times when the navigator did not reach such a high order of excellence as it has now, so that it is not surprising to learn that two of the vessels were lost or captured by enemies and two returned home, leaving only the Christy, on which Adams sailed.

After a disastrous voyage, during which the crew suffered badly from scurvy, the coast of the Island of Kyushu was reached, where the traders received friendly treatment from the natives. As soon, however, as their arrival was made known—

Some Portuguese Jesuits came from Nagasaki, and at once did their best to create animosity between the Dutch and the inhabitants, on word being sent to the Emperor Iyeyasu he immediately sent a vessel to Nagasaki in order that they might be brought to him at Osaka.

Adams and a sailor were accordingly sent, the rest of the crew remaining behind. He was well received, and in an interview Iyeyasu asked him to define the relations between England and Holland on the one hand and Portugal and Spain on the other.

Adams told the Emperor that the only desire of the Dutch was to enter into friendly trade relations with Japan, but shortly after the interview, his comrades were cast into prison, as the Portuguese had insisted that they were dangerous characters.

At length Adams was set at liberty, and as the Christy had in the meantime been brought to Osaka he went on board, where he found that the captain and those of the crew who had reached Japan were well. In consideration of the fact that pretty well all the cargo had been stolen when the Christy first reached Japan, the Emperor gave instructions that a substantial sum of money be paid as a compensation. Iyeyasu ordered the ship to sail to Yokohama, where he himself was bound, but as the Dutch broke out on arrival there, the crew was disbanded, each man receiving his proportionate share and left to shift for himself.

Capt. Mathews sailed in a Japanese junk to Patan in order to catch the Dutch vessel, but Adams himself was kept about the Court of the Shogun, making himself generally useful in a number of ways. He also constructed a vessel for the Shogun, which met with such favor that the Shogun commanded him to build another one.

This ship of 120 tons burden was also a success, in fact, it was sent for the use of the Spanish Governor of Manila, who had been wrecked on the Japanese coast. In it the Governor and his crew sailed to Acapulco, in recognition of the kindness of the Japs a much larger ship was sent in return, that constructed under the supervision of Adams being sent to Manila.

The English Pilot had become a great favorite with Iyeyasu, who found him of service in settling affairs with foreign countries. A small estate was given him at Hemi, near Yokosuka, where he settled down and married a Japanese lady. His grave near the latter place had been identified, and it is said that a street in Yokosuka known as Fitchet, (An-jin-cho) has been named in his honor as he once owned a house there.

It was not until 1609 that the Dutch again visited Japan, for in that year two ships reached Hirado. They proceeded to Yedo, where they were well received by the Shogun, and given a letter to the King of Holland, at the same time the traders arranged to send a ship to Japan every year. In the letter the Shogun was practically offered free trade in the country. The Dutch returned in the following year, and mainly by the efforts of Adams, and in spite of the opposition of the Portuguese, freedom of trade under the most favorable terms. This treaty of commerce was dated August 30, 1611.

It is said that the report of Adams' influence brought back by the Dutch determined English traders to see what could be done, and in 1611 Capt. Sarris sailed from England bearing a letter for Iyeyasu from James I. Hirado was reached in June, 1613, and Capt. Sarris invited Adams to meet him country-side, and advised him to proceed once to visit the Shogun. The captain did as suggested, with the result that a trading treaty was drawn up and signed.

Thanks to the influence of Adams, this was a most generous document, and should serve in these modern days as a model to our statesmen when making treaties with the Eastern Chiraman or other other Eastern people. In it the English were granted complete rights of residence, execution, jurisdiction, and the complete freedom of the Jesuits. These rights were considerably limited, and instead of being applicable to the whole of Japan as originally granted they were confined to the neighborhood of Hirado, at which place the merchants had established a factory, or trading station, as we should term it now.

The treaty was said to be "Privileges granted by O-Gisho-sama, Emperor of Japan, unto the Right Worshipful Sir Thomas Smith, Knight Governor and others, the Honorable and Worshipful Adventurers to the East Indies," and concluded "From our castle in Surunga, the first day of the ninth month, and in the sixteenth year of our day, according to our computation. Sealed with Our Royal seal, (signed) Minna Motono, Yei Yee Yous (Iyeyasu)."

Adams being allowed complete freedom of trade throughout Japan, the Emperor commanded his subjects to give aid and assistance in case of shipwreck and disaster, and to return immediately all goods which they might save, while when trading they were further required to pay for all goods at once or return them. In fact, the agreement was a most valuable document, which conferred absolute equality of commerce between the merchants and the inhabitants.

But in spite of these favorable terms (indeed the English and the Japanese did not flourish there was the keenest rivalry between the former and the Dutch, who were also established at Hirado in virtue of the treaty signed before Capt. Sarris appeared on the scene.

Trade competition was very keen between the Dutch and giving their goods away in order to obtain the advantage. When the two nations broke out, our East India men were almost driven off the seas by the Dutch, so that after John Company had spent about ten years and some $400,000 in its attempts to establish a profitable trade with Japan, the settlement at Hirado was abandoned.

Although efforts have been made to trace the exact site of this old station and to obtain particulars of the methods adopted by the English traders, neither complete record nor remains have been discovered. (London St. James's Gazette.)

Amending the Medical Act.

The Ontario Medical Council at its session last week came to the conclusion that the large and rapidly increasing sale of proprietary medicines including snuffs and cosmetics together with many alleged unwarranted statements in their advertisements, justified a memorial to the Dominion Government to make it a misdemeanor to state in an advertisement that an article is a cure for any specific ailment which the ingredients do not warrant. They would also ask for Dominion legislation to require the formula on each package in order to prevent imposition by selling poisonous and injurious drugs and strong alcohols as medicine.

Cured of Chronic Diarrhoea After Ten Years of Suffering.

"I wish to say a few words in praise of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy," says Mrs. Mattie Burge, of Martinsville, Va. "I suffered from chronic diarrhoea for ten years and during that time tried various medicines without obtaining any permanent relief. Last summer one of my children was taken with cholera morbus, and I procured a bottle of Chamberlain's Remedy. Only two doses were required to give her entire relief. I then decided to try the medicine myself, and did not use all of one bottle before I was well and have never since been troubled with that complaint. One cannot say too much in favor of that wonderful medicine." This remedy is for sale by all druggists.

Sporting Notes.

Arthur Shrubb, of the South London (Eng.) Harriers, is a wonder. At the games of the West Scotland Harriers at Ibrox Park, near Glasgow, recently, he succeeded in lowering both amateur and professional records for the two and four miles. The time for the two miles was 3 minutes 35 seconds, and this completely wipes all previous records off the slate, including Bill Long's old mark of 4 minutes 11 seconds which had stood for the last forty years. The time for the mile was 4 minutes 27 seconds.

Not content with such a wonderful piece of running, Shrubb turned out for the mile handicap at Ibrox later and entered himself as winner in 4 minutes 23 seconds. These races occurred on a Saturday, and on the Monday following and at the same meeting, which covered two days Shrubb tackled the four hand-caps.

He had to allow big starts, but it was evident, after a mile or so that he would win. His time for the three miles was 14 minutes 27 seconds which is a record for the long standing Scotch record held by F. Bacon for two fifths of a second. Shrubb's time for the full distance was 19 minutes 23 seconds, breaking all former records.

FATTENING OF CHICKENS

Some Satisfactory Meal Mixtures—Chickens Should Remain in Crates for 24 Days.

In order to have the chickens plump and well fitted for the market when they are at the most profitable age, they should be placed in the fattening crates when they are three months old. It is not meant by this that chickens cannot be fattened profitably when they are more than three months old. Suitable market chickens of any age will show gains in the crates. In selecting chickens for fattening, those should be fat, denoted by short strong beak, head wide between the eyes, lively appearance, and they are of medium size, and are of a broad, square shape, straight legs set well apart.

Equipment for fattening. In fattening chickens for market, it is advisable to use the fattening crates recommended by the poultry division, Ottawa. If only a small number of chickens are to be fattened, packing boxes of suitable dimensions can be adapted for the purpose. The open top of the box should become the bottom of the crate, and one side should be removed for the front. Laths should be nailed up and down the front and along the sides. The laths are placed at some distance apart as recommended in the construction of the fattening crate. A board should be loosened in the top of the crate to remove the chickens from and a feed trough arranged in front. A shaping box and shipping boxes are also required.

Fattening Rations.—A satisfactory fattening ration is one that is palatable and that will produce a white, colored flesh. Ground oats, finely ground, or with the coarser hulls sifted out, should form the basis of all the grain mixtures. Ground corned in excess will result in a yellow-colored flesh; inferior quality; ground peas impart an arduous to the flesh that is not desirable. Ground oats, ground buckwheat, ground barley and low grade flour are the most suitable meals for fattening.

Satisfactory Meal Mixtures.—(1) Ground oats (coarser hulls removed).

(2) Grittings from rolled oats (no bulking dust should be included).

(3) Two parts ground oats, two parts ground buckwheat, one part ground corn.

(4) Equal parts ground oats, ground barley and ground buckwheat.

The ground meal should be mixed to a thin porridge with thick sour skim-milk or buttermilk. On the average 10 pounds of meal requires from 15 to 17 pounds of sour skim-milk. A small quantity of salt should be added to the mash.

When sufficient skim-milk or buttermilk cannot be obtained for mixing the mash, a quantity of animal or raw vegetable food should be added to the fattening ration.

The chickens should remain in the fattening crates for a period of 24 days more or less, depending on the condition of the birds. Before they are placed in the crates they should be well dusted with sulphur to kill the lice. They should be again sulphured three times before they are killed.

The First Week.—It is necessary to feed the chickens lightly the first week they are in the crates. A small quantity of the fattening food should be spread along the troughs and as this is eaten more food is added, but not as much as the chickens would consume. The food should be given three times a day, and after feeding the troughs should be cleaned and turned over. The chickens should receive fresh water twice a day, and grit two or three times a week while in the crates.

The Second Week.—The chickens should be given twice a day as much food as they will eat. Half an hour after feeding the troughs should be cleaned and turned over.

The Last Ten Days.—At the commencement of this period one pound of tallow a day should be added to the mash for every 70 chickens. The quantity of tallow should be gradually increased so that at the latter part of the period one pound of tallow is fed to 50 chickens. The chickens should receive the fattening food twice a day.

BEEF RING FOR FARMERS.

A MEANS OF SUPPLYING FRESH MEAT FOR SUMMER MONTHS.

The System as Described by the Live Stock Commissioner, Ottawa.

Although live stock is grown on almost every Canadian farm, the farmer as a rule finds it very difficult to furnish his table with fresh meat during the summer months. Salt pork and poultry are in general use, but it is evident that a liberal supply of fresh beef would make the problem of preparing meals much easier for the woman of the household, and would ensure a more wholesome and palatable bill-of-fare for the family. The average farmer is several miles from the nearest butcher, and would find it both inconvenient and expensive to send a member of the family to town every day or two for fresh meat, especially as both men and horses are apt to find their time fully occupied. Again the farmer's family could not consume a beef animal before it would spoil, so it is out of the question to think of killing his own. In order to make the use of fresh meat possible in every farm home, even during summer months, the Live Stock Commissioner, Ottawa, recommends the more general establishment of beef rings, which have been successfully carried on for years in some sections in Canada.

Beef Rings. These rings are not, as the name might indicate, "trusts," for the control of the production and sale of beef, but are groups of farmers who co-operate to supply their tables with fresh meat during the summer. The ring is usually composed of sixteen, twenty or twenty-four members, although sometimes as many as forty are enrolled. Each member agrees to supply one beef animal during the summer, and in order to give plenty of time for preparation, the members draw lots the previous winter to determine the order in which they shall contribute animals. After the drawing members may exchange numbers if they find it mutually advantageous. The small families may combine for one share.

The Animal. The regulations usually provide that each member shall supply a steer or heifer under three years old, sound healthy and in good condition, dressing from 400 to 500 pounds of beef, and grain-fed for at least six weeks previous to killing. If an animal is not up to the standard it may be rejected and the owner compelled to supply another, or it may be accepted at a lower valuation. The decision in such cases is left to the secretary or a duly appointed committee of inspection.

Killing and Distribution. A butcher is employed to kill and cut up the animals, the owner retaining the head, heart, fat and hide. The amount paid for killing and cutting up a beast is usually $2 to $2.50, with an extra dollar if the butcher makes delivery, which is not a general practice. Of course it is not necessary to employ a professional butcher, but a man is required who can do the work neatly and well, and cut up the carcass along the lines and in the same way each time. The butcher provides a hook for each member and hangs thereon the portion for each family as the animal is cut up. Each member should have two meat bags with his name on, so that one of them may always be at the butcher shop ready to receive the weekly portion. In the case of some rings each family gets only one piece; in others a good piece of the hind quarter and an inferior piece of the fore quarter, or vice versa; in still others a member gets a boiling piece, a roast, and a piece of steak each week. The various cuts are numbered and an accurate record is kept by the butcher of the quality and weight of beef received by each member. In this way it is possible to arrange for each family to receive approximately the same weight of meat, and the same proportion of valuable and cheap cuts during the season. At the end of the summer the secretary of the organization furnishes each member with a statement of the operations, compiled from the butcher's records. As no two animals will have been of the same weight, small balances will have to change hands in order to equalize matters. As a standard price is always agreed upon at the beginning of the season, say five or six cents per pound, there are no disputes at the close. Members who have received more beef than they supplied pay up on the difference at the price agreed upon; those who have put in more than they have received are paid in the same way.

The Advantages. Wherever it has been tried this system has given excellent results, as is shown by the fact that it is difficult to gain admission to the rings, as there is no inclination to drop out. The farmers' wives and daughters are particularly well pleased, as the abundance of fresh meat at their command simplifies the question of providing suitable meals. Then the farmers get their beef at the actual cost, paying no more for the best cut than they would for the cheapest they could buy in retail. Under the operation of the beef ring each family gets its portion within a few hours after killing, so that there is little difficulty in keeping the meat fresh for nearly a week. The usual method is to use the steak and roast first, and put the boiling piece into brine or a refrigerator until needed.

"TORONTONENSIS."

Student Life in the University of Toronto.

INTERESTING SKETCHES OF WELL-KNOWN VICTORIANS.

Their Good Qualities Briefly but Succinctly Set Forth.

Below we present a series of readable sketches taken from Torontonensis, vol. vi., a yearly record and memorial of student life in the University of Toronto, published by the graduating classes in the faculties of Arts, Medicine and Applied Science. Hugh Gordon O'Leary, a few members of the class have taken a more active part or useful part in college life than has this representative of Victoria County and Lindsay. He has served on the Lit. and Class Executives, has battled for the honor of the class and college in the football field, has become a recognized authority on dance and reception craft, and in his final year has been a most successful chairman of the Arts Dinner Committee. Gordon will always be remembered by us for his unfailing good nature and his friendliness of manner.

William Hugh Vance, a matriculated student from the Lindsay C. I. and has taken a creditable class standing. He always evinced an active and intelligent interest in all College and University affairs. As first president of this year, second vice-president of the Lit., and editor of The Variety, he displayed splendid executive ability. In his junior year he won the gold medal for oratory, and assisted in winning for McGill in the Inter-University Debating League. As a senior he was president of the Inter-College Debating Union. He is a member of the Thirteen Club.

James George Workman, at first claimed Streetsville as his home, but his collegiate training was received at Lindsay. He came to Varsity without matriculation and entered the department of Mathematics. Besides taking a good stand in his academic work, he has figured prominently in his class as a winner in the first year in the inter-year debating contest, and in his final year in the inter-university debate against McGill, and as a useful member of the managing committee of Torontonensis. In athletics his game is Association football.

J. Wilbert Brien—All the boys know Bert—he comes from Pleasant Point, the most picturesque health resort on the Kawartha Lakes. His three years at Lindsay Collegiate Institute, and a trip to the British Isles left him a big good-hearted Irishman. During his medical course his home training has not been forgotten; it is his sterling qualities, and his admiration of all his fellows. With his genial disposition, manly character and efficient training—those essentials requisite to public success—Bert's prospects are the best.

Arthur Louis Hore, a Valence, a prosperous little village in the County of Victoria, claims to be the birth place of Arthur Louis Hore. From a youth his ambition lay towards medicine, but after completing his Public School education here, he was obliged to abandon his beloved schemes for a time. He finally, however, returned to Lindsay Collegiate Institute, matriculating in July, 1900. In the following October he entered upon his course in Medicine at the University of Toronto. He has been successful in all his course, and a splendid career lies before him.

William Ernest McLaughlin, was born near Blackstock, Durham County, and received his early education at Cadmus and Port Perry High School. After teaching, he took a course at the Toronto Normal School, and then entered Trinity Medical College. Mr. McLaughlin is a self-made man of stirring qualities, and we feel assured that if his efforts are as untiring in the profession of his choice as they have been during his college life, we predict for him a most brilliant future.

Fulton Schuyler Depuyser Vrooman, was born in the peaceful hamlet of Little Britain, A.D. 1882. Fourteen years later he began a brilliant course of study at the Lindsay Grammar School. From that venerable seat of learning he successfully matriculated in short time. In the fall of 1900 he joined the class of '04 and since then has become one of the best-liked men of the year. Of his success in the practice of medicine his classmates entertain no doubt; his many sterling qualities of mind and heart insure for him a large and lucrative practice.

Thomas D'Arcy Buck, a Tom is a native of Lindsay, and graduated in 1896 from the Collegiate Institute here with Senior Leaving. The next four years were spent teaching in the French Schools on the Ottawa and Georgian Bay. He is known among the Meds. as a good student, a good fellow, and a good athlete. He has been on the Medical Society Executive, in sports on every medical line up, and has played on the Varsity nine since a freshman. He is a president of the Lindsay C. I. Old Boys of Toronto. May he live long and prosper!

Mosson Burwell Bonnell, claims Bobcaygeon as his birth place. After spending sixteen years in his native town, he went to Upper Canada College, where he matriculated three and one-half years after. During his residence there he won colors for cricket and football. Continuing his academic career at S.P.S., he has won honors on the football field, figuring on Varsity I, when they won the intermediate championship, and on the School team in winning the Mulock Cup.

ST. VITUS DANCE DISEASE

MUST BE TREATED THROUGH THE BLOOD AND NERVES.

One of the Worst Cases, on Record Cured Through the Use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

St. Vitus dance is a nervous disease chiefly afflicting children. There are a number of signs by which it may be detected, such as a twitching of the muscles of the face, shaky hands, or a jerky motion of the arms, a trembling or a dragging of the legs, irritability and restlessness. St. Vitus dance is caused by disordered nerves and blood—that is why it is always cured by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. The pills fill the veins with pure, rich red blood, which in turn soothes and braces the nerves, making the sufferer well. Mrs. Luffman, Pouchers Mills, Ont., tells how Dr. Williams' Pink Pills cured her daughter, Louise. "I do not think it possible," says Mrs. Luffman, "that anyone could be afflicted with a more severe form of St. Vitus dance than that which attacked my daughter. Her arms and legs would twitch and jerk, her face was drawn, and finally her left side became numb as though paralyzed. Her speech became thick and indistinct, and she could neither stand still nor sit down. Two doctors attended her, but gave her no benefit. The last doctor who attended her told me she would never get better. It was at this discouraging time we decided to give her Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. After taking two boxes we could see an improvement; she could sleep better and the spasms were less severe. From that on she steadily grew better, and after using eight or ten boxes she was as strong as healthy a girl as you will find anywhere, and she has not had the least symptom of the trouble since."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are the surest cure for St. Vitus dance, hysteria, neuritis, nervous exhaustion, paralysis, and all the nervous troubles of men, women and children. But you must get the genuine with the full name, "Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People," on the wrapper around every box. Sold by all medicine dealers or sent post paid at $2.50 by writing the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

OUR TOWN TEAM THE VICTORS

ST. ALBANS (TORONTO) CRICKETERS LOST SATURDAY'S GAME

Capt. Short, of the Town Team, Made a Remarkable Catch.

On Saturday last the Town Eleven played the strong St. Alban's Club, of Toronto on the local grounds, and won by the good margin of 55 runs. St. Alban's Club has always been a great favorite in Lindsay. Captain Garrett is especially popular with local cricketers. The visitors came down on the morning train, and shortly after one o'clock the game commenced. Captain Short won the toss and sent the visitors to bat. This decision caused the visitors much surprise, but the result abundantly justified it.

Captain Garrett and Pete Davidson went to bat, Shelton and Armour bowling. The batsmen played carefully, Davidson punishing leg fall and playing a very pretty straight bat. After Garrett had scored two runs he was nearly run out. The wicket keeper being too sure. Before the combination could be broken the bowlers were changed, Hunt and Fort going on. When the score had reached eighteen Davidson run himself out. Shortly afterwards Mr. Garrett was caught by Captain J. Short. The Captain received quite an ovation for the catch—it was one of the best catches seen on Lindsay grounds in years. Garrett is a very hard hitter and he had made sure of a boundary, but unfortunately for him the Lindsay man was in the way and pulled in the last one. Two out for twenty. The third wicket added eleven, making three for thirty-one, and then the wickets fell fairly fast, the last going down for a total of 43. Shelton and Eagleson sharing in the bowling honors.

Immediately the Lindsay men went in to bat, Dr. Dean and Hartstone facing the bowling of Garrett and Colborne. When the score stood at five a ball of Garrett's beat Hartstone before he had scored, and the first wicket was down for five runs. Armour came in and runs came freely for a little while. Dr. Dean had become well set, and although the bowlers were changed all bowling looked alike to him. When the score had reached thirty Armour was clean bowled by Colborne. Shelton came in and one ball was enough for him, Colborne beating him with a ball with a great break from the off. Three for thirty. McSweeney came in and added four, Fort three and Dr. Brown six. All this time Dr. Dean had been playing the bowling all over the field, and the score for the sixth wicket was 61. Hunt now partnered Dean and at once commenced to score. When the score had reached 89 Dr. Dean was caught. He had scored 43 runs, made up of two threes 8 doubles and the balance singles. Hunt put on seventeen by good cricket and the innings ended for 98 runs. The St. Alban's men went in for a second innings and had three men out of 31 runs, when time came to stop. Full score:

Pte. J. Perry of Vancouver, B. C., Victor in King's Prize Match.

MADE 321 OUT OF POSSIBLE 355

Scenes of Great Enthusiasm at Bisley Where the Win Was a Surprise But Popular—The Prizes Presented By the Princess of Wales—Canadian Also Wins the St. George's Vase Match.

Bisley Camp, July 25.—(C. A. P.) Pte. J. Perry of the 6th Duke of Connaught's Own Rifles, Vancouver, won the King's Prize on Saturday. His winning was a great surprise, but most popular. He scored seven bulls and three incurs at 1,000 yards, giving him a total of 47 over that range. His total score over the 200, 500, 600, 800, 900 and 1,000 yards ranges was 321, out of a possible 355, which was 10 more than the score of last year.

An enthusiastic crowd followed the hero of the hour as he was carried around the camp. At the Canadian but the procession halted while Perry was photographed. All the Canadians in camp have decorated their hats with maple leaves taken from the trees lining the avenue leading to the Canadian hut. Commander Anderson is jubilant, and Adjutant McDougall is equally so.

The Prince and Princess of Wales both congratulated Pte. Perry, and the Prince asked him if he had been in South Africa. On Perry replying that he had Lord Roberts overheard him. The veteran soldier came up and spoke to Perry, congratulating him.

Chaired By Canadian Team.

Pte. Perry was chaired by the members of the Canadian team and carried around the camp, his bearers singing "The Maple Leaf." At the pavilion they were met by a band, which, playing "See the Conquering Hero Comes," proceeded to the Canadian hut.

Perry's win is the most popular one the C.A.P. representative has seen in sixteen years at Bisley.

Corp. McGregor, Canada, was 21st in the King's Prize and won $60 and the National Rifle Association badge with a score of 306 points.

Canadian Wins St. George.

Major John Howard, Agent-General in London for Nova Scotia, is the winner of the St. George's Challenge Vase competition. He gets the vase, a dragon cup, a gold cross and $30.

Pte. J. Perry of Vancouver was 42nd, winning the N.R.A. badge and $6. The match is shot over 500, 600 and 900 yards ranges.

Staff-Sergt. Crowe was 115th in the first stage of the St. George's Vase competition, at 500 and 600 yards, winning $2.

In the Doubles Saturday Sergt. W. Mortimer and Sergt. T. S. Bayles, two men of the 10th Royal Grenadiers, scored 61 out of a possible 70.

In the King's Prize, at 900 yards, Pte. J. Perry scored 45 and Corp. R. McGregor 42.

Prince of Wales and "Bobs."

The Prince of Wales, accompanied by Lord Roberts, visited the Canadian camp and inspected the colonials drawn up in an open square in front of the Canadian hut. Lieut.-Col. Anderson, the commandant of the team, showed them through.

Scotland won the National Challenge Trophy. This is an open competition by teams of twenty from the volunteers of England, Scotland, Ireland and Wales. The ranges are 200, 500 and 600 yards.

The Prince of Wales asked the audience at the pavilion to join in a welcome to the representatives of the King's dominions over-seas. The audience gave a rousing cheer.

The Prince also asked them to join himself in congratulating Pte. Perry on his success in winning the King's Prize. The Princess then distributed the prizes.

Princess Presents Prizes.

Perry was given a grand reception when the Princess presented the King's Prize.

The Prince, before leaving, congratulated Lieut.-Col. Anderson, and said: "I am more than pleased that a Canadian has won the King's Prize."

In the Corporation of the City of London competition of the value of £105, open to Indian and colonial volunteers, McGregor was second, winning a prize of £15; Sergt. Crowe third, winning £10; Baynton fourth, £5; Capt. Crowe eleventh, £5; Smith twelfth, £5.

London Press Comment.

The Daily Chronicle says that Private Perry's victory in the chief volunteer event of the year will help to obliterate the bad feeling caused by Lord Dunsford, and at the same time recall the high services rendered the Empire by the Canadians during the Boer war.

The Daily News says that Great Britain will heartily write Private Perry's name on the roll of honor. Marksmanship will do much more than any expedient that could ever be devised to bring the Empire together and to neutralize such small mischief as half a dozen Dunsfords could do.

The other London papers in their reports of the Bisley matches feature the fact that the King's Prize was won by a Canadian, and give due credit to Private Perry for his unerring marksmanship. The Canadian colony is rejoiced at the success of their kinsman.

Samuel J. Perry, born in Toronto, 26 years ago, an old member of the Royal Grenadiers, was one of the first contingent on service in South Africa.

The King's Prize.

The prize consists of $1,250, given by His Majesty, the N.R.A. gold medal and the N.R.A. gold badge. And greater than these is the everlasting glory of being the best shot in the Empire for his year. The prize is the blue ribbon of the rifle world, and is unrivaled among the great contests of skill and endurance.

The prize is competed for in three stages, the first at 200, 500 and 600 yards, with seven shots at each distance. The first three hundred in this stage compete at the second stage distance of 600 yards, with 20 shots each. The first hundred in this stage may enter the last stage at the distances of 800, 900 and 1,000 yards, with ten shots at each distance. The possible is therefore 355, and the score of 321 made by Perry is a remarkably fine one. His target at the 1,000 yards range is one of the best ever made.

Ottawa, July 25.—Sir Frederick Borden has forwarded to Col. W. P. Anderson, commandant of the Canadian team at Bisley, a cablegram of congratulation to Private Perry of Vancouver upon winning the King's Prize.

TRIAL TIME HAS COME.

Capital of $25,000,000 to Clash With 25,000 Workers.

Fall River, Mass., July 25.—With hope of peaceful settlement abandoned, both sides in the pending industrial trouble here await with dogged determination the coming of this morning, and the first test of strength between manufacturers representing a combined capital of $25,000,000 and more than 25,000 cotton mill operatives.

The mill gates will be opened at the usual time this morning, when the operatives will be given an opportunity to go to work under a reduction of 12 1/2 per cent. If an insufficient number responds, the mills will be closed for an indefinite period.

Fight to a Finish.

Chicago, July 25.—Determined on a fight to a finish to enforce the demands of the striking butchers, a sympathetic strike of all the union workmen employed in the meat packing industry throughout the country, with the exception of the teamsters, will be declared this morning at 7 o'clock. Last night the indications were that the teamsters will join the other unions on Tuesday in order to bring the packers to terms.

Coat Drew Him Down.

Deseronto, July 25.—A sad drowning accident occurred about a mile below Adolphustown Saturday evening about 8 o'clock in which R. H. Gifford, druggist, aged 33 years, of Watertown, N.Y., was the victim. The Crescent Yacht Club of Watertown, N.Y., of which deceased was a member, were enjoying a week's cruise on the Bay of Quinte. The anchor of the yacht Hecla dragged. Gifford and another man left in a small boat to get a stone off shore. They placed the stone in the bottom of the boat, and their canoe capsized. Both had oil skin coats on, which dragged them down. Gifford, the show valuable cows had to be treated for sunstroke, one prize animal expiring from the cause. Between Aldershot and North Camp, the railway rails expanded to such an extent that the line buckled, a thing said to be unprecedented in this country.

Sun Scorches Englishmen.

London, July 25.—Only a slight break has been experienced in the prolonged drought. The cry of the agriculturist now is for rain. Many moors have been seriously damaged by fires. At the Tunbridge Wells estate the show valuable cows had to be treated for sunstroke, one prize animal expiring from the cause. Between Aldershot and North Camp, the railway rails expanded to such an extent that the line buckled, a thing said to be unprecedented in this country.

Jockey Swallow Killed.

New York, July 25.—Ernest Swallow, a Canadian steeplechase jockey, who came from Toronto a week ago to ride Robert Davies' steeplechaser Opuntia, was thrown in the Brighton steeplechase Saturday, and died from his injuries while being carried in an ambulance to the Emergency Hospital, Coney Island. Swallow is the second steeplechase rider who has met death in a race in the course of the present meeting at the seaside track.

BRITAIN'S DEMANDS

Government Taking Energetic Action re Knight Commander.

NO EXCUSE FOR THE OUTRAGE

Action of Russian Cruisers in Seizing British Ships Is Producing a Crisis—More Steamers Seized—The Commanders Have Not Yet Received Orders—Cabinet Discussed the Subject in Detail.

London, July 27.—The British Government is taking energetic action in the case of the sinking of the British steamer Knight Commander by the Vladivostock squadron. All information received by the Government tends to establish in the official mind that an outrage has been committed for which no excuse exists in international law. Those aware of the feelings of the ministry said last night that all the members of the Cabinet are in accord regarding the principle of the inviolability of innocent neutral shipping, as well as upon the principle that a neutral ship cannot be destroyed even if carrying contraband of war.

Will Include Compensation.

The demands which will be made upon the Russian Government will include compensation to the owners of the ship and to the owners of the goods on board the Knight Commander, an apology for the action of the Russian cruisers and an agreement that instructions be given which will prevent a repetition of such action. British ship-owners are up in arms over the dangers which shipping is now running, and are bombarding the Government with representations looking to the thorough protection of their interests.

A majority of the morning papers, however, print editorials in an angry strain on the further reported seizures by the Russians and the delay in the release of the Malacca.

The Daily Mail's Suez correspondent says that the steamer Formosa will be released this morning.

It is rumored that Japanese warships have arrived in the Red Sea.

The Subject in the House.

London, July 27.—Premier Balfour, replying to a question in the House of Commons yesterday in regard to the sinking of the British steamer Knight Commander by the Russians off the coast of Japan, said enquiries were being made on the subject, but he was not yet in a position to make a statement. Replying to another question, the Premier said the Government was not aware of any convention concluded in 1901 between Turkey and Russia providing special conditions for the passage of the Dardanelles by Russian ships.

Mr. Balfour, while disclaiming that he was giving an authoritative decision, said that he believed the declaration of Paris in 1856, contemplated the abolition of privateering, and that a neutral flag covers an enemy's merchandise, except when contraband of war. Dealing with the question of whether the Russian volunteer vessels being private ships commissioned by the State were different materially from privateers, the Premier said that the whole question of the status of the volunteer ships was now under discussion between Great Britain and Russia, and that it would not be desirable to discuss that point in the House of Commons at present.

Meeting of Cabinet.

London, July 27.—The sinking of the British steamer Knight Commander by the Russian cruisers off Japan was discussed at a meeting of the Cabinet yesterday, held at the Foreign Office. Before the meeting Count Beckendorff, the Russian Ambassador, was closeted with Foreign Secretary Lansdowne, and discussed in detail the operations of the Russian cruisers in connection with neutral shipping, but as the Russian Embassy had not been officially informed by the Russian Government of the destruction of the Knight Commander, the Ambassador was unable to make any statement to the Foreign Secretary. The Knight Commander incident is attracting close official and public interest.

Notice Not Delivered.

London, July 27.—The Foreign Office had not heard of the seizure of the steamer Formosa yesterday afternoon, and while expressing regret, it says the only possible explanation consists in the fact that the Russian Government's orders to cease interfering with neutral vessels, have not yet reached the commanders of the volunteer fleet steamers, as the Russian Government has given the most explicit pledge that there shall be no more Red Sea seizures. The Formosa left Suez July 23, bound for Yokohama.

Still Notice Sent.

London, July 27.—While the negotiations between Great Britain and Russia, respecting the Red Sea seizures, have been carried on in the most conciliatory manner the Associated Press learns that in the representations to the St. Petersburg Government, Foreign Secretary Lansdowne declared that Great Britain could not, in view of her treaty alliance with Japan, allow any interpretation to be placed on treaties relating to the Dardanelles, which would permit of the free passage of vessels of the Russian volunteer fleet from the Black Sea to the Mediterranean, with the view of their subsequent employment for war purposes.

Caught in Red Sea.

Suez, July 27.—The Peninsular and Oriental Steamship Company's steamer Formosa has just arrived here flying the Russian naval flag, and with a prize crew on board. She was captured in the Red Sea by one of the vessels of the Russian volunteer fleet.

Another Ship Seized.

Liverpool, July 27.—The owners of the British steamer Catcha, bound from Puget Sound to Japan, have received a telegram from Hong Kong, reporting that the Catcha has been seized by the Vladivostock squadron. The steamer Catcha, belonging to the Alfred Holt fleet of Liverpool, sailed from Tacoma, Wash., July 9, and was due to arrive at Yokohama Wednesday or Thursday. She carried a considerable quantity of flour consigned to Japanese firm, and also had on board much other general freight.

AN OFFICIAL GOOD-BYE.

Big Crowds Cheer Earl Dunsford at Ottawa—Mayor Ellis' Speech and His Lordship's Reply.

Ottawa, July 27.—Lord Dunsford received a farewell demonstration from the citizens of Ottawa last night which was remarkable for the numbers participating and for the enthusiasm manifested. It was the period of the Boer war success over again. "The hero of Ladysmith" was the hero of last night. The event was promoted by the military and by the enthusiasts of the Conservative party, two forces which can be counted on to assemble crowds in Ottawa and to make cheers. The celebration was exceedingly well advertised by the warring of the city newspapers, and there can be no doubt but the objects of the promoters were fully realized. The crowd included a great many ladies and children. Five bands participated in the event, located at different points in the procession and at the station.

Mayor Ellis, with a select party, drove to Crichton Lodge, Lord Dunsford's late residence, in the vicinity of Rideau Hall, and escorted His Lordship by way of Sussex street to the Central Station.

An Official Good-Bye.

Before leaving the car Mayor Ellis addressed His Lordship as follows: "On behalf of I think I may safely say, the great majority of the citizens of Ottawa, I have to bid you good-bye. It is with the deepest feeling of sorrow and regret that I do so. When you were appointed G.O.C. of the Canadian militia, the people of Canada felt that the British Government had honored them by nominating an officer who had earned a great reputation on the field of battle. During your two years' residence in the Dominion we have all felt, and particularly the rank and file of the militia, that at last we had a general at the head of affairs who would put the organization of the militia on a sound and substantial basis. We regret that you have to leave this work unfinished. We are sorry that circumstances have arisen to occasion the severance of your connection with the force. We would have liked you to have stayed with us to carry to a successful completion the work which you have so well inaugurated. But it was not to be, and to our great regret you are leaving us. In so doing, allow me to wish you every success in your future career and to assure you that you carry with you the good wishes and the esteem of the vast majority of the people of Canada."

Dunsford in Reply.

Lord Dunsford in reply said: "Mr. Mayor, ladies and gentlemen: I thank you, and through you all those who are beyond my voice, for the testimony of friendship. It is more than I had any right to expect. I can only say that I leave Ottawa and its people with the deepest regret. What more can I say of the people of Ottawa, and indeed, of the people of Canada, than they were friends to me in my so-called prosperity and in my adversity, for every friend that I previously had, a thousand others came forward. I would not have been human if under these circumstances I did not look with love and affection upon Canada, and its people, and wherever in future my thoughts and my actions will be guided by this feeling which they will not be able to efface, and with these words, gentlemen, I bid you farewell."

The mayor and other gentlemen then said "good-bye," and amid the cheers of the crowd on the bridge and those assembled at the car, the special car pulled out for Montreal.

Reaches Montreal.

Montreal, July 27.—The arrival of the Earl of Dunsford in Montreal last evening will long be remembered. The train was greeted with tremendous cheering, and when the general stepped on the platform the applause was deafening, and the pipers played "The Campbells Are Coming." Lord Dunsford was escorted to the Windsor, where he made a speech, receiving another ovation as he concluded.

Abandoned Children to Wolves.

Edmonton, N.W.T., July 27.—Sergeant McLeod, Fort Chipewyan, arrived in town on Saturday in charge of an Indian prisoner, charged with abandoning his two children, a boy four years old, and a girl under two at Fond du Lac on Lake Athabasca. When the children were missed by neighbors a search was made, and they were found to have been devoured by wolves, only their clothing remaining. Sentence of two years' imprisonment was passed by the judge.

Merry Del Val Resigns.

Rome, July 25.—The Tribune says it is reported that Cardinal Merry del Val, the Papal Secretary of State, has tendered his resignation, owing to the hostility of the cardinals, which indicates that they accuse him of rendering impossible an accord with France, and that the Pope has refused to accept the resignation.

GEORGIAN BAY CANAL

The New York Engineering and Building Record discusses at some length the proposed Georgian Bay ship canal, and comes to the conclusion that it would be hard to make it profitable, says the Hamilton Times. The proposition as it states it is to construct a 20-foot waterway from Georgian Bay to Montreal, a distance of 425 miles.

Of this four miles will be taken up by the locks and their approaches, 40 miles by canals, 74 miles by canalized rivers, and the remainder will be open river and lake navigation. The route lies up French River to Lake Nipissing, and thence through a series of small lakes connected by short stretches of canal to the Mattawa River, a tributary of the Ottawa, which will be followed to the St. Lawrence. There will be a lift of about 66 feet between Georgian Bay and Lake Nipissing, and a fall of about 630 feet between the lake and Montreal harbor. The depth of water proposed is 20 feet. This is the present standard of the depth of the Great Lakes, and Mr. Wisler considers that boats requiring more water are undesirable for the traffic.

The cost of the project is estimated at $80,000,000, and it is assumed that a traffic of 10,000,000 tons annually will be sufficient to pay the interest charges and the expenses of maintenance.

The Record notes that the east-bound grain traffic must be hauled to the lakes or the canal by railways and it thinks "it is expecting too much of human nature to anticipate that the railways will willingly co-operate with any canal company to lose part of the haul of this commodity to the seaboard." It does not regard the all-rail shipment of grain as an impossible proposition, as some of the opponents of the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway affect to regard it. It chooses, too, to doubt the success of our iron industry, owing to the character of the ore, which has caused some trouble, and it thus deprives the canal of a great ore trade. It takes the ground that to be successful a great ship canal must be open all the year round, and return cargoes must be obtainable. It can see no prospect of return cargoes on the Georgian Bay route, hence it despairs of its success.

That is the view of a New York journal. Canadians, however, will have the say as to entering upon the scheme, and they will give it due consideration from a purely selfish point of view before coming to a conclusion. New York reasoning on such matters is not to be implicitly accepted as disinterested, and the cost of the work—about $14 a head of our population—warrants the most careful weighing of all the factors before venturing upon it. That such will be given to it was made plain by Sir Wilfrid Laurier's remarks to the delegation that waited upon him to regard to it on Thursday.

THE NATIONAL IRRIGATION SCHEMES

The adoption in Canada of irrigation as a means of reclaiming lands where the annual rainfall is often insufficient to insure crops leads a particular interest to what is being done in the United States in a similar direction, says the Globe. The problem in the two countries is not entirely the same. The lands which it is sought to reclaim in the United States are really arid lands, from which, without artificial means of moisture, no crops could be looked for. Our western lands, which it is proposed to bring under the influence of irrigation, are only semi-arid. There are years when the rainfall is quite sufficient for all purposes. Observation seems to justify the conclusion that a few years of sufficient rains are followed by corresponding years of drought. Farming operations could scarcely be successfully maintained where a few years of plenty were succeeded by a few of scarcity. The remedy is seen to be in irrigation. In southern Alberta miles of canals have been dug, and still larger projects have been decided upon, and others are being studied.

In the United States the problem is being considered as a matter of national concern. Uncle Sam is still the owner of a half to nine-tenths of the total area of the western States and Territories. A great part of it has remained in the hands of the national Government because it was unsuited for anything else but grazing, and a great deal of it worthless even for that. The duty of reclaiming some of these lands by irrigation was urged on Congress for the past ten years, and two years ago appropriations were made and the work inaugurated. Gloom prophesies were uttered as to the corruption and "grafting" which were likely to occur in administering the system. It was proposed that the work should be carried out as a branch of the United States Geological Survey. The survey has always enjoyed a high reputation for the character of its officials and the efficiency and probity of its distinguished work. Those who opposed the assumption of the work of reclamation by the National Government declared that the administration of these appropriations for irrigation by the officers of the survey would soon change the character and reputation which the branch of the service had always enjoyed. Mr. E. Smyth, an early advocate of Government reclamation of arid lands, writing in The Review of Reviews for July, declares that all these forebodings have so far not been realized. Thirteen States and three Territories are embraced within the climatic influences that produce arid lands, and the problem of reclamation has been considered with reference to them all. Works have already been begun or planned in seven States and one Territory and it is expected that the Idaho lands will be ready for the settler next spring. There has, of course, been some grumbling, but Mr. Smyth asserts that it has arisen because of the absolute fidelity with which the public interests are being guarded in carrying out the work. No position is filled because of the incumbent's politics or friends, but wholly because of his personal fitness for the work required of him. Work has been inaugurated wherever conditions seemed most favorable for achieving the largest results. Criticism has been levelled at the commission because it has turned down this or that scheme but it has always been because scientific investigation has shown that the expectations were based upon incorrect knowledge or visionary hopes. Men talked of millions of acres being reclaimed where no human agency could procure or store water. The resistance to such opportunities has not been the least part of the work. But they have been stoutly and patiently resisted, and no scheme entered upon that did not promise both immediate and future returns. The plan pursued is to use the reclamation from one work of reclamation to undertake another. If it succeeds a tremendous boon will have been conferred on the nation with comparatively little charge on the exchequer.

(Port Hope Guide, Liberal)
There is a rumor that has been frequently circulated in town to the effect that Senator Cox, or rather the Bank of Commerce, has secured an option upon all the waterpower between Frankfort and Trenton. If this is true we are up against "a condition (and a serious one) and not a theory." We give the rumor for what it is worth. We think, however, that the Dominion Government has thrown into the way of Senator Cox all the "casual advantages" absolutely necessary and Cox should be made to wait. The Liberal electors will not eternally wink at the doings of any government, and we feel called upon as a warm and ardent supporter of the Liberal cause to sound a word of warning to our friends to call a halt, and to shake themselves free from these political grafters and others that are hanging on with their eye-brows to every government scheme that can be squeezed and skinned to their financial advantage.

BRIGHT FOR CANADA

(New York Post)
This looks like a lucky year for Canada, and if she has many more such she may get the idea that she has the whip hand on the United States. Nobody can tell what the size of our wheat crop will be in the fall, but at the moment the outlook is far from what could be wished. From Kansas comes the news that a "magnificent crop has been largely damaged by weeks of almost continuous rain." Similar reports are received from the Red River Valley and other regions, and President James J. Hill, of the Great Northern Railway, says that the United States will not raise more than 600,000,000 bushels of wheat against the 684,000,000 bushels which have been looked for by experts, and against the 637,000,000 bushels harvested last year. The news from Russia is unmistakably bad, the fear of a wheat famine is becoming more acute. The Roumanian crop is in poor shape, and a heavy decrease in the Austro-Hungarian yield is now predicted. But the crop in Manitoba and the Canadian Northwest is expected to exceed all records; at least 77,000,000 bushels are predicted for Western Canada this year, and as high as 87,500,000 bushels may possibly be reached. In 1900 that region produced only 20,000,000 bushels. This year 3,500,000 acres are under cultivation, but it is reported that 171,000,000 acres are suitable for wheat. While our Republican politicians affect an air of condescension towards our northern neighbor, that lusty infant gives increasing promise of attaining proportions that will some day make us rub our eyes.

SUBSTITUTES FOR STATUTE LABOR.

The Brautford Examiner has noted the fact that many townships throughout the province have done away with the statute labor system of maintaining roadways, and have commuted the work thus done at a fixed rate per diem. Money can be handled to much better advantage than can the statute labor, and what is more it can be expended at the most favorable time of the year, and where it is most needed. One road overseer or commissioner is appointed for the entire township, or, if desired, the township is divided into a convenient number of divisions for road purposes, usually two three or four, and a road commissioner appointed over each. This practically amounts to a reduction of the number of pathmasters, and the enlarging of the road beats. To merely commute statute labor and retain the former number of pathmasters, giving each a small amount to spend, means a perpetuation of most of the defects of the statute labor system.

The duties of the road overseer are thus described in the report of the Commissioner of Highways for 1904:

(a) To supervise all work and repairs done on the roads and bridges within his division.

(b) To acquaint himself with the best methods of constructing and of maintaining good roads, and of operating graders and other road machinery used by the township.

(c) To employ, direct and discharge all men and teams, required to carry on the work and to purchase necessary materials.

(d) To see that all washouts, drains and culvert obstructions, bridge failures, and other unforeseen defects are repaired or protected, with the least possible delay, so as to prevent further injury to the road, or accident to the users of the road, and to act promptly in all cases of emergency.

(e) To report to the council early in each year as to the work required the coming season, to carry out the instructions of the council with regard thereto, and to perform such other services as may be required of him from time to time, under the written instructions of council.

(f) To collect the poll tax in his division.

(g) To keep an accurate record of the employed and the work done, and to furnish this record in form to the reeve at proper intervals, in order that the reeve, upon being satisfied with the correctness of the statement, may issue cheques for the payment thereof.

(h) To stake out all works, and see that they are undertaken systematically, so that no time will be lost in taking men, teams and machinery from one end of the township to another.

(i) To supervise the performance of all work done by contract, and certify as to completion, acting as inspector for the township.

(j) To supervise the opening of snow roads under such regulations as, in the opinion of the council, the needs of the township may require.

(k) To report to council at the close of each year, showing in detail the character, location and cost of each separate work undertaken.

(l) Works, the cost of which will exceed a certain fixed amount (ordinarily from $10 to $20, as may be determined by the council) may be let by contract to the lowest satisfactory bidder, but in the event of any work being duly advertised to be let by contract, and the tenders being too high, in the opinion of the commissioner or the reeve, it should be the duty of the former to undertake the work by day labor under his own direction.

The annual road appropriation is made from the general funds of the township, this to be used for the purchase of tools, machinery and materials, for small jobs and contracts, for more permanent work on heavily travelled roads, providing gravel or broken stone, for doing special work on hills and cuttings, and the more general class of improvements that are of service to the township as a whole.

The residents of the township are employed to do the work, provided they are properly equipped, and will do a fair amount of work, preference being given to the ratepayers of the division in which the work is being done, in order that as many as so desire may have an opportunity to earn back the amount of their commuted statute labor.

EDITORIAL NOTES

The Toronto World intimates that Dunderdonald will not heed the orders of the War Office as to his behavior here. Wait and see.

Stratford Beacon: The Globe's handling of Lord Dunderdonald's escapade has been the best piece of newspaper work ever done in Canada. Forceful, courteous and logical it has brought out an overwhelming mass of argument in support of the Government's action. The leading newspaper is to be proud of the party's views. Never in the history of the Globe was it better conducted than it is at the present time.

Hamilton Times: The farmer's horse does not like the automobile. He is not well enough acquainted with it to know that it is harmless if he keeps out of its way. It will take time, just as it took time to get on friendly terms with the locomotive. In the meantime farmers complain, and with reason, that the automobile is a danger on the country roads. Runaways and smashups are of frequent occurrence from this cause. So much so that farmers' wives and daughters are afraid to go driving, lest they shall meet one of these vehicles. The opinion has been expressed that chaffeurs should stop the machine when they notice that a passing horse is frightened, and, if necessary assist in helping it peaceably past them. It might take a little time, but might save serious consequences.

VICTORIA COUNTY OLD BOYS.

Next Monday, August 1st, our town will be revisited by a large number of Victoria County and Lindsay Old Boys (and Girls) from Toronto and elsewhere, some of whom have been absent for years. Many of the visitors will spend two days with us, and it behooves our people to go to some pains to show our former citizens that their visit is a delight and that they are still remembered in the old town where the majority no doubt spent many happy days "once upon a time."

The home-coming have done their part in preparing a treat for the citizens by engaging the famous Highlanders Band to accompany the excursion, and by arranging a program of sports and other attractive features. It rests with our citizens to do their part by decorating the town in the best manner possible.
Hang out your flags and bunting, fest the home-coming be a disappointment to the visitors and recall to them the old adage, "Out of sight, out of mind."

(Toronto Saturday Night.)

Major George T. Denison, Jr., recently sent in his resignation from the Governor-General's Body Guard, and by his studious silence when asked to give his reasons for resigning is giving Lord Dundonald some very obvious points on military etiquette.

For many years the G.G.B.G. was of-ficed, controlled and made the excellent body of cavalry it is by the Denison family. Fortunately the Denisons were more military than political in their inclinations and the family enthusiasm was a good thing.
The attempt to make the 13th Scottish Light Dragoons a preserve for the Baker family, whose instincts are political rather than military, was one of the causes of the row between Dundonald and the Ottawa Government. If the plan had been permitted to work out it would not have been a good thing for the Light Dragoons, and it would have been a bad thing for the Government. The point, however, is that Lord Dundonald permitted himself to be used by a few blowhard politicians, appears to have blown his whistle before he was ready to stop, has made trouble for himself and the Canadian Government, and caused anxiety to the friends of the Empire lest the friendly feeling between Canada and Great Britain may be chilled by his rash conduct. His insubordinate example may not have been the cause of Colonel Gregory's resignation or may have nothing to do with Major Denison's retirement, but it was sufficiently glaring to unsettle the disciples of the whole Canadian militia.

"Of discipline we have little enough in this country, and it is evident that it has not been improved by "me lud" getting on his high horse and prancing about as a persecuted hero. The comments of the British newspapers are much less complimentary than what Opposition journals are saying about him here. If he had acted as he did in Great Britain he would have been cashiered. The people of this country are perhaps unaware that he has shown his com-tempt for Canadians by doing in this country what he would not have thought of attempting on his native heath. He has been convinced that all Canada is with him, but he was mistaken. This country does not want a military power to be established within and independent of the civil government. In the South American republics the general of the forces leads nearly every revolution unless he himself is the President or able to dictate to the man who occupies the office. We want nothing of that in Canada, and when the people who are now shouting for him come back to their sober senses they will see half a dozen different ways in which Lord Dundonald or someone else could have brought about all the military reforms that are necessary without unsettling the discipline of the militia, having a row with the Government, and putting the Dominion in a cheap and false light before the world in its relations with the imperial authorities.

EDITORIAL NOTES

Premier Ross' many friends will be glad to learn that he is rapidly improving in health and expects soon to return and take up his duties again.

It is officially announced that the Lindsay, Bobcaygeon and Pontypool Railway has been passed by the Government Engineer, and opened by the order of the Railway Commission for Canada.

Bob Independent: It would have been well if Mr. Bourassa had succeeded in limiting the Canadian militia to 50,000. Canada's need is for men to slaughter tater bugs, not their fellows.

At a recent congress for dress reform for women held at Dresden, Dr.
Weisswange asserted that in consequence of the wearing of corsets 97 per cent. off all women have gall stones, which often lead to serious consequences.

Montreal Herald: The Toronto
News, an independent journal, rebukes the Opposition for its factious attacks on the administration of the Department of Agriculture, made evidently for the purpose of discrediting, if possible, the Minister. This judgment is confirmed by the Conservative Montreal Gazette, the Ottawa correspondent of which says, in reporting Friday's session: "The discussion was prolonged for almost four hours, and was both dull and ineffective, much of it having as its object the worrying of the minister, rather than the throwing of any light on the farms or their work."
When the Opposition is condemned out of the mouths of its friends, it must have wanted a good deal out of the plumb.

Hamilton Times: Henri Bourassa is the bogey man of the Tory party.
So persistently have the organs striven to represent him as disloyal to Great Britain and opposed to legislation beneficial to Canada, that a considerable number of the more ignorant of their readers have come to regard him as a discredited Parliament. Only the other day he was represented as denouncing the militia, all because he sought to fix the numerical limit at 50,000, unless Parliament authorized an increase.
He was far from attacking the militia, and his actual words will be approved by good Canadians generally.
He said:

What I think perfectly legitimate and proper is to keep up in our population a proper spirit as to our duties in regard to the defence of the country, and to endeavor to induce a greater number of our young men, without drawing them from their peaceful vocations, to take up rifle practise. I think that is the foundation principle of our defence.

A Man of Our Own.

(Toronto Star.)

It was more nonsense for Col. Sam Hughes to protest because Sir Fredrick Borden mentioned Pte. Perry as the first native-born Canadian to win the King's prize at Bisley. Perry is the first native-born Canadian to win
it prize, and his victory does mean more to Canadians than the success of Hayhurst in 1895. The latter had been a crack rifle shot before coming to Canada, and British and other newspapers did not forget to detract from our satisfaction in his victory by mentioning the fact that he was known at Bisley before he was known here.

But Pte. Perry is altogether our own man. He is a Canadian-born.
He learned to shoot here, went to the Boer war with our first contingent, and proved his marksmanship at Bisley when the time came.

It is all sham, this pretence on the part of Col. Hughes that he takes no more pride in the performance of a native-born rifleman than in that of a man who acquired his skill elsewhere. Our relations with the Empire do not call for the making of such pretences. We are Canadians first and foremost. Everybody in this country wants to see the Canadian team defeat the British team at Bisley, and are pleased that Scholes defeated the best British shooters at Henley.

DROWNED AT PETERBORO.

OLIVE KIDD, A YOUNG GIRL, FELL OFF AN EXCURSION BOAT.

The Body Not Yet Recovered—Only Child of Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Kidd.

(Peterboro Review, Tuesday.)

An exceedingly sad ending to what promised to be a very enjoyable moonlight excursion was that of the Chenabot. The young men's Guild chartered the river, and the laughter, jocular crowd that left the wharf at 8 o'clock came back quietly and noiselessly, for a young life had been scattered away into a watery grave.
The little girl, Olive Kidd, only 14 years of age, was sitting in the bow of the boat, talking and laughing with several other girl companions.
The railing in the bow is constructed of an iron rail, supported by iron posts, and is not very substantial, and passengers are warned not to sit out there, but it is often done on account of the fine location. The little girl had risen and was standing by the railing, when one of the joints parted, and the little girl, finding herself going, made a catch for the iron post, but was unable to seize it, and tumbled into the water under the bow, and was never seen alive again. The accident occurred so quickly that the people on the boat did not see it with the exception of two boys who were sitting beside the girl. They gave the alarm, and a couple of young men were preparing to jump in after the girl when someone called down from the upper deck that she was up there and all right.
A minute afterwards, however, this was found to be untrue, and a young man named Fred jumped into the river and attempted to find her. The boat was quickly stopped and reversed, and a boat lowered, but no trace of the girl could be found. Mr. and Mrs. Kidd, the parents of the girl, were on board, and they were frantic with fear that their only child was drowned. Several ladies fainted, and the young men seemed to be helpless.
The accident occurred shortly before 10 o'clock and the boat had just started on its return trip. The drowned child was the only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Kidd, 626 Bathurst-st., and was a great favorite among her associates.

THE RAILWAY INSPECTION.

Chief Engineer of Dominion Railway Commission Passed Over the Line Monday.

Several inaccuracies crept into our item in yesterday's issue concerning the inspection of the newly completed line of the Lindsay, Bobcaygeon and Pontypool Railway.

10:30 a.m. for Burketon, the C.P.R., connecting point, those on board being Mr. Thos. Stewart, Contractor E.
F. Fauquier and brother, Mr. G. E.
Fauquier, and Mr. H. M. Bruce, chief engineer. At Burketon, on the arrival of the C.P.R. train from the east, the party was joined by Mr.
Timmerman, Superintendent C.P.R.,
Mr. Herchberg, Engineer C.P.R., Mr.
J. B. Clark, C. and G. E. F. Mountain, Chief Engineer Dominion Railway Commission.

Supt. Timmerman's parlor and dining cars were then attached to the special and the train started north at slow speed in order to afford the members of the party every opportunity to make a careful inspection of the roadbed, crossings, etc. Lindsay was reached at noon and after a short stay for luncheon the train proceeded on to the end of the line—Bobcaygeon. On the return trip Mr.
W. T. C. Boyd, the president, accompanied the party to Burketon.

While the Post man was unable to interview Supt. Timmerman or the Dominion Inspector relative to their opinion of the road, the pleased countenances of the Messrs. Fauquier and their chief engineer, Mr. Bruce, told the story, and made it quite plain that the gentlemen referred to were well satisfied with the condition of the roadway.

The road, while in all probability, be opened to traffic before the end of this week. Men were at work here all night laying a siding to the turntable and closing up other preparatory work.

Think This Over.

If a farmer sold 2,000 bushels of wheat for $2,000, he would consider it a profitable bargain. But if he sold 2,000 bushels to 2,000 different people each year for five years, that at the end of that time found that a good percentage of his wheat was lost, he would feel like doing things.
Perhaps you can see the point. If you were the publisher you certainly could and would not further delay in remitting your subscription.

Railway Notes.

No. 3, one of the fast passenger trains of the Lackawanna Railroad, arriving in Buffalo at 7:55 at night, which has furnished no end of gossip among the employees of the Erie division and operating officials and which has contributed some forcible testimony to the claim of the D. & W. officials that their trains are among the fastest in the world. A stone weighing 54 pounds and about 16 inches through its thick part occupies a conspicuous place in Supt. Phillips' office, and it is preserved as a souvenir of the record-breaking run of No. 3. While running down Danville hill at an 80-mile-an-hour clip, the miniature boulder was lifted from the side of the track by the section of the flying train, carried up to the pile of the locomotive, thrown to the middle of the crack, and then rolled under the engine, where it was struck by the tender and smashed through the tool cellar, one of the small boxcars under the baggage car for carrying tools. When the train arrived here the stone was presented to Mr.

MT. HOREB.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)
The people of the school section were sorry to learn that our school teacher hired for the past year and a half had tendered her resignation and accepted a situation in one of the Bobcaygeon schools. We are sorry to lose Miss Junkin, as her work had been satisfactory and she was deservedly popular with the people.

Mr. Nathaniel Fleming, one of our eldest and most popular residents, has been a very poor state of health for some time and his condition has caused his friends serious concern.
We hope with the coming of cooler weather he may be restored to better health.

Here is a record, that we, at least, are proud of—Mr. Fleming and three sons, all subscribers to The Post from the one, P. O., and each subscriber paid one year in advance. These are the kind that count.

Miss Wilson, of Peterboro, is visiting at the home of her uncle, Councillor S. Coulter, of this place, whilst here. She and the Misses Coulter visited Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Robinson.

ner), and two children, of Washington, D. C., have been visiting their many friends for the last two weeks. They left on Monday for a trip north for a few weeks.

cake for a winning team. They were successful in gaining the ten dollar prize at Seagrave last week when they played against Port Perry.

His wife, Miss Smith, and his cousin,
Miss Lena McNabb, Woodville, last

The increasing progress in agricultural pursuits is readily indicated by the various improvements in this vicinity not only during past years but more especially this year. Mr.

KING'S WHARF.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)
Mr. John Dorgan, who was visiting Lindsay here for the past week, disposed of his farm to Mr. John Leary, jr. The price paid, we understand goes to show that property values are on the increase.

We are sorry to report that those on the sick list here are not improving as rapidly as their friends would desire. Mrs. Jas. Madigan is still quite low; Mr. Robert Perdue, jr., who spent the past few weeks in the Muskoka Sanatorium, is still unable to attend to his duties; and Miss L.
Dorgan's condition is giving her friends serious concern.

REABORO.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)
To the farmers of the district who are anxious to know as to whether everything in the market line will resume their normal condition as of

A social party was given by Mr.
and Mrs. Richard Fox on Tuesday evening in honor of their nephew, Mr.
Will Fox, of Chicago, who has been visiting friends here during the past two weeks. A number were present from Ops and Lindsay. A most enjoyable evening was spent in music, games, etc., after which supper was served. The young people were loud in their praise of the hospitality accorded them by Mr. and Mrs. Fox.

Quite a goodly number took advantage of the excursion rates to visit the world-famous Shrine, St. Anne, de Beauce, last week. Amongst those who went we noticed Mr. D. O.
Byrne, P. Hickey, E. Shyne, Miss K.
Sweeney, Miss Etta Harrington, the

Ottawa, July 27.—In the House yesterday morning, Dr. Sproule, as

BREEZY LOCAL BREVITIES

GATHERED BY POST REPORTERS ON THEIR DAILY ROUNDS

What is Happening in Town and the Country About Us.

—The Williams' Piano Co. employees, of Oshawa, will run an excursion to Peterboro on July 30th.

—Mr. Andrew Carnegie has sent a check for $1,000 to help furnish the Midland and Penetanguisheng hospital.

—Lever's Y-Z (Wise Head) Disinfectant Soap Powder is better than other powders, as it is both soap and disinfectant. 34
—The directors of the Rider & Kitchener Co., Limited, have declared the usual dividend of 7 per cent. per annum for the first half year of 1904.

—Recently a discharged employee of a Brantford brewery put a quantity of soap in a vat of beer, to get even with the boss. He was caught in the act and arrested.

—Another bad character, who goes by the name of Robert Proctor, alias Smoker, was arrested by Detective Greer, at Port Hope. He was an employee of the Forepaugh & Sells Bros' circus.

—The Waterworks Commissioners met yesterday at 4.30. The report is held over until to-morrow. The business dealt with was mainly of a routine character.

—Lindsay Golf Club defeated Port Hope Saturday on the Sturgeon Point links. The secretary failed to furnish the score for insertion in our sporting columns.

—Midland hotelkeepers have arranged a new schedule of prices which went into effect this week, whereby the price of mixed drinks has been raised to 10 and 15 cents per glass.

—Woodstock Review: F. H. Cookson, manager of the Neill's shoe store, left to-day on a few weeks' vacation. W. Thurston, of the Peterboro store, will take charge here while Mr. Cookson is away.

—Whitby Council will have to issue about $60,000 debentures in connection with the new waterworks system now approaching completion. An application to guarantee the bonds was refused by the County Council.

—The Canadian General Electric Co., Peterboro, has secured an order from the Toronto Niagara Power Company for 1,500,000 pound of copper cable to be used in the construction of the Toronto-Niagara Falls transmission system.

—Jas Keenan, Superintendent of Public Waterworks, committed suicide last week by taking Paris Green. Three years ago Mr. Keenan spent a couple of weeks camping at Birch Point, Sturgeon Lake, and will no doubt be remembered by some of our citizens. It is thought that ill-health prompted the resort.

—There is a chance for our local barrel and box makers if they are not too busy to touch outside orders. The Ontario Fruit Growers' Co-operative Union, of Whitby, ask tenders for five or ten thousand apple barrels and two or four thousand export cases for fruit.

—Litigation to the probable aggregate total of $8,000,000 has been discouraged by a ruling of Judge Holden in the Supreme Court to the effect that the city of Chicago was not liable in any degree for the Iroquois Theatre fire, on suit by Eva Catherine Gibson for $15,000 damages, because of a broken arm and an injured spine.

—The Kawartha Queen, Mrs. Wm. McKenzie's palatial new steam yacht, was turned over by Poole's men this afternoon to Capt. Cyril Courter, who will command the vessel for the season. He left port about 4 p.m. with a temporary crew for Balsam Lake, where Mrs. McKenzie and a party of friends will embark for a trial cruise around the lakes.

—Mr. Thos. MacFarlane, chief analyst of the Inland Revenue department at Ottawa, has issued a bulletin of the result of an analytical test of 74 samples of "jams and jellies," collected in January and February last. Raspberry, strawberry, plum and peach jams were the chief articles tested. Of the 74 samples tested, only 14 were reported genuine, and 5 doubtful, and 55 were classed as adulterated.

—A somewhat unusual notice appears in the advertising columns of the Whitby Chronicle this week. Clara Bidwell McDermott, of the village of Port Perry, married woman, gives notice to her next of kin, to apply for judgment at her next session for ab ill of divorce from her husband, Geo. Burton McDermott, at present residing at or near the village of Golden, B.C. The customary statutory offences are charged.

—Orilla News-Letter: To Mr. N. Cusson belongs the honor of capturing the largest bass reported this year. It weighed 4 lbs. and was taken from the Vernon Lake waters. Think of that as a record for the Muskoka lakes? Why only a few days ago an American fishing near Cobocorn caught a "rock bass" that weighed 6 lbs. 8 ozs. Kawartha fish grow large by feeding upon bass of about the size mentioned by the News-Letter.

—The factory of the R. M. Beal Leather Co., Limited, at present undergoing great improvements at the hands of painters. The entire building is receiving a good coat of red paint, the window sills being touched up with green. Recently this firm added a new sewing machine to their shoe department equipment, of the very latest type, its great improvement over the old style being that it sews two separate seams at once, and has two separate shuttles.

—The members of Ops Council are coming in for a lot of criticism— which they richly deserve—because of their neglect to take action against the nude bathers who last week bathed every afternoon and evening at a landing south of Ops swing bridge, and make boating a trial. If their own wives or daughters were exposed to some of the in-suits suffered daily by townspeople they would fairly explode with virtuous indignation.

—Messrs. J. C. Appelbe and Chas. Podger visited a trout pond near Bethany last Monday and captured 37 beauties.

—Riverside cemetery never looked better than it does this season, the frequent rains having kept the grass in a healthy condition.

—The Estuon was delayed Monday morning on leaving Bobcaygeon, by a fog—a somewhat unusual occurrence at this season of the year.

—Mrs. Carr and four children, of Stouffville, have been guests of her sister, Mrs. Vokes, east ward, for the last week, and have been enjoying short trips on the Kawartha waters.

—This morning Duncan Ewart appeared before Magistrate Jackson to answer to a charge of having assaulted R. Waller on the 23rd inst. The offence was established and a fine.

—Just received a nice assortment of Bed Springs and Mattresses, including the Ostermoor, Alaska Felt and the Marshall Sanitary Mattress, at reasonable prices at Mr. E. Tangney's Furniture Store nearly opposite Benson house.—dwf.

—Mr. W. F. O'Boyle, Clerk of Ops township, has posted up notices warning parties who bathe in the vicinity of the cemetery that they will be prosecuted. That is right. We have heard some complaints from citizens who patronize the Estuon and Manita that boys who bathe daily at the lower wharf are frequently nude and indulge in indecent actions. Chief Neilson should get after these young louts at once.

Federal Business College.

The Lindsay branch of the Federal chain of schools has just completed its second year of exceedingly successful business training. Mr. A. M. Houston, who has had charge of the management of the school and the instruction of the commercial department, has evinced not only splendid ability, but the greatest devotion to the best interests of his students, both in regard to instruction, and assistance in obtaining situations. The success of the graduates is the best evidence on that point. Miss M. C. Allan, the young lady who graduated with honors from the Perth Federal College in very little over half the time usually required by students, and a Manitoba special medalist, has, in the shorthand department, surpassed even the expectations of her most hopeful friends. We are pleased to announce on the authority of Principal Houston, of Ottawa, and prior of Federal Colleges, that both these popular and successful teachers will resume their duties on Monday, Sept. 5th. In the meantime they enjoy a month's much needed vacation. During August all communications regarding the Fall term should be addressed to the Federal College, Ottawa.—dwf.

Lived in a Dog Kennel.

From Evening Post, July 21)
The inquiry into the cause of the death of Fraser Dunn, who lived near Campbellford last week, ended on Friday night by the jury bringing in a verdict of manslaughter, against the nephew, James Dunn, who has been removed to Cobourg to await his trial on that charge at the fall session.

He gave his uncle Fraser to death by kicking him so severely in the abdomen in a drunken quarrel, the night of the twelfth of July, that death ensued the following evening. In another quarrel, held at the Dunn domicile, was really unfit for human habitation. The tenement was nothing more nor less than a large sized dog kennel. There were dogs in every part of the house, and savage dogs at that. They occupied the premises day and night, and the stench was abominable. The collector was held off in terror and the sanitary inspector was afraid to put in an appearance for fear of having his good clothes torn off or his person injured. On Thursday following the tragic occurrence the authorities ordered the premises to be cleared out, when 14 dogs were destroyed by the police, two being left to keep the grief-stricken widow company. On the morning of the twelfth the woman was doing a skirt dance to a delighted throng of men in the vicinity.

BY THE CANAL ROUTE.

First Craft to Make Continuous Run Over the Trent Canal as Opened.

Peterboro Review, Monday: On Saturday the first craft to make Peterboro wharf over the canal route came in despite the rain, which brought with it a recollection of the lift lock Saturday. Mr. Geo. H. Wilson, of the Lindsay Post, came through in his power yacht, accompanied by his two sons, Masters Bruce and Roy Wilson, and Mr. F. W. Wilson, of the Port Hope Guide.

In another yacht, belonging to Mr. G. M. Hopkins, of Lindsay, were his two sons, Bruce and Roy, and Masters B. H. and W. Allan, sons of Dr. Allan, of Lindsay. The party left Lindsay on Thursday morning and made Burkhead the same night. Friday afternoon and night were spent on Stoney Lake, and making town on Saturday, they took camp at Craxford's grove. They speak of the sail down the canal as the most delightful part of the trip. They proposed to go on down past Hastings, and through the Trent river to Lake Ontario. The trip may be extended to Kingston and up the Rideau canal to Ottawa. The camp equipment is packed in a canoe and towed behind. Good speed is made.

Coming down the canal they were joined by Mr. Bickford, of Toronto, who with his wife, is taking a similar cruise. Mr. Bickford took the water at Port Perry, running up through the lakes to the head of Balsam Lake and then turning back to pass through the chain of waters to Peterboro. He left on Sunday morning to make Hastings by night. The craft was thoroughly equipped for the journey and very comfortable.

Enlarged.

It was at the fashionable wedding. "Steady now," whispered the best man. "Don't lose your head." "I wish I could lose it," groaned the groom, who had attended the farewell by-helor supper the night before. "It feels like a bushel."

The Same Cat.

B. V. Wolf, agent of the North German Lloyd Steamship Company in Middleton, N.Y., has a cat that he has for months been trying to get rid of. She has been given to farmers who have taken her miles away to their homes. Time after time, but she has never failed to put in an appearance again at the Wolf mansion, after brief absences. The other day Mr. Wolf went to New York. He put the cat in a bag and placed it under the seat of the car. When he went home he reached Sterlington, Mr. Wolf dropped the cat out of the window. Sterlington is forty miles from Middleton. Mr. Wolf transacted his business in New York and went home. This was on Tuesday. When he went home to supper on Thursday night and sat down by his hearthstone there was the same cat. She got up, rubbed herself on her master's legs, and purred in a way that showed how she appreciated his little joke. Then he stroked the cat fondly, but respectfully, and said, "You can stay here as long as you live, if it's a hundred years. I'll get a gold collar for you, and tie it full of red ribbons. Pussy, you're a dandy."

STEAMER AGROUND AT NO. 5 LOCK

City of Peterborough Met With a Slight Accident.

Examiner, Friday: The "City of Peterborough" this morning left Peterborough for an excursion to Burleigh Falls, over the lift lock and through the canal to Lakefield. This is the first trip of this steamer up the canal, and while on the way to Lakefield she met with a slight mishap, which delayed her for some little time. All went well until the big steamer reached a point just below No. 5 lock, where in a rock cut about 60 feet wide the prow of the steamer ran aground, and up on the side of the cut. This occurred just about 100 yards south of the lock, and the steamer was fast aground for about an hour and a quarter, when she released herself and proceeded on her way. It was found that no serious injuries had been sustained by the steamer grounding and no leaks were

HONORED BY THEIR FRIENDS

DR. AND MRS. WOOD AND FAMILY OF KIRKFIELD.

Receive a Memento of Esteem on Leaving the Village for Lindsay.

On Tuesday, the 10th, a large number of Kirkfield citizens gathered in the town hall to take farewell of Dr. Wood and family, who were leaving for Lindsay, where he intends to practice for the future. The meeting was called to order by the chairman, Mr. E. Mosgrove, who stated the object of the gathering and the great regret evinced by all on the departure of the doctor and family, and how the doctor had taken an active interest in the advancement of the village, the township and the county.

Dr. J. F. Ross then read the following address, and Mrs. E. Mosgrove presented a beautiful French Parlor clock of green onyx. The address was as follows:

To Doctor and Mrs. Wood and family: On this, the eve of your departure to your new home, we, your friends and fellow-citizens desire to convey to you the honor and respect which your position and long residence in this community merits.

As members of one family, you have set an example of the happy home life, which is the only sound basis of all social as well as national upbuilding. In a wider circle you have made many friends in whose joys you have shared and to whom you have always extended the hand of sympathy in sorrow and distress. You have been a very material aid to all social interests and we regret very much the fact that the gain and advantages accruing to the community in which you are now going to reside must be at our loss.

It has been very truly said that "The heart that goes is sadder, oft than those that in the leaving of we realize that in the leaving of a pleasant home, and in the severing of associations grown dear, there must be a loss of heart yearnings that only the balm of time can soothe."

We sincerely hope and trust that your future home may be a bright and joyous one, and that happiness and prosperity may be meted out to you with a lavish hand.

As a slight token of our esteem we beg of you to accept this parlor clock and the earnest wish of all is that it may measure out for you very many happy days.

Signed on behalf of the citizens of Kirkfield,

E. MOSGROVE,

Dr. J. F. ROSS,

W. MITCHELL

Dr. Wood made a feeling reply, regretting that circumstances caused him to sever the bonds of citizenship, and thanking his friends for their token of appreciation and good feelings.

OUR ERIE CANAL.

The Great Wheat Route From the North-west to Liverpool.

(Detroit Journal.)

The opening of the big lift lock at Peterborough, Ont., for overcoming differences in water levels amounting to 55 feet, serves to direct attention to a very important public work on which the Dominion Government has for several years been engaged and whose completion is certain to work many changes in navigation conditions on the great lakes.

The desirability of a ship canal to connect Lake Huron and Lake Ontario, under unnecessary the long detour by way of Lake St. Clair and Lake Erie is so often commented on that the fact has been lost sight of that an artificial channel to unite those two bodies of water by the so-called Trent Valley route is already in process of construction. This channel will not be a ship canal. It will be merely a barge canal of about the same capacity as the Erie canal will have after the enlargement and improvements recently authorized, and, like the Erie canal, it will form an important part of the interior waterway of the continent. It will not, of course, have the value of a waterway of a size sufficient to accommodate the largest lake boats and its use will involve the inconvenience of a transfer at its Georgian Bay entrance, of cargoes to the smaller steam barges and tow barges, designed especially for the navigation of the canal, but this will not be so great a disadvantage, especially in the case of commodities which like wheat, are easily and expeditiously handled by machinery in loading and unloading processes.

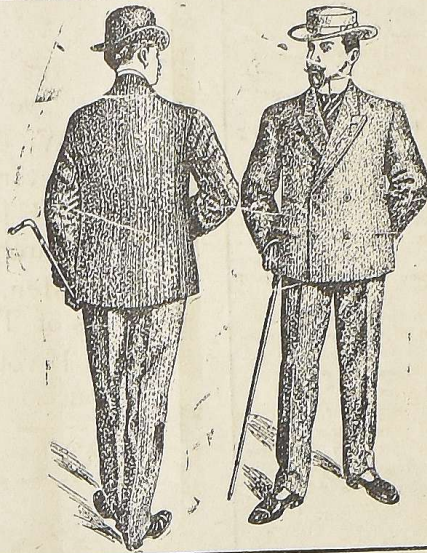

As a matter of fact, practically all of the wheat intended for export from the Canadian Northwest is now transferred at Georgian Bay ports. It is brought down to the Port Arthur elevators by rail and sent thence to Owen Sound by vessel, and there transferred to freight cars. The only difference in the system that the use of the canal will bring about is that after the Georgian Bay transfer, the cargoes can be sent forward at cheap rates by canal barges instead of by rail at dearer rates.

Barges with a tonnage as large as 800 tons will be able to navigate this canal. Considerable remains to be done on it, but it is not to be doubted that when it is opened for the entire distance between Georgian Bay and Lake Ontario, it will become a link in a great wheat route between the Manitoba fields and Liverpool, a route shorter by 727 miles than the route via the Erie canal and has advantages suggesting that great quantities of export wheat from the American as well as from the Canadian Northwest will follow this quick and cheap pathway to the markets of the Old World.

Their Fame is Extending.

The reputation of Robert brothers, of this town, the clever acrobats, wire walkers and jugglers, is reaching out. They have been secured by the committee in charge of Berlin's Civic Holiday program on Aug. 1st, and they have also booked dates with some other good western towns, for similar celebrations. These young men have attained a wonderful proficiency in their line by constant practice, and will put on some new and startling features this season.

A good name like ours soon becomes a household word.

Liabilities of Contributors.

Mr. Justice Anglin has given judgment upon an appeal and cross appeal touching the liability of subscribers for stock in this Company. The case which was tried, which was considered a representative case, Mr. McAndrew, the Referee, decided that the contributory was liable for common stock but not for the preferred. A note of this decision was published by us some time ago. From this judgment the Liquidator appealed, as to preferred stock and the shareholder appealed as to the common stock. Mr. Justice Anglin now gives judgment, deciding in favor of the shareholder on both appeals. The following is an abstract of his judgment, as reported in the Ontario Weekly Reporter:

Mr. Justice Anglin holds that the Company have not complied with the provisions of the Ontario Companies Act as to preferred stock, and that the entire capital stock of the Company remained common stock, that the shareholder applied for preferred stock and has never been allotted what he applied for, and consequently not liable to pay therefor.

As to the common stock, the directors profess to exercise the power of allotment by passing a resolution on May 30th, 1902, "that the Secretary be instructed to allot all stock as applications are passed in." As a precedent, this resolution was not good, as this shareholder's application was not then in and the directors had no power to delegate the duty of allotment to the Secretary. Further, this shareholder's application was not in accordance with the terms of the prospectus, and the secretary was not authorized to allot otherwise.

There was never any binding agreement in respect to this stock, and upon this ground the shareholder should be relieved from liability. The Liquidator's appeal was therefore dismissed and the cross appeal allowed.

The Liquidator, upon making an application for leave to appeal to the Court of Appeal, was granted leave, upon the terms, however, that the costs of the appeal to the Court of Appeal, if taken, should in any event, be paid out of the assets of the Company.

It is contended that this decision disposes entirely with the liability of the subscribers for preferred stock. What its effect will have upon the liability of subscribers for common stock is not so clear, as there were some special circumstances in the case tried. Mr. S. B. Woods, counsel for the Liquidator, Mr. R. J. McLaughlin, counsel for the shareholder.

READ OUR ADVERTISEMENTS—THEY WILL INTEREST YOU

Mrs. Rosa Adams, niece of the late General Roger Hanson, C. S. A., wants every woman to know of the wonders accomplished by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I cannot tell you with pen and ink what good Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound did for me, suffering from the ill effects of the sex, extreme lassitude and that all gone feeling. I would rise from my bed in the morning feeling more tired than when I went to bed, but before I had used two bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, I began to feel the buoyancy of my younger days returning, became regular, could do more work and not feel tired than I had ever been able to do before, so I continued to use it until I was restored to perfect health. It is indeed a boon to sick women and I heartily recommend it. Yours very truly, Mrs. ROSA ADAMS, 319 12th St., Louisville, Ky."

Any women who are troubled with irregular or painful menstruation, weakness, leucorrhoea, displacement or ulceration of the womb, that bearing-down feeling, inflammation of the ovaries, backache, general debility, and nervous prostration, should know there is one tried and true remedy, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. No other medicine for women has received such wide-spread and unqualified indorsement. No other medicine has such a record of female cures.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I am very pleased to recommend Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for womb and ovarian difficulties from which I have been a sufferer for years. It was the only medicine which was at all beneficial, and within a week after I started to use it, there was a great change in my feelings and looks. I used it for a little over three months, and at the end of that time I suffered no pain at the menstrual period, nor was I troubled with those distressing pains which compelled me to go to bed, and I have not had a headache since. This is nearly a year ago. I always keep a bottle on hand, and take a few doses every week, for I find that it tones up the system and keeps me feeling strong, and I never have that tired out feeling any more."

"LAND OF BRIGHT WATERS"

AN APPRECIATIVE DESCRIPTION OF STURGEON LAKE DISTRICT

By a Sojourner Who Spent Some Time at Sturgeon Point.

The Globe has the following appreciative description by a visitor to Sturgeon Point:

On this point of land, just where the lake takes a turn towards the north some three score or four score families have their aestival habitations among the dark oaks that clothe the shore. And surely no fairer site could have been chosen for a summer settlement.

It is very heaven to sit there in the golden afternoon with the weary brow fanned by a cool breeze just strong enough to rustle the oak leaves and ripple the gleaming waters of the lake. And in that lake's blue depths are funny denizens—bass and maskinonge—of a size and strength that would have made the heart of good old Isaac Walton leap for joy, and impressed upon the censorious authority and enthusiasm the necessity of securing stronger tackle than any he ever used in whipping the fair trout streams of Merrie England.

But to view this noble landscape from a proper vantage point we must wend our way along woodland path and country road for the distance of a parasang until we reach the summit of lofty, specular hill, which we shall call the Mount of Vision. Then what a panorama lies spread beneath our eyes! For twenty miles in every direction we can gaze upon a lovely vision of hill and valley, field and forest, lake and strait.

In the foreground on the right are wide stretches of luxuriant clover, with its fragrant perfume and "the murmur of innumerable bees" on the marmalade of sleek and well-fed kine—deep in pasture. Beyond the road the man with the hoe is busy extirpating the occasional noxious weed or thistle from the rich green rows of promising rutabaga crop. How vastly different this wilder of the sardulium from the weird and sorrowful creation or interpretation of Edwin Markham. When resting from his easy toil he stands erect in stalwart manhood, his height four cubits, twice seven stone his weight, strong and hopeful as the prospect of so bountiful a harvest.

In the near sunny distance the billowy wheat fields, lemon-tinted on their way from green to gold, rise and fall at the kiss of the summer zephyr, as if bending beneath a fairy's footstep and resilient from the momentary pressure as she passes on her shining way.

Further away to south and west are the sparkling waters of the lake, bearing on its bosom steam pleasure yacht, gasoline launch and white-winged sailboat. Yonder toils a tug puffing loud protestations as she hauls her load of logs and lumber from the pretty, bustling village of Cataracta Fenelonensis, as the learned man of our party insists upon calling it. Ten miles in the other direction towards the eastern end of the lake, from amongst the islands and almost-islands, comes the steamer that brought us hither, faring on the second of her biannual voyages to the town at which we embarked.

Then the eye rests upon the beautiful wooded southern shore, with many a rich green field studded with clumps of trees, deciduous or evergreen, sloping away beyond a veritable home of modern peace.

High in the blue heaven cloudlet chases cloudlet across the sun's smiling face, while on the earth their shadowy phantoms follow one another in rapid succession over the sun-bathed surface of forest, lake and field.

As a glorious place simply to dwell in, this district is not so well known as it ought to be. It is doubtful whether of its kind there is a finer landscape in America. It has all the salubrious atmosphere, all the sylvan beauty and picturesque charm of Georgian Bay region and Muskoka, without the rocky ruggedness of the former or the dark boggy water and faint suggestion of unfruitfulness of the latter.

The nearest approach, in extent and soft, picturesque beauty, to this portion of the Kawartha country is some English landscape, for example, that which we feast our eyes upon looking northward from the White Horse Hill over the fair broad valley of the upper Thames. But even that scene lacks the variety of lake, forest and stream that characterizes this delightful region.

We hear of one place and another spoken of as the Garden of Ontario, but this locality has charms unequalled, all its own. It is the park and par excellence the paradises of the Province.

It needs only a better acquaintance with the soothing and healing influence of this happy valley to make it a Mecca for multitudes of men and women who would fain withdraw for a time from the dust and din of the city, from the brain-weariness and heart-weariness and the bodily exhaustion of the over-strenuous business or professional life, from the monotonous and unsatisfying round of the social treadmill, from "the passions and the cares that wither life and waste its little hour."

Hard on the Barber.

"What do you put on your face after shaving?" asked the man who smelled of bay rum.
"Doubt plaster, usually," replied the nervous chap, gloomily.

Why Not, Indeed.
The Richelieu and Ontario Navigation Company have announced that one of their regular boats will hereafter leave Toronto on Sundays. They say since trains depart from the city on Sunday, they do not see why boats should not do the same.

MADE OVER GLASS AND CHISELS.

Exciting Test of Motor Car Tires Made at Crystal Palace.

In search of thrills and sensations a large crowd gathered at the Crystal Palace, London, Eng., to watch with breathless interest a demonstration showing how little real danger there is in the unexpected bursting of the tyre of a motor-car traveling at a high rate of speed.

The experiments have been arranged in the interests of motorizing generally, with a view to removing the popular misconception that an accident was sure to result from burst tires on cars going at high speed.

On the broad lower terrace of the Palace grounds was laid what looked like a veritable death-trap. Fixed securely into a wooden plank planted in the gravel were ten chisel heads, sharp as razors and leaning over at an ugly angle. Immediately in front and behind were masses of broken soda-water bottles and jump pots.

When a Napier touring-car, driven by Cecil Edge, approached the glistering glass and steel, everyone craned his neck to watch the result. The tires skimmed over the keen blades and glass and remained whole. If Edge had been miles from anywhere as a bystander remarked, both tires would have popped with a loud explosion, but the tires were particularly obstinate.

A hole cut in the cover of a tire, and closed with canvas, was then tried with the desired result. The car passed over, and the tire burst without a sound. Although going at a good speed, the car was in no way affected, and after another burst of up-standing steel prongs had been laid, three other punctures were registered, with the same result. The car did not swerve, nor did the occupants experience any sensation.

Then Edge then took his bag Gordon Bennett Napier racing car and flew down the terrace at the rate of fifty-five miles an hour. The car passed over the steel and glass, and the greater weight of the racing machine told on the tires, one of which was deflated without the slightest effect upon the car.

Then Edge gave his audience a thrill. Loosening one of the big back tires, he flew up and down the long terrace at a terrific speed, swerving purposely now and then, and raising clouds of dust in his mad career, in order to throw off his tire. But the tire refused to come off. It was loosened still further, and as he approached the "trap" the big tire literally bounced off and came bowling along towards the spectators, eventually crashing into the fairy lamps on the grass border.

The big car went on as if nothing had happened, and the demonstration was at an end.

"We have been too often of chauffeurs who put down all accidents to burst punctured or deflated tires," said Mr. Edge. "If a motor car is properly designed, and the driver is a reasonably good one, there is not the slightest fear of an accident to the car, even when a tire comes off unexpectedly."

Cured of Chronic Diarrhoea After Ten Years of Suffering.

"I wish to say a few words in praise of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy," says Mrs. Mattie Burge, of Martinsville, Va. "I suffered from chronic diarrhoea for ten years and during that time tried various medicines without obtaining any permanent relief. Last summer one of my children was taken with cholera morbus, and I procured a bottle of this remedy. Only two doses were required to give her entire relief. I then decided to try the medicine myself, and did not use all of one bottle before I was well and I have never since been troubled with that complaint. One cannot say too much in favor of that wonderful medicine. This remedy is for sale by all druggists."

Export Judges for Fall Fairs.

The Ontario Department of Agriculture is again providing a number of judges for the fall fairs. Thirty fairs in the province have applied for extra horse judges this year on the last day of the fairs. About twenty-five more fairs have applied for extra horse judges this year on the last day of their fairs. About twenty-five more fairs have applied for judges this year than last. The province is divided into circuits for fair purposes, and a judge is usually given a circuit. Mr. Stonehouse of Port Perry, and Mr. John Campbell, of Woodville, are judges of cattle; Mr. Donald McKay, of Whitby, and Mr. Peter Christie, of Manchester, on horses; and Mr. Wm. Smith, of Columbus, on horses, beef, cattle and sheep.

CANADA TO THE FRONT.

Successful Termination of Some Remarkable Experiments Which are of Interest to Everybody.

OTTAWA.—An Ottawa physician has demonstrated to the world that in scientific research, Canada is second to none. Taking up the theory that ripe fruits are nature's cure for various disorders, he proved after years of labor, that this hypothesis was founded on fact.

Each fruit in nature's storehouse was successfully analyzed. The fresh ripe fruit was first reduced to a pulp by a special machine. All the woody fibre was strained off. The juice was then evaporated and tested to reveal the medicinal powers. One of the most surprising features of the experiments was the minute quantity of active principles obtained. In some cases a bushel of fruit, after separating the fibre and evaporating the juice, yielded only a few grains. The expense, difficulty and the discouragement of such research will thus be appreciated.

After the analysis was complete, the physician found that apples, oranges, prunes and figs were the most valuable from a medical point of view. That is, the active principles of these four fruits combined the virtues of all the others and in a more marked degree.

Yet the discoverer was not satisfied. Further experiments revealed the fact that by a peculiar replacement of atoms in the fruit juices, the action of the active principles was greatly intensified or promoted. It was conclusively proven that while the action of fresh ripe fruits on the healthy system was sufficient; yet in a diseased condition, such fruits had not the power to correct the disease. For instance, while the daily eating of fruit will prevent constipation, yet if one permits constipation to become chronic, the mere eating of fruit will not cure it. We must first tone up the bowels and make them well enough to be affected by the action of the minute quantity of active principle in the fruits.

This secret combination of fruit juices has been perfected, tested and found to confirm all that has been said in favor of this treatment for stomach, liver and kidney troubles. The tablets are called "Fruit-a-tives," have the odor and taste of fruit, and are pleasant to take. They are sold by the leading drug stores throughout the Dominion and already their sale has been remarkably large. People everywhere are recognizing the fact that they have at last a certain and speedy cure for all stomach, kidney and liver diseases. "Fruit-a-tives" are put up only in 50c boxes, with a distinctive label—alivi.

Tourists At Orillia.

News-Letter: In spite of the St. Louis Fair attraction a large number of American tourists are now sojourning at the different resorts on lakes Simcoe and Couchiching. The capacity of Orchard point is already fully taxed applications for accommodation having to be refused. Every cottage on Geneva Park is occupied, and many are holidaying at popular resort under canvas. Fern Cottage is also being well patronized. The Royal Narrows is filling up quickly. A party from New Orleans arrived there this week, and some prominent citizens come every Friday and stay till Monday.

Summer hotels are springing up at many points on Lakes Simcoe and Couchiching, but the Kawartha Lakes are still neglected. A first-class hotel at Sturgeon Point would mean thousands of dollars expended with Lindsay business men.

Wedding Bells.

A quiet wedding was solemnized by the Rev. C. H. Marsh, at the Rectory on Wednesday, July 20, when Mr. William J. Geach, G. T. R. fireman, was united in marriage to Miss Fanny Rawlings, both of town. The bride was becomingly dressed in lawn voile trimmed with over-lace and applique, with chiffon tail to match. The bridesmaid, Miss S. Geach, sister of the groom, wore a brown cloth skirt, and raw champagne raw silk waist trimmed with silk insertion with large white hat. The groom was ably assisted by Mr. John Do, herty. After the ceremony they drove to the home of Mr. John H. Geach, father of the groom, where they passed of a sumptuous repast. The bride received a number of beautiful and costly presents, showing the high esteem in which the young couple are held. Mr. and Mrs. Geach left on the six-twenty train for Toronto and points west.

The Passing of the Fathers.

(Chicago Western American.)
We are glad to see Liberal journals extending hearty congratulations to Sir Charles Tupper, the old "war horse of Cumberland," upon his having attained his 83rd birthday on July 2nd. Sir Charles is one of the five survivors of the "Fathers of Confederation," those Empire builders whose services are becoming more and more adequately appreciated as time softens and political asparties inseparable from contemporary strife, and as the magnificent results that are growing out of their far-sighted labors are being developed. Sir Charles has been one of the commanding figures of his day, and however any Canadian may differ from him in political opinion and from the methods which he pursued, yet all must acknowledge that he wrought mightily and with sincerity, according to his light, for the welfare and greatness of his country. Since the beginning of the new century death has claimed from the survivors of the Fathers of Confederation one of their most illustrious statesmen, in the venerable and venerated Sir Oliver Mowat, who died on April 19, 1903, and also Hon. R. B. Dickey, K. C., who died July 17, 1903. Besides Sir Charles Tupper, there now remain only Hon. William McDougall, C. B., Sir Ambrose Shea, K. C. M. G., born 1818; Hon. A. M. Donald, senator, born February 14, 1829.

NEW LINE BEING INSPECTED.

GOVERNMENT ENGINEER CAME IN MONDAY FROM BURKTON.

The Road Will be in Operation on Thursday—"Rush" is the Word.

The following from the Bob. Independent aptly describes the progress of the work on the last section of the L. B. & P. Ry. line between Emily Creek and that village:

Strenuous work has been put in on the railway during the week, and the walking boss, Mr. John Flannigan, has been constant in his urging on foremen and bosses to push the work to the utmost. On Monday a much larger steam shovel was brought to the pit, one that fills a car holding eleven ards in a minute and a half. Two ballast trains of 22 cars are working night and day, each train having a day and night crew of train men. During the day 150 track men are engaged in levelling the ballast and getting the track finally fixed. The absence of rain has saved delay, but the heat caused a thirst among the shovellers that kept six water boys humping with the drinking cans. Last week each train delivered about 132 cars a day, but they had a considerable distance to travel for the ballasting to Emily Creek has been furnished from the Humphrey pit, on Oakdale farm, or what in the old days was known as Jones Clearing. The ballasting averages about a mile a day, sometimes more, sometimes only half a mile where the filling is heavy.

On Wednesday the two trains partly filled the southern approach to the Little Bob bridge, and the rails were brought into the village limits. Mr. Munro, mechanical superintendent, reached the village on Wednesday for the first time. He has been a busy man since April, but hopes to get the work completed now in a few days, and is satisfied that a thoroughly first-class job has been done, and much of the work in record-breaking time. Many persons went to the bridge on Wednesday to see the train filling the southern approach through the river. Owing to its being a temporary trestle, with a curve, the trestle could not be used, and it was a sight to see over 150 men swarm onto the train of gravel when it reached the shore. Eleven cars just covered the trestle work over the drowned land portion of the river, reaching the open bridge and swing, and the train was shovelled clear in a few minutes. Thursday the ballasting train pushed two cars of gravel over the bridge, and this morning (Friday), Toronto can be congratulated on having rail connection with the Bobayon station. Yesterday, (Thursday), at 4:30 the engine crossed the bridge and reached the tank in the station yard.

Oakdale on Wednesday evening was quite an interesting sight when the train came in with the shovellers. Besides the camp train with all its sleeping cars, there were seventeen tents scattered around, and a fully equipped hospital tent, presided over by Dr. Namith, of Jamestown. A considerable number of Italians are employed, and these as a rule board themselves and chum together in pairs. They eat less meat than the Canadian, but are a healthy lot of men, and stand the laborious work well. They are steady workers and rarely jump the job.

The tank and steam pumps were ready for business on Wednesday, the tank having been kept filled with water for several days previous and swelled tight. It is 22 ft in diameter, and 16 feet deep.

The turn-table is quite in keeping with the rest of the works. It is the C.P.R. standard 75 feet in diameter. The centre pivot pier is of concrete, and the circle on which the ends of the steel bridge travel is also of concrete. It will probably be ready for the revolving bridge by tomorrow, (Saturday).

A few days more, and "All aboard" of the conductor will be heard.

Line Inspected Monday

On Monday after the arrival of the Str. Esturion, a special train left Lindsay for Burkton to meet Mr. G. A. Mountain, of Ottawa, Government Inspector of Railways. Among those on board were Contractor Fauquier and his brother, Mr. W. T. C. Boyd, Mr. Thos. Stewart, and Major Myles.

The party reached Lindsay on the trip of inspection about noon, transferring at Burkton to a luxurious Pullman car, with dinner furnished by the C.P.R. to Mr. Mountain for his trip over the line. Dinner was served in the dining car at 1 o'clock, after which the special pulled out for Bobayon. We are informed that the line will be in operation next Thursday.

McDougall-Anderson.

A very pretty wedding was solemnized at the residence of Mr. Peter Woderbach, Mariposa, early Wednesday morning, July 20th, when daughter, Miss Lathina May, was joined in the holy bonds of matrimony to Mr. Wm. McDougall, of Spokane, Wash. State. The bride was handsomely attired in a pretty dove colienne, and carried a beautiful shower bouquet of carnations. She was attended only by her little niece, Miss Myrell Weldon, prettily gowned in voile.

After partaking of a sumptuous wedding breakfast the happy couple took the morning train for Toronto. They will visit Niagara and other places of interest on their route to Drayton, where his parents reside. On their return they will call on intimate friends and relatives prior to departing for their home in the far West.

STRUCK IN THE ABDOMEN.

Employee on the Waterworks Extension Injured this Morning.

Mr. Alford Strong, who has been at work on the waterworks extension to the new House of Refuge, met with a painful injury about 10 o'clock Saturday, a.m., which may entail serious consequences.

In connection with the work of testing the lengths of pipe for tightness of joints a wooden plug is driven in, and as under great pressure this plug is frequently expelled with great force the men at work usually see to it that they are not in range. Strong forgot the rule this morning and the plug struck him in the abdomen, the force and pain of the blow rendering him unconscious. He was taken home in a hack, when medical assistance was summoned.

Newspapers and Magazines

—A bright, thoughtful little sketch entitled "Too Much Work," in the Youth's Companion of July 28th, ought to be put in the hands of every one of those charming young ladies whom can that their particular wedding shall bedim all former conceptions of loveliness, and who relentlessly turn their little world upside down for two months in pursuit of this object.

How's This

Presentation to Captain Henley.

On the morning of the break-up of the recent Military Camp at Kingston, Captain Henley, the model officer of the model Lindsay Company of the 45th Battalion, was made the recipient of a silver shaving cup from his men. The presentation was made on their behalf by Major Jas. Staples, who complimented the company and commanding officer on the evident good will which existed between them. He added his words of praise to Captain Henley as an efficient officer and to the model company for their general good conduct and soldierly bearing. He was proud of them and the 45th generally.

Safeguard the Children.

Notwithstanding all that is done by boards of health and charitably inclined persons, the death rate among small children is very high during the hot weather of the summer months in large cities. There is not probably one case of bowel complaint in a hundred, however, that could not be cured by the timely use of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. Mr. Frank Riggs, of Franklinville, N. Y., in speaking of this remedy said: "I have found it expedient to have a supply of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy on hand. It has been a family safeguard and while especially beneficial to children, it is equally good in adult cases. I recommend it cheerfully and without reservation." For sale by all druggists.

Many Goods at Half Price

During the Last Week of our Big Stock Reduction Sale.

Yes, many lines of good, bright, seasonable goods are marked down to actually half our regular low prices.

No telling how much you have that you don't want till you move or clean house. Well, same with a store—and we're cleaning house with a vengeance, rummaging stocks and pulling out all we won't need in the fall.

There's a big part of the summer days ahead yet—but it's time these goods had wearers, and they shall have. We bought too much in some lines, because we have to plan liberally to deserve and get business. A store—the successful store—must do as nature does—and Emerson describes the procedure this way: "When Nature wishes a thing done she overloads the tendency."

Now for the greatest and last bargains of the season; now for us to take the loss on our overplus and to be ready by August to estimate our stocks and see how much real money our work has yielded.

Don't skip an item below—they are all Half Price or near it. Come and see them.

LORNEVILLE.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)
Farmers in this community have just completed harvesting their hay crop, and are busy making preparations to begin the cutting of fall wheat and barley, which is an excellent crop in this neighborhood.

Mr. Ben Stacey, inspector for the Home Life, spent Sunday in Toronto.
Miss M. McRae, of Toronto, is at present spending her holidays with her mother, in the village.

Mr. D. D. Smith, our teacher, wheeled through our village on Monday last on his way to Beaverton and Jackson's Point.

Of the seven pupils who tried the Entrance examinations this year from our school, No. 1, Eldon, six were successful. In recording the total number of marks obtained by each pupil in the Lindsay papers an error of 200 marks was made in the total of one of the pupils, Arthur Gard, The total obtained by this pupil instead of being 559, as reported in last week's Lindsay papers, should have been 759.

VICTORIA ROAD.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)
Merchants and business men generally in our village are loud in their denunciation of the wretched trains service we have to submit to from the R. R. Co. both as to the handling of freight as well as the passenger traffic. It is simply an outrage on a long suffering public to be inconvenienced to the extent of being kept on the road between Lindsay and Cobocook often for five hours, and never less than four and a half to cover the distance of some thirty-eight miles.

Remedied by a little judgment and generosity at the hands of the management by sending a special along the line two or three times a week,
and pick up the odd cars scattered along the road, which even then would still leave passenger accommodation in a deplorable condition.
One merchant showed us a bill of goods shipped at Toronto on the 13th which had not reached here on the 21st, and yet we are taxed a full first-class passenger rate, and freight rate. We may well claim in the fulness of our souls,
"How long, O Lord, how long?"

Dentists' day—Thursday, August
4th, Chippaw's hotel.—wl.

Mr. Chippaw is one of the busiest men we have in our midst—as well as being proprietor of one of our leading hotels, he keeps a saw, shingle
and grain chopping mill running daily. Whilst the output is not very large as yet, it is a great convenience
to the farmers of the country round about to be able to have their timber converted into lumber and shingles right at their own doors. He has also been engaged in stumping and fitting up his farm for grain growing.
He has had a gang of men engaged on the lot of Mr. P. McCarthy for the past few weeks peeling tan bark,
and is now having the logs cut and skidded ready for next winter's delivery. Such men as Mr. Chippaw are a boon to the community; after making a little money they are willing to again put it in circulation
and be of great benefit to their fellow citizens.

Mr. Ed. Lytle is another of our progressive farmers who is not content to sit down quietly and let things move along in the same old way. He has just completed one of the finest and most modern barns in North Victoria. It is of mammoth proportions, being 50x70 with 20 ft.
posts; over this again are put in
posts 10 ft. high, making it some 30 feet from the floor to the peak of the roof. He has installed a hay fork and sling steel track, which will greatly facilitate haying and harvesting operations. Mr. Lytle reports his crop prospects as being excellent,
and is looking forward to one of his most prosperous years.

Mrs. Baker, wife of our esteemed townsman, "Baker, the druggist," accompanied by her three children, arrived here the latter part of last week, and are now comfortably located in their new home. We heartily welcome Mrs. Baker to our community, and trust that she may long remain with us.

Bowmanville last week, accompanied

She was one of our most popular young ladies and will be much missed. The members of St. Thomas' church choir will regret her departure, being a valued member of that organization for some two or three years.

been attending the Wilfrid Ladies' College, is enjoying her vacation at home.
Miss Eva Baker, of Ridgetown, arrived here last week and will make an extended visit with her brother,
"Baker the druggist."

Miss Sadler, of Lindsay, is enjoying a prolonged and pleasant holiday with her friend, Miss Cassie Mc-Donald.

staff of the Winnipeg National College, who arrived home some time ago
to spend the vacation, is now visiting friends in Lindsay.

agement by sending a special along
the line two or three times a week,
and pick up the odd cars scattered
along the road, which even then
would still leave passenger accommodation in a deplorable condition.
One merchant showed us a bill of goods shipped at Toronto on the 13th
which had not reached here on the 21st, and yet we are taxed a full
first-class passenger rate, and freight rate. We may well
claim in the fulness of our souls,
"How long, O Lord, how long?"

Dentists' day—Thursday, August
4th, Chippaw's hotel.—wl.

Mr. Chippaw is one of the busiest men we have in our midst—as well as being proprietor of one of our leading hotels, he keeps a saw, shingle
and grain chopping mill running daily. Whilst the output is not very large as yet, it is a great convenience
to the farmers of the country round
about to be able to have their timber converted into lumber and shingles right at their own doors. He has also been engaged in stumping and
fitting up his farm for grain growing.
He has had a gang of men engaged on the lot of Mr. P. McCarthy for
the past few weeks peeling tan bark,
and is now having the logs cut and skidded ready for next winter's delivery. Such men as Mr. Chippaw are a boon to the community; after making a little money they are willing to again put it in circulation
and be of great benefit to their fellow citizens.

Mr. Ed. Lytle is another of our progressive farmers who is not content to sit down quietly and let things move along in the same old way. He has just completed one of the finest and most modern barns in North Victoria. It is of mammoth proportions, being 50x70 with 20 ft.
posts; over this again are put in
posts 10 ft. high, making it some 30
feet from the floor to the peak of the roof. He has installed a hay fork and sling steel track, which will greatly facilitate haying and harvesting operations. Mr. Lytle reports
his crop prospects as being excellent,
and is looking forward to one of his
most prosperous years.

Mrs. Baker, wife of our esteemed
townsman, "Baker, the druggist,"
accompanied by her three children,
arrived here the latter part of last week, and are now comfortably located in their new home. We heartily welcome Mrs. Baker to our community, and trust that she may long remain with us.

Mrs. Seward Dowson (nee Miss Lytle), left for her future home at Bowmanville last week, accompanied by the best wishes of a host of friends.
She was one of our most popular young ladies and will be much missed. The members of St. Thomas'
church choir will regret her departure, being a valued member of that organization for some two or three years.

Miss Margaret Shields, who had been attending the Wilfrid Ladies'
College, is enjoying her vacation at home.
Miss Eva Baker, of Ridgetown, arrived here last week and will make an extended visit with her brother,
"Baker the druggist."

Miss Sadler, of Lindsay, is enjoying a prolonged and pleasant holiday
with her friend, Miss Cassie Mc-Donald.

Miss Kate Drury, of the teaching
staff of the Winnipeg National College, who arrived home some time ago
to spend the vacation, is now visiting friends in Lindsay.

sion to Cobocook, August 5th. Train a.m., ad. 50c., ch. 25c. Look out for programme of sports.—wl.

Mrs. Ross and family, of Detroit, are making a pleasant visit with Dr.
and Mrs. Nesmith for the past week.
They are enjoying an outing with friends in the vicinity of Bobcaygeon.

Mr. Simpson, who was a valued member of Mr. Campbell's staff while constructing the railway in this vicinity, has taken heed to the scriptural caution that it is not well for man to be alone, and has taken to himself a partner. They visited friends here last week.

Mr. Chris. Argue, sr., is at present in a very poor state of health. We hope to see him regain his old-time vigor in the near future.
Mr. J. Sprout sold his fine driving mare, a Canadian Star, the other day for a handsome figure to Messrs. Paxton and Callicutt, dealers of Port Perry.

Mrs. B. McGill, of Peterboro, is visiting friends here.
Miss L. L. Latus, of Port Perry, a former teacher here, is calling on friends and is receiving a hearty welcome.

Mrs. Creeper, of Bowmanville, is making a pleasant visit with Mr.
and Mrs. Jas. Hobbs, of the Temperance house.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)
Farmers in this community have just completed harvesting their
hay crop, and are busy making preparations to begin the cutting of
fall wheat and barley, which is an excellent crop in this neighborhood.

Mr. Ben Stacey, inspector for the Home Life, spent Sunday in Toronto.
Miss M. McRae, of Toronto, is at present spending her holidays with her mother, in the village.

Mr. D. D. Smith, our teacher,
wheeled through our village on Monday last on his way to Beaverton and Jackson's Point.

Of the seven pupils who tried the Entrance examinations this year
from our school, No. 1, Eldon, six were successful. In recording the total number of marks obtained by
each pupil in the Lindsay papers
an error of 200 marks was made in the total of one of the pupils, Arthur
Gard, The total obtained by this pupil instead of being 559, as reported
in last week's Lindsay papers,
should have been 759.

Remedied by a little judgment and
generosity at the hands of the management by sending a special along
the line two or three times a week,
and pick up the odd cars scattered
along the road, which even then
would still leave passenger accommodation in a deplorable condition.
